$1,000 REWARD FOR GRAFFITI VANDAL

By MARY BROWNFIELD

CARMEL POLICE are offering $1,000 to whomever provides the crucial information that helps them arrest the graffiti vandal responsible for spray-painting three 6-foot-high stenciled figures of a camera-toting tourist on city hall, Tutto Mondo Trattoria and Carmel Plaza.

"Requests to remain anonymous will be strictly honored," according to the flier that asks anyone with information to contact detective Jesse Juarez at (831) 624-6403.

It's been a week since the vandal last struck, according to police.

Responding to an alarm activation the afternoon of July 26, officers discovered a third figure carefully painted on a white, stuccoed wall asking, "Do movie stars live here?"

That morning, the character was also found stenciled on a wall at city hall, accompanied by the words, "THANKS for taking care of tourist before citizens." At Carmel Plaza, the same thing was painted sometime during the previous weekend, with the caption, "Where's the beach?"

The figures clearly evoke the work of the celebrated, yet anonymous, British graffiti artist

TV anchor's dog fatally mauled

Distraught Olga Ospina has been absent from CBS, Fox newscasts

By KELLY NIX

A HEARING will be held to determine the fate of a dog that sprang from a car in front of the Pacific Grove post office last week and viciously mauled KION and KCBA anchorwoman Olga Ospina's 2-year-old Maltese, which later died from its injuries.

Ospina, who was regularly seen briskly walking her beloved dog, Lulu, on Lighthouse Avenue, also received injuries to her hand from the attacking dog, a black Labrador, which is being held under quarantine at the Monterey County SPCA and could be euthanized pending a hearing at Pacific Grove City Hall.

"This was a pretty traumatic incident for those involved," said Pacific Grove

Mountain lion may be prowling near school

Cat attacks raise concern

By MARY BROWNFIELD

WITH THE discovery of two mauled cat carcasses on Carmel River School grounds, residents are concerned a mountain lion is hunting in their neighborhood.

But any one of the predators known to inhabit the nearby riverbed could have been the killer, according to a wildlife biologist. She urged people to keep their animals indoors or otherwise safely confined after dark.

"If they love their pets, they should bring them in at night," said Terry Palmisano, a senior wildlife biologist with the California Department of Fish and Game. "I can not emphasize that enough. We say it over and over."

Mary and Bart Hancock, who live on Monte Verde Street across from the elementary school, wish they had heeded that advice after a neighbor told them a mountain lion had been spotted in the street one recent evening.

"The next door neighbor, Kim Moscato, had warned us the day before, and unfortunately we let our cat out anyway," said Bart Hancock. "It's hard to keep an outdoor cat in, especially if you want to get some sleep. We are sure sorry now."

Sylvester, the Hancocks' 14-year-old black and white cat, was found on school grounds the morning of July 26. They let him out around 3 a.m., and it appeared the predator killed him in the driveway and carried his mutilated body across the street.

Cops use surveillance tape, OnStar to nab suspects

By MARY BROWNFIELD

A CARMEL Valley man and a female transient landed in jail after Monterey County Sheriff's deputies tracked them down through the OnStar system in the stolen car they were driving. According to Sgt. Scott Ragan, 24-year-old Daniel Rockwell and Tiffany Kenefick, 22, were stopped on Highway 68 at Canyon del Rey and arrested late July 15.

The suspects were nabbed hours after the victims, whom Ragan would not name, returned to discover their house in the gated Sleepy Hollow subdivision east of Carmel Valley Village had been burglarized.

"Their place had been ransacked, and two of their cars had been stolen," he said. The other was a Mercedes, which was recovered this week.

They also stole a heavy portable safe, Ragan added. "It had roughly $100,000 of cash and jewelry in it," he said.

The victims called police, as well as the operator of the Cadillac Escalade's wire-

Preservation makes life easier for wheelchair-bound homeowner

By MARY BROWNFIELD

WHILE HISTORIC designation of a home can mean headaches for its owner, the status also comes with some benefits.

That's what Edwin and Jill Lee learned July 16 when plans for a small addition to their Casanova Street home were approved by the Carmel Historic Resources Board.

With Edwin Lee wheelchair bound, the couple had hoped to make their four-level home more accommodating to his disability by expanding the bedroom and bathroom on the main floor. They also wished to keep a separate unit on the property, which was once a studio, for live-in care when the need arises.

But the Lees' plans require more square footage than allowed under city rules.

City attorney Don Freeman said an exception could be made to accommodate Edwin Lee's handicap, but when they asked the planning commission to consider the concept in May, commissioners suggested a square-footage exception could be made provided no other remodel options, such as adding an elevator, reconfiguring the interior or demolishing the studio, were feasible.

They also recommended the Lees have their house evaluated for historic significance, since if the property qualified, the extra square footage could be accommodated under the city's historic preservation ordinance.

Architecture worth saving

Historian Kent Seavey surveyed the property and determined the main house, designed by Lennart Palme and built in 1940, and the subordinate unit, designed by Miles Bain and constructed in 1941, are historically significant for their architecture.

With that news, the Lees asked the HRB to add their home to the city's historic register and requested permission to build the addition, as well as handicap ramps on the north and west sides of the property.

Architect Gretchen Flesher said she designed the addition to make the house easier to live in while adding as little floor area as possible.

"The owners feel the house has so much charm and character that it's not a house you'd want to go in and reconfigure to try to meet these needs," Flesher said.

In his July 16 report to the historic resources board, senior planner Sean Conroy said the board "may allow the expansion of nonconformities when this is found necessary to achieve consistency with the Secretary's Standards," for the renovation of historic properties.

None of the other remodel options were feasible, he concluded, recommending the board accept the historic home's inclusion on the register, allow the exception to the floor area limit as a "reasonable accommodation," and find the proposed design consistent with the Secretary of the Interior's standards. He also requested a few changes, such as using horizontal wood siding, to ensure the addition is delineated from the older part of the house.

"I think it's a very good solution to Mr. Lee's present lifestyle, and I would like to compliment staff and the city attorney for being solution oriented," board member Julie Wendt said. Chairman Erik Dyar said he appreciated being able to see the inside of the home, and he praised the Lees for wanting to preserve not just the exterior, but the interior, as much as possible.

The board voted unanimously in favor of the Lees' application.

Did you know...

As America expanded westward in the 1830s, mountain men (fur trappers) often served as advance scouts for the government. A group of mountain men visited Monterey Peninsula in 1833, ordered by Washington D.C. to study this Mexican-owned land. The mountain men loved it here – the pleasant climate, huge cattle ranches, beautiful señoritas, sweet guitar music, continuous fiestas, abundant beefsteak, and excellent mission-grown wine. When the mountain men decided to head back east (a harrowing journey), several of the company deserted, and made new lives for themselves in the golden land. Perhaps their descendants are still here. The ranchero lifestyle of Central California, circa 1833, was "one of the most delightful ways of life the world has ever known," writes historian Bernard DeVoto.

Swim coach seeks council seat

By MARY BROWNFIELD

A SECOND application to fill the vacancy left by former Carmel City Councilman Mike Cunningham barely made it under the wire Wednesday.

High school swim coach Conrad Kohrs submitted his letter just before the noon deadline, and next week the mayor and remaining council members will decide whether he or options trader Amber Archangel should serve the remainder of Cunningham's term, which ends in April. If they don't appoint someone by Aug. 17, the city must hold a special election for a replacement, according to city attorney Don Freeman.

Kohrs, who has lived at Junipero and 12th with his wife and dogs for 12 years, is CEO and head coach of Barracuda Aquatics of the Monterey Peninsula swimming program and head coach of Carmel High School's boys swimming and diving teams.

"Our cornerstone objective in these programs is to develop leadership qualities in our youth, and we are committed to this goal as a benchmark of our success," he wrote in his cover letter to the council.

An avid athlete and traveler who attended high school in Pacific Palisades and received a bachelor's degree in political science from Ohio's Kenyon College in 1981, Kohrs worked as a lifeguard in Santa Monica and personal trainer at the Ritz-Carlton in Kapalua, Maui. While in Hawaii in early 1992, he also entered the successful coaching career that saw him leading winning teams in Lahaina, Santa Monica and finally, Carmel. His public service experience includes terms as supervisor and president for the California State Lifeguard Association from 1984 to 1991.

"True leadership is about placing the needs of the community above personal gain, desires and needs. It is about caring for a vision for the future that maintains the beauty of our city, cares for the needs of our local resident citizenry and remains an attractive destination based on its unique character," Kohrs wrote. "It would be a great honor to continue to serve Carmel-by-the-Sea in the capacity of city councilman."

If neither of the two applicants is worthy of nomination, or the council votes 2-2 on the proposed appointment, Freeman said council members could extend the application deadline in hope of attracting more candidates.

"But they have to appoint someone within the 30 days," following Cunningham's July 19 resignation, he said. "Or it goes to an election."

That special election would likely occur just a few months before next April's regular election, when voters will choose two council members and a mayor. Cunningham's now vacant seat, as well as that of former councilman Erik Bethel, who left last November for a banking job in Shanghai and was replaced by appointee Ken Talmage, will be up for election. The mayor serves two-year terms, while council members serve four years.

The city council's next regular meeting is set for Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Police, Fire & Sheriff's Log

His daughter has a very bad habit

HERE'S A look at some of the significant calls logged by the Carmel-by-the-Sea Police Department, the Carmel Fire Department and the Monterey County Sheriff's Office last week. This week's log was compiled by Mary Brownfield.

TUESDAY, JULY 17

Carmel Valley: Victim reported that her vehicle was burglarized while parked in the dirt lot at Garland Park.

Carmel Valley: Husband and wife were involved in a verbal argument.

Carmel Valley: Victim reported a vandalism at a Carmel Valley school.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18

Carmel-by-the-Sea: At 0024 hours, a pedestrian check was conducted at Sixth and Junipero. The juvenile was transported to Carmel P.D. and picked up there.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Victim lost her purse somewhere in the county after she left it on the top of the car in the area of Rio Road and Highway 1. Purse was found and returned.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Conducted a traffic stop at Santa Fe and Fifth. Driver had a suspending license; he was also DUI. Subject, a 29-year-old male, resisted arrest but was controlled and arrested. After a search of his vehicle, a bundle of cocaine was located.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: While on patrol, officer observed some graffiti on the eastbound stop sign at Santa Lucia and Dolores Street. The word, "war," was stenciled in black paint below the word, "stop." Upon looking further, the officer found that there were other stop signs that had been marked. Eastbound Santa Lucia at Rio Road, northbound Rio at Ridgewood, northbound Junipero at 10th, northbound Junipero at Eighth, and northbound Junipero at Ocean. Six signs had been marked in total. These markings matched the markings on several signs in the county area. Photos of the markings were taken, and public works was advised.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine responded to request for assistance for a water leak at Ocean and Monte Verde. At scene, shut a spigot to a garden hose that was leaking.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine responded to a report of wires down at Perry Newberry and Fifth. Firefighters found police on scene securing a cable wire that had broken. The scene was secure and police made proper notifications to make sure the wire was repaired.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance responded to a request for public service to a possible water leak at the American Legion Hall at Dolores and Eighth. Firefighters shut down the water main to stop a leak inside the building and allow the occupants to contact a licensed plumber the following morning.

Big Sur: Report of missing person. He returned very shortly after the report. He was entered into and then removed from the missing person(s) system.

Carmel Valley: Victim reported the theft of jewelry from her hotel room.

Pebble Beach: Reporting party advised of erratic phone calls occurring at various hours of the evening; mostly hang-ups. RP provided with information regarding Pacific Bell/AT&T privacy manager to end such calls. Nothing further. Case closed.

THURSDAY, JULY 19

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Victim reported loss of a camera in the area of the MST bus stop. If

Two more head injuries in Big Sur River gorge

By CHRIS COUNTS

TWO MORE visitors to the Big Sur River Gorge at Pfeiffer Big Sur State suffered head injuries last week, highlighting the risk of visiting local swimming holes during a summer when the water level is unusually low.

An unidentified 14-year-old boy was flown by a CalSTAR helicopter to Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital July 28, where he was treated for a minor head injury and later released. Two days later, a 33-year-old San Diego resident, Mike Linck, was taken by a Westmed ambulance to Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, where he was also treated for a minor head injury and released.

The two incidents came just six weeks after Brian John McClaren was killed diving into the water near the spot where the 14 year old was injured. The day before McClaren was killed, an unidentified Monterey Peninsula resident needed stitches to sew up a head injury he suffered near the same swimming hole.

The 14 year old, who reportedly was visiting the Gorge with his father, was hurt after he fell from a rope swing. Luckily, help was nearby when the incident occurred. Four state park lifeguards from Santa Cruz — including supervising lifeguard Chip Bachman — were hiking along the river when Bachman's wife, who witnessed the accident, called out for help.

"It was good for us that they were there," said Curtis "C.L." Price, state park superintendent for the Big Sur sector.

With the help of the lifeguards, state parks rangers and

Activists use feet to help bring safe water to the Third World

By CHRIS COUNTS

IN JULES Verne's classic adventure, "Around the World in 80 Days," Phileas Fogg uses trains, boats and even an elephant to circumnavigate the globe. On Friday, Aug. 3, a group of runners will pass south through Big Sur while attempting to circle the earth in 95 days — and raise awareness about a worldwide drinking water crisis.

The brainchild of a philanthropist Jin Zidell, the Blue Planet Run began in New York City in June. The event's organizers picked 20 runners from more than 200 applicants to cover a 15,200-mile route that passes through Europe, Russia, Mongolia, China and Japan. The runners — 12 men and eight women representing 13 countries and ranging in age from 23 to 60 — will each travel about 750 miles in three months. The run's visibility, organizers hope, will focus the public's attention on an important issue they believe can be resolved.

"There are lots of major issues in this world we really don't have an answer for, such as AIDS, many forms of cancer and global climate change," Zidell said. "But there are also 6,000 people who die every day from drinking unsafe water — and we have an answer to that problem. There is a solution."

In vast stretches of the undeveloped world, people from large cities to small villages regularly consume water contaminated with disease-laden sewage. While conquering this problem was a 19th century scientific achievement for Europe and the West, in some parts of Africa, South America and Asia, it is a problem that remains — yet is readily solvable with inexpensive, 21st century methods, according to Zidell.

"The technology is available," he said. "For as little as $30, you can bring safe drinking water to a person for the rest of his life."

And while the solution may be simple, Zidell said the fundraiser requires considerable effort on the part of the runners. "The message they are delivering is so important," he said. "It's just an extraordinary commitment of time, energy and will power."

Zidell created the nonprofit Blue Planet Run Foundation in 2002. Since 2004, the foundation has funded 135 water projects in 13 countries, including Afghanistan, Zimbabwe and Nicaragua.

The run is sponsored by the Dow Chemical Company, which has often been criticized by environmental and health activists for its products and practices. Zidell, who side-stepped questions about Dow's environmental record, said he

 Financial Advisor

EDWARD JONES NAMED NO. 1 FULL-SERVICE BROKER - AGAIN

The financial services firm Edward Jones again was named the No. 1 full-service brokerage firm in the August edition of SmartMoney magazine, according to Linda Myrick, a financial advisor in Carmel.

The firm placed ahead of six other firms and received high marks in the four categories surveyed by the magazine: stock picking, customer satisfaction, trust and customer statements.

Edward Jones, which ranked No. 1 in 2005 as well, received five-star ratings in client statements and customer satisfaction.

"We are honored to once again receive this recognition," said Myrick. "It is a direct reflection of the relationship we have with the individual investors we serve. Client service excellence is how Edward Jones distinguishes itself in the financial services industry."

In addition to its own research, SmartMoney used a customer-satisfaction survey from J.D. Power and Associates, a trust survey from Forrester Research, a review of customer statements from Dalbar and stock-picking performance reviews from several equity research companies to determine the rankings.

Edward Jones provides financial services for individual investors in the United States and, through its affiliates, in Canada and the United Kingdom. Every aspect of the firm's business, from the types of investment options offered to the location of branch offices, is designed to cater to individual investors in the communities in which they live and work. The firm's 10,000-plus financial advisors work directly with more than 7 million clients to understand their personal goals -- from college savings to retirement -- and create long-term investment strategies that emphasize a well-balanced portfolio and a buy-and-hold strategy. Edward Jones embraces the importance of building long-term, face-to-face relationships with clients, helping them to understand and make sense of the investment options available today.

Edward Jones is headquartered in St. Louis. The Edward Jones interactive Web site is located at www.edwardjones.com, and its recruiting Web site is www.careers.edwardjones.com.

 MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Energy commission clears way for pilot plant

By KELLY NIX

CALIFORNIA AMERICAN Water Co. will be able to hook up its pilot desalination plant to the Moss Landing power plant, the California Energy Commission decided Wednesday.

Energy commissioners followed their staff's recommendation to amend the power plant's permit to allow Cal Am to tap into its cooling system for the temporary pilot plant. The power plant's owner, Dynegey, requested the amendment.

Although the commission's staff had concluded the pilot project would not result in any "significant adverse environmental impacts," North Monterey County resident Madeleine Clark maintained the chemicals in the pilot plant's outfall would hurt marine life in and around Elkhorn Slough.

Clark, who spoke at Wednesday's hearing in Sacramento, also claims the power plant's discharge pipe is too close to the mouth of the slough.

Cal Am's pilot plant, which is expected to run for one year while it collects data for a larger, permanent desal plant, has already gained the approval of the California Coastal Commission, the Regional Water Quality Control Board and the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

The energy commission staff's report indicated, "The pilot project will not require additional water intake from or additional discharge to Monterey Bay and will not affect power plant operations."

The pilot plant, which would use less than 0.02 percent of the total water circulated through the power plant, would utilize the power plant's piping and other infrastructure to draw seawater and discharge brine.

Cal Am has said the 6,500-square-foot facility won't create any new impingement or entrainment, processes which kill organisms, including small fish. The company also argues the facility won't increase the amount of discharge into the harbor associated with the normal operations of the power plant.

involves a range of activities, from helping a family member every day with bathing, dressing, and eating to providing transportation to a doctor or paying bills and handling other financial matters.

A recent survey shows that, in the last year of their lives, almost 75 percent of chronically disabled individuals rely extensively on care provided to them by informal caregivers, who typically include spouses, family members, and friends. As psychologically rewarding as these caregivers found their experiences to be, they also pointed out that giving end-of-life care is a heavy burden that took an emotional, financial, and physical toll. By and large, these caregivers provided their help 43 hours per week, which was tantamount to having a full-time job. Nearly half of those surveyed reported receiving no additional outside assistance. If you are in a similar position, you are strongly encouraged to consult with an experienced professional, who may provide alternatives. This column has been brought to you by VICTORIAN HOME CARE/RESIDENTIAL CARE HOMES. Our highly trained professionals have the experience and sensitivity required to address the special needs of caring for the older adult.

P.S. Caregivers often do not recognize their own needs, and they either do not admit they need help or do not know where to get assistance.

Today's Modern Dentistry

Presented by Frank J. di Bari, DDS

A THIN VENEER OF TRUTH

When teeth become chipped, misshapen, rotated, or discolored, dentists may fix the problem with tooth-colored resin bonding. While this is a very acceptable and cost-effective fix, there is another option that offers the most natural-looking remedy. Porcelain veneers are not only durable, but they provide a translucent surface that most closely approximates the natural look of enamel. While synthetic resin can match tooth color to an exacting standard, it is, by nature, an opaque material. Porcelain veneers, on the other hand, seem to have depth. To get this high-quality effect, it is necessary to remove a thin layer of the tooth surface to accommodate the thin veneer. For many, the extra cost and effort is well worth the superior look.

Even before a first tooth appears, use a soft, clean cloth to wipe your baby's gums and cheeks after feeding. As soon as the first tooth appears, begin using a small, soft bristled tooth brush to clean the tooth after eating. Don't cover the brush with toothpaste. Young children tend to swallow most of the toothpaste, and swallowing too much fluoridated toothpaste can cause permanent spots on their teeth called dental fluorosis. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please call our office. We are open by appointment.

P.S. Veneers can actually strengthen teeth by reinforcing their structure.

Dr. di Bari, is a dentist in private practice at 20 Dormody Ct. here in Monterey. He may be reached at 373-3703.

YOUR AUTO COLUMN

Presented by Kevin & Sue Anne Donohoe
THE LEATHER OPTION

These days, leather upholstery is no longer considered to be a luxury option. Thirty percent of the cars now sold in North America have leather interiors, which is up from only 10% two decades ago. Interestingly, in the first automobiles, leather came standard. There was no cloth upholstery, which was considered to be the luxury material. Then, in the early 1920s, as automobiles at moderate prices became closed to the elements, mohair upholstery, which mimicked sofa upholstery, began to be offered. In limousines that were produced between the 1920s and 1970s, durable leather seats were largely reserved for the chauffeur compartment. Cars such as Rolls Royce retained leather throughout, and the material began to be associated with luxury.

This column on leather upholstery is brought to you by the entire staff at Pacific Motor Service. Leather seats are an option designed to make the consumer happy. We, like leather seats to some people, strive to bring you satisfaction in all things automotive. When you think of vehicles, we hope you think of us. Our services are guaranteed for 12 months or 12,000 miles with NAPA Peace of Mind Warranty, and some repairs offer extended warranties.

P.S. In the 1980s, the comeback of leather upholstery can be attributed to new manufacturing methods that reduced its cost.

Kevin and Sue Anne are the owners of Pacific Motor Service located at 550 E. Franklin St. here in Monterey. Phone: 375-9571 Green Business Program www.pacificmotorservice.com

First Dog makes acting debut

By MARY BROWNFIELD

UNLIKE Paris, Lindsay and Nicole, the star of the latest film shot in Carmel-by-the-Sea was a consummate professional.

"He was mellow and didn't do anything a celebrity shouldn't do," enthused the director.

For instance, he didn't gobble up anybody else's lunch or swallow the cork from the wine bottle — one of the things Robbie, the First Dog of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, did as a young pup.

But during the filming of "A Day in the Life of Robbie," which will be screened at city hall Aug. 8, Mayor Sue McCloud's Dandie Dinmont terrier acted with the utmost poise.

"He must have been another dog I picked up along the way," McCloud commented. "I guess it was his show-dog heritage — he just did his thing all the way along the line. He was quiet. He was great."

Known to interrupt phone conversations with enthusiastic barks and wander around city hall when his owner is working, Robbie kept it cool during a long day of shooting and re-shooting scenes for the 15-minute film, which has also been compressed into a five-minute podcast that will be available on the city's travel website.

Robbie's owner also behaved herself. "Sue is a natural on camera," said director Maria Goodavage, author of "The Dog Lover's Companion to California," and the co-owner of a new San Francisco business, Smiling Dog Films, with her husband, Craig Hanson. They immortalize pets, and sometimes their people, on video.

"We love dogs," said Goodavage, who met Hanson when he and his dog came to interview her and her dog about the first "Dog Lover's" edition for a television program in 1992. "And there aren't really any dog videography companies out there, though there are lots of photographers."

She came up with the idea of a videography service after encountering a woman who wished to catch her ailing pup on film.

Keepsake turned marketing tool

The Robbie project grew out of Goodavage's work on a written piece commissioned by Bay Woof, an online and print publication providing "news with bite for Bay Area dog lovers."

After interviewing McCloud extensively about Carmel — which Goodavage considers paws-down the most dog-friendly city in the state — Goodavage asked advertising executive Jeff Burghardt, who holds the city marketing contract and helped arrange interviews for the piece, if he thought the mayor would like a free Robbie-based video.

"He saw the opportunity," she said, to turn it into something the city could use. "I thought it would just be a keepsake for Sue."

McCloud, always happy to talk about Carmel's reputation as a canine-accommodating community, agreed to help disseminate the dog's-eye view.

"I'm the talking head, and Robbie is the four-legged critter," she said.

In the film, McCloud talks about the town as "Dog Heaven on Earth," and shares its history as she and Robbie visit various historical, commercial and city sites, from the beach, to lunch at the Village Corner, to shopping at one of Carmel Plaza's upscale retailers.

In these still shots from "A Day in the Life of Robbie," which will premier at Carmel City Hall Wednesday, the mayor's dog behaves like the superstar he is, grinning beside a water bowl (above). Later, his canine costars hang out on a bench in front of the Cypress Inn's cozy fireplace in anticipation of afternoon tea.

RUN

was grateful for the chemical company's involvement.

"Dow has been extremely supportive of us," he said. "I'm focused on bringing safe drinking water to the world and so is Dow. I'm very appreciative of their commitment."

Going down the road

Not only will runners have to contend with Big Sur's uneven terrain, they'll be required to negotiate the twists and turns of treacherous Highway 1 — on a busy summer afternoon, no less. But Mark Driscoll, who is helping manage the run's logistics, isn't worried.

"We've driven the entire route," Driscoll said. "There are a couple of places that are tricky, but it's nothing we haven't faced before."

Driscoll said runners will keep to the inland side of the highway "about 90 percent of the time," facing traffic as they travel south.

A runner will arrive at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park at about 3 p.m., where he (or she) will pass a baton to another presumably better-rested runner. Each athlete typically runs 10 to 15 miles at a time.

The team is expected to reach Los Angeles by Sunday where, according to Driscoll, "they will turn left." Runners will pass through Las Vegas, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, Toronto, Baltimore and Philadelphia before arriving at the finish line in New York Sept. 4.

Potter fires back at activist for politicization of Girl Scouts

By KELLY NIX

FIFTH DISTRICT Supervisor Dave Potter this week fired back at activist David Dilworth for using three former Girl Scouts in an attempt to publicly embarrass him at a July county board of supervisors meeting.

During the public comment period of the July 10 supervisors meeting, the girls, accompanied by Dilworth, went to the podium to claim Potter wouldn't set up a meeting with their scout troop "a couple of years ago" to discuss the Pebble Beach Co.'s development plan of Del Monte Forest.

The girls also said their troop had written letters to Potter, asking him "please not to cut down our forest."

"We really feel that the Girls Scouts are very important people," added the mother of two of the girls, Vienna Merritt-Moore.

"I was quite surprised at the time that there was this attempt to embarrass me using small children," Potter said Tuesday. "Teaching small children to misrepresent issues is not the sort of thing I would expect from David Dilworth or responsible people."

And the Girl Scouts organization is upset, too. The CEO of the local Girl Scouts chapter sent a letter to Potter apologizing for the former Scouts' behavior. The group prohibits "political activity" among its members.

"While we teach girls to explore and discover their own values," Sharon Reece wrote to Potter in the July 19 letter, "we also teach them that Girl Scouts do not impose one individual's values on another."

At the July meeting, Merritt-Moore introduced the three girls to supervisors, then gave them the podium to say a few words. The girls said they had wanted to meet with Potter after being given a presentation on the Pebble Beach project two years ago.

"When I was a Girl Scout," Hannah Moore said, "I wrote a letter to Dave Potter. Well, in fact, my whole troop wrote letters. We were very sad that [Potter] had no chance to meet with us."

Another girl, a friend of Merritt-Moore's daughters, told supervisors Potter was "too busy" to meet with them.

Dilworth is a staunch opponent of the Pebble Beach Co.'s plan — approved by voters in 2002 — to build a new 18-hole golf course, 160-room hotel, and equestrian center. It also calls for the removal of about 17,000 trees but prevents future major development.

He told The Pine Cone the girls were among 10 other Girl Scouts who two years ago wrote letters to Potter opposing the Pebble Co's plans. He said the girls had wanted to deliver the letters to Potter personally.

"Since Potter won't even meet with some people who want to protect our forest," Dilworth wrote in an email to The Pine Cone, "we are forced to publicize his actions at public meetings."

He denied using the girls as political tools. "It is not 'using' someone to notify them of an opportunity to be effective in protecting something they care about," Dilworth said.

"If Potter had merely met with the girls for five minutes," Merritt-Moore told The Pine Cone via email, "they wouldn't have felt a need to attend the supervisors meeting."

WHY CHOOSE PACIFIC VALLEY BANK?
ASK VIC ROSSI.

"They go out of their way to help."

Vic Rossi, Owner
Rossi's Tire and Auto Service

More and more people are switching to Pacific Valley Bank because they like our genuine local, community bank service.

- We respond fast to their needs.
- They can always get a human voice on the phone, and we return phone calls promptly.
- We get the job done right the first time.
- No loan request is too large or too small.

When Rossi's Tire and Auto Service needed financing, they turned to the lenders at Pacific Valley Bank.

"We recently switched to Pacific Valley Bank. They're terrific. Customer friendly. We needed financing on a difficult piece of property that other banks wouldn't even look at. Pacific Valley Bank stepped right in and took care of it. They are very accommodating. The thing that has been most enjoyable is that the people at Pacific Valley Bank really want to work with you. That's a community bank's biggest asset. They know who you are, and know their community. It is very refreshing to work with a bank that wants to work with you."

Banksy, whose intricate, stenciled spray-paintings have appeared in London and cities around the world since the late 1990s. Banksy's paintings have sold for upward of $500,000 at some of the world's finest auction houses. He was the subject of a lengthy profile in The New Yorker in May.

The Carmel City Hall painting led some locals to speculate it might even be a genuine Banksy. But the Tutto Mondo painting bore a signature, "ED." Despite the reward, no one has yet come forward to identify ED.

All three figures have since been removed. Two were painted over, and the sprayed shingles at city hall have been replaced at a cost to taxpayers of approximately $2,500.

With few leads in the Carmel case, Juarez hopes the money and promise of anonymity will "motivate people to come forward with information," as they have in some other hard-to-solve crimes.

"Most of the cases that I've had the privilege of being involved with were solved with just a lot of hard work, but I do know agencies with successful cases that involved a reward," he said.

In the past, Carmel P.D. offered cash to help identify the vandals who smashed windows and mailboxes in the city and Pebble Beach in the fall of 2005, as well as for information about those responsible for torching the porta-potties on Scenic Road in 2001. Juvenile suspects were finally identified in that case.

The Monterey County Sheriff's Office and Big Sur residents also recently offered money for help solving a string of burglaries at several Highway 1 businesses, and in 2004 a group of Del Monte Forest residents said they would reward anyone who helped identify the people who burned up expensive picnic tables at Indian Village. No arrests in those cases have been publicized.

SOME HELP FOR MAKING IT REAL

Here's an intriguing task. A family sits before you—Mom, Dad, two girls and a teenage son—and they say their male teenage cousin is coming to live with them. Their space needs are changing. They want to take this opportunity to find and buy the house that truly works best for them.

The Dad starts to reel off the features he thinks they need, but what they need involves a bit more magic than finding four bedrooms and a big living room. In truth, they feel both excited and lost. They have no idea how to effectively translate what they need from a house to support and empower how they live...other than, perhaps, just to look at a lot of houses with the faith that, "We'll know when we see it."

This is one of the most crucial and rewarding jobs a real estate professional faces again and again. It requires an extremely good awareness of what is available for sale, an ability to listen closely and hear between the lines of what the members of the family have to say, a nearly intuitive sense of the house that will truly work for this unique family, and the ability to make the transaction happen. One of the real estate professional's greatest rewards in this process is the look on the faces of all the family members when he or she shows the truly "right" house.

The point of these few paragraphs is that this simply cannot be done by a computer. It is one of the invaluable services a great real estate professional provides, worth its weight in gold. ## The Facts about the Carmel Hospital Restoration

Restoration as Envisioned

Current State of Decay

Preservation: The Hospital has not been designated historic and is not subject to any law requiring preservation. However, we believe, as do local historians with whom we have consulted, that this is, perhaps, the most architecturally important building in Carmel.

Project: Adaptive reuse of existing building into residential use is required economically to preserve the resource. Additional residences will be of a scale and at a density consistent with the neighborhood. The stands of oak and pine trees and the nearly 2 acres of extensive landscaping will be renewed and enhanced. All new buildings will be architecturally detailed to compliment the old hospital.

Landscape Regeneration: Significant net increase in site forestation and extensive landscaping to reflect the natural character of the area and to screen the site from other residences.

The Team: The Leidig Family, members of the Carmel Community for over 150 years, have created a partnership to preserve this historic and architecturally important building.

Community Benefits: Road improvements in the vicinity; building and property tax income; productive use of abandoned building which is a magnet for transients and other unwanted activities; rare opportunity to provide workforce housing in Carmel.

Cost to the Public: No public money will be used for the project. It will be totally funded with private resources. In addition, tax revenues will enhance public services throughout the community.

ARRESTS

less/satellite-driven security, communications and diagnostics system.

"And later that night, with the help of OnStar, we stopped the stolen Escalade on Highway 68," Ragan said.

Monterey police officers pulled the Escalade over and held it until deputies arrived to interview the occupants. They released two passengers riding in the back seat, as they had evidently just recently been picked up and probably didn't even know the car was stolen, according to Ragan.

But they took Rockwell, who lives on Southbank Road not far from the victims, and Kenefick into custody on suspicion of possessing stolen property. Inside the Escalade, investigators also found a small amount of the jewelry that had been locked in the safe, but most of the money and valuables are still missing.

Ragan said the burglary investigation is ongoing, and no charges related to that crime have been filed against the pair.

A familiar face

Ragan also reported deputies this week arrested a parolee they suspect used credit cards stolen from a vehicle parked in Pebble Beach near the Peter Hay golf course almost a month ago. At the time, the owners, a Salinas family, reported the theft to the sheriff's office and their bank.

"Then the bank reported the credit cards were used at Longs in Monterey, Home Depot in Seaside, and a couple of gas stations in the Monterey area," Ragan said. "All those places have great surveillance systems."

The investigating deputy reviewed the security footage and found the familiar face of Devinshire Johnston, a 31-year-old Hatton Road resident who was released from prison just a month ago after serving time for narcotics-related offenses, according to Ragan.

"We went to his house to do a parole search for the stolen property," he said.

They didn't find any but still arrested him for allegedly using the stolen credit cards. Because he was out on parole, Johnston was lodged at Monterey County Jail without bail.

"We have not officially charged him with burglarizing the car, but we have other good stuff on him," Ragan said.

MERONEY

kind who put illegal "No Parking" signs in front of their houses or add bathrooms to their homes without permits.

Carmel via L.A., Tahoe

As much as Meroney might seem like a lifetime local, considering he knows practically everyone and everything in town, he was born and raised in the San Fernando Valley and spent the first years of his career in Southern California.

With an associate's degree in architecture, Meroney was set to enroll in the fire academy in 1970 when he was called up to serve in the U.S. Navy. After getting out, he applied for a job with the City of Los Angeles at the prompting of an uncle who was a building inspector there for 35 years. He was hired as a trainee building inspector in 1973 and went on to inspect housing tracts containing 10 to 2,500 units.

"The San Fernando Valley was developing like crazy," he said. His department employed 680 people.

In 1980, Meroney left for South Lake Tahoe after being told his young daughters would be bused 60 miles to school every day as part of an effort to integrate city schools. He objected to that plan, as well as to the increasing traffic and crowds. "I wanted a simpler life for my family," he said.

But after four years in Tahoe, budget cuts left him jobless. Tiburon wanted him, but he couldn't find an affordable place to live within 45 miles.

When he applied for a job in Carmel, he didn't even think he'd be interviewed. Nevertheless, in January 1985, he was hired as head of the city's building department, with an inspector and a code enforcement officer working under him. Soon, he was one of the busiest people in town. With Clint Eastwood in the middle of his two-year term as mayor, there was a lot to do.

"The city administrator saw me as a go-getter for some of the things not getting done," he said. "I'm pretty aggressive. I like to be busy, get results, accomplish tasks and move on."

Less than two years later, his helpers took other jobs, and he subsequently saw a half dozen code enforcement officers come and go. Budget cuts in 1989 eliminated the building inspector's position. Consequently, Meroney took on more responsibilities and also became a reserve police officer, as he was in Tahoe. The building maintenance department was merged with his, and he also took on fire prevention/inspection.

"As time went on and people retired, or left, or quit, or positions were dissolved and there was nobody to do it, I kept moving in," he said.

A high-energy guy with a quick, dry wit, Meroney said his work has to be entertaining as well as challenging. "If I'm getting bored and frustrated with something every day, I'm done. If it's not fun, why do it?" he said.

Upping the cop quotient

His police work also increased after Don Fuselier, who became police chief in 1994, decided Meroney should respond to day-to-day calls. His city vehicle was equipped with lights and sirens, and he was part of the police department's Special Response Team — trained for critical incidents such as hostage situations and snipers.

"Being a part-time police officer and full-time building official, and having the power and authority of all those positions, has made me a fun-loving guy," Meroney added.

His cop highlights included serving as security for Eastwood, assisting with Pope John Paul II's 1987 visit and the arrival of the King of Spain a few weeks later, and being police Sgt. Ryan McGuirk. "The whole thing didn't take [more than] a minute or two."

LULU

On July 25, Ospina was walking Lulu on a leash when the other dog, owned by Donna Marie Bazan of Rancho Palos Verdes, jumped through an open car window and attacked her Maltese. Ospina was bitten on the hand when she tried to break up the fight, but McGuirk wouldn't elaborate on the extent of her injuries. Ospina has been staying with family in Southern California and could not be reached for comment.

Pacific Grove City Manager Jim Colangelo said police chief Darius Engles has already determined the dog is vicious. Colangelo said he has appointed Carmelita Garcia as the hearing officer in the case. Garcia will listen to both accounts of the attack and will determine what exactly should be done with the Lab, Colangelo said.

"The dog could be banished" from the city, Colangelo said. Or it could be ordered to be euthanized.

The dog's history, including whether it's bitten another dog or person previously, as well as the reason it attacked Ospina's dog will likely be taken into account at the administrative hearing.

"I would imagine a lot of it is going to go into the character of the dog and if this is a unique circumstance," said P.G. city attorney David Laredo. "The question, of course, will always be, is this going to happen again?"

Because Bazan does not live in Pacific Grove, it's possible, Colangelo said, the dog won't be euthanized.

"In this unfortunate circumstance, there was no malicious intent on the part of anyone," McGuirk said. "It wasn't a raving pit bull-type dog that did this."

A man sitting in the car with the much larger dog that attacked Lulu, who weighed less than 10 pounds, was reportedly talking on a cell phone when the mauling occurred, but it's not known whether he tried to break up the fight. Colangelo said another dog jumped from the same car but it wasn't determined to be vicious.

The dog is in quarantine at the SPCA's facility on Highway 68, said executive director Gary Tiscornia. Dogs involved in attacks against people or animals are held for 10 days to determine if they have neurological disorders or rabies. The dog is scheduled to be released to its owner Aug. 4, Tiscornia said.

Wednesday, KION 46 news director Denise Clodjeaux declined to comment on when Ospina might return to her 6, 6:30, 10 and 11 p.m. newscasts, but a station employee said Thursday she is expected to return next week.

Ospina's affection for Lulu and other animals is apparent on the TV station's website. "This animal lover is the proud mother of a Maltese puppy and dedicates her time to helping organizations in the fight against animal abuse," her online bio says. Ospina is a regular volunteer for the SPCA of Monterey County.

Tiscornia said it is up to pet owners to make sure attacks don't happen in the first place.

"It's the individual's responsibility to secure their pet and make sure things like this don't happen," he said. "It can happen so quickly and with such tragic results."

When the SPCA is given custody of a problem animal, it conducts a temperament test. An SPCA behaviorist will test the dog to make sure it doesn't show signs of food aggression or aggression against other animals, Tiscornia said. If it's determined a dog is a danger to the public and not adoptable, it's euthanized.

Although Tiscornia said dog attacks against other animals are not uncommon in Monterey County, Elizabeth Conti-Yeo, Pacific Grove's animal control officer said Pacific Grove hasn't had a mauling for at least five years.

According to the American Kennel Club, the Maltese, part of the toy group of dogs, is known to be "gentle-mannered and affectionate, eager and sprightly in action, and, despite his size, possessed of the vigor needed for the satisfactory companion."

A hearing will determine whether the attacking dog should be euthanized

P.G. City Council approves tax measures for November ballot

THE PACIFIC Grove City Council Wednesday voted to place three measures on the November ballot that, if voters OK, will help bolster the city's coffers.

If voters approve, the city's sales tax would climb from 7.25 percent to 8.25 percent and could prevent service reductions and restore reserves.

The council also voted to let the public vote on increased parcel and business license taxes. Combined, the measures could raise about $1.5 million per year for the city.

The cost of placing a measure on the ballot cost the city from $20,000 to $30,000, according to city staff.

Revered Ford, failed Edsel inspire sermons

By MARY BROWNFIELD

JIM WARD, owner of a Monterey radiator shop, was cruising the streets of Carmel on July 4 in his 1932 Ford Highboy Roadster when he was "accosted" by a pedestrian who asked for his phone number.

The pedestrian was Church of the Wayfarer parishioner Carl Iverson. When he saw the car on Ocean Avenue, he knew it would add a nice touch to a Concours Week sermon by the Rev. Norm Mowery.

"I saw this '32 Ford Roadster headed toward the beach. I waited around, and in 15 or 20 minutes, the driver came back," recalled Iverson, who had the same hot rod in high school and still loves the model. "I ran out in the street, he gave me his card, and I called him a couple days later."

Ward, who bought the Ford about a month and a half ago to fulfill a long-running dream, agreed to park the vehicle in front of the church Aug. 12.

For a quarter-century, Ward said, he'd pined for one of the popular hot rods, which were raced at Utah's Bonneville salt flats and were a favorite of custom-car makers in Southern California.

It's that very reputation that is inspiring Mowery's Aug. 12 sermon, "Success in the Rear View Mirror, the 1932 Ford," which he will present as Concours Week kicks off on the Monterey Peninsula and car aficionados fill the streets.

This year also marks the 75th anniversary of the introduction of the sought-after roadster.

"It is very popular today with car buffs, although it wasn't particularly successful when it came out," Mowery said, explaining his sermon title. "I'm going to talk about success, and how it can be very positive but can also put stress on us when we're successful."

Ward will park his new (to him) wheels outside the church on Lincoln Street just south of Ocean Avenue and will attend in appropriate hot-rod attire — a shirt covered with cars.

The following week, Mowery will base his sermon on a far different car: Ford's Edsel, a make known for its spectacular failure in the American market following its debut in 1958. One year later, Ford declared Edsel defunct. Some blamed the economy, some the design, some the mechanics, and some the price.

"It was a unique and innovative car, but as far as profit goes, it was a failure for Ford," said Mowery, whose Aug. 19 sermon will be entitled, "Living with Failure, the Edsel."

But he has yet to find one to park in front of the church that Sunday.

"I need some help," said Mowery, who

Duo takes scenic route on the road to musical success

By CHRIS COUNTS

FOR THE past decade, the acoustic duo, Gypsy Soul, has marched to its own beat, traveling the back roads of the West Coast and doing everything possible to avoid playing by the rules of the pop music industry.

"We're pretty unorthodox, but in a good way," explained vocalist Cilette Swann, who will perform with her husband, multi-instrumentalist Roman Morykit, Saturday, Aug. 4, at the Pacific Grove Art Center. "We're pretty uncompromising. We don't want to make music just to get signed by a record company."

Refusing to be labeled, Gypsy Soul creates an unlikely mix of folk, Celtic, jazz, bluegrass and pop. Yet the duo's sound is easily accessible. It just doesn't fit in a categorical box.

"It's not fast-food music," Swann said matter-of-factly.

Instead of signing with a major recording label, Swann and Morykit took their music to the streets, literally. Between gigs, the pair would stand on busy street corners and play — a tiring way to become well known.

"To play on the streets, you really need to love what you're doing," Swann conceded. "But we took a leap of faith. We believed in ourselves."

From the start, it was clear the duo had a strong work ethic. But they realized that if they were going to carve out an enduring niche for themselves as professional musicians, they also had to be smart.

"You have to be really organized," Swann explained. "And you need to work with good people you can trust. Thank God we have good people helping us out. We've had so much support along the way. We've been very lucky."

Taking an entrepreneurial approach to their career, Swann and Morykit turned their home in Jacksonville, Ore., into a recording studio. Swann handles the vocals and provides the lyrics, while Morykit plays the instruments and serves as the duo's producer. The couple shares publicity duties.

A decade into their career, Gypsy Soul has released eight recordings, which Swann and Morykit jokingly refer to "our children." While their recordings typically feature original songs, they veered from that approach on their latest release, "Beneath the Covers." Included on the disc are covers of hits by U2, the Beatles, Stevie Wonder and others.

"It was a wonderful challenge," she said. "We recorded some pretty heavy duty songs. We wanted to pay homage to the artists who inspired us."

Outside the mainstream

Looking back on the past decade, Swann is proud of what Gypsy Soul has accomplished. She's also heartened by the warm reception the duo has received despite its outside-the-mainstream approach to the music business.

"We want to give kids hope," he said. "There's a new paradigm in the music industry."

Despite the challenges of succeeding in the music business, Swann said she can't imagine doing something else.

"Playing music is something we have to do," she said. "It's a lot of hard work, but I wouldn't trade it for anything."

The concert, a fundraiser for the art center, starts at 8 p.m. Tickets are $15. For more information, call (831) 375-2208 or visit www.pgartcenter.org.

Merlot Cabernet Sauvignon Champagne Dinner

Tasting rooms, summer festivals and green chefs aplenty

By CHARYN PFEUFFER

WE'RE ON a roll this summer when it comes to wine tasting room openings. A few more tasting rooms downtown and at the mouth of the valley and it may actually become a wine destination, instead of an extracurricular afterthought.

Boutique Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Cabernet Sauvignon producer Cima Collina opened downtown to smashing enthusiasm. Now winemaker Dan Lee of Morgan Winery and his family are bringing a bit of the Santa Lucia Highlands to this side of the mountain with its new tasting room at the Crossroads Shopping Village. Morgan Winery was named by Restaurant Wine (www.restaurantwine.com), an online industry journal, as "2007 Winery of the Year."

Next up, look for Bill and Mary Ellen Parsons of Parsonage Village Vineyard's new location in Carmel Valley Village — they are taking over the space formerly occupied by San Saba.

■ It's August and There's Lots to Do

The list of food-oriented social events is quite long this month, so plan accordingly to play overtime this summer. You don't want to miss a single one of these soirees:

Aug. 4-5, Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club's 16th Annual Carmel Valley Fiesta in the Park. This popular event is a family favorite with pancake breakfasts, a parade, miniature train rides, children's games, a petting zoo, wild animal show, dog show, classic car show, live music, gigantic raffle, arts & crafts, and food vendors. Proceeds benefit local charities.

Call (831) 644-6180 for more information or visit www.cvkclub.org for a full schedule of events. No entry fee.

Aug. 11, Monterey County Vintners and Growers Association's 15th Annual Winemakers Celebration. Tickets for this year's Winemakers Celebration at the Custom House Plaza in Monterey are selling faster than the Spice Girls' Reunion Tour tickets. OK, maybe that's a slight exaggeration, but they are going quickly. And while the Spice Girls may never be able to recreate the magic they once held, you can be sure the 15th anniversary of this event will be better than ever. For a complete lineup of participating wineries, to sign up for the new SSSS seminar (that's see, swirl, sniff and sip) or to buy tickets for the event, visit www.monterey-wines.org or call (831) 375-9400.

Aug. 17, The Quail, A Motorsports Gathering. Like fancy cars, killer cuisine and starting the weekend early? Take off Friday, Aug. 17, because you've got a date with The Quail. Join other lovers of the good life to celebrate the 75th Anniversary of the Monte Carlo Rally — one of the most famous rallies in the world. In its fifth year, The Quail has become as much of a draw for its sumptuous array of food as the Monterey Bay area. A singer/songwriter with a beautiful alto voice, Fineman released her first album of original music, "Cup of Kindness," in 1988 and has toured the United States extensively ever since, performing at such prestigious events as the Wizards of Wooden Music in Mammoth, the Kate Wolf Memorial Festival in Mendocino County, South-By-Southwest in Austin, Tex., and the Connecticut Family Folk Festival. Hurd adds a nice touch to the duo's performances with vocal harmonies and an array of tasteful musical accents with guitar, mandolin, mandola, dobro, banjo and slide guitar. The Big Sur River Inn is located 25 miles south of Carmel on Highway 1. Call (831) 667-2700 for more information.

The 18th Annual Carmel Valley Fiesta kicks off Friday night, Aug. 3, with the traditional Honky Tonk Hoopla at the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club. The barbecue begins at 6 p.m. and features the soulful sounds of Hurricane Sam and the Hot Shots. A Kiwanis Club of Carmel Valley fundraiser, the Fiesta continues throughout the weekend with a parade through the Village on Saturday at 10 a.m. and music throughout Saturday and Sunday at the Carmel Valley Community Park. This year's entertainment features Sam Rudin and the Bryan Diamond Band on Saturday, and the Island Hoppers plus the Cachagua Playboys on Sunday. For more information, call (831) 659-7170.

The Seaside Sunday Blues in the Park continues this month with the Chicano All Stars opening for Sista Monica on Sunday, Aug. 5; and John "Broadway" Tucker warming up the audience for Roy Rogers & the Delta Rhythm Kings on Aug. 12. Roy Rogers is one of the premier blues slide guitarists in the world. With eight solo recordings, he has also been nominated for two Grammy Awards and six Grammy credits as the producer of John Lee Hooker and Ramblin' Jack Elliott releases. Tucker, a local blues treasure, recently returned from a two-month tour of Europe where he performed in Poland, Hungary, Switzerland and Italy. The concerts start at 1 p.m. and take place at Laguna Grande Park on Canyon Del Rey.

At Carmel Plaza, located at the intersection of Ocean

Avenue and Mission Street, the Jazz at the Plaza series continues throughout the summer every Friday evening from 5 to 7 p.m. and will feature pianist Sonny G Aug. 3 and guitarist Steve Ezzo Aug. 10. A wine tasting program is also offered for $15. At Del Monte Center in Monterey, the Musical Marketplace takes place every Thursday in August and features the Dennis Murphy Quartet Aug. 9, the reggae sounds of Tony Miles Aug. 16, acoustic rock with Trusting Lucy Aug. 23, and modern country with Candi Cobb and 8 Second Ride Aug. 30. The music takes place from 5:30 to 8 p.m. in the shopping center's sunken garden (between Macy's and Mervyns).

Sand City is perhaps best known around the Monterey Peninsula for its big-box retail experience, but all this has begun to change in great part due to the development of the town's West End — an emerging artisan community otherwise known as "Soho West." Saturday, Aug. 11, the 6th Annual West End Celebration will celebrate the opening of several new businesses, including Morgan Christopher's latest venue, the Ol' Factory, plus the city's new centerpiece, architect Al Saroyan's Design Center. The West End Celebration features open artist studios, street performers and live entertainment performing in the plaza in front of the new upscale retail/office/condo complex. This year's lineup includes the Sambahemians, Rasta Robbie and the Militia of Love (reggae), Holiday and the Adventure Pop Collective, and the Shi-Tones (a surf band featuring members of the Mermen). The music starts at noon.

After numerous sold-out performances of "The White Album Live," "Let Abbey Road Be," and "Sgt. Pepper's Magical Mystery Tour," the White Album Ensemble is returning to Monterey with "Rubber Revolver" — a live performance of music from the Beatles' "Rubber Soul" and "Revolver" albums, as well as the singles that were released simultaneously with each album. The event takes place at the Golden State Theatre on Saturday, Aug. 11 at 8 p.m., and features an all-star cast of Monterey Bay musicians including Dale Ockerman and Tiran Porter of the Doobie Brothers. For tickets, call (831) 372-3800.

One of the top-selling female vocalists in Hawaii, Amy Hanaiali'i performs Aug. 11 at Sunset Center. Hanaiali'i, the granddaughter of one of the original Royal Hawaiian Girls, has received numerous awards, including a Grammy nomination for Best Hawaiian Music Album, plus multiple prestigious Na Hoku Hanohano Awards (Hawaii's equivalent of a Grammy) for Song of the Year, Female Vocalist of the Year, Hawaiian Album of the Year and Group of the Year. Her second album, "Hawaiian Tradition," placed her on the World Billboard Charts, a first for an album written solely in the Hawaiian language. The concert starts at 8 p.m. For tickets, call (831) 620-2048.

ROBBIE

“It’s just to promote Carmel’s uniqueness as a dog-friendly town,” McCloud said, adding that she spoke extemporaneously on camera. And, of course, some of those who paused to pet Robbie (and read his official calling card, which McCloud carries for him and distributes to those curious about the First Dog and his breed), ended up on film as well.

The duo stopped for coffee at Caffe Cardinale on Ocean Avenue, where they encountered kilted resident Gene McFarland and his ever-present companion, Sir Shedsalot.

McCloud said Robbie shopped for collars at Wilkes Bashford, but at $2,000 a pop, the alligator and crocodile pieces were outside the mayoral dog’s budget.

“They were lovely, as you can imagine, and unusual,” McCloud said. “But they would be gone in two gulps.” (While well behaved on movie day, Robbie is known to chew on expensive items generally not approved for canine consumption.)

The outtakes

The full day of filming, which left two-legged and four-legged stars tuckered out, included plenty of material that failed to make the final cut.

McCloud recalled one such moment: In the sophisticated dog domain of the Cypress Inn, co-owner Dennis LeVett’s standard poodle, Strutz, sidled up to his owner for a scratch on the head as the group enjoyed their tea. “The next thing you knew, his big head went right into the middle of the sandwiches and inhaled them, and then he sat back on his haunches and let out this big burp,” she said.

The mayor said she enjoyed seeing the finished products — the 15-minute version and the five-minute podcast. “It isn’t schlocky,” she said. “There’s lots of history and local color. They did a good job of editing.”

McCloud and Robbie, as well as Goodavage and Hanson — and their 5-year-old rescue dog, Jake, who’s “99 percent yellow Lab” — will be at the screening of “A Day in the Life of Robbie” in city hall at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 8. Members of the public and their pooches are also invited. Snacks, including “pupcorn,” will likely be offered, though McCloud said she’s still working out the details.

“We won’t have big searchlights out front à la Hollywood,” she promised.

POTTER

Potter's aide said the office has no record of Dilworth, Merritt-Moore or the girls having requested a meeting with him and said the supervisor would not turn down that sort of request.

Dilworth has mocked Potter in public before and once gave him a "Liar, liar, pants on fire award." At the July meeting, Dilworth called Potter a "quarterback for The Pebble Beach Co."

"David has done that to me in a variety of different formats," Potter said. "What he is wanting to do is be annoying. I've become used to his antics."

Forty years ago, these pristine coastal highlands captivated Clint Eastwood.

Today, his vision has inspired a community that's not only close to Carmel, but one that will always remain in harmony with nature. High atop the Monterey peninsula, though less than ten minutes from Carmel and Monterey Bay, Tehama offers you both unspoiled vistas and easy access to city life. From here, you can see Point Lobos, Carmel Bay, Monterey Bay and more. What you can't see is the tireless attention paid to stewardship of the land – 85 percent of which will remain untouched.

"Taking an interest in the land was the only way to protect it."

LION

"There is no way to tell for sure, but after viewing Sylvester's remains, it sure looked to me like the work of a mountain lion, as opposed to a bobcat or coyote," Hancock said, adding that a Carmel Unified School District official told him Sylvester was the second dead cat found at River School in two weeks.

Unknown attacker

But wildlife officials often try not to cause alarm about the threat from mountain lions, and Palmisano said another critter could be to blame.

"We don't have information whether the damage is consistent with a mountain lion or anything else," she said. "There are bobcats, coyotes and foxes in that area. Even raccoons will attack cats, but everyone just wants to blame the mountain lions. It's difficult to say what is killing these cats."

If someone proved the predator is a mountain lion and sought permission from fish and game to kill it, the department would have to grant a 10-day kill permit, Palmisano said.

Two 10-day permits were issued in Big Sur after a lion killed at least dozen dogs in a neighborhood near Pfeiffer Beach. That lion was killed May 15.

But a depredation permit recently issued in Carmel Valley expired without a kill and has not been renewed. Another permit was granted in Monterey last week after a resident's dog was attacked.

"But then everyone turns around and says, 'We don't want you to kill the lion,'" Palmisano said. "There isn't a single person in our department who likes to issue depredation permits, but sometimes it's needed."

Moving not an option

Residents often ask if a lion can be relocated, but considering their territories span from five to 30 square miles, according to the nonprofit Mountain Lion Foundation, the animal would likely end up in another's territory. A fight could ensue, and one would die.

And if the big cat is a problem in one community, it will be a problem elsewhere. Game wardens occasionally have to kill mountain lions that become brazen regulars in densely populated areas.

"Obviously, if it's a public safety risk, we want to know about it, but the department does not define 'public safety risk' as an animal merely existing in an area," she said. "Existence is not a crime."

Nor is the occasional daylight appearance, "because mountain lions have not read the book that says they're only supposed to be out at night."

Instead, the department looks for abnormal behavior, such as persistently showing up on the front porch and staring through the front door at pets or children.

"We actually had a woman complain that a lion killed a deer" — natural prey for the large cats, Palmisano said. "What else would you want them to eat?"

But the Hancocks worried children at River School could be at risk when classes begin Aug. 22.

"People in the area would be well advised to keep their pets in at night," Hancock said. "There have been no daytime sightings, but I would also be concerned about kids playing on school grounds after hours until the facts are known."

In addition, Palmisano urged people not to feed wildlife or leave pet food out at night. She also recommends fencing, motion detector lights and "clearing away some of the vegetation so mountain lions can't sneak up on you, because they don't like to be out in the open."

Pastry chef shows household items in a new light

By CHRIS COUNTS

ANDY WARHOL shocked the art world in 1962 when he unveiled a series of portraits of Campbell's Soup cans, suggesting that even the most commercial art has creative merit. Now, nearly a half century later, California artist Karen Shapiro has taken Warhol's concept and created a body of work that is prolific and staggering in detail.

The Winfield Gallery in Carmel will host "The Italian Grocery," an exhibit of new pieces by Shapiro which opens Saturday, Aug. 4.

A resident of Mendocino County and a former pastry chef, Shapiro uses ceramics and paint to recreate common household consumer goods. From cans of beer and boxes of cookies, to packs of matches and lipstick dispensers, her work reads like the inventory of a grocery store. Some of the pieces are so good, in fact, that many viewers are initially tricked by their realism.

"Her technique is just amazing," gallery owner Chris Winfield explained. "You look at the cork on one of her wine bottles and you'll swear it's a real cork. She has incredible ability to manipulate clay. Her surfaces and detail really do fool the eye. She's a master."

Like Warhol, Shapiro can take the packaging of an ordinary consumer item and present it in a different light.

"Her work isn't slick or gimmicky," Winfield said. "There's a nostalgic feel to her work. People really respond to it. They love it."

The new exhibit focuses on work inspired by a trip Shapiro took last summer to Italy.

The show will continue through Aug. 31. The venue is located on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh. For more information, call (831) 624-3369 or visit www.winfieldgallery.com.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE 2ND AMENDED OF HAROLD LAND

Case Number MP 18652
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of HAROLD LAND.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by FURMAN SHEPPARD in the Superior Court of California, County of MONTEREY.

The Petition for Probate requests that FURMAN SHEPPARD be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held on in this court as follows:

Date: August 24, 2007
Time: 10:30 a.m.
Dept.: TBA

Address: Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, CA 93940.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for petitioner:
DENNIS B. LIPPITT, ESQ.,
SB No. 99904
730 Mission Street
Santa Cruz, CA 95060
(s) Dennis B. Lippitt, Esq.
Attorney for Petitioner.

This statement was filed with the County Clerk of Monterey County on Aug. 1, 2007.

Publication dates: Aug. 3, 10, 17, 2007. (PC806)

INSPECTOR

part of the security detail when President Bill Clinton came to the Peninsula in September 1995 for the dedication of California State University Monterey Bay.

And he may have more, since he plans to continue part-time police work until the city refuses to pay him for it.

Being building official provided plenty of highlights as well.

"I never thought I'd see the day when Sunset Center got remodeled, and I helped coordinate the inspections for that," Meroney said. "The fire station — I never thought I'd see that done." The fire station underwent a seismic retrofit last year.

"We've fixed up a lot of pieces of property, done it economically and tried to keep them in operation," he said.

Private projects that stand out in his memory include the expansive Panattoni house at the north end of town that took years to build, and the renovation of the Countess of Kinnoull's house at Torres and 11th.

"That was a beautiful project," Meroney said of the striking Mediterranean-Style home on the large, landscaped lot near Mission Trail park.

"And Carmel Plaza, which has basically been under renovation for the 22-and-a-half years I've been here," he said. "That's a project in motion."

The icky part

But every job has its down side, and for Meroney, the whiners stick in his craw.

"There are a lot of really nice, sweet people in this community, but the number of them I deal with is overwhelmed by the cranky people who chronically complain, can't get along with anybody, can't think of anything to do but put their noses in other people's business and always complain about it," he said. "We receive three to five complaints a week, and it's almost always very petty."

While there have certainly been legitimate reports of code violations such as illegal conversions of garages into living spaces, and bathrooms added without water credits and building permits, Meroney said many of the petty complaints stem from "people who own vacation homes here and then like to dictate how we live in this community."

Those are offset by the positive relationships with the people who do the work: architects and designers, developers, contractors and subcontractors.

"They know who they are. We've worked together on numerous projects, and they're ethical, have high standards and always go over and above. They are upfront and honest about things," he said.

"I'm very proud of our reputation in the construction community and am proud of working with so many great individuals in the industry. That's probably what I'll miss the most."

Meroney also thanked the city administration for treating him well and singled out city attorney Don Freeman as an ally. "He's absolutely my partner in legal issues."

At 58, Meroney had planned to work a couple more years but decided to retire so he can spend more time motorcycle riding, house-boating and traveling to England, though he might do some contract work when the city needs help checking plans. His two grandsons, ages 2 and 5, are about to reach the age where they'll appreciate fishing and water skiing with their grandfather.

"With all my interests, work got in the way," he said.

Another benefit of retirement? "I don't have to write ordinances anymore," he said.

Sandy Claws By Margot Petit Nichols

ABBIE FANNIN, 10 months old, has a more formal name – Abigail Josephine Fannin – but that’s just too long for such a tiny tyke of a dachshund. When Dad Blake gifted her to Mom Aimee last Christmas, Abbie could fit in the palm of Mom’s hand.

When we met Abbie at noontime on Wednesday – after watching her play at water’s edge on Carmel Beach – she was on one of her daily outings with Mom and Nana Cindy. Dad Blake and Granddad Michael were playing golf at Quail, which was OK with Abbie because she was planning a late afternoon shopping trip to Mackie’s Parlour in the Plaza.

Earlier in the week she spent her allowance at Diggidy Dog on a white rain slicker with brown polka dots – but that’s for later in the season. On Wednesday, she fancied something a little more au courant that would go with her faux pearl necklace and collar with “Abbie” spelled out in rhinestones.

The whole Fannin family is from Frisco, Texas, where they own Fannin Tree Farm. They lease a house here in Carmel-by-the-Sea year round, which makes it convenient for pop-ins and long summers away from Texas heat. The only way to keep cool in the dog days of a Texas summer is to take a dip in the family swimming pool. Abbie has a pink life jacket with black polka dots for these occasions.

Aside from beach romps and shopping, Abbie likes to eat out. She loves Katy’s Place for breakfast, PortaBella for lunch and Casanova for dinner. She’s thinking of trying Bistro 211 and Lugano’s Swiss Bistro next week – all the better to show off any fashionable finery she buys this week.

attending the opening of an exhibit of her work as well.

"Our work couldn't be more different," explained Andrea, who will present "Reflections on Nature," a collection of acrylic paintings that focuses on the flora and fauna of the Corral de Tierra hills.

"The show is a study of plants, flowers, insects and birds," Andrea said. "My paintings are highly detailed and a little on the quirky side."

Barbara, meanwhile, is a mixed-media artist with an affection for abstract work that depicts the moods of nature.

"I've been painting and printing like mad," Barbara explained. "I've been doing a lot of monotype prints, adding collage materials like Japanese rice paper, pieces of string, anything that looks interesting. Each print is one-of-a-kind."

Barbara's work will be featured in a group show with Robert R. Bradshaw, who will present a collection of mixed-media paintings, and Jan Wagstaff, who will offer an exhibit of oil paintings.

Also featured at the art association will be a solo show, "The Automotive Fine Art of John Francis Marsh." Marsh, a retired automotive designer who once worked for General Motors, will be showing oils and watercolors portraying vintage and contemporary cars.

The art association will host a reception from 6 to 8 p.m. The CAA is located on the west side of Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. For more information, call (831) 624-6176.

■ Two-wheeled art comes to hair salon

In art-happy Carmel, you can find art just about anywhere. From the town's library to its city hall, painting, drawing and sculpture abound. Even a thrift store recently featured an exhibit of Salvador Dali prints.

Hairpin Alley — a salon owned by hair stylist and painter Charlene Smythe — doubles as one of Carmel's most unlikely art venues. On Sunday, Aug. 5, Smythe's shop will host a new show of motorcycle art by Guenevere Schwien, who grew up in Monterey.

The upstairs salon/gallery, which is located at San Carlos and Seventh, will host a reception Sunday, Aug. 5, from 3 to 5 p.m. For more information, call (831) 624-1330.

The general plan has been debated enough

APPARENTLY A few people in this county aren't satisfied with the amount of debate that's already gone on about the county's general plan.

With competing measures having failed at the ballot box June 5, county supervisors made the very sensible decision to set up a committee to see if a compromise could be worked out between the LandWatch plan and the one supervisors passed last year. Almost as soon as its members were appointed, the committee announced it would meet behind closed doors before revealing its proposal to the board and the public. This brought criticism from some quarters, where there are evidently people who think another 20 or 30 public hearings are all this county needs to achieve land use happiness.

Coincidentally, at the same time the criticisms about "secrecy" were being raised, the county elections office released the final round of financial reports from both sides in the June election.

The bottom line: LandWatch and Plan for the People spent nearly $2 million campaigning toward an election that resulted in exactly nothing being accomplished.

In the aftermath of what had to be a very frustrating experience, each side is probably satisfied it at least managed to defeat the other's general plan proposal.

The farmers, business owners and working people who opposed Measure A probably couldn't imagine anything worse than letting LandWatch write the county's land use rules.

We're not sure, but we also bet LandWatch thinks the existing general plan is better than the one approved by supervisors.

But the public has every reason to be frustrated. After being lectured by both sides for years about the importance of their plan being approved, they have every reason to ask: Why all the fuss — and all the expenditure of money — if in the end nothing was achieved?

The same question could be asked about the call for more public hearings. What could possibly be said about subdivisions, traffic congestion and open space that hasn't already been said 1,000 times over?

Before members of the board of supervisors cast their ballots on yet another version of the general plan, they'll be legally required to discuss it in public.

In the meantime, we welcome the effort to make hard choices about difficult issues — even if, in the early stages, they're made out of the public view.

Versailles on Scenic?

Dear Editor,

I recently returned to Carmel for the 30th reunion of the Carmel High Class of '77. Not that I've never been back before, but it's getting to the point that I'm afraid to walk down Ocean Avenue for fear chain stores will replace Carmel Bay Company, Carmel Drug Store and the Cottage of Sweets. The transformation of Sunset Center has been a graceful one. Which brings me to my topic: Do the citizens of Carmel really want a miniature Palace of Versailles on Carmel Point? (Or whatever it is. I haven't brushed up on my architectural terms recently.) That's how the design now before the county planning department for a property on Scenic looks to me. Even though the house is outside the city limits, I predict the town will regret the construction of a design so huge, mannered and artificial every time they drive along Scenic Road.

If I want to go to a mall, I can stay home or stop in Gilroy, go to the outlets, and call it a day. To me, Ocean Avenue is losing some of the character that made it unique. Don't let the same thing happen to Scenic Road.

Jennifer Walden,
Richmond

Opposed to annexation

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my opposition to the annexation of the Carmel Convalescent Hospital property.

I am a taxpayer, a voter and a resident of the neighborhood that would be impacted by a decision that the mayor and the city council may be contemplating to annex the land and alter the zoning.

There are far more reasons for our city's leadership to refuse this proposed change than to support it. Many current residents, who bought their homes in this quiet neighborhood, would be severely impacted by a change of zoning. Today the quality of life in this neighborhood is serene. Families with children and pets are accustomed to safely strolling in our neighborhood, visiting with our street-mates. Evenings are dark and quiet ... very little artificial light or traffic to dis-

Woman donates Pebble Beach home to S.D. Zoo

By KELLY NIX

A PEBBLE Beach woman has donated her home to the nonprofit wing of the San Diego Zoo, zoo officials confirmed this week.

Homeowner Jane Watson Steel donated the house on Crespi Lane under the assumption the zoo would sell it to generate cash. She requested proceeds from the sale specifically benefit the zoo's Wildlife Disease Laboratories, according to Yadira Galindo, a zoo spokeswoman.

"We will put it up for sale as soon as we can," Galindo said. "We just got the deed within the last couple of days."

Galindo said it's not uncommon for the zoo to receive houses as donations, as well as stocks and bonds and other non-cash gifts. She didn't know the value of the Pebble Beach home.

"As a nonprofit organization, any donation will be received," she said.

The home was given specifically to the Zoological Society of San Diego, the nonprofit organization that operates the San Diego Zoo.

The zoo's Wildlife Disease Laboratories "helps to ensure the health and well being of captive and wild populations through multidisciplinary disease investigations and innovative research," according to the zoo's website.

The labs specialize in "clinical pathology, necropsy and molecular diagnostics to investigate and resolve animal health problems that affect the zoological society's collection and field conservation programs," the website goes on to say.

Steel couldn't be reached for comment.

something to gain personally would dispute the impact that a higher-density housing development would have on safety, traffic, lighting and quality of life. And only one who won't actually be a resident in the neighborhood (and therefore unimpacted by the deterioration of the neighborhood character) would argue that the high-density will have little to no impact on the surrounding streets and residents.

Our planning commission already unanimously denied the developer's request for annexation and rezoning. They clearly heard the taxpayers' concerns about the staggering and negative impact on our neighborhood. Furthermore, Carmel cannot predict the impact that such an explosion in housing density might have on our fragile environment because there is not yet an environmental impact report about the proposed project.

I hope that the mayor and city council will follow the lead of the planning commission: Listen to the voters and deny the proposal to turn this property into a high-density residential complex.

SERMONS

has been emailing Edsel owners groups. "Someone found one for me on eBay for $900."

He decided not to place a bid and hopes an Edsel owner will loan him a car that day.

The sermons will be the latest in Mowery's ongoing effort to make his talks relevant to the community — even when what's going on is something like the Concours.

"I thought I could use those two cars to illustrate positive messages that relate to the world around us," he said.

Mowery also offered use of the church to the organizers of the Aug. 14 Carmel-by-the-Sea Concours on the Avenue.

"I just want our church to be of service to the neighborhood," he said. "We're part of the neighborhood and want to be supportive of downtown events that are happening all around us. It's a unique church, and the location is so perfect."

members of the Big Sur Volunteer Fire Brigade, the boy was rushed to the hospital. "He was taken across difficult terrain to an awaiting helicopter," Price explained.

The second incident occurred when Linck slipped and fell, hitting his head against a rock. He was conscious after the fall, and he must have been quite surprised when Big Sur volunteer firefighter Toby Rowland-Jones arrived on the scene.

To reach the man, Rowland-Jones had to swim across a popular swimming hole, no small challenge in his firefighting gear. So he stripped down to his boxers and swam across the pool before scampering up and down some boulders to reach the injured man.

Rowland-Jones said the injured man and his friend gave the firefighter a wide-eyed look. "I said, 'I'm with the Big Sur Volunteer Fire Brigade,'" Rowland-Jones deadpanned. "We don't get much in the way of uniforms because we're all volunteers."

In response to the accidents, state parks employees removed the rope swing, Price reported.

Tim Allen
presents
Al Smith's
"Carmel Legends"

It must have been 1963, or maybe '64. Anyway it was still called the CROSBY Tournament. The galleries were smaller, more knowledgeable about golf, more comfortably connected to the pros and the celebrities who had such a wonderful time in this strangely magical competition. At about 11 o'clock on Friday, we found ourselves standing on the edge of the 3rd green at Cypress Point. Doug Sanders, the Fuzzy Zoeller of his time, was on the tee. Suddenly we became aware of a change in atmosphere. We turned and saw, a few feet away, an impeccably turned-out gentleman - tweed jacket, Alpine hat, pipe - quietly waiting Doug's tee shot. The ball rose in a direct line with the pin, then dropped three feet from the hole... and spun off to the left into a deep sand trap. BING CROSBY sighed and awaited Sanders' arrival at the bunker. Doug was not happy. And then CROSBY said, "I say, old boy, a malodorous turn of fortune." Sanders cracked up, dropped his second shot 8 inches from the hole, and sank it. We have been grateful to CROSBY for many magic moments. But his "malodorous turn of fortune" has turned many a catastrophe into a triumph. For us.

THE VERY ESSENCE OF CARMEL VALLEY

CARMEL VALLEY

Sited on a private drive in the Brookdale area and only 2 miles from the mouth of the Valley, you will find your place in the sun. This cheery updated 4 bedrooms, 2 bath ranch-house is situated on 1+ acre of level land and within the Carmel school district. And as if more were needed the home offers almost total privacy and sweeping views of the Santa Lucia Mountains. Yes, it's true; this is.... the very essence of Carmel Valley. $1,499,000

IRRESISTIBLY CARMEL

CARMEL

An idyllic Carmel home in a 5-star location offering staggering views from Point Lobos to Pebble Beach, and that is only the beginning. This 1,800+ sq. ft., 11-year-old, 3 bedroom, 2.5 bath, 3-story beach cottage may well represent the absolute ultimate in what the world imagines it must be like to live in "Carmel by the Sea". The setting is simply superb; less than 150 feet from Carmel Beach. $5,999,000 located, please notify reporting party.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Reporting party advised loss of cellular telephone while walking along beach-front pedestrian walkway. If located, please notify reporting party.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance responded to a medical emergency at Rio Road and Highway 1. Crew administered basic life support care to a male in his 40s who was experiencing abdominal, neck and head pain. Patient was transported to CHOMP.

Carmel Valley: Reporting party stated he had received two calls from an unknown male. The calls referred to finances and sex. RP found it disturbing. Case closed.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance with fire captain/paramedic and fire engineer/EMT responded to the Mid Valley Fire Station to a reported medical emergency inside a vehicle on Carmel Rancho Boulevard at Rio Road. Cal Fire unit arrived to find no medical emergency and canceled the ambulance. No further action was taken.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance responded to a medical emergency on Lasuen. Firefighters assisted ambulance personnel with patient assessment, diagnostics, packaging and gathering information on a female in her 90s who had experienced a possible syncopal episode secondary to a vasalvagal [low blood pressure caused by the vagus nerve]. According to bystanders, she had been unconscious for about two minutes. The patient was transported to CHOMP by ambulance.

Carmel Valley: Female reported an argument with her ex-lover.

Carmel Valley: Anonymous reporting party requested welfare check on two kids. The kids were fine.

Pebble Beach: Deputies were dispatched to a 911 call from a Padre Lane residence. Upon arrival, found a worker on the premises. Check of residence found property owner had no emergency. Owner denied calling 911. It was a probable phone system failure or problem.

FRIDAY, JULY 20

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Case of destroying cemetery property at Rio and Lasuen. A female reported the cemetery in disarray and said she took three bones. An Ohlone tribe representative wished to file a complaint, and on follow-up the female was contacted and found to have returned the bones. A reburial was completed. Problem is reportedly common as the graves are not very deep.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Reporting party turned over a dog to the front desk at the police department, reported to be found on Camino del Monte. The owner was located and the dog returned.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Reporting party came to station to turn over a dog she found running loose in the area of Forest Hill Park. RP did not know whom the dog belonged to. In researching the dog's chip, an owner was located, and the dog was subsequently returned to the owner. Nothing further.

POLICE LOG

$6,000 in goods and services over a one-month period. A courtesy call was made to the daughter to inform her of the violation. A note has been signed by the daughter promising to pay back the money. No further action was taken against the daughter. The subject stated his daughter has a habit of doing this and needs to get help. He stated he would press charges if this ever happens again.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Units responded to a civil standby in a residential area on Lobos Street in Carmel. The standby stemmed from a call the night before involving a domestic dispute between roommates. Units were able to peacefully resolve the situation between the tenants. The tenant was given a courtesy transport to the bus stop per advice from her father who was contacted and requested she come to his house in Gilroy.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Party came to the station to report losing his camera while shopping in Carmel. RP said he last saw the camera in the area of San Carlos and Ocean. A brief description of the camera was obtained and listed in this report.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Victim reported a past-tense hit-and-run to his vehicle, which was parked in the City of Carmel at a hotel on Monte Verde Street. Reporting party needed the information for insurance purposes only.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Report of lost bracelet in the commercial district. If located, please notify reporting party.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched to a medical emergency in Pebble Beach.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance was dispatched to a Riata Road residence for a male with possible food poisoning. Ambulance arrived to find Pebble Beach Fire and medic on scene. The patient was found seated on the couch in care of the medic, who stated the patient was going to sign a medical release form. The patient confirmed that he did not want to go to the hospital. Ambulance cleared and returned to quarters.
