SPCA sees big increase in sick, injured raptors

By KELLY NIX

BIRDS ARE falling from the sky.

At least that's the way it seems to staff members at the SPCA for Monterey County Wildlife Center who have treated an extraordinary number of raptors for illnesses and injuries this month.

Since Jan. 1, the center in Ryan Ranch has taken in 17 hawks and one falcon. Wildlife supervisor Sue Campbell said the birds of prey are coming in for a variety of injuries, some of them serious. Not all of the treated birds have survived.

"We have a lot that are starving," Campbell said. "But we have also had a lot come in with broken wings."

On Wednesday, SPCA Wildlife Center employees Beryl Arnot and Dawn Robles were caring for a red-shouldered hawk found on Vierra Canyon

Peninsula mayors: Water cutback order is an 'emergency'

■ But legislators show little interest

By KELLY NIX

MONTEREY PENINSULA mayors are calling a proposed state order to drastically reduce water consumption on the Peninsula an "emergency" and said the action could be devastating to the local tourism industry.

But so far, the area's state lawmakers, Assemblyman John Laird and State Sen. Abel Maldonado, are declining to get involved. They won't even take phone calls from The Pine Cone to ask them about the situation.

On Jan. 15, the State Water Resources Control Board issued a draft cease and desist order compelling California American Water Co. to reduce its pumping of the Carmel River by 15 to 50 percent within six years.

Sand City mayor David Pendergrass, who represents Monterey County mayors on the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, called the order outrageous and unfair.

"It's a Draconian action by bureaucrats in Sacramento who are heartless, callous and inconsiderate of what's hap-

TAKEOVER OF P.G. POLICE DEPARTMENT CONSIDERED

■ Chief, officers could lose jobs in deal with Monterey

By KELLY NIX

PACIFIC GROVE police officers responded with frustration Thursday to the revelation that their department could be taken over by the Monterey police force in an attempt to cut costs by shedding upper-level jobs.

The shakeup could mean the layoff of the Pacific Grove police chief and two top commanders, and a requirement that all other officers reapply for their jobs without the guarantee they would get them back.

One of those commanders, John Nyunt, took the position just last summer after 16 years with Carmel P.D.

"We are concerned about our jobs and livelihood," said Pacific Grove Police Officers Association President Ami Lonsinger. "But at the same time, at what point do you put a price tag on the community's safety?"

At the Jan. 16 Pacific Grove City Council meeting, council members approved studying whether the police department and all other city services could be run by the City of Monterey in an effort to make up a $2.9 million shortfall.

"We are looking at the most cost-effective ways to provide the same level of service," said P.G. city manager Jim Colangelo. "If we can minimize the decrease in service levels by partnering with other agencies, we need to look

Car suspended over walkway in parking mishap

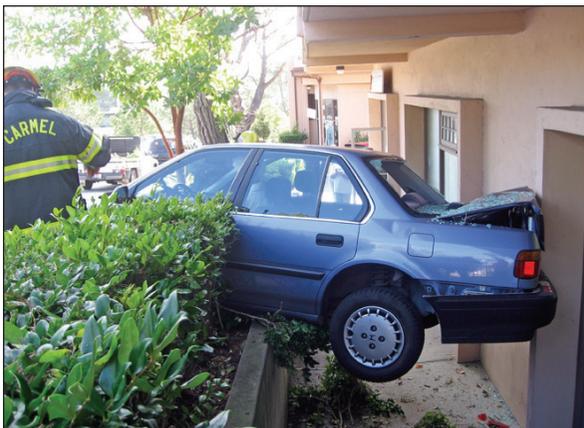

By MARY BROWNFIELD

AN 89-YEAR-OLD Carmel resident backed her car into a Junipero Street building Wednesday afternoon while trying to parallel park. The vehicle ended up several feet in the air, and the driver had to be extricated by firefighters.

"She thought the car was in drive, but it was in reverse," Carmel Police Cpl. Steve Rana said of Janet Wheeler, who was not injured in the accident.

Tammy Hall, who works at the dry cleaning service housed in the building, reported a customer said the impact "sounded like a bomb."

Limekiln State Park on governor's chopping block

By CHRIS COUNTS

ONCE THE scene of an extensive mining operation, an unsuccessful logging venture and an invasion by hippies, Limekiln Creek canyon has been home to variety of uses in its history. Its latest incarnation as a state park could soon be ending. The park, which is located 52 miles south of Carmel, is one of 48 state parks proposed for closure last month by Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger as part of a deficit reduction plan.

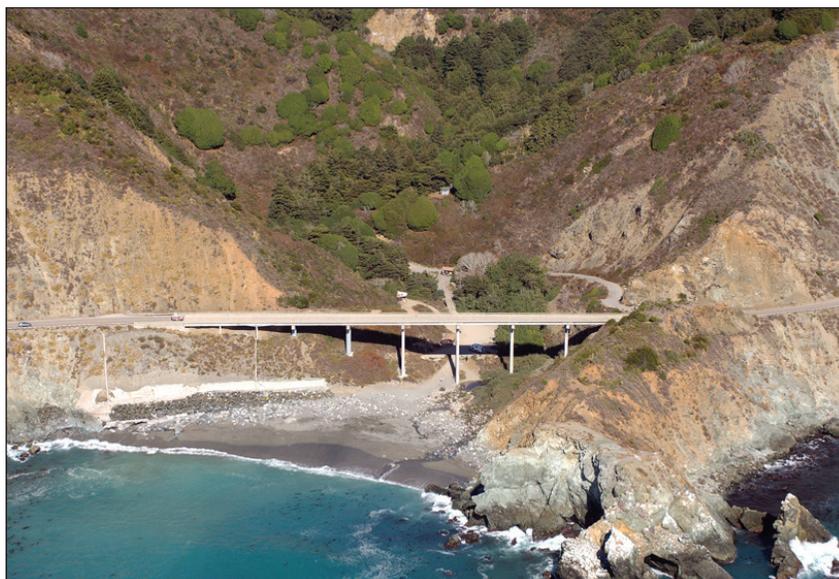

So many trees, not enough visitors

Surrounded by vast expanses of sun-drenched chaparral and open grasslands, Limekiln State Park may be Big Sur's shadiest place.

From its headwaters on 5,200-foot Cone Peak, Limekiln Creek descends rapidly to the Pacific Ocean, winding its way through stands of towering redwoods that blot out the sun and carving what is certainly one of the steepest coastal canyons in Big Sur, if not the entire continental United States. There are few places anywhere where the forces of nature come together so dramatically, but the park's magnificence has long been overshadowed by the popularity of nearby hiking and camping destinations such as Point Lobos State Reserve, Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park and Julie Pfeiffer Burns State Park.

IT'S POSSIBLE M.J. Murphy built the 85-year-old home at Camino Real and 13th Avenue, according to the consultant who declared it historic, but speculation is not grounds for mandatory preservation, the Carmel Historic Resources Board decided Monday. And though the two-story, shingle-sided house owned by the Boyer family is charming, it's not a great example of Craftsman style and underwent too many changes to be an important remnant of the past.

When he reviewed the property in January 2004, preservation consultant Kent Seavey said the building was "a large and excellent example of the Craftsman style of architecture in Carmel from the 1920s," and it "retains a high degree of physical integrity."

But senior planner Sean Conroy said the home failed to meet the city's standards for preservation based on architecture. It was not designed by an important builder or architect — they are unknown — and does not constitute a good example of a building style or display "a rare style or type for which special considerations should be given."

Winston Boyer, who doesn't want his home declared historic, argued it should be removed from the city's list of important properties.

Because the building file at city hall contains no original plans, "There is no documentation regarding the architect or builder of the residence, and speculating that it may be an M.J. Murphy because he built Craftsman style dwellings in Carmel during the time period is inappropriate," Boyer's consultant, Sheila McElroy, wrote in her review.

Conroy agreed numerous alterations — cutting eaves to let more light through the windows, adding a bedroom, replacing original shingles with modern materials, rebuilding one of the chimneys and adding skylights — negatively affected its historical importance.

"Determining the integrity of the property is also complicated by the lack of original plans or photographs of the

Clint Eastwood was a young GI stationed at Fort Ord in 1951 when he explored Carmel, Pebble Beach, Monterey, and Salinas on his $75-a-month salary. He said in later interviews he didn't plan to own much in those days, but after studying business administration and acting in Los Angeles, and working at a series of menial jobs, Clint played the "Rawhide" TV series in 1959 as young wrangler Rowdy Yates. With that acting money, he bought a weekend retreat in Pebble Beach, "a tiny house" across from the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, for $20,000. A stream of hit movies followed and Clint surpassed John Wayne as the biggest box office draw in Hollywood history. He bought bigger houses in Pebble Beach and Carmel, the Mission Ranch and other notable properties in Carmel, Carmel Valley, Carmel Highlands and Pebble Beach. He is now one of the principal owners of the Pebble Beach Company, its posh hotels and world-famous golf courses. (Next week: Mayor Clint.)

Rocky Point sued over alleged contaminated flood waters

By KELLY NIX

A WOMAN is suing Rocky Point Restaurant claiming she was stricken with a "serious medical condition" after coming in contact with contaminated water that leaked from the restaurant's dumpsters to her apartment below.

In the suit filed Dec. 19, 2007, Silvia L. Ramirez contends she was living in an apartment just below the scenic eatery during a storm in December 2005 when rain water contaminated with trash threatened to flood her apartment.

In an effort to prevent the water from coming inside her home and the restaurant, at about 11 p.m. Ramirez put floor mats against the Rocky Point's kitchen door, her apartment door and a laundry door, according to the suit.

"She was wearing flip flop sandals when she went out in the flood water," the suit outlines. "Ms. Ramirez contracted a serious medical condition through the open exposure to the flood water that was contaminated with debris from the dumpsters."

The suit does not specify details of Ramirez's alleged infection.

Rocky Point Restaurant declined to comment on the suit. The restaurant, which offers breathtaking views of the Pacific Ocean, is located off of Highway 1 about 10 miles south of Carmel.

Ramirez contends Rocky Point "failed to use reasonable care of the maintenance of the restaurant and property" that caused water to back up from a drain. The contaminated water, combined with garbage debris, "contributed to pathogens that infected Ramirez." Her suit seeks an unlimited amount of money for hospital and medical expenses, and property damage.

Coastal commission OKs plan for Forest Lodge condos

By MARY BROWNFIELD

AFTER REQUIRING landscaping details, a drainage plan and assurance the buildings will match the project already OK'd by the city, the California Coastal Commission unanimously approved the Forest Cottages Specific Plan during its Jan. 10 meeting in Marina del Rey. The vote cleared the way for the condo project on the Forest Lodge property at

Three years ago, story poles were up at the Forest Lodge showing where new condos would go. This month, the coastal commission bestowed its stamp of approval.

Junipero, Mountain View and Torres Street to proceed. The specific plan dictates how the land can be developed. Denny LeVett intends to replace two motel buildings with four condos and remodel an historic house to include two low-rent apartments on the triangular parcel, and the city approved the plans drawn by architect Eric Miller and overseen by contractor Chris Tescher in 2006. A small portion will remain permanent open space, and an underground parking garage will be constructed.

'Filter and treat all runoff'

Work was put on hold while the coastal commission considered the Forest Cottages Specific Plan. Separate from the city's zoning rules, specific plans address uses, standards and guidelines for a particular piece of property with unique development needs. The Carmel Plaza, for example, has a specific plan.

Coastal program analyst Mike Watson and district manager Dan Carl recommended including a landscape plan calling for trees and plants in the open space and along the roads "in a manner that approximates a natural woodland and to screen the development."

Also, the commission wanted the plan to include details about dealing with runoff and "identify a drainage system designed to collect, filter and treat all runoff prior to its discharge from the site and to remove vehicular contaminants and other typical urban runoff pollutants more efficiently than standard silt and grease traps."

LeVett said the changes were reasonable.

"They approved it unanimously," LeVett said last week. "They kept us waiting for it for about a year-and-a-half, and then it was on for about a minute-and-a-half, so we are very happy."

With the commission's approval, the specific plan will be brought back to the city council for adoption, probably in February, according to senior planner Sean Conroy, and the planning commission will be asked to amend the coastal development permit to match the specific plan.

LeVett could not say when construction would get under way.

Police: Deli grease fire started by hit-and-run would-be cook

By MARY BROWNFIELD

SOMEONE WALKED into Lenny's Deli in Carmel Plaza after hours on New Year's Day, started to cook, ignited a grease fire, failed to extinguish it and left, according to Carmel Police Detective Jesse Juarez, who investigated the blaze that caused an estimated $50,000 in damage.

"Someone gained access to the restaurant through an unsecured door and was apparently trying to cook something up," at around 9 p.m. Jan. 1, Juarez said. "A grease fire ensued, and there was an attempt to put it out, but it didn't work, so they left."

Salinas Rural Fire Protection District investigator Daren Wenger was initially called to examine the scene for cause and origin.

"I didn't really draw a conclusion and turned the investigation over to Carmel P.D.," he said last week. "I explained some likely scenarios but turned the investigation over to them because there was more followup to do."

Wenger suggested questioning restaurant workers further.

"He told me he was unable to find anything that would indicate it was arson," Juarez said. But because another Carmel Plaza restaurant owned by the same man, Ken Spilfoegel, had burned in 2004, police continued looking into the case "to either completely rule out arson or show that it was."

Juarez also concluded the Lenny's fire was started by accident, though he could not definitively say by whom.

"We were unable to identify who was in there at the time. We've questioned the person we believe was there, but short of any other witnesses or evidence, there's no way to prove the person was in there," he said. "Circumstantially? Yes. Beyond the shadow of a doubt? No."

Juarez said the person, a deli employee who had been on the job earlier in the day, emphatically denied having anything to do with the grease fire.

And because "questions were brought up about the fire at the Plaza Cafe in 2004," Juarez decided to look into the cause of that blaze as well.

At the time, it was reported a deep-fat fryer was to blame. Juarez said he reviewed documents detailing the insurance company's investigation that confirmed "the fire in 2004 was in fact caused by a faulty electrical component in the deep fryer."

The space once occupied by the Plaza Cafe was completely rebuilt and is now a store. The former Lenny's Deli spot on the lower level is set to reopen with a new restaurant run by Firok Shield, who owns da Giovanni and Carmel's Bistro Giovanni, this spring.

BILL SHEEHY

Bill Sheehy passed on peacefully to the 18th-hole links in heaven on January 27th, 2008. He had resided in Sun City Grand, Arizona for the past 5 years. Bill worked for TWA for 25 years and had built a cargo terminal at San Francisco and was sales and cargo manager for the Northwest Territory when he retired. He moved to Carmel, California and his love of golf and people prompted him to use his retirement time working for the Pebble Beach Corporation, as Marshall on the Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill courses for 10 years. He moved to Carmel Valley Ranch where he installed a Marshall program on the golf course and continued there until the program was eliminated. Bill also worked the US Open in 2000 at Pebble Beach. Bill is survived by his wife, Annette, who worked at Zantman Art Galleries and Carmel Valley Ranch Resort. They have one son and three grandchildren. A memorial mass will be said and Bill will rest in the veteran's Arizona Memorial Park in Phoenix.

property," Conroy said in his staff report Jan. 28.

Furthermore, with 52 other Craftsman style buildings on the inventory, far better examples will be preserved. Although the city has no limit on the number of structures placed on the list, when compared with the others, Boyer's house "does not appear to rise to the level of significance."

"The number of changes made to this building — that alone leads me to believe it should be taken off," commented board member Erl Lagerholm.

Chairman Erik Dyar said the house is charming but unworthy of historic designation.

"It's not an excellent example of Craftsman style. If it happened to be built by a significant architect, designer or contractor, my view may be different, but in this case, I just don't think it meets that high level," he said, and the board voted unanimously to remove the building from the inventory of historic properties in the city.

Big Sur man killed in DUI wreck

A DRUNKEN driver overshot a left-hand turn on southbound Highway 1 near Rocky Point Restaurant and was killed late Sunday night.

According to California Highway Patrol public information officer Jim Covello, John Waters, 49, had consumed an undetermined amount of alcohol and was driving his 2007 Chevy Suburban "at a high rate of speed" on a road slicked by intermittent rain shortly before 11 p.m. Jan. 27. He was not wearing a seat belt.

"The Suburban went off the west side of the roadway and overturned multiple times (end over end and side to side) before coming to rest in a cow pasture" just north of the restaurant, Covello wrote in a release.

Waters was ejected from the SUV as it overturned and died at the scene. Authorities did not learn of the accident until around 7 a.m. the following day, when a passing motorist discovered the wreckage.

at this.”
But the idea that the police department could essentially be disbanded and taken over by the City of Monterey drew questions from officers.

Police Chief Darius Engles said Monterey police are paid more than P.G. officers, leaving doubt whether the takeover would save money. And he also thinks the people of Pacific Grove will notice the difference.

“I personally don’t believe that they will be able to provide better service than we provide now,” Engles said.

Engles said he, along with Commanders Tom Uretsky and Nyunt, would likely lose their jobs in a takeover deal.

And according to state law, he said a takeover would mean all P.G. officers would be required to start over in terms of the hiring process.

“When you sever employment,” Engles said, “you have to reapply ... new polygraph, background and psych evaluations.”

And there would be no guarantee Pacific Grove’s roughly two dozen police officers would get their jobs back, Engles said.

“I don’t think there would be any rubber stamp that our officers would be hired,” he said. “If you are a young officer with your career ahead of you and you may be effectively laid off, what would you do?”

A takeover would also mean a complete identity and name change for the police department. The lighthouse logo prominent on officers’ badges, uniforms and patrol cars could be replaced with a Monterey symbol, for instance.

Although the council had discussed the possibility of slashing $500,000 from the police department and laying off four sworn officers and an unsworn records employee, discussion of a possible takeover was a surprise.

“A week later,” Lonsinger said, “we find out we may be fighting for a whole department, not just these five positions.”

Mike DiCesare from the the California Organization of Police and Sheriffs (COPS), a union that represents PGPD, said he is going to try to meet with Colangelo next week to discuss the possible shakeup.

“Once you get rid of your police department,” he said, “you are never going to get it back.”

DiCesare said the city hasn’t looked at all its options and suggested the city slash library and museum funding, and perhaps lay off a city administrator, before trimming costs in the police force.

“Do you need an assistant city manager for city of 16,000?” DiCesare said. “If you get rid of the assistant city manager, you can save $150,000.”

Colangelo said the whole point at looking at the possibility of Monterey running the P.G. Police Department is to provide the same level of service to the public during the city’s budget crisis. And, he said, the takeover is just an idea and nothing has been set in stone.

The City of Pacific Grove’s staff is preparing to provide the City of Monterey with figures. It could take Monterey a month to come back with its own analysis.

“They will tell us what it would cost to provide the service and compare it to what it costs us to provide the same service,” Colangelo said.

But Lonsinger said there are too many unanswered questions.

“Colangelo was asked by one of our officers if there was a Plan B,” Lonsinger said. “And he said ‘No.’”

Colangelo said he doesn’t have any idea how much contracting with Monterey for police or any other city service would save the city. He unveiled the idea to officers at a POA meeting this week, where officers had many questions.

“There were a lot of questions about how it would work, and how it would affect them individually,” he said.

Engles, who said rumors about a possible takeover had been circulating among Monterey officers for some time, said as difficult as it is to swallow, if the city can truly trim costs while providing the same service to the public, it should be considered.

“If the investigation reveals it’s better for the citizens of Pacific Grove and they will be protected at a lower dollar rate,” Engles said, “then they should consider it, if not adopt it.”

Lonsinger said the POA is planning to hold a press conference before next Wednesday’s council meeting at city hall to voice its opposition to the possible takeover.

The point is to save money — but will service be the same?

pening in this area," Pendergrass said.

Last week, 5th District Supervisor Dave Potter, who said the SWRCB order was impossible to meet, said he would meet with Laird about the problem

But Laird's spokesman, Bill Maxfield, said the assemblyman "is under deadline to review the bills that he is going to carry this year" and said Laird couldn't speak to The Pine Cone because of a "scheduling matter."

Although a spokeswoman for Sen. Abel Maldonado said last week she would try to arrange an interview between The Pine Cone and the senator, several messages left with her this week were not returned.

When asked how Laird intended to address the SWRCB order, Maxfield said, "Laird is fully engaged with all of the parties involved on this," and said, "The legislative role at this time is one of oversight and monitoring. We need to watch that process play out."

But Carmel Mayor Sue McCloud called the cutback order "one of the greatest threats," not only to residents' health, safety and conveniences, but also to the economy.

"If the cease and desist order is applied," McCloud said,

"it not only will impact the water district and the users. If you don't have water for the people who are staying in hotels and inns, they will have to close off rooms, and that will put people out of work."

The SWRCB order doesn't offer a water supply solution, leaving conservation the only way to reduce usage until a water project is built. The Peninsula conserves more water than most communities in the state.

"The question is," McCloud said, "how can we possibly conserve any more than we have?"

Pacific Grove Mayor Dan Cort also called the state order "very serious" and, like McCloud, said the reduction could impact the tourism and hospitality industry hard.

"If you are trying to do business, you are going to be in trouble if there is failure in the system. You might have to close down hotel rooms for a period of time."

Cort said the state order is even more reason to find water supply alternatives, even if they're small.

Appeal coming

Cal Am community relations manager Catherine Bowie said the company has not yet requested a hearing on the state cutback order, but that the company planned to do so before the Feb. 6 deadline.

At last week's MPWMD meeting, board members voted unanimously to protest the state order, Pendergrass said. By doing so, the MPMWD will be allowed to submit written testimony during the hearing.

Middle school garden gets $250K from Packards

THE GREEN building that will help Carmel Middle School kids learn about energy conservation and environmentally friendly construction, even as they cook vegetables grown in their own garden or study photosynthesis in a lab, got a major funding boost from the David & Lucile Packard Foundation. The foundation pledged $250,000 to the Hilton Bialek Biological Sciences Habitat, payable over three years, and the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education voted to accept the gift in January.

Most of the money will be used for the new building, which has been designed and should go out to bid this month, according to CMS Principal Edmund Gross. It will be modular, built off site and then installed on the habitat's grounds.

"We hope to have it in place by about this time next year," he said Thursday. "We were hoping to have it for the beginning of the school year, but that's not going to happen."

The building itself will be educational, according to Gross. "Kids will be able to see into the infrastructure to see how it works," he said. "It's very sustainable."

By maximizing natural light and harnessing solar energy, the building will put power into the grid rather than take power from it.

The grant money will also cover some curricular and staff costs.

"This storm showed us that we needed to make the move now!"

Forest Hill Manor has the Answer to Wintertime Woes

The storm arrived and your house suddenly was no longer the warm, comfortable home you're used to. With the power off for days, you're cold, it's difficult to make meals, take a bath and follow your usual routine.

What should you do? Suddenly you think of friends at Forest Hill Manor. With the protection from the elements there, residents continued with their accustomed lifestyle. With a ready generator going, residents enjoyed the warmth and comfort of home. Great food just an elevator ride away. Great service and congenial residents to share the pleasure of living in a place where planning abates the problems of weather.

Winter storms simply emphasize the advantages of living at Monterey Peninsula's First Retirement Community. And this is why every day, more people visit Forest Hill Manor and say, "This storm showed us that we needed to make the move now." Now's the time to visit and choose an Expansion cottage apartment for immediate occupancy or a South Wing apartment ready later this year! Or consider an apartment in the Manor! It's up to you.

If winter's got you down, visit Forest Hill Manor and start planning for a weatherproof future.

COUNCIL DRAWS ON RESERVES TO ADJUST BUDGET MIDYEAR

By MARY BROWNFIELD

THE CARMEL City Council OK'd increased expenses of $342,859 this year for higher salaries and unbudgeted projects when it met in January. Reserve funds and more revenues will cover the costs.

The discussion of the midyear budget adjustments followed the council's unanimous adoption of a resolution distributing last year's $1.9 million budget surplus. After learning taxes were higher and expenses were lower than expected during the 2006/2007 fiscal year, the council voted to put $674,500

Last year's surplus makes 2007/2008 a bit easier toward the Sunset Center bonds, pay off $325,000 in notes and leases held by WestAmerica, spend $131,575 on the police department's new GPS parking patrol cart and the fire department's new generator, and deposit $772,443 in the reserve fund for capital projects.

Then administrative services director Joyce Giuffre recommended revisions to the $13,094,894 budget adopted last May.

At the Jan. 8 meeting, she suggested increasing salaries and benefits by $202,183 to satisfy agreements made with city workers since May, $49,203 to pay workers' compensation claims and $40,000 to cover employee benefits, such as vacation/sick-leave payouts for workers who quit. The total was offset by savings of $51,043 in salaries at the fire department, $73,024 in pay at the library, $8,160 in wages at the planning department, and $8,685 in payment to the state public employees retirement system for city attorney Don Freeman, bringing the recommended increase to $150,474.

$218,776 in "other department adjustments" included:

- $15,000 for Ralph Andersen & Associates to recruit a new planning and building director;

- $20,300 to improve park bathrooms, eradicate mold in the basement of the library's Park Branch, fix a deck and replace wallpaper at Harrison Memorial Library, and install a card reader in the Norton Court garage;

- $5,000 for repair and maintenance at Flanders Mansion as required by the court;

- $30,000 to Carmel Fire Protection for checking building plans;

- $25,000 to Denise Duffy & Associates for work on the Flanders Mansion environmental impact report;

- $10,652 in administrative fees to the Local Agency Formation Commission;

- $7,412 to JRP Historical Consulting for evaluation of the Forest Theater;

- $10,000 to Wasson's Cleaning Services due to underestimating the costs of annual janitorial services in the original budget;

- $13,000 for a two-year warranty on the new GPS parking patrol vehicle;

- $15,000 for signs showing the new two-hour parking limit downtown, and

- $36,000 for repairs to five storm drains.

Capital projects also required upward adjustment, including $50,000 for an unplanned sewer replacement at Santa Fe and Fourth and $15,000 to fix up the police department's 1951 Chevy. Capital expenses were offset by two other projects at the police department that finished more than $20,000 under budget, putting the total increase at $51,870.

Giuffre also reported the council's earlier decision to pay off the WestAmerica debts would save $78,261 this year.

Finding revenues

On the income side, Giuffre said the city could plan on $50,000 more in interest on investments than anticipated in the original 2007/2008 budget, an additional $55,000 in business license tax, $4,320 from the settlement of a class-action lawsuit against Microsoft, and $71,812 in Transportation Agency for Monterey County funds for construction work on Mission Street, for a total of $181,132.

While the original budget anticipated using $62,215 from various reserve accounts, the revision called for an additional $161,727, including $50,000 from the capital projects reserve, $49,203 from the workers' compensation reserve fund and $40,000 from the benefit liability reserve.

The final $22,524 would come from the general fund reserve, "if at end of the year we need it to balance the books," Giuffre said. "We could easily have one revenue line item that will come in at least $22,000 higher and could use that instead."

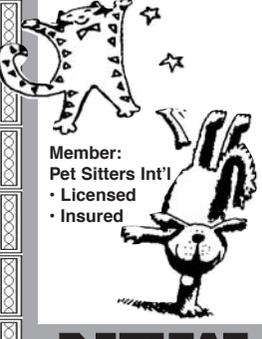

The council unanimously approved the midyear revisions as recommended.

DOES THE FEDERAL RESERVE SET MORTGAGE RATES?

No—emphatically no. The Federal Reserve sets the fed funds rate, the rate at which banks borrow from one another overnight. This does generally influence short-term rates, and sometimes longer-term rates as well, but the important indicator to watch if you wish to know where long-term (15- and 30-year) mortgage rates are headed is the ten-year Treasury note. The rates on 30-year fixed-rate mortgages tend to track that rate rather closely.

Notice, though, that the 10-year note rate is set by open bidding. It thus is a true market rate, not set by an individual or an organization, but by all the people who want to invest in the note at a particular time.

Now, if the Fed raises or lowers its fed funds rate, does that have a strong effect on any mortgages? Yes. The prime rate charged by banks—which many construction loans and other adjustable mortgages are linked to—rises and falls with the fed funds rate.

More important, perhaps, is the simple fact that the Fed's action lets the markets know where it intends short-term rates to go. Adjustable rate mortgages are then moved into alignment with their index, usually a short-term rate like the 1-year Treasury, and thus the Fed had more of a say regarding adjustable loans than long-term fixed-rate loans.

The moral of this story? The financial issues surrounding mortgages are always too complex to be explained with simplistic answers. When questions arise, seek out the seasoned wisdom of your real estate and mortgage advisors. Meg Parker Conners, R.N.

EXERCISING, YOUR OPTIONS

Recently updated exercise recommendations by the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) and the American Heart Association (AHA) spell out minimum levels of physical activity needed to improve overall health throughout life and maintain vitality into old age. For the first time, the ACSM and the AHA also offer specific recommendations for people age 65 and older. The new recommendations call for healthy adults of any age to engage in moderate-intensity aerobic activities (brisk walking) at least 30 minutes per day, 5 days per week. Vigorous activity (full-out jogging) for at least 20 minutes, 3 days per week, can be substituted. For those aged 65 and older who are at risk for falling, the recommendations add balance exercises.

Why does exercise help us live longer? Exercise tends to lower blood pressure, decreasing the risk of heart attack and stroke, and trims the chances of becoming obese or developing non-insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus. Regular physical activity has also been linked with lower rates of certain kinds of cancer. For more information, please call VICTORIAN HOME CARE/RESIDENTIAL CARE HOMES. Our highly trained professionals have the experience and sensitivity required to address the special needs of caring for the older adult.

P.S. In addition to the recommendations outlined above, the ACSM and AHA also recommend that seniors develop a physical activity plan.

Meg Parker Conners is an RN and owner of Victorian Home Care and Victorian Residential Care Homes. For assistance, call 655-1935.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF TEODORA C. BARBA

Case Number MP 18882
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of TEODORA CERALDE BARBA, aka TEODORA C. BARBA.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by FRANKIE C. BARBA, SR. in the Superior Court of California, County of MONTEREY.

The Petition for Probate requests that FRANKIE C. BARBA, SR. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held on in this court as follows:
Date: February 8, 2008
Time: 10:30 a.m.
Dept.: 17
Room:

Address: Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, 1200 Agujaito Road, Monterey, CA 93940.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

ORDER

“We are in a dire situation if that goes through,” Pendergrass said. “This is serious, like when the governor declares an emergency over the budget. This is an emergency.”

The SWRCB’s draft cease and desist order was issued 13 years after the agency issued Order 95-10 compelling Cal Am to reduce pumping of the Carmel River by 70 percent. Recognizing the need and the amount of time it would take to build a replacement water supply, the SWRCB only partially enforced the order since 1995. But now it seems to have lost patience.

According to order 95-10, Cal Am has a legal right to draw just 3,376 acre-feet of water per year from the river, but it pumped 11,285 acre-feet to Peninsula residents last year. Overpumping creates low levels in the river, which harms the steelhead fish and red-legged frog populations.

Steelhead association threatens suit

In another development that could threaten the water supply, the Carmel River Steelhead Association issued a 60-day notice of intent to sue NOAA’s National Marine Fisheries Service for “violation of the Endangered Species Act.”

“We want to see the steelhead stop dying,” said association president Roy Thomas. “It’s against the law to kill steelhead.”

In the notice, issued Dec. 17, 2007, the steelhead association argued NOAA hasn’t done enough to protect the fish, which is classified as “threatened,” although the species are very plentiful around the world.

Thomas said his group has had two phone meetings with NOAA and plans to meet with representatives in person.

“They are not enforcing the law,” he said.

Pendergrass said the MPWMD was also mailed a copy of the notice, which it received Jan. 7.

Some progress on desal

The most likely new water supply for the Monterey Peninsula is a desal plant proposed for Moss Landing. But Cal Am’s proposal has been tied up in the permit process for years. After having the water company’s environmental documents since the summer of 2005, this week the PUC published a schedule for turning those documents into an EIR.

According to the PUC website, the draft EIR is expected to be completed sometime during the fourth quarter of this year with a 45-day public comment period and public hearings in the first quarter of 2009, culminating with the release of the final EIR in mid-2009.

In all, about two dozen local, state and federal agencies will have to issue permits for the desal plant before it can be built.

Got Clogs?

Do you have frequent sewer line backups?
Do you call a plumber more than twice a month?
Do roots grow in your sewer line?

If so, you could be a victim of “The Clog”

Tips for preventing clogs:
1. Keep cooking fats, oils and grease out of the drain.
2. Don't use toxic copper roots killers or caustic drain cleaners.
3. Inspect, maintain and repair your sewer lateral on a regular basis.

Go to ClogBusters.org or call 645-4604 for more information.

From Kyrgystan to Carmel, young pianist dazzles with fast fingers

By CHRIS COUNTS

WHILE MOST jazz fans have little idea where Kyrgystan is, they're quickly embracing one of the former Soviet Republic's most promising exports — a 21-year-old pianist who simply calls himself Eldar.

Backed by a trio of musicians, Eldar will perform two sets at the Jazz and Blues Co. Saturday, Feb. 2.

Born Eldar Djangorov in 1987, Eldar was introduced at an early age to jazz by his father, a devoted record collector. By 3, he was playing piano.

"He first heard Herbie Hancock, Bill Evans, Oscar Peterson and Chick Corea because his dad traveled around Russia buying their albums," explained Dave Kimball, owner of the Jazz and Blues Co.

In the summer of 1996, a jazz enthusiast, the late Charles McWhorter, "discovered" a 9-year-old Eldar playing at a jazz festival in Novosibirsk, Russia. McWhorter was able to get the young pianist a summer scholarship at Michigan's Interlochen Center for the Arts, to which he returned the next two summers. Curiously, Kimball also studied music as a youngster at Interlochen — nearly 50 years ago.

In 1998, Eldar's family — drawn to the city's rich jazz heritage — settled in a suburb just outside Kansas City. Not long afterward, he appeared on Marian McPartland's National Public Radio show, "Piano Jazz." At 12, he became the show's youngest performer ever. Later, he attended University of Southern California's Thornton School of Music.

Eldar released his self-titled debut recording on Sony Classical Records in 2005, following the disc with 2006's "Live at the Blue Note" and last year's "Re-Imagination," which was nominated for a Grammy as Best Contemporary Jazz Album. Eldar's considerable talents have not gone unnoticed by his more famous peers — at the Blue Note gig, he's joined by Roy Hargrove and Chris Botti.

Eldar comes to Carmel

Kimball's introduction to Eldar came unexpectedly. "I got a call from the William Morris Agency," Kimball recalled. "They said, 'We have a couple musicians we think you'd like, and they're making their first West Coast tours.'"

The booking agent sent Kimball a video clip of Eldar performing on "Jimmy Kimmel Live!"

"I was blown away," Kimball said. "The guy was just going nuts on the piano. So I said, 'How can I afford this guy?' And they said, 'We'll make it work.'"

Kimball is convinced Eldar has a bright future in jazz. "His contemporaries call him the 'fastest hands on the piano today,'" Kimball explained. "He can slip into stride and ragtime, but it's not Scott Joplin. It's Eldar's take on Joplin. He's not mainstream yet, but he's getting there."

The first set starts at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $40.

The Jazz and Blues Co. is located on the west side of San Carlos, between Fifth and Sixth. For more information, call (831) 624-6432 or visit www.krmlradio.com.

Playing piano since he was three, Eldar is gifted 21-year-old who will perform at the Jazz & Blues Co. Saturday.

LOCAL JAZZ pianist and composer Weber Iago appears in concert Feb. 9 at the Jazz and Blues Co. on San Carlos Street with a quartet showcasing talented vocalist Masha Campagne. A San Francisco Bay area jazz vocalist who was born and raised in Moscow, Masha moved to San Francisco, where she quickly became immersed in the local jazz scene. In 2000 she teamed up with British guitarist Simon Butler to create a duo entitled "Cantando um Samba," and in 2005 she asked Brazilian-born pianist Iago to produce her latest CD. Iago acted as an arranger as well as playing the piano, and oversaw every step of the production until completion. Iago raves about his latest project. "She is versed in both jazz and Brazilian music, she sings in Portuguese with almost no accent, and she has a great taste in her choice of songs." Masha will be accompanied by Iago on piano, Scott Thompson on bass and Phil Thompson on drums. The music starts at 7:30 p.m. For reservations; call (831) 624-6432.

At Sly McFly's on Cannery Row, blues guitarist Shane Dwight plays on Feb. 1, while on Feb. 2 local soul and horn band Downtown latest project of drummer Kim Edmundson, DJB is an eight-piece rhythm and blues band dedicated to the sound and music of the legendary soul singer James Brown. Edmundson, an in-demand Los Angeles session player and a resident of Carmel, will be joined by an all-star cast of local musicians, including singer Burnin' Vernon Davis, guitarist Paul Manusco, David "Dasher" Kempton on B3 organ, Randy Uchida on bass, plus Dave Eaton, Brian Stock and Stu Heydon on horns. Edmundson, who works by day as the music director at the Carmel Youth Center, studied with legends Louie Bellson and Ed Shaughnessy, and he has performed and recorded with many jazz artists, such as Dave Brubeck, Supersax, Stanley Clarke and Monty Alexander. Music starts at 9 p.m. Call (831) 649-8050.

A slate of alternative rock bands will perform Friday, Feb. 1, at Monterey Live, including Jet Lag Gemini from New Jersey and Weatherbox from San Diego. Poster Boy and Like the Ocean will perform with the aforementioned groups at an all-ages show beginning at 6 p.m., while at 9:30 p.m. the pair will be joined by The Mystery Lights and the Moongerms. WHIMSEY GALGINAITIS, 6, gets in lots of walks every day: Mom Carol R. walks her morning and night from her Pacific Grove home, and Nana Carol E. walks her afternoons at Carmel Beach.

Whimsey moved here a year ago from her former home in Wellesley, Mass., because her Mom liked the Monterey Peninsula so much on visits to Nana, she decided to pull up stakes and move West. They drove out here with Whimsey riding shotgun.

Mom Carol has a doctorate from Harvard University in education and practices grief therapy. While she's working, Whimsey stays with Nana at her Pebble Beach home, playing in the large, fenced yard, or napping in the piano room decorated with oil paintings by Nana, a professional artist.

Whimsey is generally pretty much a homebody, but she particularly enjoys road trips with Mom to Santa Barbara to visit brother Evan, who's studying at the university there.

In Nana's garden, Whimsey is something of a gazelle, leaping gracefully over rocks, plants and shrubs, but stopping on a dime to execute an inspired U-turn. Family friend Pat Collelo, who accompanies Nana Carol and Whimsey on their afternoon walks, said you have to see Whimsey execute one of her U-turns to believe it.

Although Whimsey is not a toy person at heart, she fell in love not long ago with a Hallmark teddy bear with a squeaker inside. She carries it out into the garden but on her return is bearless. That's been going on for some time now, with Nana still in the dark about where the bear's stashed in the garden.

to perform, check out the club's website at www.montereylive.org.

At the Golden State Theatre, a pair of blockbuster shows are scheduled for the month of February. Tickets for iconic Texas country artist Willie Nelson's Feb. 10 return engagement are sold out; however, tickets are still available for Merle Haggard, who performs Tuesday, Feb. 12. Haggard, one of the early innovators of the "Bakersfield sound," has 39 No. 1 country hits, including the 1969 classic, "Okie From Muskogee," and has received numerous Grammys and Country Music Awards. The only California-born musician in the Country Music Hall of Fame, the former "voice of the silent minority" recently appeared on "Real Time with Bill Maher" and talked about a song he wrote for Hillary Clinton called "Let's Put a Woman in Charge." For tickets, call (831) 372-3800.

Kudos should be extended to the Monterey Bay Blues Festival and executive director Christine Sandin for putting the blues back into the Blues Festival. Sandin, who moved to the West Coast last year with her husband, promoter Joe Fletcher, has been given almost complete control of booking, and the end result is the best lineup the festival, now in its 21st year, has had. Headliners include blues legends B.B. King, Taj Mahal, James "Blood" Ulmer, James Cotton, Charlie Musselwhite, CJ Chenier and the Blind Boys of Alabama, plus talented newcomers Susan Tedeschi, Keb Mo and Joe Bonamassa. For tickets and more information visit the festival's website at www.montereyblues.com.

Gift-giving idea evolves into nostalgic mix of golf and art

By CHRIS COUNTS

WHEN SUZANNE McCourt decided to paint a golfer, she was simply exploring a gift-giving idea.

"I started painting golfers because I was trying to figure out something I could do for my mom on her birthday," McCourt recalled.

What began as a sentimental gesture evolved into an exhibit of colorful acrylic paintings, "Memories of the Crosby Clambake," that opened this week at the Phillips Gallery, which will host a reception Saturday, Feb. 2, from 1 to 4 p.m. McCourt will be on hand to paint and talk about her work.

It should come as no surprise that McCourt — whose chief focus as an artist has been painting musicians — has a natural talent for painting golfers. McCourt's childhood was filled with images of her father, a top-rated amateur, playing the game in Pebble Beach.

Dick Yost, who died in 1973 at the age of 43, was one of golf's best amateurs in the mid-1950s. He played at the Crosby (now known as the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am), toured with America's Walker Cup team and was even invited to compete in the Masters, no small compliment for an amateur.

"But he never went pro," McCourt explained. "He had me and he wanted to provide a more stable lifestyle."

While McCourt showed promise as a young golfer, she was naturally drawn to art. Years later, she discovered that not only was golf in her blood, but art as well. When her grandmother died, a cache of paintings was discovered under her bed. McCourt never even knew she painted.

While McCourt loved to paint, it took a health crisis to really ignite her creativity.

In 1999, McCourt learned she had a brain tumor. For someone in a health crisis, painting proved to be the perfect therapy. "I remember being sick to my stomach from the radiation," she recalled. "I had this wonderful art instructor, Howard Ikemoto. He came and sat by me and said, 'Forget about it. Don't think about a thing. Just enjoy the paint. Don't care what your painting looks like.'"

According to McCourt, painting brought joy back into her life.

"Painting was like a lifeline to having any good feelings," she said.

When she began her series of golf paintings and needed a subject, McCourt naturally turned to images of her father for inspiration. In her larger, multimedia pieces, she incorporates newspaper clippings, old photographs and even cartoons from Hank Ketcham, the creator of the "Dennis the Menace" comic strip. Ketcham, it turns out, was one of Yost's best golfing buddies.

The golf art project also has had an unintentional consequence — it has rekindled McCourt's love of golf.

"I'm going to take it up again," she added. "It's time. I live just a block away from the course at Seascap." She lives in Aptos.

The gallery is located on the southwest corner of Ocean and Mission. For more information, call (831) 626-1617 or visit www.phillipsgalleries.com.

Songwriters warm fingers, meet new friends in Big Sur

By CHRIS COUNTS

WHILE IT is unlikely the next Bob Dylan or Neil Young will emerge from a weeklong gathering of singer-songwriters in Big Sur this week, the organizers of the third annual Big Sur Listening Room International Songwriters Retreat won't discount the possibility.

"Oftentimes, miracles happen at these types of gatherings," explained Magnus Toren, co-organizer of the event and director of the Henry Miller Library. "It's always a great thing to have creative people from various countries gather in one place."

The week of strumming, singing and songwriting culminates Saturday, Feb. 2, when about 20 musicians — ranging from experienced performers, to virtual beginners — perform a free concert at the Big Sur Lodge. The performers come from as far as Ireland, Sweden, England and Denmark. To such wintertime visitors, Big Sur must seem like a tropi-

Truffles, prosciutto and vino bring farmers, chefs together

By MARY BROWNFIELD

CENTRAL COAST chefs collaborated for a Celebration of Umbria at Quail Lodge Saturday night, preparing dishes reminiscent of the region for a group of diners that included a dozen Italian farmers. The evening was conceived "to create ongoing relationships between farmers and chefs," according to the organizers, and came at the conclusion of the four-day Eco-Farm Conference at Asilomar.

The nonprofit that hosts the conference, the Ecological Farming Association, "advances ecologically sound and economically viable agriculture," and seeks to educate farmers and consumers. In support of Eco-Farm and SLOW Food USA, Earthbound Farm and Quail Lodge organized the Jan. 26 dinner as part of "For the Love of Food — A Week in Umbria," which featured two evening events and a special menu offered at The Covey.

On Saturday night, in the ballroom in the Quail Lodge clubhouse, images of farming and cultivating in Italy flashed on a giant screen while guests indulged in six small courses paired with mostly Italian wines, including one made by some of the people in the room. Throughout the evening, people stood at a podium to talk about various aspects of farming and the significance of the dinner celebrating the "cultural and agricultural exchange between California and Umbria."

Among them was Mark Marino, farm manager for Earthbound in Carmel Valley. In discussing the trials and tribulations of making a living off the land, he said, "Forget Vegas. If you want to gamble, buy a farm."

Many clearly agreed.

Occasionally, moving figures would replace the still photos on the screen as a camera in the kitchen fed live images into the dining room. Before dishes were brought to the tables, guests could watch the chefs at work assembling the plates.

The courses included Wild Mushroom & Prosciutto Salad with celery root and aged pecorino — prepared by Will's Fargo Chef Jérôme Veil — followed by Local Dandelion "Carbonara" with Faraone pasta, black truffles and pork belly created by Stoke's Chef Brandon Miller. Next was Rick Edge's (Lattitudes) Crostini di Pesce "Tegamaccio," with wild halibut, tomato fennel puree and parsley foam. Craig von Foerster of Sierra Mar at the Post Ranch Inn presented Grilled Squab Breast with confit of squab, lentil ragout and porcini mushroom jus, and Matt Bolton, Chef de Cuisine at The Covey, prepared Wild Boar with local chanterelle farro and artichoke risotto, parmigiano reggiano and jus della senape del grano.

A fete in Las Vegas, C.V. pastries and a lively wine bar

By CHARYN PFEUFFER

LAST WEEKEND, I was in Las Vegas at Caesar's Palace to take part in a culinary tour de force.

The decadent 72 hours started with a wine tasting led by Bryan Ogden (son of famed Bay Area chef Bradley), followed by dinner at his proud papa's namesake restaurant. Other events included a repeat visit to Guy Savoy for the new(ish) Bites & Bubbles experience, a pastry class with Sin City newcomer Francois Payard of Payard Pâtisserie & Bistro (to make chocolate pudding cake!) and a one-year anniversary dinner at Rao's, outpost of the Big Apple eatery that is damn near impossible to get into without a personal invite from one of the owners. For good measure, I threw in a massage at my most favorite Vegas spa — QUA — to prime me for Tiffani (sans Amber) Thiessen's (a.k.a. Valerie Malone of former "Beverly Hills 90210" fame) birthday bash at PURE Nightclub. Yes, I like to time these trips just right and multi-task the heck out of them.

The only thing I dreaded was the weather. Even in Vegas, temperatures have been below freezing, and a friend had to wrap his palm trees to spare them from the frost. Ouch.

Don't forget that Monterey Peninsula Airport has U.S. Airways nonstop flights to Sin City (at 8:55 p.m. on Friday and Sunday), returning Saturdays and Mondays at 1:28 in the morning.

■ Parker-Lusseau Pastries

When I love something, I tend to go overkill in its consumption. Memoire (a truffle-studded cow's milk cheese from The Cheese Shop at Carmel Plaza), practical shoes from Hedi's in the Barnyard, and impractical accessories from Girl Boy Girl in Carmel are just a few of my weaknesses. Once upon a time, Parker-Lusseau Pastries fell into my regular rotation, but moving out to Carmel Valley forced some much-needed space between Ann Parker and Yann Lusseau's delicate baked perfections and my sweet-tooth lovin' self. Yes, their goodies are pricey, but once you've tried their triple-chocolate cake, raspberry tart, symphony cake (espresso mousse, chocolate and hazelnut) or even the basic brioche, your eyes will roll back in your head and you won't think twice about it. For Valentine's Day, they're whipping up adorable individual chocolate raspberry cakes — definitely worth the trip and every butter-laden calorie. Place your orders now at 731 Munras Ave. or 539 Hartnell Street, both in Monterey. (831) 643-0300 or www.parker-lusseau-pastries.com.

■ Paradise Wine Bar

Even after living here for three years, the Peninsula is a place that perplexes me. Case in point: a recent evening at Paradise Wine Bar in Carmel Valley. The scene: Steely gazed late-teens in patterned hoodies (one even had a mohawk — how daring!) alongside expressionless middle-aged women in black pea coats sipping hot tea. One spouse went out on a fashion limb and sported a not-so-sporty In-N-Out-Burger baseball cap. I'd say the audience represented at least a six-decade span — maybe more. The band was Lettuce Rock and consisted of David (on guitar and lead vocals), Jordan (on drums and vocals) and C.G. (on bass and vocals). Jason, the keyboardist and vocalist, was missing from the harmonious mix. Despite two of the three members not being of voting age, these guys gave one of the liveliest music performances I've seen on the Peninsula in a long time. I love the intimate venue, I love the performers, and I love that you can get small plates for $8 a pop and several reasonably priced wines by the glass. It's everything I want from a low-cost, but thoroughly entertaining and delicious, night on the town. I'm

“For me, it was the only place to be.”

May Waldroup, former owner, The Barnyard and Thunderbird bookstore

This was not a difficult choice. I'm delighted with my life at Carmel Valley Manor. The location is superb; I've loved the Valley since the first time I saw it. My apartment and patio are just right. It felt wonderful to let go of excess furnishings and decorative objects. Community life offers many enjoyable options. I frequently visit friends in the Manor's wonderful care centers and it's good to know those are available should I ever need them.

My advice? Plan ahead; don't wait too long to get on the waiting list.

lush but floral red hailing from Umbria, accompanied the boar. In halting English, and reading from a slip of paper, the daughter of the family of vintners thanked the event's organizers for hosting them and the other Umbrian farmers during their tour of similar operations in California. At one point, all the Italian visitors stood together and passed the microphone from one to another, repeating their thanks.

The event's only domestic wine, served alongside the halibut, was the 2005 Benziger "Casey's Vineyard" Sauvignon Blanc. Benziger, which the Umbrian farmers were set to visit this week, employs biodynamics, defined as "the highest form of organic farming."

"It goes beyond the elimination of all chemical inputs. It incorporates the environment in and around the vineyard and works with nature to apply the knowledge of life forces to bring about balance and healing in the soil," according to Benziger.

The final course featured a Torta de Mele, or apple tart, with candied orange vanilla bean ice cream made by Anne Parker-Johnson and Yann Lusseau, the duo that is Parker-Lusseau. Espresso, biscotti, chocolate truffles and chocolate mousse in tiny cups also appeared on the table, marking a decadent ending to a dinner Quail Lodge general manager Sarah Cruse said she hopes will be emulated during similar soirees at the lodge throughout the year.

The event was offered through Quail's newly created Lifestyle Academy, which "is designed to help create just the type of getaway experience people have dreamed of," including "extraordinary entertainment and access to exclusive areas, thereby allowing guests to experience unique adventures and create their own memories."

■ Santa Cruz Passport Program

Two weeks ago, Pine Cone reporter Mary Brownfield and I ventured north to see what's going on in the grape-growing environs of Santa Cruz. It was the first of four annual Passport weekends, where oenophiles can visit nearly 50 wineries for a $30 passport. Tastings included Aptos Creek Vineyard (yummy Pinot Noir), Heart 'O The Mountain (not so yummy Pinot Noir), Santa Cruz Mountain Vineyard (the Portuguese Port was free of any obnoxious raisin notes that are indicative of so many California versions), Equinox (so-so sparkling wines; a decent Merlot), and Osocalis Distillery (tasty alambic brandy worth every cent at $40 a bottle). Monterey grapes were represented at Pelican Ranch Winery where we sampled a 2004 Chardonnay, Santa Lucia Highlands, Sleepy Hollow Vineyard and a 2004 Pinot Noir, Santa Lucia Highlands, Sleepy Hollow Vineyard (neither wine did Sleepy Hollow Vineyard any justice). Storrs Winery offered a lovely 2006 Monterey Chardonnay that wasn't oaked to the hilt. I was introduced to the Corralitos Market & Sausage Company en route home and stocked up on a freezer-full of pig and cow products. That's the recap, folks.

cal paradise.

Some experienced musicians might not think they have much to learn from beginners, especially considering the participants' cultural and linguistic differences. But Toren said everyone can benefit from the retreat.

"Beginners, as well as the more advanced musicians, really do get something out of the relationships they are building this week," he said.

And sometimes, songwriters just need to get outside and meet other songwriters.

"The act of songwriting is usually a solitary pursuit with the door closed," Toren added.

The event is the creation of Listening Room Concert Series founder Brett Perkins, who moved to Denmark in 2004 and established the series as a monthly event in Copenhagen and Stockholm.

Rushing outside, Hall found Wheeler — a regular customer at the cleaners and the laundry next door — sitting inside her crashed car with the motor running. Its trunk was smashed against the wall and the rear wheels hung in midair while the front half of the car was planted in the middle of a hedge and over part of the sidewalk.

Motioning at Wheeler through the window and receiving assurance she was OK, Hall said, "I told her to turn the car off and wait for the police."

They were there within seconds, the police department being located just across the street, and a fire engine and ambulance arrived moments later.

Firefighters let the air out of the car's tires to help stabilize it and cut away the hedge so they could open the driver's side door.

After assisting Wheeler from the car, an ambulance crew examined her for injuries, but she denied treatment and was given a ride home by a police officer.

Because of her age and the accident, Wheeler will likely undergo reevaluation by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The car was later removed by a tow truck. Fortunately, it did not fall into the walkway when it was dislodged from the wall.

Everybody Needs a Break Now and Then

Even the most dedicated of family caregivers periodically need some "time off" in order to replenish their energy and renew their spirits. But their commitment is so great that they have difficulty giving themselves permission to take a break.

Besides, the logistics — and the worry — involved in finding a qualified substitute or in taking their loved one to a care facility can be overwhelming.

We can help.

Our Home Care Coordinator will visit you to discuss your needs and wishes. Then, when the time comes, we will carefully select a Personal Attendant to be at home with your loved one while you are away, and to follow the routine that you have established. We'll do everything possible to make this temporary absence comfortable for your loved one and for you. It's worth a try, isn't it? Because you can't take good care of anyone else unless you take care of yourself.

The concert series ran from 1993 to 2005 at various venues throughout California. Williams and singer-songwriter Lisa Loeb are just two of many aspiring singer-songwriters who used the concert series as a springboard to a musical career. During the past 15 years, the series has presented more than 1,000 musicians.

Around the world

Toren met Perkins in 1995, when the former brought Dar Williams to the library for a concert. Just two hours away from the San Francisco Bay Area, yet seemingly a world apart, the library proved to be just the right setting for the singer-songwriter retreat.

Perkins is presenting similar week-long retreats — each set in a remote and stunning natural setting — this year on La Palma Island (Spain), the Faroe Islands (Denmark), Samsø Island (Denmark), Gotland Island (Sweden) and Inisheer Island (Ireland).

The concert starts at 8 p.m. While there is no admission charge, donations are encouraged. The Big Sur Lodge is located at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park, about 26 miles south of Carmel. For more information, call (831) 667-2574 or visit www.henrymiller.org

Incorporation back on front burner

IF PROPONENTS of Carmel Valley's incorporation have their way, the issue will be presented to voters in November, according to attorney Michael Stamp.

Representing the Carmel Valley Forum — a nonprofit dedicated to getting the incorporation issue on the ballot — Stamp filed a motion this week for “writ, declaratory and injunctive relief,” asking a judge to order the Local Agency Formation Commission to put the incorporation issue before voters.

The filing sets the stage for a March 14 hearing that could decide whether the courts will intervene.

“This means the issue is coming to a head,” Stamp explained. “We have an opening argument and we’re ready to move forward.”

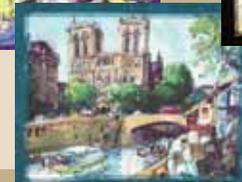

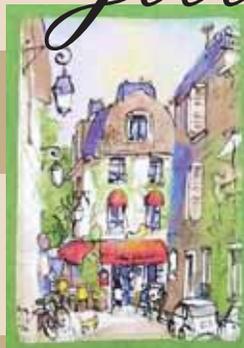

LAFCO voted 5-2 in October 2006 to require that proponents of Carmel Valley's incorporation pay for a costly environmental impact report. In response, the CVF sued LAFCO in March 2007. The Carmel Valley Forum is asking the court to require that LAFCO recognize its December 2005 decision that an EIR wasn't required.

A month after the CVF filed its lawsuit, LAFCO countersued, alleging the group owes nearly $150,000 in costs associated with creating a town.

According to the countersuit, which was filed by the Sacramento-based law firm of Best, Best and Krieger, LAFCO's expenses for processing the incorporation application total $268,801.99. The agency insisted it has received only $122,180 from the CVF. LAFCO's expenses include the costs of preparing, processing and managing environmental, fiscal and service plan studies for the would-be town. Also included in the bill are legal expenses.

Economic stimulus

■ Read this part if you earn less than $75,000 a year

GREAT NEWS! The federal government is planning to send you a check for $300 to $1,800 — depending on whether you're married and how many dependents you have. And with the stimulus bill still being negotiated, these amounts could rise and even extended to people who paid little or no taxes last year.

The point of this largesse is to spur consumer spending, which translates to increased activity in nearly every sector of the economy.

We would like to ask you to think carefully before deciding where to spend your windfall. The first rule is: Not at Costco. Or Wal-Mart, or any other huge national chain that will devote a little of your money to the wages it pays its local employees, and an even smaller share to the few (very few) local suppliers of chain store goods and services. The lion's share will be immediately exported from our community to corporate headquarters, giant warehouses and mega-manufacturers (most of them overseas). Instead, we urge you to think locally and act locally when it comes to spending your gift from Uncle Sam.

Take it to a local market, retail store or restaurant. To help create a sense of community, let them know what you're doing and urge them to do the same.

And if you really want to be conscientious, we urge you to use your U.S. government check to buy something from a Pine Cone advertiser. What could be more local than that?

■ Read this part if you earn more than $75,000 a year

TOO BAD! The economic stimulus package isn't for you. As proposed, the full amount will only go to people who make less than $75,000 a year, and the rebate will disappear completely for single people who earn $87,000 a year or couples who make $174,000. Of course, you're not supposed to complain, because people who earn that much money are already rich, right? Especially in Carmel or Pebble Beach, where $100,000 a year will get you a mansion at the beach, a garage full of fancy cars and full tuition for your children at private universities. Sorry for the sarcasm.

Not only won't you receive the rebate, you'll be providing almost all the money that goes to everyone else. According to the IRS, the tax burden on upper income groups actually increased during the Bush presidency, despite those nasty tax cuts Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama promise to repeal. The latest figures look like this: In 2005, the top 1 percent of wage earners paid 40 percent of all income taxes, and the top 25 percent — adjusted gross incomes of $62,000 and up — paid a whopping 86 percent of all income taxes. The amounts are substantially higher than they were in 2001. If somebody wants the rich to pay more taxes, it has been proved once again that the way to do that is to cut the tax rates.

We just thought you'd like to know.

'Traitors, outsiders and spoilers'

Dear Editor,

As someone who has studied the water shortage on the Monterey Peninsula, investigated it while on the Grand Jury, and is familiar with water shortage problems throughout California, I am appalled at the attitudes I encounter in Monterey County.

The water shortage in Monterey has been purposely obfuscated for decades, by certain individuals and groups, for profit, power, greed, turf domination and news purposes. Of the dozens of knowledgeable people I have talked with, no one has an answer, or wants an answer. The people of Monterey County want their elected leaders to obfuscate this issue forever, and that is what they are doing. Otherwise they would remove them.

Attempts by me and others to cut red tape and get things done resulted in being accused as traitors, outsiders and spoilers.

irontomm, by email

Where's the leadership?

Dear Editor,

If there's one thing that's never been clearer it's that we need some leadership on the local water supply. Either the board of supervisors or the water district or the mayors or somebody has to start demanding a solution in a forceful way. Otherwise, in another 15 years will be where we are now. And aren't we actually worse off than we were 25 years ago? It's not like we (the taxpayers) haven't been soaked enough. We should be getting something for our money.

Georgia Torres, Monterey

Lions and tigers

Dear Editor,

With all that's been happening in the world of felines — a tiger attacking three people at the San Francisco Zoo, and lions popping up everywhere in Carmel Valley — should I be keeping a closer eye on my Siamese cat? Perhaps the truth all along is that they're in control and we're just here to keep the food dish full.

From grinding acorns to processing lime

While it is likely Big Sur's indigenous Esselen people frequently visited Limekiln canyon, the Stone Age tribe left little evidence behind other than an occasional bedrock mortar where acorns were ground. The canyon's recorded history begins in the 1870s, when homesteaders, hunters, loggers and miners began settling, exploring and exploiting the Big Sur Coast.

A little-used park — and that's part of its charm

Builders in Monterey and San Francisco needed lime to make cement, and as a result, lime kilns sprung up along the coast. In Big Sur, kilns were established in Bixby and in what would soon be named "Limekiln" canyons.

The late historian Jeff Norman, in the Images of America book, "Big Sur," described how the mineral was processed in Big Sur in the late 19th century.

"Firewood and limestone were dumped in the tops of the kilns and ignited from below," Norman explained. "After several days of slow burning, controlled by regulating the flow of air into the kilns, the resulting lime was packed into barrels for shipment ..."

Schooners slipped into nearby Rockland Cove, where they loaded the lime barrels and shipped them north.

Hippie hangout or hideout?

In Vincent Bugliosi's "Helter Skelter," the author refers to Limekiln and Salmon creeks as a "hippie hangouts" and places were cult leader Charles Manson reportedly stayed when he visited Big Sur in the late 1960s. During that colorful time, Big Sur was flooded with wide-eyed refugees from San Francisco's Summer of Love, and many of them took up residence in Big Sur coastal canyons, where they lived in Volkswagen buses or crudely constructed shelters.

While most of young, shaggy-haired visitors were relatively harmless, the canyons of Big Sur also attracted a darker element. While he was a fugitive, LSD guru Timothy Leary reportedly hid out along Salmon Creek, and Jeffrey Kripal, the author of "Esalen: America and the Religion of No Religion," writes that Manson "was forming his own cult down at Limekiln Canyon."

It is likely that a seemingly unremarkable individual like Manson would hardly have raised an eyebrow in Big Sur during a time when, according to Kripal, "stoned bands of Hell's Angels" were roaring down Highway 1 with alarming frequency.

Conservationists say no to logging

In the early 1980s, Scarborough Lumber received permission to log a part of Limekiln canyon, setting off a public outcry. According to Brian Steen, executive director of the Sempervirens Fund, the Big Sur Land Trust purchased an 80-acre portion of the Limekiln property from Scarborough Lumber in 1984.

"It was a 'nail biter,'" recalled Steen, who served at the time as executive director of the BSLT. "We completed the purchase just two weeks before the logging began. There was an approved timber harvest plan which gave us a date-certain emergency, which helped our fundraising."

According to Rachel Saunders, the BSLT's director of communications, the nonprofit paid $375,000 for the property. The BSLT later sold the parcel to the Henry Cowell Foundation, which later sold it to state parks.

In the early '90s, the Esalen Institute leased and operated the canyon's campground. The nonprofit workshop center and hot springs resort had an option to buy the property but declined, setting the stage for its acquisition by state parks.

Should it stay or should it go?

Nobody is more upset about possible park closures than the folks at the California State Parks Foundation, a nonprofit group dedicated to "protecting, enhancing and advocating for" state parks.

"We're totally opposed to closing any parks," explained Jerry Emory, a spokesperson for the foundation. The savings the state would get from closing the parks amounts to about $9 million. That's a drop in the bucket in the state budget crisis."

Emory said the foundation has mounted an aggressive campaign to keep the targeted parks open.

"We're working under the assumption that this is a very serious threat," he said. "We've been very busy here the last couple of weeks. Sometimes it takes something like this to remind people how much they appreciate their parks and how they can take them for granted until they're on the chopping block."

While politicians wrangle

In 1995, the campground reopened under management of state parks. The park's current camp host, Steve Thomiszer, considers it a hidden gem.

"This park has everything — a beach, historical artifacts, a waterfall, extraordinary hiking trails, a beautiful redwood grove and a creek that flows into the ocean," Thomiszer explained.

Despite the possibility the park could be closed, it's still open for business.

"We get a handful of campers every night," Thomiszer added. "The weather has been glorious lately."

The park features 33 campsites. For reservations, call (831) 667-2403 or visit www.reserveamerica.com.

GETTING ON ALL FOURS

If you are concerned about fuel efficiency and the price of gasoline, you might want to consider an old money-saving strategy. Vehicles with four-cylinder engines are significantly less costly to purchase and run than those with six-cylinders. In fact, they may be close to hybrid territory when it comes to their stingy gas-sipping ability. In return for these savings, owners of vehicles with four-cylinder engines do not have to give up too much. Compared with their counterparts of the 1980s, today's four-cylinder engines are technically superior and deliver nearly twice the power. As they provide better mileage, they usually accelerate from 0 to 60 m.p.h. within a second or two of the six-cylinders. Four-cylinder engines are also among the cleanest.

We will be happy to answer any questions you may have regarding four-cylinder engines. Even if you don't own or plan to own a four-cylinder we have many ways to improve the gas performance you receive. To schedule an appointment if you're interesting in improved fuel consumption call us today. Our services are guaranteed for 12 months or 12,000 miles with NAPA Peace of Mind Warranty, and some repairs offer extended warranties.

P.S. A vehicle with a six-cylinder engine is quite likely to be less expensive to purchase and operate than one with an eight-cylinder engine.

"Carmel Legends"

A curious little publication, sort of Readers Digest size, has come into our hands, courtesy of Dr. John Baldwin who squirrels away such treasures. It is simply title CARMEL 1937, and was issued in that year. The ads are fascinating, and the historical notes in its 12 pages prove that the more things change the more they stay the same. Carmel, as a city, was only 35 years old, but already it had acquired the status of a many-faceted legend. Of greatest interest is an 8-page insert (see, nothing is new) which lists the owners and the "cute" names of 850 Carmel Cottages. Among them is "Mee Too" on Crespi Lane, and "We Too" on Dolores. There are 6 "Casas": Blanca, Contenta, Mia, Antigua, Lobo and del Pinar. "Oaks" are big, going from Oaks to Oak Bower to Oak Thicket to Ye Oaks to O.K. There's a "High Tide" on San Antonio and a "Low Tide" on Scenic. "Wee House" was popular, with one on Bayview and another on San Antonio. There were a lot of "La's" with Casita, Esperanza, Fuente, Paloma, etc. There was "Land Ho" and "Westward Ho" — no "Don Ho." "Sleepy Hollow" on south Monte Verde was quite a ways from "Sleepy Valley" on north Dolores. "Green" was the favorite color, with Gate, Gates, Village, Lantern, Leaf, Lettuce and Dragon. It's reassuring to know that creativity has always been in Carmel.

the police department asking for help trying to find a working phone. While talking to male subject, a small clear burnt straw fell from his hand as he handed the officer his wallet. When the male subject was questioned about the burnt straw, he stated he found it in the parking lot. Subsequently, the subject was searched and run for any outstanding warrants, but this was met with negative results. Subject was provided a ride to local supermarket to use the pay phone.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person at Mission and Third reported the exterior lights to the front of her unit were being vandalized. The officer contacted an electrician who was hired by the apartment complex to replace the lights. This information was confirmed by the president of the homeowners association. There was no vandalism. This report is unfounded.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Store owner on Sixth Avenue found that his store had been broken into sometime during the past three days.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Female on Casanova called the station to report that someone had entered her vehicle overnight. Reporting party said she parked her car in front of her house at 1600 hours on Jan. 8. She then retired for the evening. On Jan. 9 at about 0945 hours, she returned to the vehicle and noticed her console and glove compartment contents were scattered all over the interior. RP said she recalled not locking the doors to the vehicle prior to retiring for the evening. RP said nothing was missing from the car and wanted this on file in case other incidents of the same type had occurred.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Housekeeper arrived at a house on Casanova Street and saw that a theft had occurred.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Lincoln Street resident reported sometime during the hours of 2100 and 0900, between Jan. 8 and Jan. 9, unknown person(s) gained entry into her vehicle and took the registration card from her glove box. The owner advised the car was not locked, and she has no idea who might have committed the act. The owner only wanted the incident documented. At this time nothing else has been reported missing.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched on a mutual aid for Westmed to Deer Path Road in Pebble Beach for a male with a syncopal episode. On arrival at scene, patient conscious, alert, oriented and refused transport to hospital by ambulance. Signed medical release.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance responded to reported fire alarm activation. Canceled by FireComm.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance responded to a reported tree into wires at Camino Real and Ninth. At scene, found a large branch onto the phone/cable lines. Public works crew notified to take care of the problem; area secured until they finished their work.

Ticket Information

Most attendees buy their tickets well in advance, including high rollers who pay thousands for admission to all tournament events and exclusive clubs. Also, ticket packages, such as the Executive Booster Package ($2,400), the Champions Club Member ($1,600 weekly, $450 daily), the Partners Package ($350) and the Charity Patron Badge ($150). Had to be purchased by Jan. 15. (Start planning for next year!) But there are still several options:

Season Badge • $150

■ Entrance to all events, practice rounds and all tournament rounds at all three courses.

Daily Ticket

■ $60 for the three days of practice rounds. Don't forget that military, firefighters and police officers are admitted free on Feb. 6.

■ $60 for each tournament round.

Any-Day ticket book • $600

■ Each book contains 10 coupons which can be exchanged at the gate for daily tickets.

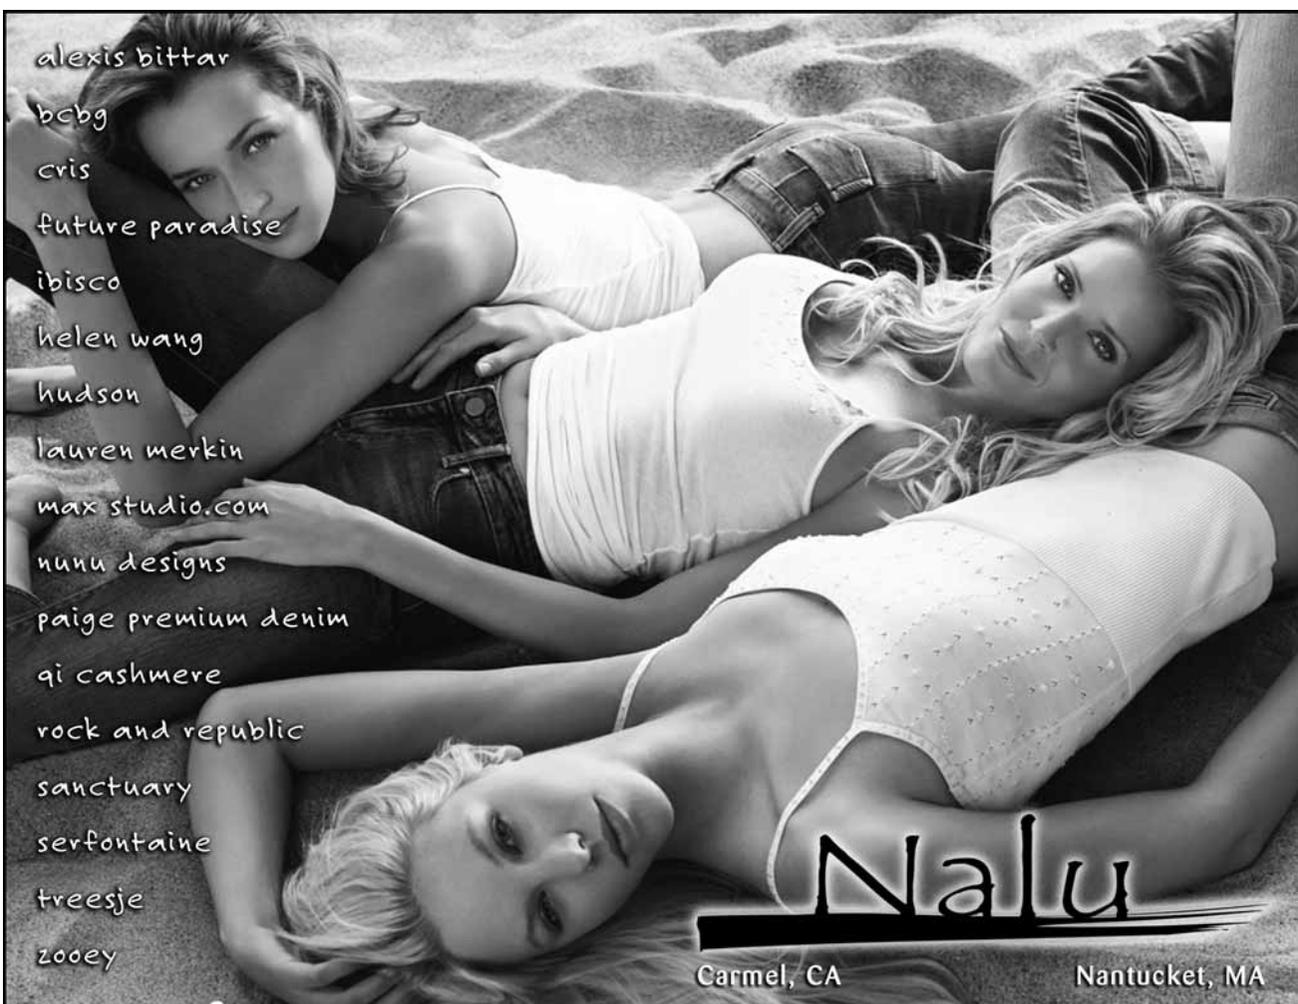

■ 12 and under admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

Where to buy: On line at www.attpbgolf.com. By telephone at (800) 541-9091, and by fax to (831) 649-1763. Daily tickets will also be sold at the Carmel shuttle stop in front of Carmel Plaza shopping center, at the Carmel Chamber of Commerce visitors center on San Carlos Street, at the Pacific Grove admission trailer (17 Mile Drive at the P.G. Gate) and at the CSUMB parking area (follow signs from Highway 1 exit to CSUMB, approximately 10 miles north of Pebble Beach).

Parking: During early practice rounds (Mon.-Tues.), parking is available inside Pebble Beach. Wednesday and during tournament rounds, complimentary spectator parking is available on the CSUMB campus at the former Fort Ord, about 10 miles north of Pebble Beach on Highway 1, with frequent shuttle buses to deliver spectators to the competition courses, where other shuttle buses will also take them between courses. Handicapped parking is available throughout the practice and tournament rounds inside Pebble Beach.

There are also convenient shuttle buses available from Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey to the pro-am tournament. For details about these shuttles, please see page 5ATT.

Prohibited items: The following items are specifically prohibited inside the entrance gate of the AT&T Thursday through Sunday of tournament week: Cell phones and PDA's; distracting or noise producing devices; cameras (except during practice round days Mon-Wed); bags, backpacks, food container or cooler or any other carrying device larger than 8" inches in height, width or depth; signs, banners or posters (except for autographs); televisions and radios; alcohol, except on site sales or businesses; pets (except service animals), bicycles and ladders; metal spiked golf shoes; weapons of any sort, whether licensed or permitted, and any other item deemed potentially injurious, unlawful or dangerous to staff, volunteers or participants as determined by the PGA Tour, tournament security personnel or law enforcement officials. Plastic water bottles and food capable of fitting into an 8"-by-8"-by-8" container or pockets are acceptable for entry.

Golf tournament offers boost to local arts groups

By CHRIS COUNTS

FOR LOCAL non profit groups striving — and at times struggling — to bring art to their communities, an affiliation with the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am golf tournament is as good as a hole-in-one. A portion of the proceeds from this year's tournament — Feb. 4-10 — will benefit the Carl Cherry Center for the Arts, the Monterey Museum of Art, Arts Habitat and the Youth Arts Collective.

Affordable housing, studios for artists

Arts Habitat is seeking to create 65 low cost living and work spaces for local artists at the former Ft. Ord.

"Arts Habitat was created 17 years ago by a group of people who decided there was a crucial need on the Monterey Peninsula for low income housing for artists," explained Shirmaine Jones, an administrator who became the group's first staff person just six months ago. "A lot of artists have had to leave here because of the high cost of living. We wanted to do something about it."

By providing low-cost housing and work space for artists, the for-profit builders were able to convince the county to approve the project.

"We helped them get approved," Jones said.

The 65 units represent the third phase of a 1,400-unit mixed housing project. Jones said the units could become available by 2011. The units will feature living spaces on top of art studios and will rent for below market value.

Jones envisions a bustling art community at the former Ft. Ord.

"It can be an artistic hub where everyone can rub elbows and all the art forms come together," Jones added.

Arts Habitat received $9,500 last year from the AT&T golf tournament for general operating expenses. For more information, call (831) 624-6111 or visit www.artshabitat.org.

Finding a place to create

For many aspiring young artists, it's not easy to find a supportive environment to explore creativity. The Youth Arts Collective, a nonprofit based in Monterey, hopes to change that.

The Youth Arts Collective offers studio space and a mentoring program for artists 14 to 22.

"We provide a safe, nurturing and inspiring place for young artists to develop their skills," explained executive director Marcia Perry.

Perry and Meg Biddle founded the Youth Arts Collective in 2000. The studio, which is located at 472 Calle Principal, is open to young artists four hours a day, five days a week.

"Almost all of our students go on to college," Perry said. "We've watched kids with a lot of problems feel a lot better about themselves as a result of their participation in the program."

The Youth Arts Collective received $10,000 last year from the AT&T golf tournament. The money will go toward the group's operating expenses.

"All of us appreciate the generosity of this community to make this possible," Perry added. "There are few projects like this in the country, and nothing like it around here."

For more information, call (831) 375-9922 or visit www.yacstudios.org.

Bringing poetry to local kids

While some nonprofit arts groups use the money they receive from the AT&T golf tournament for general operating expenses, Carmel's Cherry Center for the Arts dedicates all of its gift to fund its annual Robert Campbell 2008 Monterey High School Poetry Awards competition.

As part of the program, Carmel poet Elliot Roberts visits local high schools and offers talks about poetry.

"The program really impacts kids from all over the county," explained Robert Reese, executive director. "Every high school in Monterey County participates in the program. Some of these kids have never written or been exposed to poetry before."

The Cherry Center received $6,000 last year from the AT&T golf tournament.

In addition to organizing the poetry competition, the Cherry Center hosts art exhibits, plays, poetry readings, concerts, films, classes and workshops.

"We've always tried to serve a niche

in the community by doing programs that fill a need that's not being met by other curriculum."

The Cherry Center is located on the corner of 4th and Guadalupe. For more information about the poetry competition or the center, call (831) 624-7491 or visit www.carlcherrycenter.org.

Marketing grant aims to build art audience

The Monterey Museum of Art — the only accredited art museum between San Jose and Santa Barbara — is receiving a $40,000 grant from the AT&T golf tournament for marketing and research.

"It's a wonderful investment in building our audience," Venuti said. "We're really grateful to the AT&T for helping us in a really significant way."

The museum collects, preserves and interprets the art of California.

"Through our exhibits and educational programs, the museum exposes the public to the arts of the region, while putting them in a national and international context," explained Robin Venuti, director of development for the museum.

The museum is located at 559 Pacific St. in Monterey. A second facility is located at 720 Via Mirada. For more information, call (831) 372-5477.

SHUTTLES

Cities offer time-saving shuttles

By MARY BROWNFIELD

WANT TO add an hour to your day of spectating at the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am? Increasingly, fans are saying yes, and they're using shuttles to do it.

In fact, recent years have proved many golf fans would happily pay a few bucks to hop a shuttle in Carmel or Pacific Grove rather than park on the former Fort Ord and ride buses to and from the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Ams. The chambers of commerce in the two cities are sponsoring shuttles Wednesday, Feb. 6 — so people can get to the Celebrity Challenge to see and photograph their favorite stars on the course — through Sunday, Feb. 10.

The Carmel Chamber of Commerce and the Carmel Innkeepers Association will have buses operating from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Wednesday, and 6 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday through Sunday, leaving from the Carmel Plaza and delivering riders to the tournament gate in Pebble Beach. To return to town, riders should look for the Carmel shuttle stop at the Pebble Beach Equestrian Center. Daily passes, which allow unlimited rides in and out of the Forest throughout the day, are $10 per person.

In addition, people can purchase any-day AT&T Pro-Am tournament tickets at the bus stop or in the Carmel Visitor Center, located on San Carlos

See SHUTTLES page 7ATT

Tom Brady is quarterbacking the New England Patriots in the Super Bowl Feb. 3. Will he show up a few days later to play in the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am? Stay tuned.

CHARITIES

Pros vie in shoot-out for cash, gifts to charities

By MARY BROWNFIELD

KIDS, THEIR teeth, culture-seekers and furry creatures will benefit from the Feb. 5 GoGirlGo.Com Charity Shoot-Out during the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro Am. Representing charities that serve those groups, PGA Tour players will compete in a five-hole round that will yield $40,000 in money for four charities and $20,000 for the victorious players.

While the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am distributes grants to some 80 charities — donating more than $66 million since Bing Crosby brought the tournament to Pebble Beach in 1947 — it provides an opportunity for a small group to win a little bit more. On Jan. 19, players representing dozens of nonprofits competed in a closest-to-the-pin competition on Pebble Beach's Peter Hay golf course, with the top four earning spots in the GoGirlGo.Com Charity Shoot-Out set for the Tuesday of tournament week.

During the qualifier, Adam Heieck, representing the Northern California Golf Association Foundation, landed the ball 1 foot 3 inches from the cup. Community Oral Health Services' Beverly Orona came in second, with 2 feet 2 inches. Peter Orr's ball landed 2 feet 9 inches from the pin, putting the Museum of Art & History at the McPherson Center in third place, and the Animal Friends Rescue Project finished fourth, with Ron Boust's chip shot landing 4 feet 4 inches from the hole.

Each winning charity will select a two-player team of professionals to represent it in the shoot-out Feb. 5 on five holes at the Pebble Beach Golf Links. The round will be in the Scotch format, in which players take turns hitting the ball, and the charities' representatives will carry the leaderboards during the competition.

According to the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am, the winnings will be $2,000 for the pros and $4,000 for the charities on holes 1 and 2; $3,000 for the pros and $6,000 for the charity on Hole 3, $5,000 for the pro and $10,000 for the charity on Hole 17, and $8,000 for the pro and $16,000 for the charity on the 18th Hole.

PGA pros who have committed to the shoot-out are Jonathon Byrd, Chris DiMarco, Steve Elkington, David Frost, Arron Oberholser and Joey Sindelar, and organizers said others will be named.

They will play on behalf of:

■ The Northern California Golf Foundation, which "seeks to promote life skills and values through the game of golf to deserving youth in communities throughout Northern California;"

■ Community Oral Health Services, which provides mobile comprehensive dental services and prevention education to needy Central California children "in an effort to improve their oral health and reduce the prevalence of cavities and untreated disease;"

■ The Museum of Art & History at the McPherson Center, which presents exhibitions, collections and programs focusing on contemporary art and Santa Cruz County history; and

■ The Animal Friends Rescue Project, the Pacific Grove organization dedicated to finding permanent homes for abandoned, stray and abused pets.

The GoGirlGo.Com Charity Shoot-Out will begin at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 5, on the 1st Hole of the Pebble Beach Golf Links.

SHUTTLES

Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, for $55. They are $60 at the gate in Pebble Beach.

And the shuttles aren't just for locals hoping for a convenient way to get to the golf tournament. Fanatics from out of town might want to take a break for lunch in Carmel, and those who get their fill of the game after a few hours on the course could opt to spend some time shopping in town instead, the chamber and the innkeepers association hope. Last year, the buses provided almost 5,000 trips during the pro-am's four days — 2,000 more than the previous year.

Anyone wondering about the best restaurants in town, or desiring to know anything else about Carmel-by-the-Sea, can stop in at the visitor center.

Shuttle tickets and tickets for the pro-am can be purchased ahead of time by calling the chamber at (831) 624-2522 or visiting www.carmelcalifornia.org. During the tournament, shuttle tickets can be purchased at the inns, the Carmel Plaza bus stop or on the bus. Shuttle riders can pay to leave their cars in the north lot at Sunset Center, located on Eighth between Mission and San Carlos, or in the garage at the Carmel Plaza at Mission and Seventh. Free parking is available in the city lot at Torres and Third, which is about four blocks from the Plaza.

P.G. offers extras

The Pacific Grove Chamber of Commerce's 59-passenger Pacific Monarch buses will depart every 30 minutes from the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History, 165 Forest Ave., beginning at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday through Sunday, Feb. 6-10. Pro-Am play begins at 8 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and at 7:30 a.m. for the final round at the Pebble Beach Golf Links.

Riders will receive gift bags containing coupons, post cards and brochures. Chamber president Moe Ammar pointed out that taking the shuttles — as some 2,500 people did last year — will save them about an hour of travel time while offering them more flexibility in their schedules.

With special packages offered by hotels and businesses willing to stay open late, chamber officials said they are "making a concerted effort to provide the maximum in hospitality to the visitors for the golf tournament and to showcase the many charms of Pacific Grove."

Shuttle passes run $10 per day, or $30 for a five-day pass, and free parking is available a block away on Ocean View Boulevard. The chamber is also selling daily tournament tickets for $55. For more information, contact the chamber of commerce at (831) 373-3304 or check the group's website: www.pacificgrove.org.

Stargazing at the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am

CAMERAS MAY may be banned during the tournament, and autograph-seeking is discouraged except when players have finished their rounds, but the AT&T National Pro-Am is nevertheless one of the best opportunities to get close to your favorite star. Whether you're a movie buff, love prime-time drama, idolize professional athletes, get weak-kneed for rock stars, or thrill at the sight of gazillionaire businessmen, the fairways of Pebble Beach, Poppy Hills and Spyglass are the place to be next week. Here's a rundown of the celebrities who have promised to play. We've also included one who won't play: Clint Eastwood who, as chairman of the foundation that sponsors the pro-am, is sure to be spotted around the links.

■ Rubens Barrichello Jr.

A Brazilian Formula 1 race car driver, who currently races for Honda, has scored the fifth-greatest point total in Formula 1 history. Born in Sao Paulo, he has driven in 253 races, with nine wins. His most recent victory was the 2004 Chinese Grand Prix. He also won the Italian Grand Prix that year. Honda recently confirmed that Barrichello will be with the team this year. If he completes the 2008 season, he will set the record for most Grand Prix.

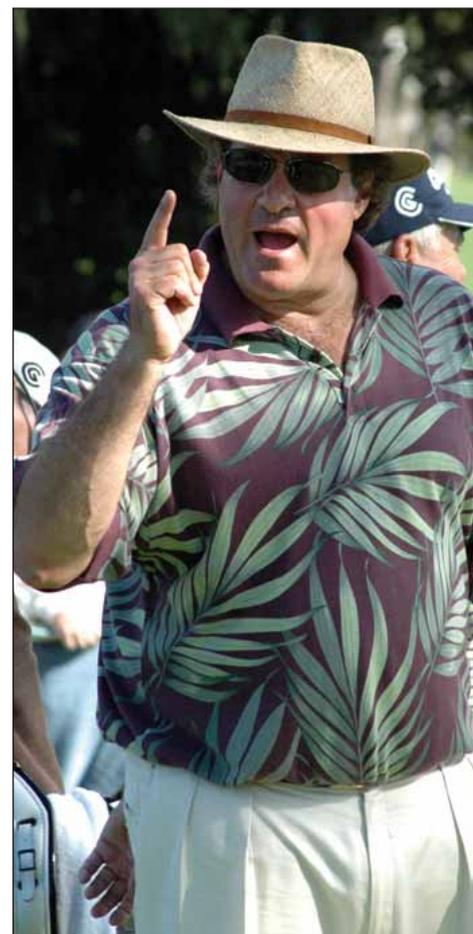

■ Harris Barton

A tackle for the San Francisco 49ers from 1987 to 1998, Barton was drafted in the first round of the 1987 NFL draft after a stellar collegiate career at the University of North Carolina where he earned a degree in business. Barton was regarded as one of the best-prepared and smartest linemen in the NFL. He also must have been one of the toughest: he was picked by John Madden for the All-Madden Team four times. After retiring, Barton joined Ronnie Lott in forming a venture capital firm, Champion Ventures. Barton supports numerous civic and charitable organizations and, in 1995, he donated $100,000 to his alma mater in honor of his father, Paul, who died in 1994 after a long battle with brain cancer. Barton has also long supported the National Brain Tumor Foundation. At 6' 4" he'll surely be one of the biggest golfers at this year's Pro-Am.

■ Chris Berman

Perhaps the nation's most colorful sportscaster, Berman was hired by ESPN one month after its inception in 1979. Six times selected National Sportscaster of the Year by the Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association, Berman has also won

CARMEL'S OCEANFRONT BUTTERFLY HOUSE

One of only 5 true oceanfront properties in Carmel, this unique treasure sits on a point, on two lots with its own private beach, and offers mesmerizing ocean views from Point Lobos to Pebble Beach. The distinctive architecture, with its flying arch roofline, has defined this singular home on Carmel's acclaimed Scenic Road for decades, and worth the wait for those looking for the best of the best.

SIMPLY STUNNING

Perched above the 14th hole of the Pebble Beach Golf Links, this singular stunning residence offers sweeping ocean and golf views from Pt. Lobos to Pescadero Point.

This impeccably maintained home with 5 luxurious bedroom suites is ideally located minutes to The Lodge and Carmel, and presents an unparalleled combination of location, ocean and golf views, and quality. $11,995,000

MEDITERRANEAN VISTA

This Italian-inspired villa, ideally located minutes from The Lodge at Pebble Beach, rests privately atop Pescadero Point offering striking views of Stillwater Cove, Carmel Beach and Links at Pebble Beach. Constructed just five years ago with the finest materials and craftsmanship, coupled with its coveted location and ocean views, this distinctive property presents a unique opportunity to enjoy the best of Pebble Beach. $10,750,000

CYPRESS POINT RETREAT

Available for the first time in over 40 years, this rare ocean view home along the famed Cypress Point Golf Club is the perfect golfer's retreat.

Built around an expansive garden courtyard, the unique compound includes the main house, 3 detached guest suites together with a detached guest house. A one-of-a-kind property and opportunity. $8,500,000

Ocean and Golf View Opportunity

Only a handful of properties capture this ideal location along 17 Mile Drive midway between The Lodge at Pebble Beach and Carmel. With views to the beach and Carmel over the 13th hole of the Pebble Beach Golf Links, this property presents a rare opportunity to renovate or build your dream home in one of Pebble's best locations. $3,825,000

Timeless Hacienda Estate

A classic Arthur Valdes designed hacienda on over 12 acres offers complete privacy yet is only minutes to the acclaimed Santa Lucia Preserve golf course. With 5 bedrooms, 5-1/2 baths and at 7,179 square feet the home offers gracious living while maintaining an atmosphere of intimate comfort. $6,750,000

Steps to the Hacienda

Situated in a highly desired location within a minute's walk to the Ranch Club, Equestrian Center and Hacienda amenities of the Santa Lucia Preserve, this hacienda-style home is nestled among majestic valley oaks. Newly built, this distinctive home features 3 bedrooms and 3-1/2 baths. $5,395,000 seven Emmys and 12 CableACE awards. This year was his 19th as host of the ESPN Sunday NFL studio show, and his 15th as a baseball play-by-play announcer for the cable network. But his greatest fame probably comes from his years on Sportscenter (where one of his co-anchors was former Carmel resident Craig Kilborn), where his colorful nicknames for famous athletes became part of the national sports lore: Roberto "Remember the" Alomar, Bert "Be Home" Blyleven, Jim "Two Silhouettes On" Deshaies, and Fred "Crime Dog" McGriff, Andre "Bad Moon" Rison, Curtis "My Favorite" Martin, Steve "I've Got You Babe" Bono and Chris Fuamatu "Bad" Ma'afala, etc. etc.

Don Cheadle

■ Michael Bolton

One of the world's top-selling vocalists and songwriters, Bolton grew up idolizing such pioneers of R&B as Ray Charles, Otis Redding and Marvin Gaye. Blessed with an incomparable voice, Bolton has sold more than 45 million albums during his career. With two Grammys for Best Male Vocalist, six American Music Awards, a string of No. 1 hits (including more than 100 songs he has written for other world-renowned artists), sold-out concerts for millions of people around the globe and many humanitarian and industry awards to his credit, Bolton continues to captivate.

■ Tom Brady

Quarterback for the New England Patriots, Tom Brady was the MVP in both the 2002 and 2004 Super Bowls and led the team to yet another Super Bowl victory in 2005. In 2004 and 2005, his appearance at the AT&T just days after winning Super Bowls came as a major surprise to many, but not to his good friend, Pebble Beach Co. CEO Bill Perocchi. This year, if he participates, it will be after yet another Super Bowl — Feb. 3 against the New York Giants — and possibly an undefeated season. A native of San Mateo, Brady first won the NFL championship in just his second year as a starter. One of the most successful playoff quarterbacks in NFL history, Brady was the 199th pick in the 2000 NFL draft.

■ Drew Brees

Quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, he led his team to the NFC Championship last year against the Chicago Bears. He holds the record for most completions in a season by an NFL quarterback. Brees attended Purdue University and was the first pick in the second round of the 2001 NFL draft.

■ Don Cheadle

An actor who has mastered some of the most frightening roles on the silver screen, Don Cheadle was nominated for a Best Actor Academy Award in 2005 for "Hotel Rwanda." He first became well known for playing the district attorney on the television series "Picket Fences." Since then he has appeared in "Rosewood," "The Family Man," "Boogie Nights," "Out of Sight," "Traffic," and "Ocean's Eleven." He also starred in, and was one of the producers of "Crash," which won the 2006 Academy Award for Best Picture.

■ Eric Close

Co-star of the CBS drama Without a Trace (he plays FBI agent Martin Fitzgerald), Close has also appeared in the television series, "Now and Again," and "The Magnificent Seven." He also appeared in the 10-part miniseries, "Taken," which was executive produced by Steven Spielberg. His feature film credits include "Liberty, Maine," "The Sky is Falling" and "Safe House."

■ Kevin Costner

Winner of the 1991 Best Director Oscar for "Dances with Wolves," Costner has starred in more than 20 motion pictures.

Born and raised in California, Costner has a degree in marketing from Cal-State Fullerton, where a local production of "Rumpelstiltskin" started a fairy tale career that made him into one of Hollywood's all-time leading men.

His first two attention-getting movies were "The Untouchables" and "No Way Out," followed by a pair of contrasting baseball films, the iconoclastic "Bull Durham" and the inspirational hit, "Field of Dreams."

Costner then used his new Hollywood clout to make "Dances with Wolves."

His recent projects included "The Guardian," which also starred Ashton Kutcher, "Mr. Brooks," where he played a serial killer, and "Swing Vote."

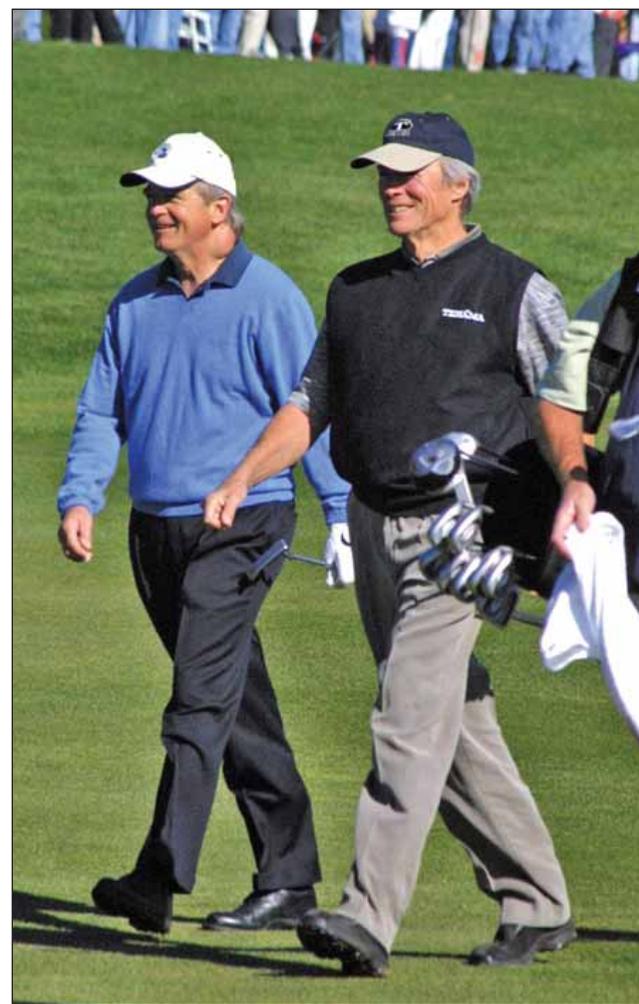

Recently he founded a rock/country band, "Kevin Costner and the Modern West," which has toured Europe. He is married to Christine Baumgartner, who has accompanied him to the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am.

■ Carson Daly

Winner of a golf scholarship to Loyola Marymount University and a one-time caddy for O.J. Simpson, Daly gained fame as host of the MTV show, "Total Request Live," and now has his own late-night talk show on NBC, "Last Call With Carson Daly," which follows Jay Leno and Conan O'Brien.

■ Tom Dreesen

A comedian who has played Vegas, Reno and Atlantic City with the likes of Liza Minelli and Sammy Davis, Jr., and who spent a decade as Frank Sinatra's opening act, has also appeared in many network television shows including more than 50 appearances on the "Tonight Show" and guest roles on TV shows such as "Columbo," "Gabriel's Fire," "Murder She Wrote" and "Touched By An Angel." To show his versatility, he once recorded a comedy album, "That White Boy's Crazy," before an all black audience. According to Dreesen, he never strayed too far from his old neighborhood, and to show appreciation, the city of Harvey, Ill. named a street after him, "Dreesen Street," on Aug. 22, 1992.

Peter Ueberroth (left) played in a foursome with former Carmel Mayor Clint Eastwood during the 2002 pro-am.

■ Clint Eastwood

Mayor of Carmel-by-the-Sea from 1986 to 1988 and supporter of numerous local charitable and conservation causes, the indefatigable Eastwood is a familiar face on the Monterey Peninsula. Winner of Best Director and Best Actor Oscars for "Unforgiven" (1992), and Best Actor and Best Picture Oscars for "Million Dollar Baby" (2004), Eastwood has appeared in, produced and/or directed more than 50 motion pictures, beginning with "Revenge of the Creature" in 1955. Last year his movie, "Letters From Iwo Jima," a companion piece to "Flags of Our Fathers," was nominated for Best Picture and Best Director Academy Awards. "Million Dollar Baby," starring Hilary Swank and Morgan Freeman, won four Academy Awards in 2005. His latest project is "The Changeling," starring Angelina Jolie, which recently completed filming. In 2000, he was honored by President Bill Clinton with the Kennedy Center Medal for his lifetime achievements in the arts. Eastwood, a co-owner of the Pebble Beach Company, is chairman of the board of the Monterey Peninsula Foundation, the charity group that hosts the AT&T Pro-Am. He lives in Pebble Beach with his wife, Dina Ruiz Eastwood, and their daughter, Morgan.

■ Glenn Frey

As a founding member of the Eagles, which has triumphantly toured the world during the last two years, Frey helped create a new genre of rock 'n' roll music with such hits as "Hotel California" and "Lyin' Eyes."

His solo career, with songs like "The Heat is On," (from the movie "Beverly Hills Cop") and "Smuggler's Blues" (a spin-off from "Miami Vice"), has also been successful.

Frey is also an accomplished actor, having been featured in such television shows as "Miami Vice," "Wise Guy," "South of Sunset" and "Nash Bridges." He also appeared in "Jerry Maguire," as an NFL general manager.

■ Kenny G

Legendary saxophonist and the best-selling instrumentalist/musician in the world, Kenny G has been a constant presence on the Billboard charts for more than 15 years. His career as a saxophonist began at 17 when he backed up Barry White in a concert in Seattle, Kenny G's home town. When he signed his first recording contract in 1982, a new era in instrumental music was born.

■ Danny Gans

One of the most successful headliners in Las Vegas, Danny Gans is a singer and comedian who has found success as a musical impressionist. At one time, Gans was a professional baseball player, playing for the Durham Bulls, and later holding a small role as a third baseman in the film Bull Durham. After an injury ended his sporting career, Gans turned to the entertainment industry. Gans began his career on the road, performing mostly at private corporate functions. In 1995, he moved to Broadway to perform a well-received one-man show, but then decided to move to Las Vegas to reduce time away from his family, which lived in Los Angeles.

Gans started his Las Vegas stay at the Stratosphere Hotel in 1996. He moved to the Rio Hotel shortly thereafter, and then on to The Mirage in 1997. Gans is a permanent performer at The Mirage, where the Danny Gans Theater was built for him. The Las Vegas Strip marquee now bearing Danny Gans' image is the largest freestanding marquee in the world.

■ Andy Garcia

Born in Cuba in 1956, Garcia's family fled to Miami Beach after Castro came to power. He studied acting in Florida before heading to Los Angeles, where his first role was as a gang member on the first episode of "Hill Street Blues." Garcia later starred in "The Untouchables," "The Godfather, Part III," "Desperate Measures" and "Ocean's Eleven."

■ Thomas Gibson

The star of the CBS prime time drama, "Criminal Minds," Thomas Gibson previously starred in "Dharma and Greg," a five-year hit for ABC, and "Chicago Hope." In 1980, while a college intern at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, Gibson was encouraged to apply to the Juilliard School in New York. After winning a scholarship to the world-famous school, he began his acting career on the stage. His film career began with the 1992 Ron Howard film, "Far and Away." He also appeared on television in "The Kennedys of Massachusetts,"

"Tales of the City," and "A Will of Their Own.

■ Bob Griese

Known as the "thinking man's quarterback" during his brilliant 14-year NFL career with the Miami Dolphins (1967-1980), Bob Griese was renowned for his poised leadership and ingenious play-calling during the Dolphins' dominance of the NFL in the early 1970s. He led the Dolphins to three straight Super Bowl appearances and back-to-back Championships in '72 and '73. This year marks the 30th anniversary of the 1972 Miami Dolphins' perfect 17-0 season. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990.

Now one of network television's most respected football analysts, Bob Griese is in his 21st year of broadcasting and his 16th year as expert commentator on ABC's coverage of College Football. He was a top analyst for NBC Sports' NFL coverage from 1982 through 1986.

Griese has three sons, the youngest of whom is Brian, who is a quarterback for the Chicago Bears. Bob and Brian are co-authors of the inspirational book, "Undeclared."

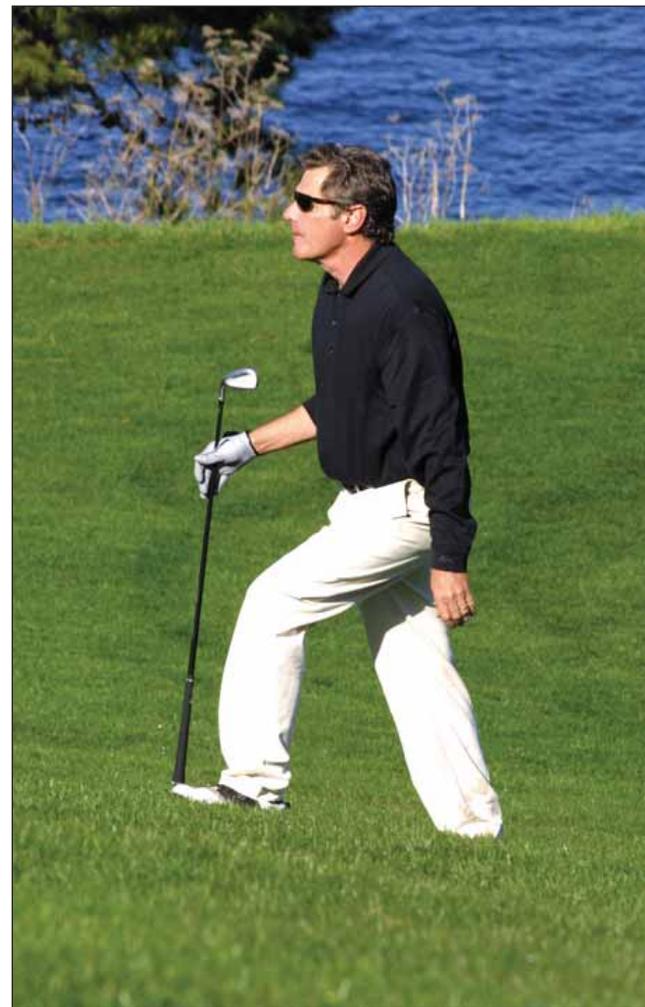

■ Thomas Hampson

Perhaps the biggest heartthrob in the world of opera, Thomas Hampson is also considered the leading baritone of his generation. Originally from Spokane, Washington, America's leading baritone, Thomas Hampson enjoys an international career that has taken him to all the world's most prestigious stages and concert halls and has made him one of today's most sought-after soloists.

Among his recent portrayals have been the title role in William Tell (Vienna), Eugene Onegin (Vienna & Paris), in Ambroise Thomas' Hamlet (Monte Carlo and San Francisco), and in the rarely heard baritone version of Massenet's Werther (New York). His recordings have won numerous outstanding international awards, as well as six Grammy nominations.

■ Kevin James

Comedian Kevin James starred as Doug Heffernan, the hardworking parcel delivery man who loves his big screen TV as much as his beautiful wife on the prime-time CBS comedy "The King of Queens," which had its final episode last May. James is a native of Stony Brook, Long Island. He was born on April 26, 1965, and attended Cortland State University in N.Y. for three years and then got his hit, "Do You Believe in Love?" and was followed by five other top-20 recordings. Lewis also recorded the theme song, "The Power of Love," for the movie "Back to the Future."

■ George Lopez

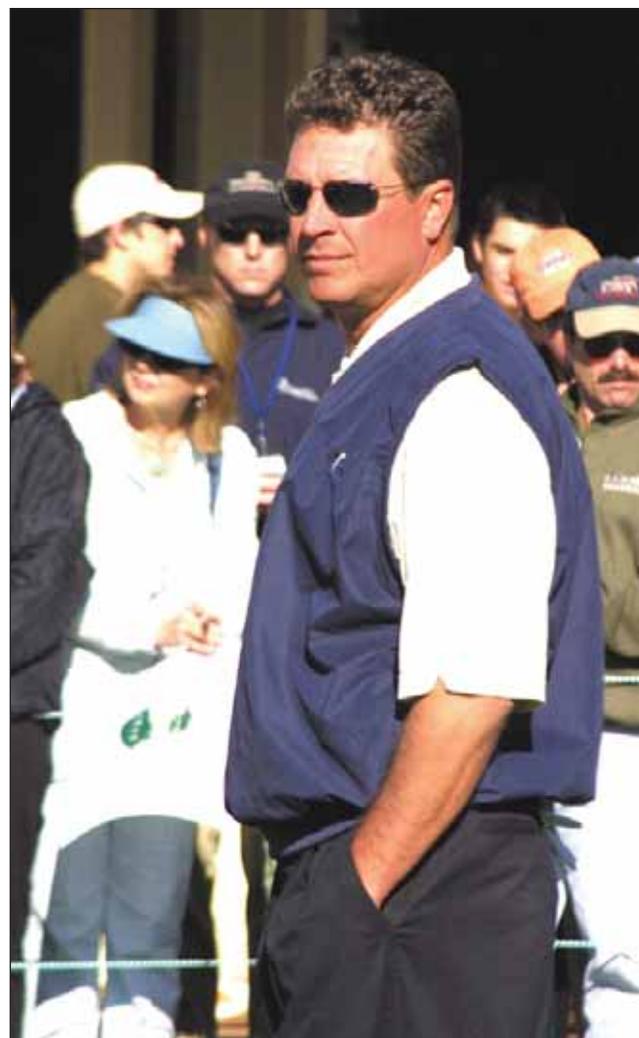

The multit talented George Lopez stars, writes and co-produces the ABC Wednesday night sitcom, "George Lopez," which is a hit with critics and viewers. Lopez performs on stage, film and television and has earned kudos for his performance in the HBO Films drama, "Real Women Have Curves." Previously, Lopez was featured in the acclaimed drama "Bread and Roses." The film, directed by British filmmaker Ken Loach, received critical acclaim after its premiere at the Cannes Film Festival. Lopez also appeared in the Showtime film, "Fidel," and the comedy "Frank McKluskey, C.I." for Disney. His numerous television credits include appearances on "The Tonight Show," "Good Morning America," "The View," "Live with Regis and Kelly," "The Late Late Show with Craig Kilborn" and "Resurrection Boulevard." He frequently hosts Univision's "Loco Comedy Jam."

■ Dan Marino

A Hall of Fame NFL quarterback and one of the most prolific quarterbacks in the history of the game, Dan Marino holds or has held almost every major NFL passing record and played in nine Pro Bowls. He appeared in "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective," with Jim Carey and even guest-starred as himself in an episode of the Simpsons.

■ Al Michaels

Currently employed by NBC on its Sunday night football games, alongside John Madden, Al Michaels was with ABC Sports for nearly thirty years. One of the most recognizable and classiest voices in broadcasting, Michaels is perhaps best known for his broadcast of the 1980 U.S. vs. U.S.S.R. Olympic hockey game from Lake Placid, New York, known as the Miracle on Ice. With time expiring on the Americans' 4-3 win, Michaels culminated the broadcast by saying, "Do you believe in miracles? Yes!" He was also on the air from San Francisco's Candlestick Park on October 17, 1989, getting ready to broadcast a World Series game between the San Francisco Giants and the Oakland A's when the Loma Prieta earthquake struck. Barely hesitating, he told his viewers, "I'll tell you what ... we're having an earthquake!"

■ Craig T. Nelson

Star of the CBS show, "The District," where he portrayed Chief Jack Mannion, Craig Richard Nelson was born April 4, 1946, in Spokane, Wash. He attended the University of Arizona and studied acting at the Oxford Theater in Los Angeles. Nelson began his career working with Barry Levinson as a radio writer/performer and standup comic. He added the "T" to his name because there was another actor registered with the Screen Actor's Guild that had the same name. His previous prime-time show, "Coach," was a major hit from 1989 to 1997.

■ Chris O'Donnell

A native of Winnetka, Ill., O'Donnell is best known for his portrayal of Robin in "Batman Forever" and "Batman and Robin," and for "Scent of a Woman," which earned him a Best Supporting Actor Oscar nomination. He also got highly favorable reviews for "The Three Musketeers" in 1993. Recently, he appeared in "Vertical Limit," "29 Palms" and "Kinsey."

■ Stone Phillips

Former co-anchor of Dateline NBC, Phillips' athletic career peaked in college at Yale, where he was starting quarterback. Since graduating with a degree in philosophy, he has focussed on journalism, getting his first big break when he joined the ABC news-magazine, 20/20, in 1986.

■ Ray Romano

Ray Romano was star of the hit CBS comedy, "Everybody Loves Raymond," which finished a nine-year run as prime time's highest-rated comedy last Spring — the same year it won an Emmy for Best Comedy. Born in 1957 in New York City, Romano, who became one of the nation's highest

ERIC L. MARSH

As an independent Real Estate Broker with over 30 years of practical experience, I've learned I don't need all the sales. I've provided a full range of residential real estate services including estate management, to hundreds of customers and clients, a few people at a time. This has allowed me to give them and their property the care and attention they deserve. I answer my own phone and handle all the paperwork personally - so you don't have to rely on, or deal with automated phone systems, well intentioned staff or assistants. My only goal is to "Provide Personalized Service with Professional Care" and ample business has always followed - one good deal at a time.

paid actors, originally planned to become an accountant.

■ Kelly Slater

An eight-time world surfing champion, Kelly Slater is considered the most successful professional surfer in the history of the sport.

In May 2005 in the final of the Billabong Tahiti Pro surfing contest, Slater became the first to score two perfect 10 rides.

He has also been successful in other fields. In 1992-3, Slater acted on Baywatch.

A videogame. Kelly Slater's Pro Surfer, was released. In 2003, he published an autobiography called, "Pipe Dreams: A Surfer's Journey."

In 2004 Slater, who has modeled for Versace, was chosen by People magazine as one of the 50 Most Beautiful People in the World.

■ Emmitt Smith

Just 5' 9" tall, Emmitt Smith is one of football's preeminent players and the all-time leading runner, having rushed for 18,355 yard, including 164 touchdowns in 13 seasons with the Dallas Cowboys and two with the Arizona Cardinals. Smith is the only player in NFL history to win the rushing title and the Super Bowl in the same season."

■ Lynn Swann

A Pro Football Hall of Fame member and former wide receiver, Swann played for the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1974 to 1982 — a span during which the Steelers won six straight AFC titles and four Super Bowls. In his career, Swann had 336 receptions for 5,462 yards and 51 touchdowns.

■ Clay Walker

Singer/guitarist and one of the U.S.A.'s biggest Country and Western stars, Clay Walker began performing professionally at 16 in his native Beaumont, Texas. In the fall of 1993 his first single, "What's It To You," went straight to number one on the charts. His biggest selling albums are "Say No More" and "Live Laugh Love." Walker is considered a modest individual and says he sees himself in the face of each and every fan. "When we make records," he says, "it's final. The records will always be the same, but it's the fans who give life to the music. On stage, you know immediately if you are really reaching people."

PENINSULA GOLF TOUR

The Monterey Peninsula presents a golfer's heaven

WHILE GOLF fans everywhere revere the famed Pebble Beach Golf Links and fantasize about playing there, they may not realize the Monterey Peninsula is home to hundreds of fairways and greens suitable for all ability levels and budgets. Whether you're a scratch golfer hungry for a challenge, or a hacker simply interested in having a good time, there's a course worthy of your time, money and effort.

■ Bayonet and Black Horse, Seaside

Created in Fort Ord's heyday for military use, these two courses now belong to the City of Seaside. Though they underwent renovation several years ago, they are now being completely redesigned by Gene Bates, and so far Bayonet's new Front 9 have been completed. Its Back 9 remain unchanged for the moment, and Black Horse is completely off-limits, with its new Back 9 set to reopen this summer, and its Front 9 under construction. Gen. Robert McClure, original designer of Bayonet in 1954, was known for his left-handed slice and designed the holes accordingly, with the severe doglegs on the course running right to left. The course was named for the 7th Infantry Light Fighter Division, nicknamed the Bayonet Division, and was infamous for its grueling Holes 11 through 15, known as Combat Corner. Gen. Edwin Carns designed Black Horse in 1963, and it was bestowed with the nickname of the 11th Calvary Regiment, which had been stationed on the other side of the bay at the Presidio of Monterey from 1919 to 1940. The courses have hosted the PGA's Qualifying School and the AT&T's companion event, the First Tee Open. Course records include a 65 by Notah Begay on Bayonet and a 64 on Black Horse by Ted Oh. The courses are located at 1 McClure Way in Seaside on the former Fort Ord. Green fees run $77 to $128 (higher on weekends and holidays, and top rate includes a cart), with twilight rates of $57 to $67 available after 2:30 p.m. daily. Discount rates available to juniors (17 and under) and seniors (60 and older). Carts available for $26 to $36. Call (831) 899-7271 (PAR-1) or visit www.bayonetblackhorse.com.

by golf-course designer Gene Bates, the course created by Pete Dye and built in 1981 reopened to great fanfare and much anticipation on the part of its members and guests. The stunning course sits just east of Mid Carmel Valley along the Carmel River and runs up the base of nearby hills. C.V. Ranch, now a Luxury Resorts & Hotels property, seeks to offer the quintessential private country club experience to players. Pro Bobby Clampett held the record of 63 with player Mark Brooks on the 6,201-yard par 70 course for several years but was unseated by Kevin Streelman, who shot a 60 there in 2006. Green fees run $200. Carmel Valley Ranch is located at One Old Ranch Road, off of Carmel Valley Road just east of Mid Valley Shopping Center. For more information, call (831) 626-2510 or visit www.carmelvalleyranch.com.

■ Corral de Tierra Country Club, Salinas

"After walking 18 — and yes, the members believe that walking is the best way to experience Corral de Tierra — unwinding on the patio allows time to 'replay' the round ... and refine your excuses. The wonderful views of the hills while you do so will reaffirm the wisdom of your decision to invest time in yourself.... at Corral de Tierra Country Club," entices this club's website. The private 6,683-yard par 72 course, situated off the Monterey-Salinas Highway and graced with some of the best weather on the Peninsula, was designed by Bob Baldock in 1960. It was redesigned in 1999 and 2000 by J. Michael Poellot, and now offers the added challenges of a multitude of bunkers. Its gentle elevation changes and tree-lined fairways also make it a great walking course. It has served as a site for U.S. Open qualifying rounds. Course record 63 shot "by several players," according to the Northern California Golf Association. Corral de Tierra is located a few miles east of Los Laureles Grade on Highway 68 (Monterey-Salinas Highway), and is open only to members and guests. Inquire about reciprocal agreements with other private clubs. Guest fees, $70-$125; cart fee, $36. For information, call (831) 484-1112 or visit www.corraldetierracc.com.

■ Cypress Point Club, Pebble Beach

Designed in 1928 by renowned course architect Alister MacKenzie, the 6,509-yard, par 72 Cypress Point course is known all over the world, in part for its breathtaking par 3 16th Hole that entices braver players to fire their tee-shots over the ocean. Golfer

Marion Hollins first conceived of the idea in 1924 and pursued the development of a first-class golf course and a clubhouse containing a handful of sleeping rooms. Membership would be limited to 200 people who would pay about $2,500 (in 1924 dollars) to subscribe. The club, which in the past hosted the Walker Cup, is open only to members and their guests. Longtime PGA Class A golf pro Jim Langley

■ Del Monte Golf Course

Nicknamed "Old Del Monte," and sometimes merely "Old D," by locals, the Del Monte Golf Course was designed by golf and polo enthusiast Charles Maud and built in 1897, making it the oldest continuously operated course west of the Mississippi River.

(The course at the Presidio in San Francisco was built a year earlier but was temporarily converted to a drill field during the Spanish-American War.) Owned and operated by the Pebble Beach Company, Old Del Monte — 6,365 yards from the blue tees, par 72 — is open to the public and is home to the Monterey Bay Golf Club, founded in 1932. In 2006, Nick Watney unseated longtime record holders Ken Venturi and Todd Gjesvold by one stroke to set the new low score of 61. Del Monte was the original host of the California State Amateur and still hosts the annual Callaway Golf Pebble Beach Invitational and The First Tee Open each fall. Green fee are $110, regardless of whether you're staying at a resort, with discounts available online and as part of the annual

■ Laguna Seca Golf Ranch, Monterey

Robert Trent Jones Sr. and Robert Trent Jones Jr. designed this public course together in 1970 in their first joint venture, which yielded "18 beautiful holes that follow the natural terrain of the oak-studded coastal hills along the Monterey-Salinas corridor." Johnny Miller once held the record 64 on its 6,174-yards but relinquished that distinction to Mark Darby, who beat him by one shot for a total 8-under-par score of 63 a few years ago. The course is located off of Highway 68 east of the Monterey Airport and can be reached by turning north on York Road and following it to the end. Rates range from $35 to $65, depending on the time of day. Cart fee is $36. Thirteen-acre natural grass practice facility and Cobra golf club rentals also available. For information, call (831) 373-3701 or visit www.lagunasecagolf.com, which also features online specials.

■ Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Pebble Beach

The idea of Monterey Peninsula Country Club first arose in 1925 when Sam Morse, James Habbord and Thorwell Mullally decided to combine a golf club with housing. Two courses make up MPCC: The Dunes Course was designed by Seth Raynor in 1926, and redesigned by Rees Jones, and the Shore Course, designed by Bob Baldock in 1961, was recently remodeled by architect Michael Strantz. Open only to members and their guests, the Dunes course runs a 6,762-yard par 72. The Shore Course underwent major reconstruction that kept it closed for 18 months, but it reopened in June 2005 with a par-72 yardage of 6,806. For more information, call the pro shop at (831) 372-8141.

■ Monterey Pines Golf Course, Monterey

"On behalf of the Monterey Pines Golf Course staff, welcome to the friendliest golf facility on the Monterey Peninsula," the Naval Postgraduate School website greets visitors. "We ask you to relax and enjoy the amenities along with our quality patron service. Our staff looks forward to showing you our commitment to excellence." Golfers who get a rush from being directly under the flight path of a regional airport — and who are looking for one of the best deals in town — should put in a round at the U.S. Navy's golf course. Home to the NPS Golf Club, the short 5,629-yard par 68 Monterey Pines — owned by the U.S. Navy and situated behind the fairgrounds in Monterey — is also open to the public for ridiculously low rates. But the course is not without its darker stories, including the crash-landing of a Cessna on the 6th Fairway in September 2003 (no golfers were involved). Robert Muir Graves designed the course in 1963, and the record 63 is held by Peter Nilles. Green fees, $13-$27, and tee times may be reserved a certain number of days in advance, with preference given to military. Cart fee is $13-$20, and the facility includes two practice greens and a driving range, snack bar and pro shop. The course is located at Garden and Fairgrounds Road in Monterey, near the Monterey Airport. For more information, call the golf shop at (831) 656-2167 or visit www.nps.edu/adminsrv/mwr/golf/index.htm.

■ Pacific Grove Golf Links, Pacific Grove

Affectionately known as the "Poor Man's Pebble Beach," and ranked among Golf Magazine's Top 50 Golf Courses Under $50, P.G. features a truly links-style back nine. ("Links" is an old Scottish word for "wasteland.") Designed by Jack Neville — who also designed Pebble Beach Golf Links — and H. Chandler Egan in 1932 on land the city bought from Pebble Beach Company founder Sam Morse, this 5,732-yard par 70 public course is situated on prime real estate near Asilomar State Beach and surrounds the historic Point Pinos Lighthouse. The ocean scenery is unsurpassed, and the highly regarded Zagat Survey selected it as one of the best courses in the country in 2003. To illustrate the increasing popularity of the game and the city's course, which was originally 9 holes, P.G. officials cite financial reports from the 1947/1948 fiscal year that indicated 49,986 individual 9-hole rounds were played and revenues were $21,618, and the 2002/2003 fiscal year, which saw 82,330 rounds played and $1,528,841 in fees. The new clubhouse, located at 77 Asilomar Blvd. in Pacific Grove, was completed in February 2006, and its restaurant is run by the owners of the beloved Red House Cafe downtown. Course record 60 shared by Casey Boyns, Rich Hunter and Peter Vitarisi, who retired as longtime concessionaire when the city took over management of the links this year. Green fees are $35-$40, with discounts for 9-hole play, twilight rounds and junior players 17 and under; cart fee, $20-$30. Club rentals and lessons also available. Call the golf shop at (831) 648-5777 or visit www.ci.pg.ca.us/golf/default.htm for more information.

■ Pasadera Country Club, Monterey

One of the newest additions to premier golf courses on the Peninsula, Pasadera opened in spring 2000, just a few months before the U.S. Open was played at the Pebble Beach Golf Links. Pasadera launched under the leadership of partners Fred Bates, Lee

The Pacific Grove Golf Links wrap around the city's lighthouse, which is the oldest lighthouse in the western United States.

Newell and Tom deRegt, and Paul Spengler, executive vice president of the Pebble Beach Company, is a managing partner. "The original landscape at Pasadera provided a unique opportunity to create a dramatic layout that incorporates selected design features reminiscent of the world's most revered layouts. The course evokes similarities to The Old Course at Saint Andrews, Augusta National, Pine Valley and Pebble Beach, which are arguably four of my favorite courses in the world. It is my hope that golfers will enjoy the subtleties that Pasadera has to offer from the opening tee shot to the final putt," according to Jack Nicklaus, who designed the 6,743-yard par 71 course open only to members and their guests. Capitalizing on the existing hills, canyons and old oak groves, Nicklaus used natural-style bunkering and took advantage of splendid hazards, such as the awe-inspiring par 3 over a deep chasm. Fred Shoemaker holds the course record 67. Located at 100 Pasadera Drive off Highway 68, Pasadera lies just east of Laguna Seca Golf Ranch and west of the world-famous race track by the same name. ■ Pebble Beach Golf Links, Pebble Beach Situated on scenic coastal land originally slated for housing developments, Pebble Beach opened to the public in 1919 and is considered one of the greatest courses in the world. The 6,726-yard, par-72 course was designed by Jack Neville and Douglas Grant, but Jack Nicklaus designed the par-3 5th Hole dedicated in November 1998. Pebble Beach has been the site of four U.S. Open Championships and was ranked the No. 1 Public Course in America by "Golf Digest" in 2005 and again in 2007. "Since 1919, the exquisite beauty and unique challenge of Pebble Beach Golf Links have thrilled golfers and spectators alike," according to the resort. Although the course is open to the public, priority is given to resort guests. Green fees are $475, which includes a cart for resort guests. Carts for non-resort guests are extra, and caddies are also available for a fee. For more information, call golf reservations at (800) 645-9300 or visit www.pebblebeach.com.

■ Peter Hay, Pebble Beach

The only executive-length course on the Peninsula — called so because it's made up entirely of par-3 holes and thus can be played during a lunch hour — Peter Hay features a compact 9 holes spanning from 58 to 74 yards in length. The charming course is perfect, "whether you are working on your short game or teaching your children the game of golf." It's also home to the 30,000-pound sculpture, "Encircling Centuries of Excellence," created by Richard MacDonald for the 2000 U.S. Open. The course, open to the public for $20 all day for adults, $5 for kids 17-13, free for those 12 and under, and the Pebble Beach gate fee will be reimbursed with the purchase of one green fee. It is named after one of Pebble Beach's favorite figures, Peter Hay, who was born in Aberdeen on Feb. 4, 1885, arrived at Del Monte in 1916 and became Pebble Beach's longtime golf professional. For more information, call (831) 622-8723.

■ Poppy Hills Golf Course, Pebble Beach

Commissioned by the Northern California Golf Association, the 6,833-yard par 72 Poppy Hills was designed by Robert Trent Jones Jr. in 1986 and is open to the public. In 1991, Poppy Hills became one of the three courses hosting each year's AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am. PGA Tour statistics in 2006 affirmed its 5th Hole as "the toughest on tour," and Poppy is known for its undulating fairways, challenging elevation changes and other characteristics designed to force golfers to carefully calculate their shots. Green fees, $55-$200; cart fee, $34. The course, the first in the United States to be owned and operated by an amateur golf association, is located at 3200 Lopez Road in Pebble Beach. For reservations, call (831) 625-2035 or visit www.poppyhills.com.

■ Quail Lodge Resort and Golf Club, Carmel Valley

"A round of golf on our scenic Carmel Valley golf course is so relaxing, the wildlife may ask to play through. Go ahead and let them — when you're surrounded by hills and lakes this beautiful, it seems a shame to rush," crow the people at Quail. The 6,449-yard par 71 Quail Lodge course — abundant with 10 lakes and lush, colorful landscaping — was designed in 1963 by Robert Muir Graves. It was honored by "Golf for Women" as one of America's most friendly facilities. Pro Bobby Clampett shares the course record 62 with Lennie Clements. The course is open to members and their guests. Green fees, including carts and range balls, run $140-$200, depending on day of week and time of year. Reduced rates available for 9 holes and twilight play, as well as for juniors (17 and under). Practice facilities include a seven-acre driving range, a bunker, chipping areas and a 6,500-square-foot bent grass putting green. Resort guests also have access to the 9-hole executive putting course near the Quail Lodge guest rooms. Located at 8000 Valley Greens Way, the course features a redesigned clubhouse and a restaurant, Edgar's, named for the lodge's late founder. For more information, contact the golf shop at (831) 620-8808 or visit www.quailodge.com.

■ Rancho Cañada Golf Club, Carmel Valley

Situated along the Carmel River and on surrounding lands, Rancho Cañada features two 18-hole courses: the 6,349-yard par 71 West course and the 6,109-yard par 71 East course. Pro golfer Sam Snead once said the 15th Hole on Rancho Cañada's West course was the narrowest hole he had ever played. Both designed by Robert Dean Putnam in 1970, the East and West courses are open to the public and are located at 4860 Carmel Valley Road in Carmel Valley, just a few miles from the coast. Green fees, $36-$70; cart fees, $36. Contact the golf shop at (831) 624-0111 or visit www.ranchocanada.com for more information.

■ Spyglass Hill Golf Course, Pebble Beach

Designed by Robert Trent Jones Sr. in 1966 as part of the master plan for the Pebble Beach ocean front, this resort/semiprivate course measures 6,862 yards at par 72 and takes its name from Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island." Local legend has it he spent time walking in the area while brainstorming, and many of its holes bear notable names, such as Black Dog and Billy Bones. The year after the course was completed, Spyglass replaced Monterey Peninsula Country Club's Dunes Course in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament in 1967 and has been part of the tournament — now the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am — ever since. In 2003-2004, Golf Digest ranked it No. 5 on its list of America's 100 Greatest Public Courses. It is also one of the toughest, but the record 64 held by Dan Forsman and David Berganio fell in 2006 with Phil Mickelson's blistering 62, a feat mirrored by Luke Donald. According to the resort, "the first five holes roll through sandy seaside dunes challenging the golfer to carefully pick the safest path. The following 13 holes are cut through majestic pines with elevated greens and strategically placed bunkers and lakes to grab the errant shot." Green fees are $315 (including cart, for resort for resort guests). Carts ($60) and/or caddies available. The course is located at Stevenson Drive and Spyglass Hill Road in Pebble Beach. For reservations, call (800) 654-9300 or visit www.pebblebeach.com.

■ Tehama Golf Club, Carmel Valley

Jay Moorish, who also designed Shadow Glen in Kansas City, Troon and Troon North in Scottsdale and Loch Lomond in Scotland, created this 6,498-yard par 71 course high in the hills above Carmel Valley. According to Tehama, "the tranquility and natural beauty of the land, combined with this time-honored game, provides the golfer a surreal hide-away." Owned by former Carmel Mayor Clint Eastwood, the course opened for private play in 1999 and climbs 200 feet in elevation during its 18 holes, six of which are uphill. Members and guests only. For more information about Tehama, which is located at 25000 Via Malpaso off Carmel Valley Road, contact the golf shop at (831) 622-2250 or visit www.tehamagolfclub.com.

■ The Links at Spanish Bay, Pebble Beach

"Spanish Bay recalls the original Scottish concept of the game golf established over five hundred years ago ... Here, the golf course provides you with the choice of using your regular shot or a low, running shot to play the firm turf while keeping the ball under the steady ocean breezes," according to P.B. Resorts. Open for public play, the 6,821-yard par 72 Spanish Bay links were jointly designed by Robert Trent Jones, Jr., former USGA president Sandy Tatum and Tom Watson, who once remarked, "Spanish Bay is so much like Scotland, you can almost hear the bagpipes." "Links" refers to the old Scottish term for a sandy seaside wasteland with bristly grasses and stiff prevailing winds, and the Monterey coastline is reminiscent of the rugged beauty of that country. The course overlays land once occupied by a sand mine and included extensive rehabilitation of the dunes and native plants in the area. Guest fees are $250 (for resort guests, this rate includes a cart). Carts ($30) and caddies available. The course is located at 2700 17 Mile Drive in Pebble Beach. For reservations, call (800) 654-9300 or visit www.pebblebeach.com, and remember to listen for the bagpiper who notifies golfers that the day's play is coming to an end.

■ The Preserve Golf Club, Carmel Valley

Tom Fazio designed this private, 6,974-yard par 72 course located among the "stands of massive ancient oaks, beautiful rolling meadows, ponds and streams" deep within the Santa Lucia Preserve and highlighted by the spectacular Santa Lucia Mountains. Fazio commented, "It's as if you are going on a grand hike and happen to have a golf club in your hand." The course opened in 1999, with membership limited to 300 owners of property within the preserve's gates. Contact (831) 626-8200 for more information or register at www.santaluciapreserve.com for information.
