Handgun suicide at a playground

By KELLY NIX

IN A Pacific Grove park, as young children played nearby, a 34-year-old Stockton woman shot herself to death in a public restroom last week.

Alicia Austin used a handgun to end her life at about 8:05 p.m. in a bathroom at George Washington Park, according to Pacific Grove Police. Numerous young children and teenagers were in the park at the time.

A body discovered

"We received a call of a shot heard in the area of George Washington Park," said police Cmdr. Tom Uretsky. "As one of our officers was responding to that, he saw some juveniles running out of the park. They had gone into the restroom and had found the victim there."

Austin, who Uretsky said was "very mentally ill and despondent," had been visiting the Peninsula for a family reunion. The location of her suicide was apparently chosen arbitrarily.

"She didn't know George Washington Park from Asilomar Beach," he said.

Uretsky said it took a couple of days to track down Austin's husband to notify him of his wife's suicide.

Although the bullet didn't travel outside the restroom,

A Stockton woman shot herself in a restroom at Pacific Grove's George Washington Park last Friday while children played nearby.

Uretsky said the incident was potentially dangerous to those in the park at the time because of the possibility of ricochet. The restrooms at the park are next to the playground.

A woman told The Pine Cone her 6-year-old son and 5-year-old daughter were playing in the park with their friends — two boys ages 6 and 7 — and the boys' father,

Leadership void looms for CFD

By MARY BROWNFIELD

IF THE Monterey Fire Department takes over Pacific Grove Fire, and P.G. firefighters become employees of the City of Monterey, Carmel will lose the services of fire chiefs it has had under a contract with Pacific Grove for more than three years, according to Monterey Fire Chief Sam Mazza.

He anticipated the takeover could be in place in October, by which time Carmel will have to have a plan for fire department leadership.

The city has a $135,000 contract with Pacific Grove for the services of chief Andrew Miller, assistant chief Dave Brown and a fire marshal, and also pays MFD $20,000 annually to have its supervisors respond to major emergencies in town.

"We are probably not interested in providing similar services long-term to Carmel," Mazza said of the chief contract.

Instead, he would rather the city fully join Monterey and Pacific Grove to form a single Peninsula fire department, as contemplated in a study commissioned by the three cities that was released last summer.

Alternatively, Carmel could contract with Monterey, in Bath House to get major re-do

By KELLY NIX

THE Pacific Grove City Council Wednesday gave its stamp of approval for a complete remodel of the Old Bath House Restaurant — a landmark vacant since 2005 — and a revitalization of Lovers Point Park.

Asking few questions, council members unanimously approved the plan, which includes increasing the eatery's capacity, installing new public restrooms, leasing a recreational space downstairs and making the restaurant and park compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

"We think we have come up with a good plan," said Robert Enea, the developer who presented the concept to the council.

The Danville developer, who recently reopened the Lighthouse Cinema, told the council he's negotiating with the popular

P.G. restaurant Passionfish to operate the Old Bath House eatery.

The plan also calls for expansion of the restaurant from 92 to 128 seats, the addition of a 570-square-foot outdoor seating deck and ADA improvements within the restaurant, including a wheelchair lift, bathrooms and seating configuration.

"There are certain connections from the street to areas of the park that we will be working on" for ADA access, Enea told The Pine Cone.

In 2003, a woman sued the restaurant over the accessibility of the building and other city properties for disabled people.

Eliminating an eyesore

The concept also includes demolishing the Lovers Point public restrooms, which mayor Dan Cort called an "eyesore," and installing new ones on the first floor of the restaurant.

Council members liked the proposal. Councilwoman Susan Nilmeier said she was glad to see the public restrooms demolished.

"I love this concept," said councilwoman Lisa

C.V. incorporation drive faces new lawsuit threat

By CHRIS COUNTS

OPPONENTS OF the drive to make Carmel Valley a town warned the Monterey County Local Agency Formation Commission this week that any attempt to put the incorporation issue on the ballot without updating financial studies and resolving boundary disputes will result in legal action.

Attorney Frank Lunding and others made the threat at this week's LAFCO meeting in Salinas. The opponents' comments came in response to a decision May 2 by Monterey County Superior Court Judge Lydia Villarreal that incorporation of the valley does not require an Environmental Impact Report.

"LAFCO has a responsibility to bring honest and timely numbers to the voters," Lunding explained. "If they just proceed ahead without those numbers, they're not doing their job."

Lunding also insisted the proposed boundaries of incorporation — based on the Carmel Valley Master Plan and stretching about 11 miles from the mouth of the valley to Carmel Valley Village — must be revised as well. He argued that the Barnyard and Crossroads shopping centers are included only to generate revenue.

"You can't include an area in the new city if the sole reason is for its economic benefit," he said.

SUNSET CENTER MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR LEIDIG

A PUBLIC memorial service for Ted Leidig will be held in the theater at Sunset Center at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, May 29. The Rev. Norm Mowery of the Church of the Wayfarer will lead the service, which will take place at Sunset to accommodate the many people expected to pay their respects to Leidig, a longtime Peninsula resident, prominent Carmel property owner and restaurateur, and generous supporter of numerous charitable efforts. Leidig, who is survived by his adult children, wife, young daughter and twin toddler sons, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound while in the family's cabin in a remote area of Carmel Valley late last Wednesday morning. A private service has already been held.

Merv Griffin's C.V. estate sold

AFTER BEING on the market off-and-on for eight years, Merv Griffin's 57-acre property in the hills above Carmel Valley Village was sold May 13 for $3.2 million.

The expansive property, where Griffin entertained Hollywood legends such as Cary Grant, Lucille Ball and Ava Gardner, contains 11 bedrooms and 11 bathrooms.

Griffin, who died of prostate cancer last August, bought the property in 1972. It was originally listed for $8 million. Two years ago, the asking price was down to $6.2 million.

The buyer is TMK Trust of Henderson, Nev. Griffin, a longtime talk show host on CBS and in syndication, was born in San Mateo in 1925 and began his career as a singer. Later, he invented the game shows, "Wheel of Fortune" and "Jeopardy." When he sold his production company to Coca Cola in 1986 for $250 million, he became one of the world's richest entertainers, which enabled him to assemble a real estate empire that included hotels in Beverly Hills, Palm Springs and Ireland, and an Atlantic City casino.

Memorial Day ceremony

THE CITY of Carmel-by-the-Sea and American Legion Post 512 will present a Memorial Day ceremony in Devendorf Park Monday, May 26, to honor fallen soldiers.

The ringing of the World War I Memorial Bell in the arch in the middle of Ocean Avenue at San Carlos Street will mark the start of the ceremony at 11 a.m., with speeches by Mayor McCloud and other local dignitaries to follow.

American Legion Post 512, located on Dolores Street between Eighth and Ninth avenues, will host a reception afterward. For more information, contact the legion at (831) 624-9941 or the city at (831) 620-2020.

The holiday weekend also marks the unofficial start of summer, with many people hitting the road and otherwise celebrating the arrival of the sunny season.

With that in mind, California Highway Patrol officers will be out in force beginning Friday, May 23, until midnight on Monday, looking for drunken drivers and other violators. Every available officer will be put to work, according to Jim Covello, CHP public information officer for the Monterey region.

During last year's Memorial Day "maximum enforcement period," 37 people died in collisions on California roadways, and CHP officers arrested 1,614 motorists for driving under the influence, according to the state agency.

Randi Greene

The New York Times once published a profile of Carmel that said it may be the only community in America that numbers its trees but not its houses. Quirky, perhaps, but it was a drive to protect the trees that led the colorful Bohemians of the artists' colony in 1916 to incorporate the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea. They wanted to make a law to keep people from cutting trees. The actual numbering of the trees hasn't been undertaken for decades, and houses in the original village have remained unnumbered. When state legislators proposed a law in 1953 that would have required all houses in California to be numbered, Carmel threatened to secede from the state. More recently, the US Postal Service told residents they would have to use building numbers to get door-to-door delivery. As a result, the city now pays a private messenger to carry mail to those who want home delivery - about 5 percent of the populace. Next week: Jo Mora.

Spending plan giveth, taketh away

By MARY BROWNFIELD

TWO EMPLOYEES will lose their jobs to outside contractors while others are promoted to new positions, according to the draft 2008/2009 budget released to the Carmel City Council Tuesday.

In presenting the $14,354,434 budget, which the council will consider adopting next month, city administrator Rich Guillen outlined plans for spending $7,927,845 on salaries and benefits, and $6,426,589 on materials and services.

Police, fire and public works departments would receive the largest allocations, at $2,980,425, $1,741,807 and $1,402,618, respectively, with increases of $187,604 for the police department, $112,196 for the fire department and $299,418 for public works over 2007/2008 totals.

Guillen also described several proposed changes in the organization of city hall:

■ When community services director Christie Miller leaves in July to move out of state, her position would be replaced with a new "forest, beach and public services director" to oversee the forest, parks and beach department, as well as public works and building maintenance. An outside contractor would handle community event planning.

■ After a quarter century on the payroll, planning services manager Brian Roseth will retire at the end of the fiscal year. His position will retire with him, but senior planner Sean Conroy would be promoted to "planning and building services manager," to oversee day-to-day operations in that department. Another position, planning and building director, which has been unfilled since it was created last summer, would handle policy issues and other larger projects.

■ Longtime executive assistant Sandy Farrell left in April, and her role would also be eliminated. In its place, Guillen proposed establishing the "administrative manager/deputy city clerk" position that would go to Molly Laughlin, who was hired as an office assistant early this year after being laid off by the City of Pacific Grove.

■ Human resources manager Jane Miller would lose her job to the consulting firm of Moreland and Associates, which is already under contract.

■ Information systems/network manager Steve McInchak, who has worked for the city for 11 years and developed its computer system, would be laid off, and his responsibilities outsourced to Interactive Computer Solutions.

■ Those firings would help fund two new full-time jobs proposed in the budget: a second finance specialist to work alongside Karen Love, and a building maintenance worker to help keep city facilities in shape.

Guillen said he regularly scrutinizes city jobs to see which might be contracted out in order to free up funds for others, such as the additional firefighters some people are calling for. He did not recommend converting a part-time position watering trees to full time, as had been requested by the forest and beach commission.

Other expenses slated for the upcoming fiscal year include $164,434 in legal costs, down from the 2007/2008 total of $299,760 that included the Flanders Mansion lawsuit and $125,000 to Pebble Beach Co. for an unsuccessful effort to challenge water runoff requirements. Harrison Memorial Library's proposed budget is $949,011, and $325,030 would be designated for marketing and economic revitalization.

Some costs aren't growing. The enabling grant for Sunset Center will drop from $750,000 this year to $713,000 in 2008/2009, and debt service will decline by $229,355, as the city paid off its loans for the Rio Park property this year.

"That is our property now — we own it," Guillen said. "I guess at some future point, we'll decide what to do with it."

School support group gives $$$ for technology, teaching tools

By MARY BROWNFIELD

THE FRIENDS of Carmel Unified Schools distributed more than $115,000 in grants to grateful faculty and staff who gathered for a celebration in the library at Carmel Middle School last Wednesday.

"We had more than 100 people — staff members, teachers, administrators and board members — and of course the mood was very upbeat," said Sharron Douglas, a member of the FOCUS board and the former principal of Carmel River School.

The grants, which were requested by faculty and staff to procure items not included in the CUSD budget, included:

- $14,400 for digital cameras, software, SMART Boards (high-tech interactive white boards) and video production equipment at Carmel High School;

- $36,145 for fitness stations, computers on wheels and an electronic data display for the habitat project at Carmel

Middle School;

- $13,495 for SMART Boards and Kidspiration educational software at Captain Cooper School;

- $33,380 for SMART Boards and computers on wheels — called COWs — at Carmel River School;

- $14,640 for a dramatic arts center, software for English-language learners, handheld responders that students use when answering questions and responding to teachers, and document-imaging computers at Tularcitos; and

- $3,700 for playground equipment at Carmelo.

Though the group had about $117,000 in its coffers, it received applications for more than $190,000 worth of teaching aids and other equipment — none of it frivolous or unjustified — according to Douglas.

"It's very difficult to decide, because they always ask for worthwhile items," she said.

But this year, rather than denying some, FOCUS board members approached the different schools' parent groups to see if they might be able to fill the gap.

"They were able to make the grants we couldn't, so virtually every request was granted," she said.

Many of the applications sought high-tech teaching tools, such as the interactive SMART Boards, and Douglas expects that trend to continue.

"A lot of the money is going into technology, and rightly so," she said. "And playground equipment for the preschool is always important."

With so much need, FOCUS strives to take in as much money as possible during the few fundraiser it hosts throughout the year.

The Golf "FORE" FOCUS tournament held in memory of Paul Porter, former FOCUS board president and CEO of the Northern California Golf Association, is set for June 16 at Poppy Hills. The event will begin with registration and a putting contest at 12:30 p.m., followed by the tournament's shotgun start at 1:30 and the awards barbecue at 5:30. Participation in the tournament and dinner will run $175 per person and include green fees, cart, putting contest, driving range balls, tee prizes, refreshments, barbecue dinner and hole-in-one chance to win a new car. Dinner alone will run $50 per person. For information, contact Shirley Rosen at (831) 624-2832 or Matt King at (831) 626-7574.

On Sept. 12, FOCUS will hold its largest fundraiser of the year — a dinner dance and auction — at Tehama.

Finally, the popular Un-phone-a-thon, during which supporters receive written solicitations so they don't have to be pestered by people calling and asking for money, will commence in November.

"Those are the main sources for revenues for the grants," Douglas said. If they come up short, FOCUS may make another fundraising push next February.

"We have a lot of support from our community," she said. "People are very generous."

BATH HOUSE

Bennett. "We have waited for it for a long time."

The renovation doesn't involve drastically altering the appearance of the ornate mid-20th century building, which is not considered historic.

The kiddie pool at Lovers Point would also be removed and in its place a year-round picnic area would be built.

Pacific Grove Senior Planner Sarah

Hardgrave said the California Coastal Commission "wanted to see activities that would support public recreation on the coastline."

To fulfill that, Enea would likely lease the first floor of the Bath House to a dive shop or other recreational outfit, such as Adventures by the Sea.

"They are hoping to occupy the first floor of the building to expand their operation," he said.

Councilman Scott Miller said he wants to make sure the city makes enough money in the deal and isn't stuck with the short end of the stick.

"For me," Miller said, "the bottom line is the dollars."

Enea said the revenue the city receives as part of the agreement is dependent upon how well the restaurant and vendors perform.

"It's based on projections," he said.

The project could be eligible for a roughly $200,000 grant the state gave P.G. in 2002 to use for recreation-related improvements.

Whichever restaurant ends up occupying the restaurant would pay rent to Enea, who would pay the city to lease the building.

Details of the lease agreement are still in the works, but Enea said he is seeking a 30-to 50-year agreement. The price of the lease would be dependent on the agreement with the restaurant.

The Old Bath House shut down in November 2005 after the city decided not to renew the lease with longtime operator Dave Bindel, who got behind about $30,000 in rent.

The proposal will require review and approval by the city's planning commission, architectural review board and ADA compliance advisory committee. It will also need a coastal development permit from the California Coastal Commission.

just before the suicide occurred.

My kids, "were about to go into the bathroom, but they got distracted," she said. "When they were running back to the playground, they heard the shot."

The woman, who didn't want to be identified, said two teenagers ran into the bathroom to find out what had happened.

"They came out of the bathroom screaming," she said.

Uretsky said the police department has offered counseling for the Pacific Grove High School teenagers who witnessed the grisly scene.

Monterey County Coroner's Office Sgt. Mike Richards said Austin was pronounced dead at the park.

Rumors about what happened at the park circulated in Pacific Grove soon after the incident — whether the victim was a man or woman, and whether a weapon was recovered. Others said it could be a murder, citing the infrequency of female suicides with a gun. But law enforcement officials said the woman killed herself.

Uretsky declined to say what type of gun was used. He also wouldn't say whether the woman died in the men's or women's restroom for fear it would become a "tourist attraction" for curiosity seekers.

According to 2002 statistics reported by the Brady Campaign, of the roughly 17,000 people who used a firearm to commit suicide that year, 88 percent were men, while only 12 percent women.

The mother whose young children were in the park at the time of the suicide said the incident left an indelible impression on her 5-year-old daughter.

"She said she doesn't want to go to the bathroom in the park anymore," she told The Pine Cone.

Big Sur mishaps come in threes

THREE SEPARATE accidents this week kept Big Sur firefighters and emergency workers busy, according to Martha Karstens, assistant chief of the Big Sur Volunteer Fire Brigade.

As last week's hot weather was coming to an end, a hiker on the Pine Ridge Trail near Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park suffering from heat exhaustion was carried out May 18. Volunteer firefighters, state parks employees and Monterey County Sheriff's search and rescue personnel assisted with the incident.

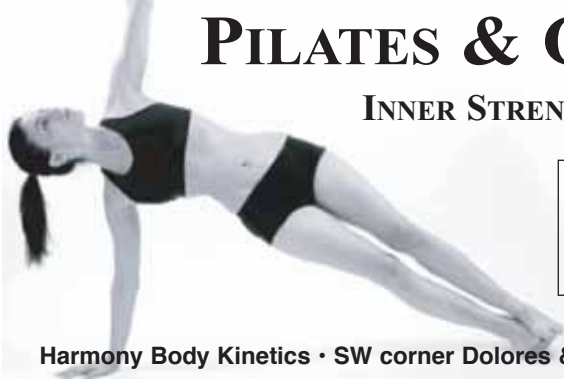

Another hiker was carried out of the Big

Sur River Gorge May 20. The hiker's ankle was originally thought to be broken, but the injury turned out to just be a sprain. Volunteer firefighters, as well as state parks and U.S. Forest Service employees, responded to the call.

The same day, two people were airlifted to San Francisco Bay Area medical centers after losing control of a motorcycle near Nepenthe restaurant. Volunteer firefighters assisted personnel from the forest service, the California Highway Patrol and the sheriff's search and rescue team.

FIRE

which case MFD would absorb its staff and provide fire protection in the city.

Carmel City Administrator Rich Guillen said the city could merge with Monterey and P.G., "if it makes both efficiency sense and economical sense."

"But on the other hand, we need to understand more about what it implies," he said.

If its implications are unattractive, Guillen said the city would request proposals for chief services from other agencies, such as the Carmel Valley Fire Protection District and Cal Fire, which operates the neighboring Cypress Fire and Carmel Highlands Fire districts.

Another option would be hiring a lower level chief to oversee Carmel Fire under the public safety director, police chief George Rawson.

Regardless, Guillen said the city is not interested in any arrangement that would have outside firefighters staffing CFD. "We want to keep our firefighters," he said. "I've said that before and continue to say that."

Monterey-P.G. negotiations

Since early this year, Monterey and Pacific Grove fire chiefs and city managers have been discussing a possible contract, according to Mazza.

"All of the incumbent P.G. employees would become employees of Monterey, and in return, Monterey would provide contract fire protection to P.G.," he explained.

Employee groups reportedly support the contract, though some labor issues have yet to be resolved. "We've gotten through a couple of the big ones," he said, such as how Pacific Grove Fire Department employees might maintain their seniority — which is used to determine who has to go first during layoffs — and the amount of leave they have accrued on the job.

The groups are still negotiating the matter of rank, and which titles P.G. crews will have if they become Monterey employees. "There's a very encouraging, collaborative process going on," Mazza said. "The city managers are trying to ensure the employees we're looking out for their best interests, and the employee associations remain supportive."

The Monterey City Council has already given its OK, but the P.G. council has yet to vote, and Mazza said the concept has to be effectively marketed to residents.

"It's kind of a big change that some people in the community are not going to feel good about," he said. "Marketing it will be everyone's responsibility."

He also said the agreement will be written so other fire departments, such as Carmel, the Monterey Peninsula Airport District and Seaside, could join later.

"We're trying to construct this in a way to make it attractive and possible to add other partners in the future," he said. "We believe a single fire agency over the whole Monterey Peninsula makes sense. That's been talked about for 30-plus years, but it's never gotten off first base."

Crews sent to Summit Fire

A strike team comprising fire engines and crews from the Cypress Fire Protection District, Pacific Grove Fire Department and other Monterey County agencies rushed Thursday to help battle the Santa Cruz wildfire that began at 5:20 a.m. Whipped by high winds and feeding off dense, dry foliage, it had consumed almost 4,000 acres and 10 homes by the afternoon. Evacuations were ordered, and roads and parks were closed. Cal Fire is coordinating the efforts, and the cause is under investigation.

The Art of
CARPETING & DECOR

 with Dan Jones

"GREEN" DECORATING
 These days, when designers and decorators talk of "green" decorating, they are not referring to a paint color. Instead, they are suggesting ways to select materials and application techniques that have a minimal impact on the environment and people's health. For instance, it may take nature decades to produce the mature hardwoods that go into flooring material, but bamboo, which is just as hard, beautiful, and durable, quickly replaces itself. Similarly, "green" carpeting is made from natural fibers such as wool and sisal. Even if nylon is preferred, it can be made from recycled fiber. Other eco-friendly materials include cork, hemp, jute, and woods that lend themselves to sustainable management practices. Today, green is not just a color. It's an attitude.

We are up to date on the latest in the world of interior design and décor whether we're working with the "green" and innovative or the classic styles of the past. Maximize your decorating options by working with the professionals at CARPETS & FLOORS, INC. Our many resources in the industry enable us to give you the best quality at the fairest prices. Check out our exciting floor show Monday through Saturday 9-5.

HINT: Part of the eco-friendly "green movement" is identifying furniture and flooring finishes that are safe to live with.

Dan Jones is the President of Carpets & Floors, Inc., located at 471 Lighthouse Ave. (between Drake and McClellan) here in Monterey. Ph: 372-2300.

 Meg Parker Conners, R.N.

A HEALTHY PERSPECTIVE ON RETIREMENT

A recent study shows that a couple who retires in 2008 will need about $225,000 in savings to cover their medical costs during retirement. This finding is based on a couple aged 65 years, who would have needed $160,000 in savings to fund medical costs in retirement if they had retired in 2002 (when the first such study was conducted). Since then, the total amount of dollars needed to meet retirement medical costs has risen an average of 5.8 percent annually. The study arrived at its calculation assuming that employees do not have employer-sponsored retiree health care coverage. It included expenses associated with Medicare premium payments, as well as co-payments and deductibles, and out-of-pocket prescription drug costs.

The medical profession is making some astonishing findings and treatments. These developments promise a remarkably long and hopefully good quality of life for the elderly — but they will be increasingly expensive. For more information, please call VICTORIAN HOME CARE/RESIDENTIAL CARE HOMES. We provide the best in home care and geriatric care management for seniors or adults with physical and/or mental challenges in and around Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties.

P.S. The $225,000 that the above-mentioned study projects a retiring couple will need to meet future health expenses is up 4.7 percent from $215,000, which was the estimate for 2007.

Today's Real Estate
 by MAUREEN MASON
 Certified Residential Specialist

Buying an REO...with Care
 "REO" is short for "real estate owned." It refers to homes and other properties owned by banks and other lenders who have taken title through foreclosure. It is not a happy affair, but it can be, in some cases, the source of great bargains for homebuyers.

But be careful! As Jim Wasserman writes in the Sacramento Bee, "'Buyer beware' is the watchword with a bank-owned home sale." Buyers of foreclosure properties just don't have the safety nets available in more normal transactions. The Lenders, because they have never experienced living in the homes, are not required to disclose property defects or to repair when there are problems. Buyers, therefore, should make use of reliable inspectors to make sure they're not signing up for problems.

Further, the rather faceless banks tend to be reticent about negotiating prices. They will deal with counter-offers, but they frown upon lowball offers and tend to reject them. They also want the buyers to have their financing well in hand, and do not want to accept offers with contingencies. Some banks will also require buyers to prequalify with them.

In short, despite the many affordably priced foreclosure properties, we will be wise to bring in our real estate advisors and inspectors to make sure the bargain doesn't require more repairs than we bargained for. Let's talk. Just call Maureen at 622-2565 and visit her website at www.maureenmason.com.

■ Summer events in Carmel, Carmel Valley Pebble Beach, Pacific Grove and the Monterey Peninsula

Films under the stars

THE FILMS in the Forest summer series at the Forest Theater is among the most beloved seasonal offerings enjoyed by locals and visitors to downtown Carmel. Staged in one of the country's oldest outdoor theaters, the series features classic and contemporary movies sponsored by community groups and businesses.

Showtimes are always set for Tuesdays and Wednesdays so as not to conflict with theatrical productions, and patrons arrive, often with well stocked picnic baskets, bottles of wine, pillows and blankets, to visit with friends and neighbors until darkness descends and the moving images appear on the new inflatable screen erected on the stage. Priced at $6 per person, the Films in the Forest also constitute one of the best bargains in town, and the money benefits the Forest Theater Guild, which stages productions at the city-owned venue.

The 2008 series lineup will feature:

- May 27, "Roman Holiday;"
- May 28, "Jurassic Park;"
- June 2, "My Big Fat Greek Wedding;"
- June 4, "City Slickers," sponsored by F.T. Renner Co. and Carmel Valley Market;
- June 10, "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," sponsored by Kelly Productions;
- June 17, "Big Night," sponsored by the American Institute of Wine and Food;
- June 18, "To Catch a Thief," sponsored by Wells Fargo Private Client Services;
- July 1, "Gaslight," sponsored by The Beach Crowd;

- July 2, "A Walk in the Clouds;"
- July 9, "Ghostbusters," sponsored by the Pebble Beach Co.;
- July 15, "Second Hand Lions," sponsored by the Carmel Host Lions Club;
- July 16, "Vertigo," sponsored by the Monterey Film Commission; and
- July 23, "Chocolat," sponsored by the Monterey Ski & Social Club.

Tickets are sold at the door, and a concessions stand provides hot chocolate and other goodies in case people's supplies are lacking. For more information, visit www.foresttheaterguild.org.

Earthbound Farm draws visitors with bugs, chefs and fresh produce

A PIONEER in organic produce and now one of the nation's largest growers and distributors of organic products, Earthbound Farm began with a few acres of raspberries in Carmel Valley more than two decades ago and still has a presence there. Beginning in May and running through fall each year, the Farm Stand adjacent to those Carmel Valley Road fields offers weekend events intended to draw people of all ages for fun lessons, cooking demonstrations and other agricultural adventures.

Led by an experienced farmer with intimate knowledge of the land and its crops, Harvest Walks have guests pay $15, pick up a bushel basket, grab a pair of clippers and head into Earthbound's fields to learn about what's growing there and how to pick the best of the lot to take home and enjoy.

Harvest Walks will be held from 11 a.m. to noon May 24, June 21, July 19 and Aug. 9.

For a Harvest Walk with a twist, Earthbound presents Chef Walks, during which noted local professional chefs share culinary secrets and discuss how they might use what's in season. After perusing the fields and picking produce at the direction of the guest chef, participants return to the Farm Stand for cooking demonstrations, tastings and recipes.

Upcoming Chef Walks, which run 10 to noon, will feature Brandon Miller of Stokes Restaurant, May 31; Craig von Foerster from Sierra Mar at Big Sur's Post Ranch Inn, June 14; Ken MacDonald of Estéban Restaurant in Casa Munras, July 12; Sarah LaCasse from the Farm Stand, Aug. 23; Jeff Rogers from Quail Lodge, Sept. 27; and Cal Stamenov of Bernardus Lodge, Oct. 25. Chef Walks cost $20 per person.

Bug Walks get kids of all ages interested in beneficial insects by involving them in ladybug releases in the fields. Adults attend for free, while children pay $5 each and receive a goodie bag. Bug Walks are set for the first Saturday of each month through October.

Even inedible items can be found and enjoyed in the fields, including organically grown flowers, so the Farm Stand hosts Flower Walks, during which guests pick their own blooms and receive advice on how to creatively present them. The Flower Walks are scheduled for July 26, Sept. 20 and Oct. 11, from 10 a.m. to noon, at a cost of $20 per person.

In addition to its regular offerings, the Farm Stand organizes other events, many of them free or requiring that guests only cover the costs of materials.

The fruit that helped found the Farm Stand will be feted June 28 during Raspberry Revelry, which will include treats, cooking demos, crafts, games, train rides and farm tours.

Garlic Braiding workshops are set for 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. July 19 and 26. Pumpkin Scratching will be demonstrated from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Aug. 9. The Kitchen and Store Sale will run all day Aug. 16, while an Heirloom Tomato Sale will be held Sept. 13. Organizers plan to present a Jam Jar Vase Workshop from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Sept. 20, and a Corn Husk Doll Workshop will be held from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 11.

Following the Corn Crazy Celebration Aug. 30, the popular Harvest Festival will be held Oct. 18, both from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The special Farm Stand events will wrap up with Wreath Making from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Dec. 6.

Festival pays tribute to Bach and beyond

RETURNING FOR its 71st season, the Carmel Bach Festival pays tribute to the musical genius of Johann Sebastian Bach, his contemporaries and his musical heirs. The festival opens Saturday, July 19, offering a virtual feast of musical possibilities.

Each summer, German conductor Bruno Weil leads an international ensemble of musicians in a three-week program of oratorios, concerti, orchestral and choral masterworks, chamber music and recitals.

Here are just a few of the highlights:

■ Concertmaster Elizabeth Wallfisch and members of the festival's string orchestra present "Bach to Brahms: The Great Grand Masters" at Sunset Center on three consecutive Mondays, July 21, 28 and Aug. 4. Performances start at 8 p.m.;

■ Conductor Andrew Megill, the festival's chorale and its instrumental ensemble offer "Songs of Solace" at the Carmel Mission Basilica on Wednesdays, July 23, 30 and Aug. 6. Concerts begin at 8:30 p.m., following a wine reception and catered dinner;

■ Andrew Arthur and members of the festival orchestra present "The Brandenburg Concertos" Thursdays, July 24, 31 and Aug. 7. Performances start at 8 p.m.

For tickets or more information, call (831) 624-2046 or visit www.bachfestival.org.

Pacific Grove's traditional summer

THE CITY of Pacific Grove and its chamber of commerce are offering their usual charming, homespun events this summer, including:

■ July 4 — BBQ

Join the chamber of commerce and celebrate Independence Day with an old-fashioned, down-home BBQ at Caledonia Park. Great food, live entertainment and a chance to visit with your neighbors. For more information, call (831) 373-3304 or visit www.pacificgrove.org.

■ July 11-13 — Antiques and Collectibles Show & Sale

St. Mary's by-the-Sea Episcopal Church's 51st Annual Antiques Show & Sale will feature 28 dealers. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 5p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. $6 donation for admission. Lunch served daily. For more information, call (831) 373-4441.

■ July 23-27 — Feast of Lanterns

In keeping with tradition as old as the city itself, this is a community celebration featuring the Feast of Salads, P.G. Birthday Cake, pet parade, street dancing, pageant, fireworks, entertainment and more! For details, call (831) 373-8295.

Chamber sets open house

THE CARMEL Chamber of Commerce's visitor center, located on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth avenues, will have an open house Thursday, June 5, from noon to 6 p.m., featuring free food, wine, door prizes and entertainment. Everyone is invited.

Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca offers motorsports action

THE MONTEREY Peninsula is home to a world-class racetrack — Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca, the only nonprofit motorsports venue in the country — which hosts five major events each year.

With one race weekend already in the books, summer and fall at Laguna promise days of exciting racing on two wheels and four.

The largest event of the season — the Red Bull U.S. Grand Prix — is set for July 18-20 and will feature the most competitive motorcycle racers in the world trying to best each other in the MotoGP World Championship. Several Americans compete in the series, including 2006 title winner Nicky Hayden, who won his first MotoGP race at Laguna Seca in 2005.

The event was the track's first ever sellout race when grand prix motorcycle racing returned to the States in 2005 and drew more than 140,000 fans in 2007. This year, it will also include the first Red Bull Rookies Cup, which takes young racers with lots of talent and puts them on equally matched motorcycles to see if they have what it takes to go pro, and the AMA Superbike Championship — one of the most highly regarded national championship series in the world.

Aug. 15-17, the automotive past will take center stage during the 35th Rolex Monterey Historic Automobile Races presented by Toyota, which will honor Alfa Romeo — the historic races' first featured marque. Legendary racer Mario Andretti will be the event's official guest of honor. The event, founded by Steve Earle, has long been a fan favorite for its diversity and showcasing rare, valuable and lovingly restored cars in action.

Sept. 27-28 will see all four classes of the AMA Superbike Championship conclude their race season in the Corona AMA Superbike Finale. With the American Motorcyclist Association handing its professional racing series over to Daytona Motorsports Group, which envisions major changes for the national championship — including a shift to smaller, less powerful motorcycles — Laguna might be hosting the last ever superbike race between machines with larger, more powerful 1,000cc engines.

Carmel Valley resident Hawk Mazzotta, the Monterey Peninsula's only professional motorcycle racer competing on a national level, is set to ride during the Red Bull U.S. Grand Prix and the Corona AMA Superbike Finale.

Laguna's race season will conclude with the Oct. 17-19 Monterey Sports Car Championships, when the American Le Mans Series' high-tech, high-speed Le Mans prototypes and GT cars run a four-hour, afternoon-into-evening race Saturday. The cars, which are some of the fastest to ever meet a race track, look even more quick as darkness descends and their headlights mark their streaking routes through Laguna Seca's 11 turns. Sunday will feature the season finale of the SPEED World Challenge Touring and GT classes.

GOLDEN STATE Theatre proprietor and booker Warren Dewey has in the last year firmly established himself as the pre-eminent promoter for popular performing arts on the Monterey Peninsula. With performances scheduled this week by songbird

Emmylou Harris and roots rock 'n' roll band Los Lobos, Dewey continues to raise the bar.

Harris, who performs at the Golden State Friday, May 23, at 8 p.m., has for three decades been a major recording artist in a myriad of genres. Discovered in 1971 by Chris Hillman of the Byrds, Harris performed on Gram Parsons' first solo album, "GP" in 1972. She released her major label debut, "Pieces of the Sky," in 1975 with the first version of her legendary Hot Band, a group that has included a string of world class players including Albert Lee, Rodney Crowell and Hank DeVito.

One of the most influential women in contemporary country music, Harris has also recorded with such diverse artists as Ryan Adams, Beck, Elvis Costello, Johnny Cash, Bob Dylan, Neil Young, The Chieftains, Lyle Lovett, Roy Orbison, The Band, Willie Nelson and George Jones. Her latest CD, "All I Intended to Be," is scheduled to be released this June.

Growing up together in East Los Angeles, Cesar Rosas, Conrad Lozano, David Hidalgo and Louie Perez started off playing in top 40 rock 'n' roll bands and formed Los Lobos to play weddings and bars in their neighborhood. In 1978 they played their first full-time gig in a Mexican restaurant in Orange County and later that year released their first album, "Just Another Band From East L.A." Since then Los Lobos has released a steady stream of critically acclaimed albums and have become one of the most respected, if not commercially successful, rock 'n' roll bands in the world. The group performs at the Golden State May 29 at 8 p.m.

Groundbreaking electronic group plays at Henry Miller library

WHILE MOST people have never heard of Cluster, the sounds the group helped spawn — the electronic, techno and ambient genres — profoundly affected popular music.

The groundbreaking German instrumental group, featuring founding members Hans-Joachim Roedelius and Dieter Moebius, performs Friday, May 23, at the Henry Miller Library in Big Sur. A brief tour of the United States marks Cluster's first stateside visit in more than a decade. "We're flying them out from Germany," said local music promoter Britt Govea of FolkYeah! Presents. "They pretty much invented the electronic and ambient genres."

Formed in 1969 in Berlin, Cluster was one of many electronic groups that emerged from Germany's thriving "Krautrock" scene in the late 1960s and early 1970s. With the exception of Kraftwerk's "Autobahn," which became a pop radio hit around the world, the genre had little impact on American music listeners at the time. But with the rising popularity of new wave and new age music in the 1980s, the influence of groups like Cluster on pop music became undeniable.

While Cluster never achieved the commercial success of Kraftwerk, the group has earned considerable critical acclaim as well as a devoted international following. They've collaborated frequently with electronic musician and record producer Brian Eno.

Opening for Cluster will be two bands from San Francisco, Wooden Ships and AMP. The concert starts at 8 p.m. Tickets are $22. The library is located on Highway 1 about 30 miles south of Carmel. For more information, call (831) 667-2574 or visit www.henrymiller.org.

'Buddy Holly' returns

PACREP THEATRE'S most popular production, "Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story," returns to Carmel this week.

The Golden Bough Playhouse presents performances of "Buddy" Friday through Sunday, May 23-25. The musical continues through August 3.

The play is a music-filled tribute to one of rock 'n' roll's true visionaries. In his all-too-brief recording career, the gifted singer-songwriter and guitarist scored unforgettable pop hits like "Peggy Sue," "That'll Be The Day" and "It's So Easy" before dying in an airplane crash in 1959 at the age of 22.

"This is definitely the most successful show that has ever played the boards in Carmel," said Stephen Moorer.

"Buddy Holly" was written by Rob Bettinson and Alan Janes. Moorer is the director, while Don Dally provides the musical direction. Travis Poelle plays Buddy Holly. For tickets, call (831) 622-0100 or go to www.pacrep.org.

Sunset exhibit highlights new generation of photographers

By CHRIS COUNTS

A HALF century ago, the Monterey Peninsula was the center of the fine art photography world. So prominent did Ansel Adams, Edward Weston, Wynn Bullock and others become, their work went a long way toward making the Peninsula's natural beauty famous.

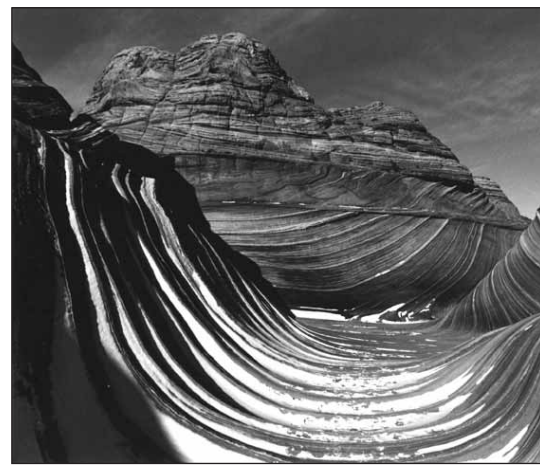

To highlight the Peninsula's rich legacy of photography, Sunset Center's Marjorie Evans Gallery will host a reception Friday, May 23 to mark the opening of an exhibit of new works by local high school and college students.

"Our mission is to enlighten the community about the richness of fine art photography on the West Coast," explained Gina Weston, who is married to Edward Weston's grandson, Kim. "We established this event because we wanted to foster photographic education. We wanted to nurture a medium we love and don't want to die."

The exhibit will present the black and white photographs of 42 local high school and college students from as far away as King City. Seventeen prizes will be awarded at the reception, including the $1,000 Julian P. Graham Scholarship, which is presented by the Pebble Beach Company

MPCC Exec Chef explores the mind/food connection

By MARGOT PETIT NICHOLS

HE'S A juggler who studied astronomy in college, a twin, a father of two boys, deeply involved in organic produce and the sustainability of nature's bounty, the force behind a food donation program to the Salvation Army, and has been cooking for 24 of his 41 years.

"I come from a family of eight kids," Chef Colin Moody said of his Aptos childhood. His parents worked, "so we kids cooked a lot." And he took an early interest in healthy eating — even baking his own bread and crackers while he was in high school to avoid sugar in commercial baked goods.

This predilection for healthful foods led Executive Chef Colin Moody to a career devoted to organic produce and sustainable seafood.

For his outstanding dedication to the culinary profession and community involvement, Moody was honored as Chef of the Year by his peers last month at the 34th annual dinner and president's ball hosted by the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Culinary Federation.

The award dinner was held at the Hyatt Regency Monterey with almost 150 chefs and guests in attendance as Executive Chef Bert Cutino, past ACF National Chef of the Year, hailed Moody for his good works.

Moody's career began in 1983 at the Greenhouse Restaurant in Santa Cruz, which he described as then being a "farm restaurant — a real animal of a kitchen where we would feed 1,000 for Sunday brunch." He began there as a dishwasher, then became a prep cook and ultimately a line cook. He worked with his twin brother, Walter, for three years learning the basics of cookery, then went on to two restaurants in Carmel: Flaherty's Seafood Grill, where he worked for a year, and Chutneys Restaurant at the Crossroads as sous chef under Fuad Bahou, a fervent exemplar of cooking flavorful, beautiful food with soul. There he oversaw a staff of

The New Restaurant at L'Auberge Carmel

With the arrival of new Executive Chef Christophe Grosjean (recently of Marinus) and Executive Pastry Chef Ron Mendoza (recently of the French Laundry) and their total revision of the menus at L'Auberge Carmel, it became apparent that this simply isn't the same restaurant anymore. So we gave it a name of its own - Aubergine. New options, more choices but with the same care and attention to detail that made this the place Bon Appetit magazine named Best of the Year in its Restaurant Hot Seat review.

12, ran six daily specials, and learned menu design and ordering.

Bahou inspires Moody

Moody credited Bahou as being an early influence. "He taught me that your state of mind really affects your food," he said.

From Chutneys he went on to apprentice at Pacific's Edge restaurant at the Highlands Inn. Although he started as a line cook there, he very soon became the expeditor and assisted Chef Brian Whitmer in all aspects of food production. He took part in the Highlands' 1991 Masters of Food & Wine.

After Pacific's Edge he became the chef/manager of the Coast Cafe, an adjunct of the Coast Gallery on Highway 1, developing the menu, running specials, creating wine tastings and learning the art of producing profit and loss reports.

In 1995 he took a hiatus from cooking to become a produce distributor. As co-owner of Sacred Valley Organic Produce Company out of Aptos, he could satisfy his increasing interest in organics. "This gave me the 'farmer connection,' a whole different world, an association that translated into cooking later. The farmers excitedly coming off their fields with their fresh produce was infectious. It was a turning point for me as a chef."

He and his wife wanted to buy a home but found the Monterey Peninsula "too pricey." While they were deciding where to go, Moody took a job as sous chef with Wildberries Cafe in Pacific Grove, an all vegetarian restaurant. This gave him the chance to use the recipes he wrote while he ran the produce distribution company. He was a dedicated vegetarian at the time.

In 1998, the young couple moved to Hilton Head Island, S.C., to be near his wife's father and where they could realize their dream of becoming homeowners.

Point Country Club. "I got an education in Southern hospitality and Southern cooking there," he said. "I got a chance to do fusion cooking." He learned how to make "She Crab" soup and gumbos.

They enjoyed two years in the South but left after the devastation of Hurricane Floyd, returning to California and the relative safety of earthquakes.

Moody became the executive chef for Asilomar Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove in 2002 where he oversaw a staff of 29 who prepared 1,600 meals a day. He changed produce purchasing from "zero organic produce to 50 percent organic," and instituted participation in the Monterey Bay Aquarium's Seafood Watch program, initiated a composting/zero waste program, and started food donations benefiting the Salvation Army, providing more than 5,000 meals.

Chef Moody was sent to VIP culinary events by Asilomar's parent company, Delaware North Parks and Resorts. He cooked at such prestigious affairs as the 2004

Democratic National Convention in Boston, Mass., and the Senate Luncheon at Niagra Falls, N.Y.

"These were big deal, high profile affairs, really fun. We worked 36 hours straight sometimes — it was almost surreal."

With this demanding executive chef schedule, Moody has made time to participate in local charity events, such as Carmel TomatoFest, the Savor Monterey cook-off competition, Cooking for Solutions at Monterey Aquarium and Great Taste of Pacific Grove, to name a few.

He is on the board of directors of the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Culinary Federation, is the dedicated president and chairman of the ACF conservation committee, and writes a monthly column, "The Happy Palate," for the Monterey Herald.

Since the beginning of the year, Moody has been the Executive Chef of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Pebble Beach, where he oversees a staff of 23 in five venues at the club for high-end dining and catering.

Now a single parent to his two sons, Connor, 9, and Matthew, 6, he is engaged and plans to marry next year.

Brodie named MOW Woman of the Year

CHEF WENDY Brodie, known for her creative flair, fascinating cooking classes, "Art of Food" television show, cruise-ship chef stints — and generosity — was honored as Meals on Wheels' first Woman of the Year at its Women Who Care campaign lunch May 18.

MOW launched the female-focused fundraising effort last year after discovering that more than 60 percent of its recipients are women, half of whom cannot afford the suggested daily donation of $5 for home-delivered meals. Supporters started a letter-writing campaign asking women they knew for donations, and 89 contributed to the total $18,000 raised.

For 2008, the committee decided to take the campaign further by honoring a woman who cares about the community and selected Brodie, who has "graciously and generously" supported many local nonprofits, including Meals on Wheels.

"In fact, she was moved to tears when she found out that she would be the first honoree," spokeswoman Julie Ann Lozano reported.

The Women Who Care kickoff campaign luncheon was held at Ferrante's atop the Marriott Hotel in Monterey.

Donations to Meals on Wheels are always welcome and support sponsorships and healthy lifestyle programs at the Sally Griffin Active Living Center, which is located in Pacific Grove and open to Peninsula residents.

Foundation.

All work displayed in the exhibit was created by traditional photographic techniques. In other words, there will be no digital photos in the show. "The students are required to take the photograph, develop the negative, print the negative and mount the photograph," Weston explained.

This will be the fifth year the Westons have presented scholarships to local photography students, but the first time they've organized an exhibit. "The work gets better and better every year," Weston added. "The kids are turning in fabulous photographs. We wanted to be able to hang it for the public to see. That's why we're so excited."

The exhibit will be on display until June 15. The reception and awards ceremony begins at 6 p.m. The gallery is located at Eighth and San Carlos. For info, call (831) 624-8111 or visit www.westonscholarship.org.

Inspired by poster art

While many artists are guarded about their influences, Marti James has no trouble divulging her inspiration for the painting that will be highlighted in a poster promoting Carmel Valley's 4th annual Art and Wine Celebration on Saturday, June 7.

"I found my inspiration in a painting by post-impressionist George Seurat," explained James, who lives in Carmel Valley. "The figures in the painting have been redesigned to fit modern times and repositioned with a new watercolor environment."

A volunteer for the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce — the organization presenting the Art and Wine Celebration — James is excited her artwork will be featured on the poster.

"My real passion is to encourage creativity in everyone," she added. "Everybody is innately creative. I want to bring that out."

For more information about the festival, call (831) 659-4000 or visit www.carmelvalleychamber.com.

Gallery's 4th birthday

Four years after local artist Barbara Kreitman opened its doors, Gallery North will celebrate its 4th anniversary with a reception Saturday, May 24, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

"I tried to get some friends of mine to go in on it with me," Kreitman recalled. "But they were chicken. So I just signed the lease and said, 'If I build it, people will come.'"

At the reception, the gallery will unveil a new exhibit, "Images of Four," featuring new works by Kreitman, Sarah Healey, Bayesteh "B.G." Ghaffary, Sheila Delimont, Rick Carpenter, Mary-Liz Houseman, Matthew Klein, Maria Aliotti-Ford, Patty Biederman, Tom Davies, Cornelia Emery, Christianna Hunnicutt and Holli Moon.

The gallery operates like a cooperative — each of the artists shares the duties of staffing it. This way, in the words of Kreitman, "We feel free to create."

"The gallery runs so smoothly," Kreitman added. "We all contribute time and resources. It's like one big family."

Gallery North is located on the east side of Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. For more information, call (831) 620-1987.

Celebrating nature's bloom

Sofanya's Gallery in Big Sur will host a reception Sunday, May 25, from 2 to 5 p.m. for a new group exhibit, "Spring Blossoms."

"We're celebrating the beauty of nature," gallery owner Sofanya White explained. "Blossoms are a metaphor for our own lives. They're also beautiful, colorful and alive."

The exhibit will present works by a variety of local artists, including White, Lorena del Campo, Helga Brown Scarlett, Darlene Boyd, Colleen Sundquist, Robert Parco, Jan Scott and David Allan. Page Two, a Big Sur jazz band, will perform at the reception.

The exhibit continues through July 1. The gallery is located at the Fernwood Resort on Highway 1 about 25 miles south of Carmel.

For more information, call (831) 667-2130.

BUDGET

Projects and equipment

The $1,367,842 earmarked for capital projects and purchases would constitute 9.5 percent of total expenditures — “the most aggressive capital improvement plan since I arrived,” Guillen said.

It lists several goals carried over from the current fiscal year, such as landscaping Fourth Avenue, updating the general plan, rewriting documents pertaining to historic designation, building a new pedestrian bridge in Mission Trail park and implementing recommendations detailed in a study of the urban forest.

In addition, several street projects totaling $515,600 would bring the city close to the recommended $660,000 in annual road maintenance recommended by Nichols Consulting Engineers, and $65,000 would go toward developing a plan to renovate the 98-year-old Forest Theater.

The police department would receive $154,778 worth of new equipment: a patrol car or SUV, a BMW motorcycle, a Go-4 parking cart, an automated target retrieval system in the shooting range and three vehicle cameras.

The fire department is set to purchase a $62,000 generator, and public works would get a new Ford F-350 pickup truck for $45,560.

The list does not include several requests made by Sunset Center and the Carmel Chamber of Commerce, and Guillen told The Pine Cone he encouraged representatives from each to make their pitches to the city council when it deliberates June 10.

The budget calls for $9,000 for safety lights on the balcony steps at Sunset Center, but officials had asked for $235,600 in city money for tables, TV monitors in the lobby and on stage, a remodel of the Carpenter Hall kitchen and renovation of Studio 105.

The chamber had asked for $14,000 for mailing its “Guide to Carmel,” $10,000 to advertise the AT&T Pro-Am golf tournament shuttles, and help with a $30,000 visitor study.

Moneymakers

On the revenue side, the budget shows a $411,071 increase over the 2007/2008 fiscal year and anticipates small upticks in all three major income sources: sales, hotel and property taxes.

“We know the economy’s kind of struggling right now but think things will turn around,” Guillen said. “It’s not significant, but we think there will be some growth.”

Particularly, the budget anticipates transient occupancy tax will increase 1 percent, to $4,393,500; sales tax will grow by 2 percent, to $2,431,000; and property tax will rise by 3 percent, to $3,974,000. Other income sources should grow by 2 percent to 4 percent, while some, such as interest income, rents, parking lot fees, and permit fees, will probably decline.

The police department will bring in a little more cash if the council approves hiking the vehicle tow fee from $90 to $100, the abandoned vehicle tow fee from $114 to $140, and the animal transport fee from $57 to $75 when it adopts the budget. Those fees have not changed since 2004 and would generate an additional $3,000 annually, according to Guillen.

No new taxes are in the works, he reported, and some state tax dollars will help pay for city road projects.

Finally, Guillen outlined the process for adopting the 2008/2009 budget. Council members and the public have until May 27 to submit their questions about the spending plan in writing to city hall, and staff will prepare responses by June 6. The first special council meeting to discuss will be held June 10, with a second set for June 17, if needed. It must be approved by the time the new fiscal year begins July 1.

MUSIC

For the last decade, the husband and wife duo of Cilette Swan and Roman Morykit (also known as Gypsy Soul) have been busy writing and touring the country building a grassroots following without the benefit of a major label deal. A model for independent artists, Gypsy Soul has self produced eight critically acclaimed albums, sold over 100,000 CDs and earned more than 1.5 million downloads on MP3.com with 10 No. 1 songs. The duo, performing Friday, May 23, at Monterey Live, play an enchanting mix of acoustic rock, folk and blues with Celtic and Americana overtones. Music starts at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday night at 9:30 p.m., local soul and blues band Dani Page performs. For more information, call (831) 646-1435.

Drummer Kim Edmundson presents L.A. Connection Part 2 Saturday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the KRML Jazz and Blues Co. in Carmel. A fundraiser for Dance Kids of Monterey, the event will feature Edmondson, pianist Tom Ranier, Dave Carpenter on bass and Bob Sheppard on saxophones. The musicians are all first-call session players in Los Angeles. Sheppard's solo recording debut, "Tell Tale Signs," was produced by Steely Dan's Walter Becker. For reservations call (831) 624-6432.

Dance bands play funk and old school at Sly McFly's this weekend with the Wade Love Band and Night Shift performing May 23 and 24, respectively. The music starts at 9 p.m. At Cibo Ristorante on Alvarado Street, the Neil Banks Band gets things jumping at 10 p.m. And at the Monterey Plaza Hotel on Cannery Row, world class pianist Weber Iago performs in the lounge upstairs Friday and Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. On Sunday afternoon, guitarist Jim Lambertson of Coco Beat performs solo from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on the patio of Schooner's downstairs at the Plaza. Call (831) 646-1700.

Got Clogs?

Do you have frequent sewer line backups?
Do you call a plumber more than twice a month?
Do roots grow in your sewer line?

If so, you could be a victim of "The Clog"

Tips for preventing clogs:
1. Keep cooking fats, oils and grease out of the drain.
2. Don't use toxic copper roots killers or caustic drain cleaners.
3. Inspect, maintain and repair your sewer lateral on a regular basis.

Editorial

‘A glimmer of hope’

THAT WAS the headline on the front page of the San Francisco Chronicle Wednesday. As we did last Friday, the Chronicle noted a significant upturn in home sales in recent weeks. What’s ironic is that media attention to the upturn will be one of the most significant factors in helping it gain momentum. The housing slowdown was accelerated when newspaper and TV stations began their constant drumbeat of bad news about the “housing crisis,” the “mortgage melt-down,” and other conveniently alarming phrases. And the recovery will benefit from the same phenomenon in reverse. Reporters usually aren’t satisfied with jumping on a bandwagon ... they like to give it a healthy push. You usually have to look far and wide to find a reporter who has the courage or the insight to stray from the story line of the day.

This has certainly been true of the reporting about the national “recession.” There has been no recession, of course. Economic growth in this country hasn’t been anything to brag about for months. But there has been growth nevertheless. However, if you listened to NPR, read the N.Y. Times or watched NBC Nightly News, you’d think we were in the Great Depression. And then these outlets had the gall to report on something called “consumer confidence,” which (we are told) is at an all-time low. If Brian Williams et al. were being honest, they’d say, “Our unstinting efforts to convince everybody that this country is in terrible shape are really starting to pay off”

Of course, their emphasis on the negative is nothing new. Journalists simply don’t show up at work looking for something helpful or encouraging to report. But in this very important election year, they’ve turned naysaying into a fine art.

Two big losses

TED LEIDIG and Ric Masten are gone. We all will be someday, of course. But in the colorful history of this wonderful part of the world, they were two bigger-than-life characters who will be sorely missed.

If you look around, you’ll find people who are really making a contribution to your life, your family and your community. We would like to suggest that you stop for a moment to appreciate and thank them. Because they won’t be there long.

Pine Cone ‘rants’

Dear Editor,

Your editorial on Proposition 98 on the June ballot was reflective of your usual rants about property rights and governmental regulations. This time you don’t bother to take an actual position, which I found interesting. Proposition 98 is a very bad proposition, and a NO vote has huge support from the League of California Cities, the Planning and Conservation League, the League of Women Voters, as well as the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. Yes, we all know why Prop 98 was written. It was written to undermine the law so that developers can make absolutely certain they can change the law to benefit them in any land use regulation or environmental regulation including developer impact fees, zoning changes, density and prohibitions against big box retail. Any developer who feels that they might be losing money on a “deal” could sue, saying their property value was decreasing. What you failed to mention was Proposition 99, also on the June ballot. That proposition addresses the key concerns about the government taking property for use by private developers. A yes vote on 99 will stop eminent domain abuse.

Paula Lotz, Carmel Valley

‘Developers wrote Prop 99’

Dear Editor:

The Redevelopment Agency Association, along with developers, wrote Prop 99. They have all the incentives in the world to make sure eminent domain powers do not go away. In fact, Prop 99 protects nothing, not even owner-occupied homes, because municipalities can use health and public safety statutes to seize homes. This is simply a phony reform.

But Prop 98, the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers initiative, protects churches, homes, rentals, commercial buildings and farm land from being taken by the redevelopment agency and given to a private developer for private profit. Remember, whenever local governments give away almost free land to developers, the money is siphoned from property taxes. It is no wonder there is not enough tax revenue for schools — billions instead spent to subsidize business enterprises.

As for rent control, the few people with such units are grandfathered in. Nobody is

Camelot at outdoor theater

THE CLASSIC tale of King Arthur as told in the musical "Camelot" launched the Forest Theater Guild's summer season this week.

The musical, adapted from the T.H. White novel, "The Once and Future King," follows the conflict surrounding King Arthur's marriage to Guinevere and the eventual betrayal by his devoted knight, Lancelot.

"It's a classic love story," said Jane De Lay, executive director of the Forest Theater Guild. "It is one of the most romantic musicals ever written. It's just beautiful."

The play, written by Alan Jay Lerner with music by Frederic Loewe, is based on the original 1960 production, which ran on Broadway for 873 performances and won four Tony Awards.

Richard Burton, Julie Andrews and Robert Goulet were among the actors in the original Broadway performance. The Carmel cast is also exceptional, De Lay said.

Camelot performs now through June 15 in the Outdoor Forest Theater at Mountain View and Santa Rita. Performances are Thursdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 7 p.m. Tickets are $25 for adults; $20 for seniors and military; $15 for students with I.D.; $10 for children (6-12). Tickets are available at the door. For advance purchase, call (831) 626-1681 or visit www.foresttheaterguild.org.

being kicked out. Forty-four states have already outlawed the government from imposing rent control. Most economists recognize that price controls do not work. They limit the supply, decrease the quality and hurt the low-income people they are supposed to help.

I encourage everyone to vote Yes on 98 and No on 99.

Carmel without cars?

Dear Editor,

I might seem prescient had I written this letter a few months ago. Twice this past summer while crossing the street in Carmel I was nearly hit by a car and I was in the crosswalk. The first incident happened when I stopped to see if the car was going to stop to let me cross and, yes, she did stop, only to start again when I was in front of her. Very scary! My husband standing across the street witnessed this. The second incident wasn't as scary but started me thinking how nice it would be to have a Carmel free of cars. Mind you, this is only a fantasy but it's fun to consider, given how compromised many drivers are by age (young and old), cell phone usage, unfamiliarity with stop signs, aggressiveness of drivers, etc. Carmel could have continuous shuttle service from satellite parking lots. There could be some parking in the downtown area, but it would be prohibitively expensive, thus discouraging most people. And the delightful part of the fantasy is that there would be lovely tables and chairs on the sidewalks. People could stroll across the street back and forth. Think about it ... it's pleasant to contemplate.

Barbara Hylton, Carmel

'I will miss you'

Dear Editor,

It was with great sorrow that I heard the sad news about Ted Leidig. Not only was he a leader in the business community, he was a very stabilizing influence who surrounded himself with very professional and excellent associates who all have helped make the Carmel business community the wonderful place it is today. He had a tremendous sense of loyalty to his associates that one just doesn't find every day. For those of you who didn't have the opportunity to know him, you missed a fine, caring, generous individual. For those many of us who can be counted as his friends, it is a loss that just can't be replaced. Ted, from veteran to veteran, from friend to friend, I will miss you.

YOUR AUTO COLUMN

Presented by Kevin & Sue Anne Donohoe

OVERHEATING

As the summer driving season approaches, you want to be sure that your vehicle's cooling system is in good working order. Even if your automobile seems to be running just fine, breakdowns due to cooling problems can occur unexpectedly, especially if your vehicle is six years old or older. Radiator leaks are only one potential problem that can leave drivers stranded by the side of the road. Hoses tend to become brittle with age, and fittings tend to loosen and become corroded. Thermostats and water pumps also have limited life spans. At the very least, if the radiator coolant has not been flushed and replaced at the recommended intervals, there may be buildups of mineral deposits that restrict coolant flow.

A radiator leak could be a simple fix, but it could be something more serious. One way to be completely sure is to have our experts look at it. We have years of experience and can properly service your car. Preventative maintenance can save you money over the life of your car. All of our work is done by ASE Certified technicians, and we are also AAA Approved. We are the oldest independent repair facility in Monterey going... and growing!

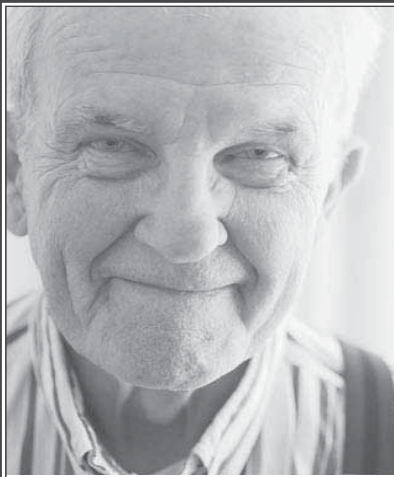

P.S. An overheated cooling system has the potential of causing extensive engine damage.

BBB MEMBER TRI-COUNTIES

Sandy Claws By Margot Petit Nichols

RANGER WOLF, 5, a border collie/English pointer mix, likes to herd sheep. For identification purposes, he has three large, black spots on his back and lots of freckles elsewhere.

Ranger was ambling along the Scenic Road walking path above Carmel Beach Tuesday around noon when we ran into him and his Auntie Susan Gerard. Usually he comes to the beach for early morning and late afternoon walks because most of his friends are there at those times, but today it was an added bonus of a noon walk.

It's relatively quiet at the beach at noontime, and Auntie

Susan and Ranger were enjoying an uninterrupted stroll until we came along with our camera and reporter's notebook.

We learned, in our interview with Ranger, that his favorite toy is a Bunny Rabbit he's had since he was a pup. All his other toys have vaporized during long-term, enthusiastic play, but he treats Bun with the reverence due an old friend. So special is this toy, Ranger greets favored guests with his rabbit when they come for a visit.

Ranger enjoys outings at Garland Park and Mission Trail, too, and loves window shopping and gallery going downtown. A favorite shop is Diggidy Dog, where he's allowed to choose his dessert for the day.

Auntie Susan has been treating him to a little Tri-Tip from Bruno's Market, which she sprinkles over his regular (mostly organic) food. Ranger misses his Mom and Dad, who are away on a short trip, so Auntie tries to make up for it with little treats.

When Dad gets home, Ranger will resume working with sheep at a nearby farm, just to keep his paw in at herding.

"Carmel Legends"

Chances are you don't know where FRASER WAY is. So pay attention and amaze your friends with your knowledge of Carmel trivia. It's a short, one-block street that runs from Casanova to Camino Real below 13th and just north of Santa Lucia. It's the only deviation from the otherwise geometrically perfect gridwork of streets laid out in 1902 by square-rigged developers Devendorf and Powers. And it's a monument to the great Fraser Feud of 1906-14. The Fraser brothers, Hector and Wilbur, owned the whole block, a gift from their late father, Hector, Sr. Wilbur had an ambition to create a public inn which he would call Fraser Ranch. "You're nuts," said Hector. "This is a quiet, residential community." The argument raged for 8 years and was settled only when Hector cut off the lower tip of the block and deed it to Wilbur "in fee simple." Today there are 4 houses on Fraser Way the dividing line, none of them an inn. And, if you believe this story, we have some stock in the new bridge that will cross Carmel Bay that we'd like to discuss with you.

PEBBLE BEACH • "C'EST MAGNIFIQUE"

Within a short six to eight miles of the heart of Paris, you will find any number of quiet villages offering grand homes epitomizing the comfortable yet elegant lifestyle of the French countryside. This classic country French home offers all the elegance and style of a peaceful village setting yet is located less than a mile from the world famous Lodge at Pebble Beach. Offering four bedrooms, four full baths, formal dining room, guest apartment and all on a level one-acre plot presenting the new owner with an array of delightful indoor-outdoor living experiences. Come, see this touch of French Countryside in Pebble Beach and see if you don't agree... C'est Magnifique.

CARMEL VALLEY • "HELLO SUNSHINE"

Carmel Valley has long been known as the place where the sun goes to hide in the summer time and as if to justify The valley's sunny reputation we offer this delightful valley-view home on its own gated, 1.5 acre knoll. Sited at the end of a quiet cul-de-sac you will find an enchanting home simply bursting with brightness. The 2-story, 4 bedroom, 3 bath home is set amongst mature oaks and offers quiet, sunny patios and warm decks taking full advantage of the warm southern skies and the mountain views. Now, picture this delightful home just five minutes from the mouth of the valley. Come, see this captivating Carmel Valley view-home and you too will say... "Hello Sunshine".

Rental Wanted

Award Winning Tenant
Are you looking for a stable, responsible, long-term tenant? I am a single, non-smoking mature woman with great references. For the past 25 years, I have worked at the Carmel Pine Cone, where I now serve as production manager. I am currently seeking a peaceful cottage or apartment with 1 bedroom, 1 bath and a full kitchen in Monterey or Pacific Grove for myself and my small cat, Lily. My lease is up on July 27, so I will have to give a 30-day notice.
If you're interested, call 274-8634.
