A Carmel Valley teenager told police he smashed his 2000 Audi into a tree (top) while trying to avoid a small animal in the middle of curvy 13th Avenue near Mission Street Sunday morning. Ryan Laycox and his passenger, Christina Damoto, both 18, were taken to the hospital, where she was treated for minor injuries, according to Carmel Police Cmdr. Mike Calhoun. Sunnyvale resident Steve Wright was taken to a Santa Clara medical center by CHP helicopter after breaking his leg and suffering scrapes and bruises from a 50-foot fall into a ravine off the Soberanes Canyon Trail in Garrapata State Park July 30 while taking photos, according to Monterey County Sheriff's Cmdr. Tracy Brown. Rescuers from several agencies hiked in, found him and carried him out to the waiting chopper.

Water district chief: State plan would mean rationing

By KELLY NIX

EVEN THOUGH the State Water Resources Control Board's staff last week recommended much smaller water cutbacks than it had first sought for the Monterey Peninsula, the new plan would still result in rationing, according to a local water expert. The rationing, similar to what was imposed during a drought in the late 1980s, might begin as soon as 2010.

In January 2008, the SWRCB issued a proposed cease and desist order that would compel California American Water to cut back production as much as 50 percent over six years. But last week, the water board outlined smaller cutbacks, spreading them out over a longer period of time.

"It's not as, 'Draconian,' as the first draft cease and desist order," said Darby Fuerst, general manager for the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District. "But it's still serious."

'My ration will be less'

Fuerst said the order would mean the Peninsula would jump from stage 1 conservation to stage 5, which means Cal Am would have to cut back its production by as much as 34 percent.

"If we go to stage 5, it affects all existing water users," Fuerst said. "In my home, I will have to reduce my usage because my ration will be less."

The state water board's first proposed cease and

Residents warned about wily coyotes

By MARY BROWNFIELD

FOLLOWING MULTIPLE coyote sightings in the Mission Trail park area this summer, Carmel animal control officer Cindi Mitchell warned people on Tuesday to keep their distance, protect small children and pets, remove tempting food sources and try to scare the animals away.

"I'd like to recommend hazing," she told the Carmel City Council during its Aug. 4 meeting. "If you see wildlife, make loud noises or throw something in their direction."

She also suggested eliminating food sources, such as kibble left out for pets, garbage and even fruit trees.

"It would be best to try to cut down any interaction with them," she said of the coyotes.

Cats and dogs should be kept inside, particularly at night, according to Mitchell, who reported 11 Carmel cats have gone missing since the beginning of the year, though whether predators are to blame, Coyotes resemble dogs, but it is dangerous to approach one, according to wildlife officials.

Before suit was filed, legal bills were $34K

By MARY BROWNFIELD

DEALING WITH a manager's complaints of sexual harassment, age- and gender-based discrimination and retaliation by Carmel City Administrator Rich Guillen cost taxpayers nearly $34,000 — before the resulting lawsuit was even filed — according to invoices provided by San Francisco law firm Liebert Cassidy Whitmore. The firm was hired by the city to address the allegations made by human resources manager Jane Miller, who has been away from city hall on medical leave since May 2008.

Numerous allegations

Miller sued the city in Monterey County Superior Court June 17. Her lawsuit accused Guillen of promoting one city employee without justification, and increasing her salary by 83 percent between 2003 and when she retired last summer. Guillen and the employee, who was married, had an inappropriate relationship, according to the

P.G. recall effort backfires, fizzles

By KELLY NIX

AN EFFORT to recall Pacific Grove Mayor Dan Cort from office backfired on the activists who launched it this week, resulting in a flood of support for the mayor, even as petitions to remove him from office drew only a few signatures.

Saying the controversy would distract the city from important business, Cort announced Monday evening he would resign, just hours after receiving an email from David Dilworth, who threatened to launch a recall effort the next day if Cort didn't leave his post.

In the email message, Dilworth said he would hold off contacting the media about the recall effort if Cort immediately resigned, and even suggested Cort lie to the public about the

RLS PAYS BOARD MEMBER'S FIRM MILLIONS FOR ARCHITECTURE

By KELLY NIX

THE CHAIRMAN of the board of trustees for Stevenson School — who helps determine what the school's headmaster should be paid — is a partner in a San Francisco architectural firm that has billed the school more than $2.5 million over the last seven years.

During that time, headmaster Joe Wandke, who has a role in hiring trustee Mark Hornberger's firm, has been paid about $3.5 million in salary, benefits and expenses by the exclusive private school in Pebble Beach.

According to Stevenson School's tax returns, which the IRS requires to be made public because the school does not pay taxes on its income, it paid Hornberger + Worstell $536,576 in 2007 and other large sums going back to 2001 for design services on the new student center and other buildings.

Hornberger's position with the school, and the profit his firm makes from it, have drawn criticism by some parents of RLS students.

"There can be no pretext that the Stevenson board is independent, certainly not Mr. Hornberger, who has an unbelievable conflict of interest," according to

FEDERAL $$$ BRING VISIONS OF RURAL BROADBAND

By CHRIS COUNTS

A FEDERAL program offering stimulus funds to bring broadband access to underserved areas could be a gold rush for local techies.

Part of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, the Broadband Initiatives Program will disburse about $7.2 billion from taxpayers to expand access to high-speed Internet. The Recovery and Reinvestment Act was signed into law Feb. 17 by President Barack Obama.

The generous offer was great news for the Central Coast Broadband Consortium, a collaboration of volunteers from government, public education and the business community seeking to improve broadband access in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties. Hosted by California State University Monterey Bay, the CCBC aims to one day become a stand-alone nonprofit organization.

In the meantime, the CCBC has to meet some tight deadlines to get the broadband dollars.

The money will be distributed in three rounds, and the deadline for submitting an application for the first round of funding is Aug. 14. Applicants only received notification of the broadband grants five weeks ago.

"The whole nation found out July 3," conceded Arlene Krebs, executive director for the CCBC and director of CSUMB's wireless education and technology center. "There will be hundreds if not thousands of applicants. It's a daunting process."

If the CCBC receives the money it is applying for, local residents won't have to wait too long before they see action on the group's broadband access plan. "The money has to be spent by Sept. 30, 2010," Krebs noted.

If the CCBC's request is approved, the group will embark on an ambitious plan to bring broadband access to rural parts of the three counties by creating a fiber optic network. In Monterey County, one cable would travel down Highway 1 to the San Luis Obispo County line, while another will parallel Highway 101. The two legs would be connected from Salinas to the Monterey Peninsula, with ample opportunities for broadband providers to tap in along the way.

If all goes according to plan, electronic communication in isolated communities such as Big Sur will be vastly improved. "The whole point is to give the three counties the same access to broadband that exists in Santa Clara County," said Steve Blum, who serves on the CCBC's coordinating council.

Blum said the CCBC isn't prepared to say how much money it will ask for, but he did report it will exceed $10 million.

Emergency services would be improved if the fiber optic network, said Dick Ravich, a Big Sur resident and board member of The Big Sur Volunteer Fire Brigade. The Big Sur Health Center, Captain Cooper School, Pacific Valley School and local businesses interested in Internet marketing and sales would also benefit, he said.

While the CCBC hopes to reach every remote corner of the three counties, the plan could be scaled back if funding

Did you know...

First farms - The agricultural roots of Carmel Valley are frequently traced to Spanish priests who, in the 1770s, planted crops and orchards to feed the new settlements at the missions. But the European presence actually ended the original farming that had been going on in the valley for nearly 4,000 years. Rumsen Indian families had learned centuries earlier to harvest seeds in the meadows, till and plant them with "digging sticks" and turn wildlands into gardens. They also learned how to detoxify the acorns in the woods and mill them into edible flour. It took 13 acres of hard seeds and hundreds of pounds of acorns to support each family, according to Mark Hyklema, an archeologist with the California Department of Parks and Recreation. The Rumsen, one of the 50 or so tribes generally called Ohlone, also burned their gardens periodically to control poison oak, clear the land and release new seeds. But after the Spanish arrived and started building settlements, they forbid the Ohlone fires and ended 40 centuries of Indian farming in Carmel Valley.

Police, Fire & Sheriff's Log

Harassment by surrogates

HERE'S A look at some of the significant calls logged by the Carmel-by-the-Sea Police Department, the Carmel Fire Department and the Monterey County Sheriff's Office last week. This week's log was compiled by Mary Brownfield.

SUNDAY, JULY 19

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Vehicle stopped on Torres Street for a traffic violation. Driver, a 30-year-old male, found to be DUI and subsequently arrested. Vehicle towed.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A female subject responded to the Carmel Police Department to pick up one of the two scooters her children left in Forest Hill Park. Female stated the other scooter was black with unknown markings. It was similar to the one that was returned and listed in another report. Female requested we call her if anyone turns in the second scooter.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A 48-year-old male was contacted on Third Avenue at 0224 hours by CPD units. He had an outstanding felony no-bail warrant. Per the language of his parole conditions, he was prohibited from being in the City of Carmel. He was transported to county jail.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Wallet found in the business area on Lincoln Street.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Male driver, age 62, was arrested on Junipero Street for driving on a suspended license and offering false information to a police officer. Vehicle impounded for 30 days. Driver released on a citation.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A concerned neighbor reported seeing a female transient with a small dog camping on the side of a residence in Carmel on Santa Rita Street. Police responded and located the female. She relayed the owner gave her permission to be there. The homeowner was contacted and stated he did not want her on the property. The female was issued a warning and told not to return to the property or she would be trespassing.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Male driver, age 54, was arrested on Highway 1 for an outstanding warrant and also found to be unlicensed. His vehicle was towed and stored by Carmel Towing.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine dispatched to a residence on Guadalupe Street for smoke or odor removal. Arrived on scene with nothing showing. The resident had silenced the alarm. The alarm had been activated due to cooking smoke. The alarm company was notified to assist the resident in resetting the system. The code being used to reset the system did not seem to work.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched to Rio Road for a female near syncope. Patient transported Code 2 to CHOMP.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine dispatched to an apartment complex on Lincoln Street and Fifth Avenue for smoke or odor removal. Arrived on scene to find the alarm sounding, but nothing else showing. Cause of the activation was a crock pot placed on an open stove burner, creating heat and smoke. Contacted the Carmel Foundation to arrange having the system reset.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to the Carmel Mission.

Arrived on scene to find a female in her 60s sitting in the courtyard experiencing dizziness and weakness. She had experienced a possible near syncopal episode inside of the church. Patient care transferred to Medic 39 upon arrival.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a restaurant on Lincoln Street. Arrived on scene to find a male in his 70s lying inside of the restaurant after a possible syncopal episode. The patient struck his head on a wall, resulting in a hole in the wall. Provided basic life support; patient assessment, c-spine precautions, diagnostics, packaging and gathering information. Provided advanced life support and transported person to CHOMP.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched to the Pebble Beach Equestrian Center for a female fallen from a horse. Patient transported Code 3 to CHOMP.

Carmel Valley: After a traffic stop, heroin, marijuana and paraphernalia were found in a vehicle. Two suspects were arrested.

Carmel Valley: Two disruptive children caused a scene after being punished for misbehaving.

Carmel Valley: Two people in a dating relationship decided to spend the night apart after a verbal argument.

Carmel Valley: A juvenile threw a rock, breaking a driveway mirror on Schulte Road. The juvenile agreed to replace the mirror. The victim requested no further action as long as his mirror was replaced.

MONDAY, JULY 20

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Contact was made with some Torres Street residents pertaining to a child custody battle. Person relayed they were in a volatile child custody fight and wished to know their rights. Carmel P.D. detective spoke

Residents must register by Monday to vote on C.V. ambulance tax

By MARY BROWNFIELD

TO VOTE on the new ambulance tax proposed for Carmel Valley, people must be registered with the Monterey County Elections department by Monday, Aug. 10. The all-mail-ballot election features Measure F, which asks voters to approve a $75-and-up tax increase on property owners to help pay for ambulance service in the valley. The elections department began sending ballots to residents last Thursday.

The money would help cover the costs of operating the Carmel Regional Fire Ambulance, which is partially funded by the Carmel Valley Fire Protection District. CVFPD is suffering financial woes and depleted reserves, which drove the board to ask voters to pay more money toward the ambulances upon which they rely. (Most of Monterey County is served by American Medical Response, which is under contract to the county.)

In Carmel Valley, property owners already pay at least $75 per year for the ambulance. If voters approve the tax increase, the average would rise to $150 per parcel, and some properties would pay more. Housing developments would have to pay $150 per apartment, and owners of mobile homes would pay $150 per space. Owners of feed lots, vineyards and orchards would also pay $150.

The owners of office buildings, restaurants, theaters, banks and markets, however, would pay $600, and shopping centers would pay $1,050.

Voters in this election must be United States citizens who live in Carmel Valley, are at least 18 years old by election day, and are not in prison or on felony parole. Registration forms are available at the elections office near Nob Hill in Salinas, as well as at every post office, library, city hall and the DMV.

Ballots must be received in the county elections office by 8 p.m. Aug. 25.

Another key election in Carmel Valley will be held Nov. 3, when voters will decide whether to incorporate.

Neighbors learn to help

CAL FIRE and the three local fire districts it operates will offer community emergency response team training Aug. 15 and 22. The class takes 20 hours, requiring attendance both days, and topics include disaster preparedness, medical operations, fire safety, light search and rescue, organization, disaster psychology and terrorism. The class is designed to teach residents to be self-sufficient during the first 72 hours following a major disaster, when emergency resources are taxed, and CERTs can help relieve the strain by taking care of themselves and their neighbors.

The Pebble Beach Fire Station at 3101 Forest Lake Road will host the first class, and the second will be held at the Carmel Highlands Fire Station on 73 Fern Canyon Road. Each session begins at 9 a.m. To sign up, contact Capt. Jen Valdez at (831) 647-5642 or Jennifer.valdez@fire.ca.gov.

Toiletries needed for rape victims

WHEN THE victim of a rape undergoes examination by a member of the sexual assault response team at a local hospital, her clothing is often taken as evidence, and she has nothing with her to help her clean up.

To help remedy that, a volunteer advocate from the Monterey Rape Crisis Center is automatically summoned to comfort the patient and provide such basics as a change of clothes and toiletries.

"When someone calls 911 and they're taken there, a volunteer is always there," said executive director Clare Mounter. "And the volunteer comes with a bag of stuff, including these all-important toiletry items."

But supplies of the vital items are running low, so the center is seeking donations of soap, body lotion, deodorant, combs and brushes, Kleenex, toothpaste, toothbrushes and other necessities, preferably in travel sizes, according to Mounter.

The Rape Crisis Center keeps its office location confidential, but Mounter said anyone interested in donating toiletries can leave them at The Looking Glass, 555 Webster St., Ste. C, in Monterey. For more information, call (831) 373-3955.

Park district seeks grant recipients

THE MONTEREY Peninsula Regional Park District is offering grants for environmental preservation and protection projects within its boundaries. Tax dollars are available for public agencies and community groups seeking to improve community or neighborhood parks, protect open space or preserve coastal areas. ## Planning commissioner picked for one meeting

ARCHITECT JOHN Thodos will spend one evening as a member of the Carmel Planning Commission, the city council decided Tuesday.

With former chairman Bill Strid's resignation, the commission has had four members for the past few months. But one item on the commission's Aug. 12 agenda requires four affirmative votes in order to pass, and one of the planning commissioners will have to step down because she owns property too close to the applicant's.

Mayor Sue McCloud recommended appointing Thodos, a member of the library board, to serve during next Wednesday's meeting. While he is a planning commissioner, Thodos will step down from the library board, since a city law prohibits a person from serving on more than one, McCloud said.

The item necessitating Thodos' temporary appointment is designer John Mandurrage's eight-year bid to tear down the old bank at Dolores and Seventh and replace it with underground parking, condos and retail space. Because the project calls for a specific type of permit that requires at least four votes for approval, and commissioner Jan Reimers will have to step down because she owns property nearby, it was necessary to have another commissioner behind the dais, planning and building services manager Sean Conroy explained after the meeting.

In addition to Mandurrage's Plaza del Mar project, the commission is set to discuss fires on Carmel Beach and updates to the general plan, Conroy said. The commission will meet in Carmel City Hall on Monte Verde Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues at 4:30 p.m. Aug. 12.

Johnson named top DUI cop

CARMEL POLICE Officer Chris Johnson, long known for his eagle-eyed ability to spot drunken drivers, find stolen cars and nab criminals, was the top DUI enforcer in all of Monterey County during last winter's Avoid the 18 campaign.

The title was bestowed upon Johnson at a July 30 training seminar hosted by the statewide program, according to spokesperson Jan Ford. During the three-week period that encompassed Christmas and New Year's, Johnson cited 11 drunken or drugged drivers — most of whom were caught within the city limits.

The Avoid the 18 campaign aims to quell drinking and driving during holidays, when people tend to be out celebrating. The overtime and additional officers put on duty during the effort are funded by state tax dollars.

Johnson and 18 other officers were praised at the seminar for their combined effort to write 71 percent of the 153 DUI tickets issued during the holiday season, according to Ford.

Is your loved one receiving the best care at the most affordable price?

Your elderly loved one deserves the best possible care. But what you may not realize is that many elderly people do not need the level of care provided by a skilled nursing facility, and most prefer the warm, home-like atmosphere of our assisted living residences. In addition, we provide a secure, social environment that may not be available to someone receiving in-home care.

We have over 30 years' experience providing the elderly with excellent care, without compromise. Please contact us to learn more about Victorian's assisted living residences in downtown Carmel and Hacienda Carmel in Carmel Valley.

Junipero and 12th gets three-way stop

DRIVERS turning onto Junipero Street from 12th Avenue will have to come to a complete stop before turning right or left, according to a decision by the Carmel City Council Tuesday.

The new sign will convert the intersection to a three-way stop that will make the area safer for drivers and pedestrians, according to the city's traffic committee and Carmel Police Cpl. Steve Rana.

Before installation of the sign, the intersection had to be studied by traffic engineer Malcolm Knisely.

The city requested he consider whether the stop sign on northbound Junipero should be moved closer to the corner, but Knisely said it should stay where it is, since there have been no accidents there in the past five-and-a-half years.

In addition to installing the sign, public works crews will paint "STOP" at the limit line by each sign and remove the signs indicating cross traffic does not stop. The project will cost an estimated $200.

DogTown-by-the-Sea

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA IS the best small town in America if you're a dog, or a devoted dog owner, according to Dog Fancy magazine. Editor Susan Chaney presented the DogTown USA award to Mayor Sue McCloud and the Carmel City Council Tuesday afternoon in city hall.

In the September issue of "the world's most widely read dog magazine," a story entitled "Muttropolis" described the winners of the 2009 contest.

The best big city is San Diego, the best mid-sized city is Huntington Beach, and the winner of the small-town category is Carmel, home of 873 dogs and a destination for tens of thousands more that visit each year.

"We're always very happy to visit the cities that win and see how truly welcoming they are to dogs and their owners," Chaney told the council.

After McCloud accepted the award on behalf of the town that markets itself as "Dog Heaven on Earth," Chaney presented a check for $1,000 to the SPCA for Monterey County.

Green building law takes effect Sept. 4

By MARY BROWNFIELD

THE CITY will impose environmentally friendly building and construction practices on projects beginning next month, though applicants filing before the first of the year won't be forced to follow through on them, the Carmel City Council decided Tuesday. With a unanimous vote, council members approved the final version of the new ordinance setting green building standards for new construction.

The council also approved two checklists — one for residential projects and one for commercial — which applicants will use to determine how to make their projects comply. The program is similar to the City of Monterey's.

"The Green Building Ordinance would establish criteria that must be achieved in order for a new construction project to receive a building permit," planning and building services manager Sean Conroy said in his report Aug. 4. "The goal of the ordinance is to sustainably guide development, promote energy efficiency, improve air quality, preserve natural resources and encourage architectural design consistent with the city's design traditions."

With 310 points available on the residential list, minimums for home projects would range from four points (bathroom/kitchen remodel only) to 60 (new construction). Commercial projects would use a 100-point scale, with minimum requirements ranging from 16 points (for a project smaller than 1,000 square feet) to 24 (new construction). Incentives will be offered to encourage accruing more points, though the council has yet to determine what those incentives should be.

For housing, points are given for measures such as reusing construction debris and installing a driveway of recycled-content aggregate. Credit is also given for specific materials in the foundation, noninvasive species in landscaping, compost added to top soil, certified wood and recycled products, durable and fireproof siding, insulation on pipes, renewable energy sources, green flooring and countertops, energy-efficient appliances and myriad other measures.

On the commercial side, builders get points for facilities that encourage alternative transportation, good site selection, water-efficient landscaping, renewable energy, reuse and recycling in construction, and improved "indoor environmental quality" through daylight and views, air circulation and controlling indoor pollutants.

Small projects — re-roofing, routine plumbing and electrical work, seismic upgrades, foundation repair or maintenance, repairs or reconstruction due to damage caused by a disaster, window replacement, small uninhabitable structures, retaining walls and handicap-access work — would be exempt, as would construction on historical buildings.

In addition, if someone can prove compliance would create "an unreasonable hardship," the planning commission could grant an exception.

The law will take effect in early September, and applicants will be required to fill out the appropriate paperwork and indicate which items on the checklists they will implement in order to meet the minimum green standards, but anyone submitting an application before January 2010 won't have to follow through with them. That way, Conroy said, people will get used to how the program works, and the city will have time to work out any kinks that manifest during the tryout period.

The council discussed and ultimately adopted the checklists separately, so they can be modified without undergoing the lengthy process of amending a law, after fielding comments from Kevin Stone, government affairs director of the Monterey County Association of Realtors. He said an MCAR committee of builders, architects and real-estate agents had concerns about some of the checklist items and wanted clarification from the city.

Mayor Sue McCloud agreed, saying references to minimizing turf areas, using noncombustible siding materials, installing low-flow toilets and other fixtures, and other items on the checklists required further discussion. She suggested putting the checklists off for a month in order to meet with the group and refine the lists.

But councilman Gerard Rose favored adopting them and then modifying them as needed along the way.

"A lot of people spent a lot of time pulling these suggestions together," he said. "And I don't think anyone in their right mind will think these will be in place a year from now. This is the time to adopt a point system and see how it works."

The city also "wanted something on the books to see how it works," Conroy said, adding that he will meet with the MCAR group and seek feedback.

"Let's gather as much information as we can over the next four months," councilman Ken Talmage commented.

Anchorwoman revises suit over dog's death

By KELLY NIX

THE TV anchorwoman whose small dog was killed by a Labrador in front of the Pacific Grove post office two years ago has filed a revised lawsuit targeting the elderly father of the Lab's owner.

On July 25, 2007, KION and KCBA anchor Olga Ospina was walking her dog in front of the post office when a Labrador named Samson jumped from a parked Ford Explorer and attacked her maltese, Lulu, fatally injuring the smaller dog.

In October 2008, Ospina sued Samson's owner, Donna Bazan, and her elderly father Donald Armstrong, 81, who was seated in the SUV when the attack occurred. Armed with a new attorney, Ospina filed an amended lawsuit last week targeting Armstrong for not intervening in the melee.

"Armstrong remained on his cell phone while watching ... and made no efforts whatsoever to control his dog," according to Ospina's lawsuit.

Armstrong was on a conference call when Samson and another dog, a German shepherd, jumped through an open back window and attacked Ospina's dog. Bazan was across the street buying coffee at the time.

Ospina contends that because of the attack and the lack of intervention, Armstrong and Bazan are liable and negligent and owe her tens of thousands of dollars. The attack left Ospina with a minor dog bite to her left wrist.

"The actions and inactions of Donald Armstrong were grossly negligent, wanton, indifferent to humanity ..." according to Ospina's lawsuit.

But in a court declaration in April, Bazan provided possible reason her father didn't intervene, calling the 81-year-old

"senile" with "diminishing reasoning abilities and slower thought processes."

"Even if I could have predicted the incident," Bazan said, "I would never have asked or expected my elderly father to be able to control the dogs."

She also said her father, a former test pilot, has congestive heart failure, hearing loss, "significant loss of motor function" and has had hip and knee replacements.

Though Bazan and Armstrong live together with the dogs in Rancho Palos Verdes, Bazan and her attorney, William Gavin, contend, she, not her father, is the owner. Ospina and her attorney, J. Kenneth Gorman, contend Bazan and Armstrong both own the dogs.

Gorman and Gavin did not return phone messages seeking comments about the lawsuit.

Though the amended suit says Ospina, who anchors the 5, 6 and 11 p.m. newscasts on KION and the 10 p.m. newscast on KCBA, needed "emergency care" for her arm, it also says she has suffered more than physical pain.

"Plaintiff suffered severe emotional distress due to all of the circumstances" of the attack, the suit indicates.

Though Ospina contends Samson bit her and she wanted the dog euthanized, when asked about the attack during the hearing in 2007, Ospina wasn't sure if Samson or the German shepherd, bit her.

"I think it was the black one," she said, indicating Samson. Later, though, Ospina said, "Honestly, I ... at this point, I can't tell you."

Bazan said Samson had always been easy to control on a leash and she never considered him "problematic or danger-

COPS FOREGO RAISE

By MARY BROWNFIELD

IN DEFERENCE to the dwindling tax dollars in city coffers, Carmel police officers agreed to give up a promised raise this year, according to a contract approved by the city council without discussion Tuesday.

The three-year agreement eliminates the 8.75 percent raise expected for 2009/2010 but promises a 4.5 percent increase in 2010/2011 and a 5.5 percent raise the following year. Other police department employees will also forego this year's pay raise but will receive 2.5 percent more next year, and another 4 percent in 2011/2012.

According to city administrator Rich Guillen, the raises will cost $84,413 next year, and $103,418 more in the final year of the contract.

The Carmel Police Officers Association "understands the current financial challenges that the city is facing, including the recent impact of the state budget adoption," Guillen wrote in his Aug. 4 report for the council. "Approving this resolution will provide a three-year contractual agreement for the terms and conditions of employment for members of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Police Officers Association, including the POA foregoing a salary increase of 8.75 percent that was set to take effect on July 1."

The new contract was the product of several meetings between the CPD union and the city's "negotiating team," according to Guillen. Union members voted to ratify the contract before it was given to the city council for an OK.

During the council meeting Tuesday afternoon, when he discussed the impacts of the state's financial situation on the city, Guillen praised the police officers for their willingness to do without raises this year.

Besides declines in revenue from sales and hotel taxes, under the recently adopted state budget, Carmel will lose more than $390,000 in property taxes this year that the state says it will repay in three years. The council will meet sometime in the next several weeks to discuss how to carve that money out of the 2009/2010 budget. It could also borrow the difference from reserves.

Cops warn of street closures, advise driving friendly during car week

By MARY BROWNFIELD

WITH RARE and beautiful vehicles packing Peninsula roads during Concours Week — and stopping in downtown Carmel — police Cpl. Steve Rana sought to warn residents, workers and visitors of impending street closures and traffic tie-ups.

The first and most significant event will be the Carmel-by-the-Sea Concours on the Avenue Tuesday, Aug. 11, which will have almost 200 cars, trucks, motorcycles and other eye-catching vehicles parked for showing and judging on Ocean Avenue and several side streets most of the day.

Ocean Avenue, as well as Lincoln, Dolores, San Carlos and Mission streets between Sixth and Seventh avenues, will be closed between 3 a.m. and 7 p.m., “so there will be no parking, whatsoever,” Rana said. An additional block of San Carlos, from Seventh to Eighth, will be used for staging the cars set to enter the show field. That block will be closed from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m.

“People can still drive to Wells Fargo [on San Carlos Street] and use their parking lot,” he added, since the bank will be open for business throughout the COTA. “They just can’t park on the street.”

The underground parking garage at Carmel Plaza on the corner of Mission and Seventh will also be open for public use.

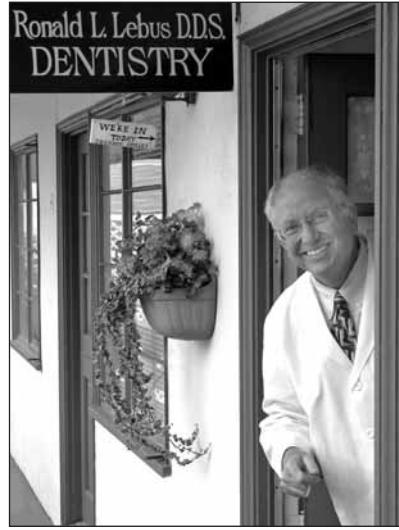

The Concours on the Avenue, which benefits the nonprofit Carmel Foundation, is free to spectators. People are invited to wander among the dozens of show cars — most of which will not appear anywhere else during Concours Week — in the morning and watch awards bestowed at San Carlos and Ocean in the afternoon.

Thursday is Pebble Beach Concours Tour d’Elegance Day in Carmel, where drivers and passengers in some 160 cars will stop and picnic in Devendorf Park while fans admire their wheels along Ocean Avenue for a couple of hours. This temporary display of P.B. Concours cars — some of the finest in the world — is also free for spectators.

From 10 a.m. until 2:30 or 3 p.m., Ocean Avenue will be closed between Junipero and Lincoln streets.

“Historically, the cars have come into

Local contractor wins bid to build CHS theater

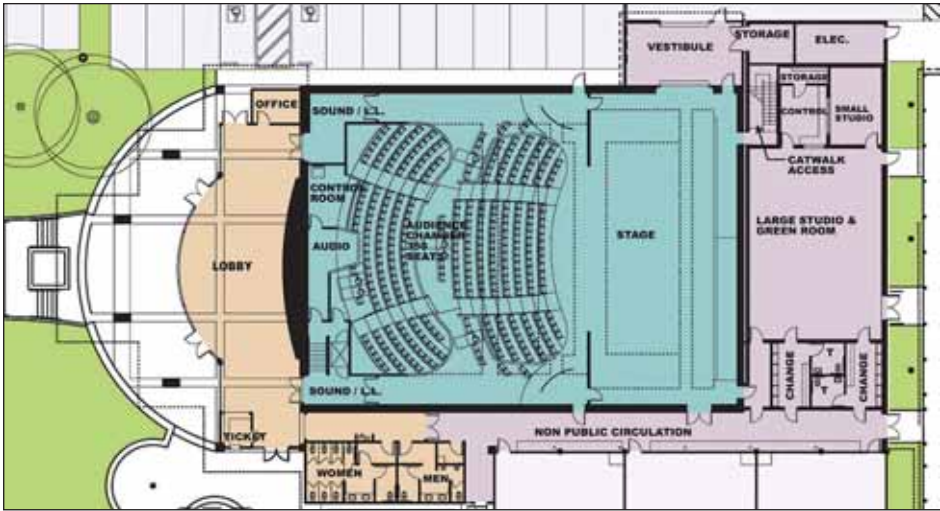

By MARY BROWNFIELD

DMC CONSTRUCTION landed the $8 million contract to build the new theater at Carmel High School. Demolition of the old library to make way for the new building should get under way shortly after school begins this month, according to Rick Blanckmeister, the Carmel Unified School District's chief business official. The contract, approved last month by the CUSD board of education, will take effect Aug. 10 and has a 450-day term, with construction slated for completion in November 2010.

The theater, which will be the crown jewel of the campus and will use more than a third of the bond funds approved by voters in 2005, should be open to students in early 2011. The entire project, including a top-of-the-line television editing studio partially funded with a $750,000 state technology grant matched by district dollars, will cost more than $9 million, according to Blanckmeister. School supporter Bertie Bialek contributed $1 million toward construction of the theater, which will be named after her.

Due to the national recession and drops in material costs, as well as increased competition among contractors, Blanckmeister said the district will get more than it had hoped for when the plans were completed 18 months ago.

The new theater at Carmel High School will include the latest technology and accommodate not just live stage productions, but television and film production, choral performances and other artistic endeavors. Construction of the crown jewel of the campus is set for completion in November 2010.

LIKE MOST PEOPLE HIS AGE HE BELONGS IN A HOME... HIS OWN!

"The building will have an orchestra pit, which was something we had hoped we would be able to have," he said. DMC's bid included a base project, with the orchestra pit as an extra.

All told, the job will entail more than 16,000 square feet of new construction and 3,300 square feet of renovated classrooms. The theater will seat 350 people and have a proscenium stage that can accommodate large sets. The latest technology will be included, and green materials and practices will be used in its construction.

After the building, which will also have a lobby, green room, restrooms, dressing rooms, storage space, ticket office and administrative area, is completed in November 2010, it will take a couple of months to train faculty and staff to use it, according to Blanckmeister. Allowing for this training time, he estimated the new theater and classrooms will be available to students after they return from their winter break in early 2011.

For 30 years it's been his home. But now, he could end up in a nursing institution, simply because he could use a little help with life's daily chores. Who do you turn to when you're all alone? Who can you rely on to maintain your independence?

Vintage car, gold record pay tribute to Doris Day's son

By CHRIS COUNTS

FOR THE aficionados of classic Shelby Cobra automobiles, the Monterey Peninsula is more than just the setting of Concours Week. In a Moroccan-themed bar inside Carmel's Cypress Inn hangs a cherished piece of rock 'n' roll memorabilia that pays tribute to one of the greatest of cars songs, "Hey Little Cobra."

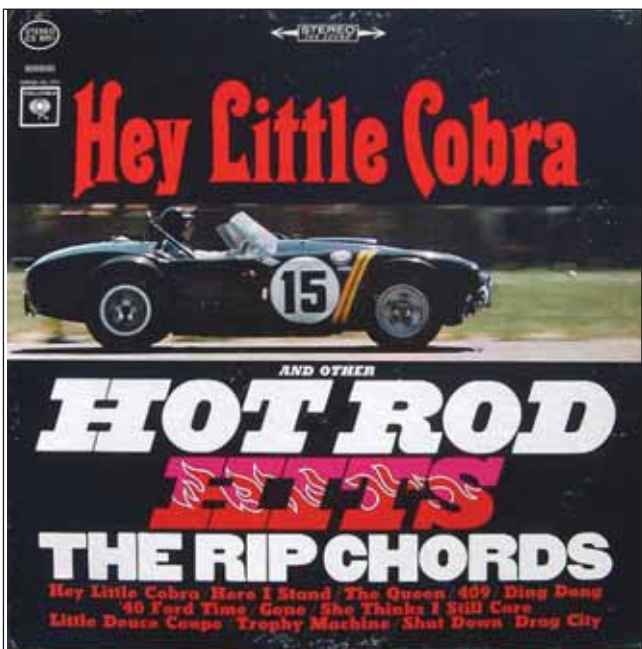

Displayed on the wall at Terry's Moroccan Lounge, a gold record of "Hey Little Cobra" by the Rip Chords recalls a short-lived chapter in pop music history. Early in 1963, the surf music craze swept through the Billboard pop charts. Jan and Dean scored a No. 1 hit with "Surf City," while other surf songs — including the Beach Boys' "Surfin' USA," the Surfari's "Wipe Out," and the Chantays' "Pipeline" — flooded the airwaves. But by the end of the summer, interest in surf music had subsided, and some of the bands that created the genre turned to another subject for inspiration — cars.

Featuring vocals and production by Terry Melcher — the late son of Doris Day and the namesake of Terry's Moroccan Lounge — "Hey Little Cobra" was released late in 1963 and peaked at No. 4 on the Billboard Charts in January 1964. Other car-inspired hits followed, including Jan and Dean's "Drag City" and the Beach Boys' sublime "Don't Worry Baby," but none scored higher on the charts than "Hey Little Cobra."

More than a decade ago, longtime Carmel resident Jon Hagstrom met Melcher at the Cypress Inn, which is owned by Day (Melcher co-owned the hotel with his mother). Partly based on their mutual affection for a particular

The song, "Hey Little Cobra," by the Rip Chords reached No. 4 on the Billboard Charts and helped launch a car song craze in pop music. The record was produced by Terry Melcher, who also sang lead vocals.

'First Fridays' to showcase Dolores Street artists

By CHRIS COUNTS

FOUR CARMEL galleries have joined forces in a new marketing plan. But instead of luring art lovers to receptions with wine, music or hors d'oeuvres, the galleries are highlighting a novel amenity — a living, breathing, working artist.

The inaugural Fine Art First Fridays will be presented Friday, Aug. 7, from 5 to 9 p.m. on Dolores Street, the home of four participating galleries — Gallery North, Gallery Apodaca, Galerie Plein Aire and Steven Whyte Studios.

Gallery North, located on the northwest corner of Dolores and Sixth, features work by an eclectic collection of mostly local artists, including Johnny Apodaca, Rick Carpenter, Cynthia Johnson Bianchetta, Sarah Healy, Barbara Kreitman and many more. Johnson Bianchetta, who is best known as a photographer, will offer a demonstration of her encaustic (hot wax) work.

Twice named Best Local Artist at the Carmel Art Festival, Apodaca recently opened a gallery bearing his name on the west side Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. He'll be working on a new piece throughout the event.

Galerie Plein Aire, also located on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth, pays tribute to the plein aire technique, a popular pastime on the Monterey Peninsula. The gallery features the work of Cyndra Bradford, Jeff Daniel Smith, Howard Bradford and Gerard Martin.

Short film series returns to Big Sur

The Henry Miller Library's short film series continues Thursday, Aug. 13, when it hosts outdoor screenings of "Vi Der Blev Tilbage (We Who Stayed Behind)" by Martin de Thurah of Denmark, "Desert Wedding" by U.S. filmmaker Alexandra Fisher, "El Palacio de la Luna" by Ione Hernandez of Spain and "Lavatory-Lovestory" by Russian filmmaker Konstantin Bronzit.

The library's garden, a popular setting for picnics, weddings, poetry slams and musical events, will serve as a "theater." Showtime is whenever the sun goes down (which will be a little after 8 p.m.). The library is located on Highway 1, about 30 miles south of Carmel. For more information, call (831) 667-2574 or visit www.henrymiller.org.

THE CENTER for Photographic Art hosts a reception Tuesday, Aug. 11, from 5 to 7 p.m. to celebrate the release of the book, "PhotoFocus 2009: Elkhorn Slough." The book's photographs were taken by nine Monterey County students. All proceeds from the book will benefit wetlands' conservation projects. The event is free. The center is located at San Carlos and Ninth. For information, call (831) 625-5181.

FOR BUSY JAZZ FLUTIST, BIG SUR TREK IS MORE GETAWAY THAN GIG

By CHRIS COUNTS

BETWEEN WORKING as general manager for the Monterey Jazz Festival and serving as artistic director for the Kuumbwa Jazz Center in Santa Cruz, Tim Jackson is a busy man. So when he plays music in Big Sur twice each summer, the trek down the coast seems more like a vacation than another job.

"I just love driving down the coast," said Jackson, whose jazz ensemble, Real Time, performs on the outside deck at the Big Sur River Inn Sunday at 1 p.m. "Big Sur is so close, but it feels a million miles away. And it's so relaxing watching the river go by."

When he plays his flute at the River Inn, Jackson will be joined by Marshall Otwell on piano, Jerry Shanahan on guitar, Scott McKenna on bass and Skylar Campbell on drums.

Real Time plays jazz standards, covers by artists like soul singer Marvin Gaye and jazz trumpeter Freddie Hubbard, and a few originals by Jackson.

"Our sound has some Latin in it, some groove and funk, and little bit of straight-ahead jazz," Jackson added. "It's a contemporary sound."

There is no admission charge for the performance, which starts at 1 p.m. The River Inn is located on Highway 1, about 24 miles south of Carmel. For more information, call (831) 667-2700.

■ Musical four-pack returns

The Henry Miller Library in Big Sur hosts the fourth installation of its Second Sunday at Miller's concert series Sunday, Aug. 9.

On the second Sunday of each month from June through September, the library presents four musical acts. This Sunday, Apple Orange, Franklin for Short, Levi Strom and 300 Pounds perform in the library's "garden."

Each Second Sunday concert will feature one Big Sur act — this month's performance will showcase Strom, a singer-songwriter who lives down the coast.

Admission is only $1, (which comes to 25 cents for each act). The music starts at 2 p.m. The library is located on Highway 1, about a quarter-mile south of Nepenthe restaurant.

Merlot Cabernet Sauvignon Champagne Dinner

Eye candy, vino in abundance, summer fruit and blintzes

By MARY BROWNFIELD

FOR 15 years, Carmel Valley couple Gordon and Molly McCall threw a party the Wednesday night of Concours Week to celebrate automotive fun with their friends. The bash got huge, and they recently decided to start selling tickets, which help raise money for the Naval Postgraduate School and California Highway Patrol 11-99 foundations. If combining good food, good drink and a lot of eye candy (think the latest Gulfstream, a high-tech seaplane, extremely rare auction cars, vehicles from private collections, military aircraft and other goodies) sounds tantalizing, McCall's Motorworks Revival is one of the best events to hit next week.

Set for 5 to 10 p.m. Aug. 12 on the tarmac at the Monterey Jet Center, Motorworks offers not just a chance to wander among a diverse collection of expensive and sometimes unique machines, but to sip fine wines and Champagne, and nibble appetizers created by several local chefs.

The party always promises a lot of surprises, but the McCalls revealed several chefs and businesses participating this year, including Il Fornaio restaurant of Carmel, car enthusiasts Pat and Gina Phinny's Baja Cantina, executive chef Mark Ayers of TusCA Ristorante, and chef Jeff Rogers, who will prepare Earthbound Farm and Swank Farm produce in a menu designed to "circle the globe."

Bruno's Market owner Fermin Sanchez and his family plan to serve slow-roasted and BBQ mini-sandwiches, and Joe Loeffler's Kula Ranch Island Steakhouse will bring Pacific Rim-inspired hors d'oeuvres, sushi and sweets. Croce's Pizza in downtown Monterey will be there, too.

When it comes to libation, Surf N Sand, also owned by the Sanchez family, will set up Champagne Lounges throughout the McCall party and pour several imported and domestic bubbliques.

Bernardus Winery, owned by car guy Ben Pon and producer of fine Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Sauvignon Blanc and its signature Marinus Bordeaux-style blend, will be pouring.

And when it's coffee time, Carmel Valley Coffee Roasting Co. will offer cups of premium java.

There will surely be more, and guests should plan to arrive toward the beginning of the party, since appetizers are only promised from the 5 p.m. opening until 7:30. Tickets are $200 per person and can be purchased at www.mccallevents.com. Attendees must be at least 21 years old.

■ Celebrating winemaking

The Monterey County Vintners & Growers Association will hold its 17th annual Winemakers' Celebration in Custom House Plaza in Monterey Saturday, Aug. 9, from noon to 3:30 p.m., when dozens of local vintners will pour their best bottles for hundreds of guests. Add live music by the Dennis Murphy Band, food from the nearby Portola Hotel and educational demonstrations like Seguin Moreau Cooperage's barrel building, and you've got an action-packed afternoon tribute to the fruit of the vine.

The Winemakers' Celebration is a fundraiser for the MCVGA, which "brings together the talents and resources of its members, partners and the community in order to promote and support leadership in the art, the science and the business of wine," and has more than 85 members.

Several of the wineries slated to pour Saturday do not have tasting rooms, so the celebration affords a perfect opportunity to try wines like Belle Glos — which produces Pinot Noir from a few different vineyards — De Tierra Vineyards in the area of Corral de Tierra, Graff Family Vineyards in the Chalone area, Figge Cellars, Pelerin, Michaud Vineyard and many others.

"Wineries will often bring wines that are

■ Getting fruity

McShane's Nursery & Landscape Supply is hosting a bunch of interesting free classes this month, and Saturday's is a Summer Fruit Tasting with Christa Jennings and members of the Monterey Master Gardeners. At 1:30 p.m., guests will taste and learn about "tree-ripe, popular and hard-to-find summer fruit varieties."

The following Saturday at 10 a.m.,

Jennings will return and join rose expert Maggi Coffin for a workshop on summer rose and fruit-tree pruning and care.

And if cooking outdoors, rather than growing fruit trees, sounds best, Jose Samanez and Steve McShane will share the secrets of outdoor kitchens and pizza ovens on Aug. 22 at 1:30 p.m. The workshop will include food and a tour of McShane's house.

The nursery is located at 115 Monterey-Salinas Highway in Salinas and can be reached by calling (831) 455-1876.

■ Fair wine

Twenty judges subjected 138 wines from 26 vintners to scrutiny during the Monterey County Fair Wine Challenge last month and selected the best to pour during the fair at the Turf Club Aug. 13. This year's Best in Show for whites was Ventana Vineyard's 2008 Arroyo Seco Sauvignon Blanc, and the Best in Show for reds was the 2005 Kings Mountain Vineyard Pinot Noir. From 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., guests will be able to taste Gold Medal-winning wines and vote for their own favorites. Tickets are $20 and include admission to the fair.

For more information, call (831) 372-5863 or check out www.montereycounty-fair.com.

■ Mundaka midnights

Gabe Georis' Mundaka restaurant, the lively tapas joint presided over by creative chef Brandon Miller, has been packed since its opening in a Carmel courtyard five months ago, and things never seem to stop changing. Always intent on using whatever is inspiring and in season, Miller is playing with summer truffles, squash blossoms, tiny padron peppers and other gifts from the garden, along with fresh fish and whatever else happens to cross the threshold of his kitchen.

Meanwhile, Georis decided to extend Mundaka's hours to midnight Thursday through Saturday, in order to capitalize on the late-night crowd, and the restaurant offers live music three nights a week.

Mundaka is located at San Carlos Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues and is open from 5 p.m. seven days a week. Between 3 and 5 p.m., cold tapas and wine are available at the bar. For more information or reservations, call (831) 624-7400 or visit www.mundakacarmel.com.

■ More than bagels

Congregation Beth Israel will host its 22nd annual Jewish Food Festival & Craft Faire Sunday, Aug. 30, from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Carmel Valley. Fans of corned beef and pastrami sandwiches, kugel, blintzes, latkes, smoked fish and other treats will not be disappointed, and those looking for something longer lasting will be able to peruse artisans' crafts.

Folk singers Alisa Fineman and Kimball Hurd will perform, as will Israeli dancers and Klezmer-by-the-Sea. Other entertainment includes a sanctuary tour, the reenactment of a traditional wedding, and games for kids from MY Museum.

Visitors should park at Carmel Middle School and take the free shuttle to the festival. Admission is free, and all proceeds from food sales will benefit Congregation Beth Israel's educational programs and charities. The festival will be held on its grounds at 5716 Carmel Valley Road.

Oaks and species they support

HOW DO 1,600 species of wildlife live together successfully?

That's the question Mark Stromberg will ask Sunday, Aug. 9, at Sanctuary Bible Church when he gives a talk on "Life in the Oak Woodlands."

Stromberg is the resident director of the Hastings Natural History Reserve. Located on Carmel Valley Road about 26 miles east of Highway 1, the reserve serves as a biological field station for university students and researchers.

The free lecture begins at 2 p.m. The church is located at 8340 Carmel Valley Road. For more information, call (831) 659-5877.

COBRA

Talbot Chardonnay, the pair struck up a friendship.

One day, over a glass of wine, Melcher asked Hagstrom what his favorite car is.

"I told him it was the Cobra," recalled Hagstrom, a retired airline pilot who moved to Carmel about 20 years ago. "He told me he produced 'Hey Little Cobra' and sang on it. Melcher had another surprise for his friend.

"Terry told me he never even sat in a Cobra," he said. "We made a deal that when I got mine, I would take him for a ride."

Hagstrom finally acquired a Cobra last August, a black model that coincidentally came off the assembly line in 1963, the same year "Hey Little Cobra" was recorded. But tragically, Melcher died four years earlier after a battle with melanoma.

Not fading away

Meanwhile, the song lives on. Like so many one-hit wonders, "Hey Little Cobra" has slowly made it to just about every corner of the globe.

"I even heard it in Russia," Hagstrom recalled.

Melcher's memory lives on as well. Once a familiar face around town, Melcher talked little of the past, and many knew nothing of his accomplishments in the music industry. In addition to singing and producing "Hey Little Cobra," he produced the first two albums for the Byrds, including two of their biggest hits, "Mr. Tambourine Man" and "Turn, Turn, Turn." Melcher also sang background vocals on the Beach Boys' widely acclaimed "Pet Sounds" album, helped produce the Monterey Pop Festival in 1967 and co-wrote the Beach Boys' "Kokomo," which made it to No. 1 on the Billboard Charts in 1988.

"He was a very interesting self-made man," said Hagstrom of Melcher. "I loved drinking Talbot with him. He was just a neat, low-profile kind of guy."

Here is the cover art of Terry Melcher's self-titled solo album, which was released in 1974.

ures he creates each year at the Carmel Art Festival, will present a sculpting demonstration at his gallery, which is located in Su Vecino Court on the west side of Dolores Street.

Since all four galleries are located just a few steps apart, people can stroll back and forth to watch the progress of each artist. "We're trying to show Carmel has a little life in it," Kreitman said.

Painter sets up easel in gallery

Artist Angus Wilson returns Saturday, Aug. 8, to Gallery i, where he'll spend much of afternoon working on his next painting.

A native of Scotland who now lives in the San Francisco Bay Area, Wilson paints in oils, acrylics and watercolors.

For nearly two decades, Wilson pursued a career in tele-

MUSIC

Guitarist brings jazz to hotel

L'Auberge Carmel is best known by Carmelites for its luxury dining, accommodations and classic architecture. But thanks to Carmel Valley guitarist Steve Goodman, the hotel is making its mark on the local music scene.

Goodman's musical preference is jazz, particularly the jazz-fusion sound popularized by Pat Metheny, John Scofield, Gary Burton and others. He also has an affection for Brazilian music and the Beatles.

"No matter what style I'm covering, I find my sound and play it from the heart," explained Goodman, who owns a labradoodle named Miles after the jazz trumpeter.

The guitarist plays in the hotel's courtyard every Thursday from 5 to 8 p.m. L'Auberge Carmel is located on the northeast corner of Seventh and Monte Verde, next to Carmel City Hall. For more information, call (831) 624-8578.

vision, video and the computer entertainment market, where he worked as a director, producer, editor and animator. But in 2004, he left it all behind to pursue his dream of becoming a more traditional artist.

"He has a fabulous sense of color and design," said gallery director Rohana LoSchiavo. "He's taking the traditional genre of still-life painting and invigorating it with color."

The gallery is located on the southwest corner of Ocean and Mission. For more information, call (831) 626-1617 or visit www.galleryifineart.com.

Art Association offers three shows

"In the Fields," an exhibit of oil paintings and watercolors by Salinas resident Carol Parker, brings alive the farm workers, fields and vineyards of inland Monterey County. Parker's show is just one of three opening Friday, Aug. 7, at the Carmel Art Association.

Also featured at the art association this month will be "Local Figures," a collection of oils by Martin and Christine Crozier, and this month's Gallery Showcase highlighting the work of Heidi Hybl and Jan Wagstaff.

The exhibit will continue through Sept. 1. The art association is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is located on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. For more information, call (831) 624-6176 or visit www.carmelart.org.

Keeping it simple

"Meditations," an exhibit featuring contemplative and minimalist paintings by Sue Dirksen and Elizabeth Kaye Kaminski, will be unveiled Saturday, Aug. 8, at the Carl Cherry Center for the Arts.

The work of both artists is profoundly influenced by their studies of Buddhist philosophy.

The center, which will host a reception from 5 to 7 p.m., is located at Fourth and Guadalupe. For more information, call (831) 624-7491 or visit www.carlcherrycenter.org

Sandy Claws

By Margot Petit Nichols

BENTLEY & WINSTON Williams, 1 and 9, respectively, are great pals, despite their age difference. They hale from Anderson, which is near Redding, and are here on vacation.

When Dad Doug and Mom Michelle drive them to Carmel Beach each day, they begin whining in anticipation when they catch the scent of the ocean, because they love to romp in the waves. Well, Bentley romps; Winston stands in the surf up to his knees and thinks deep thoughts. On Wednesday morning, when we encountered them, Bentley had just caught her first wave ever while retrieving a tennis ball.

Winston, the elder, was born in Big Sur at a time when Dad lived here. He was 4 months old when Dad adopted him. He's mellowed through the years and has a sweet temperament. Every morning, he brings in the Redding Record-Searchlight newspaper, and when Dad comes home from his job at Trader Joe's, Winston gives him a smiling welcome. He's an Anatolian shepherd who talks and sings, and when he's in the water, he splashes with his paws, then barks at the splashes. At home, he swims in the Sacramento River.

Bentley, the younger, is a very active Rottweiler/Shar-Pei mix. She gets along well with her older brother, thinks she's still a lap dog, and loves to cuddle. Although both dogs sleep on the floor, Bentley climbs in with Mom and Dad in the morning and makes herself comfortable between them.

Both like TV shows, especially animal programs. They recently watched a PBS documentary on polar bears and barked their way through it. But "Animal Planet" is their fave, during which Winston barks and sings.

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this summons and legal papers are served on you to file a written response at this court and have a copy served on the plaintiff. A letter or phone call will not protect you. Your written response must be in proper legal form if you want the court to hear your case. There may be a court form that you can use for your response. You can find these court forms and more information at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), your county law library, or the courthouse nearest you. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the court clerk for a fee waiver form. If you do not file your response on time, you may lose the case by default, and your wages, money and property may be taken without further warning from the court.

There are other legal requirements. You may want to call an attorney right away. If you do not know an attorney, you may call an attorney referral service. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal services from a nonprofit legal services program. You can locate these nonprofit groups at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), or by contacting your local court or county bar association.

*Tiene 30 DIAS DE CALENDARIO después de que le entreguen esta citación y papeles legales para presentar una respuesta por escrito en esta corte y hacer que se entregue una copia al demandante. # Library book sale

FRIENDS OF the Harrison Memorial Library will host its 37th Annual Book Sale Aug. 13-15 at All Saints Church at Lincoln Street and Ninth Avenue. The event is a major fundraiser for the group, which helps buy materials and pay for programs at Carmel's main and children's libraries, and will feature some 10,000 "donated and sorted books (hardcover and paperback), CDs, records, collectibles and tapes offered at extremely modest prices," according to the group, which described it as, "a great Carmel tradition and a treat for book lovers and bargain hunters alike!" From 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 13, members are invited to shop, and $10 memberships will be available. The sale is open to everyone from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 14-15. Refreshments available. For more information, call (831) 626-8845.

First Tee needs volunteers

MARSHALS AND other volunteers are needed for the Walmart First Tee Open at Pebble Beach, slated for Aug. 31-Sept. 6. The tournament pairs Champions Tour professionals with youth golfers and amateurs in competition on Del Monte Golf Course and the Pebble Beach Golf Links. It raises money for The First Tee of Monterey County, which helps children from all backgrounds learn life skills through the game of golf. According to organizers, volunteers will receive a tournament badge and a guest pass, food and beverage while at work, and a special volunteer appreciation party sponsored by Outback Steakhouse.

To help, contact Susanne Overton at soverton@attpb-golf.com. For more information on the tournament, which will have its Friday-Sunday rounds broadcast on the Golf Channel, visit www.thefirstteeopen.com or call (831) 644-0333 or (800) 541-9091.

A PIECE OF ROLEX HISTORY... ...NEVER SEEN BEFORE IN PUBLIC

ORIGINAL ROLEX DEEP SEA SPECIAL

The record remains unbroken! In 1960 the prototype Rolex Deep Sea Special timepiece was strapped to the outside of the bathyscaphe Trieste captained by Jacques Picard and Don Walsh (USN) reaching a depth of 10,916 meters (35,814 ft.) in the Marianas Trench off Guam. On returning from this abyss -- known as the deepest point on Earth -- it was reported that '... even at 11,000 meters your watch is as precise as on the surface.' This watch was subject to pressure of more than 16,000 lbs. per square inch. Incredible!

NEW ROLEX SEA-DWELLER DEEPSEA

This same commitment to meet standards of performance well beyond any diver's requirements is perfectly expressed in the Rolex Sea-Dweller Deepsea. It's built to exacting standards and superior performance at a depth of 3,900 meters (12,800 ft.). As depth resistance correlates to superior quality and durability, this watch can endure the most extreme conditions you'll encounter. Without a doubt, it's a true descendant of the original.

Everybody Needs a Break Now and Then

Even the most dedicated family caregivers periodically need "time off" to replenish their energy. That's what our Respite Care service is for.

Our Home Care Coordinator will visit you first to discuss your needs and wishes.

When you need a break, we will carefully select a Personal Attendant to be at home with your loved one while you are away, and to follow the routine that you have established.

You can't take good care of anyone else unless you take care of yourself!

"Central Coast Senior Services arranged for care for my parents several times and I couldn't have been more pleased. Literally within a couple hours of my phone call, they had someone in my father's home so he could return from the hospital. They provided 24-hour care for my father, who is blind, including fixing his meals and helping him bathe. I found their services to be exceptional."

Ringers against incorporation

For 15 years, a Carmel Valley horseshoe tournament has raised money for a variety of local charitable endeavors, from supporting the Carmel High School football team, to raising money for the Carmel Valley Community Pool. But this year's event collected funds for a different cause: the movement to defeat the proposed incorporation of Carmel Valley. In this photo, Shay Adams tosses a horseshoe while dressed in a tuxedo. It turns out that Adams — one of about 60 men to participate in the contest — had a prior engagement that required him to wear the fancy duds, and he didn't have time to change. Despite the formal attire, he and his partner won the competition. According to organizer Joan Vandervort, whose family puts on the event each year, $2,190 was raised for the Save Carmel Valley from Incorporation group.

CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA CITY COUNCIL ORDINANCE NO. 2009-8

CONSIDERATION OF AN ORDINANCE AMENDING CARMEL MUNICIPAL CODE CHAPTER 15, ESTABLISHING GREEN BUILDING STANDARDS FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION IN THE CITY

WHEREAS, The City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is a unique community that prides itself on its character and environmental setting; and

WHEREAS, the City has adopted a General Plan and Municipal Code that strive to protect the village character through clear policies and regulations; and

WHEREAS, the City has developed a Green Building Program to guide development in a sustainable manner, promote energy efficiency, improve air quality, preserve natural resources and encourage architectural design that is consistent with the City's diverse design traditions; and

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission recommended adoption of this ordinance to the City Council on 20 May 2009; and

WHEREAS, the ordinance is categorically exempt from the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act as it will have not significant impact on the environment.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA does hereby resolve to:

Amend Carmel Municipal Code Chapter 15, adopting Green Building Standards for new construction (see attachment).

SEVERABILITY

If any part of this ordinance, even as small as a word or phrase, is found to be unenforceable such finding shall not affect the enforceability of any other part.

EFFECTIVE TIME PERIOD

This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after final passage and adoption.

PASSED AND ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA this 4th day of August 2009 by the following roll call vote:

AYES: COUNCIL MEMBERS: HAZDOVAC; ROSE; SHARP; TALMAGE & McCLOUD

NOES: COUNCIL MEMBERS: NONE

ABSENT: COUNCIL MEMBERS: NONE

SIGNED: SUE McCLOUD, MAYOR

ATTEST: Heidi Burch, City Clerk

CMC 15.54 DRAFT GREEN BUILDING ORDINANCE

15.54.010 - Purpose

The purpose of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea's green building ordinance is to guide development in a sustainable manner, promote energy efficiency, improve air quality, preserve natural resources and encourage architectural design that is consistent with the City's diverse design traditions.

15.54.020 - Applicability

The requirements of this ordinance shall apply to all applications for building permits that are not specifically exempt in section 15.54.060.

15.54.030 - Requirements

All building permit applications that are not exempt shall achieve a specific number of points based on the Residential and Non-Residential green building checklists. The checklists and point requirements shall be established by City Council resolution.

Applicants shall note the proposed points on the appropriate checklist and shall reference each point in the building permit plans. The checklists and point requirements shall be reviewed on an annual basis by the Planning Commission.

15.54.040 - City-Owned Properties

To demonstrate a leadership position, all City building projects greater than 1,000 square feet shall exceed the standard point requirements by 15%.

15.54.050 - Ordinance Phasing

Phase 1: Prior to 1 January 2010, this ordinance shall not be mandatory. Unless exempt, all applicants shall submit the appropriate checklist properly filled out, but are not required to achieve a specific point total in order to obtain building permit approval.

Phase 2: Beginning on 1 January 2010, all building permit applications that are not exempt, or that are not associated with planning permit applications that have been approved or determined to be "complete" by the Planning Department prior to 1 January 2010, shall comply with the requirements of this ordinance.

15.54.060 - Exemptions

The following building permit applications are exempt from this ordinance:

1. Re-roofing permits.
2. Plumbing, electrical and mechanical permits when not associated with remodels or additions.
3. Seismic retrofits.
4. Building foundation repairs and/or maintenance.
5. Repairs and/or reconstruction due to damage caused by fire, explosion, acts of God, or acts of the public enemy.
6. Window replacements.
7. Non-habitable accessory structures of 200 square feet or less.
8. Retaining walls and/or other site improvements not associated with building construction and/or remodeling.
9. Volunteer handicap accessibility upgrades including elevator installation.
10. Additions and alterations to historic structures.

15.54.070 - Exceptions

If, due to unusual circumstances, an applicant determines that compliance with this ordinance creates an unreasonable hardship, the applicant may apply for an exception with the Planning Commission. The burden of proof shall be on the applicant to demonstrate that the requirements of this ordinance create an unreasonable hardship.

15.54.080 - Incentives

Incentives for exceeding the minimum standards of this ordinance shall be established by City Council resolution.

desist order called for Cal Am to reduce river usage by 50 percent within six years. The new draft order could spread the cutbacks over a period as long as 30 years.

The MPWMD board of directors met in closed session Wednesday to talk about what the order could mean. It will continue to discuss it at several more meetings.

"This is a more modest but continuous reduction," Fuerst said. "But whether it jeopardizes public health and safety, we are not prepared to say."

Cal Am also said it's analyzing the recommendation to determine how it will affect the company and its customers.

"I can't really speak to specifically what the customer impact will be," said community relations manager Catherine Bowie. "But I will say that I don't believe that additional cutbacks are necessary before we have secured a new water supply."

On Sept. 2, the SWRCB will consider the staff proposal at a public hearing and could adopt it before Oct. 1. Bowie said Cal Am would be at the hearing to address the water panel.

Also in September, a U.S. District Court judge will hear a lawsuit the Sierra Club and Carmel River Steelhead Association filed against Cal Am that would order the company to immediately reduce its pumping from the Carmel River — the Peninsula's primary water source — by 35 percent.

Both groups contend overpumping of the river has led to declines in the populations of steelhead fish and red-legged frogs. The lawsuit claims the steelhead population has reached a 17-year low.

COYOTES

and which ones, remains unknown.

Besides coyotes, mountain lions, bobcats, foxes, raccoons, eagles and owls have been known to kill pets in Monterey County.

Mitchell said most of the coyote sightings occurred in June. First, a regular dog walker in Mission Trail Nature Preserve reported seeing a coyote — which "did not look like it had missed a meal" or might have been pregnant — several times.

A resident whose property is near the park said he had seen a coyote in his yard on numerous occasions, and at one point, it chased his cat.

Research indicates they are more often seen between March and August, during breeding and whelping seasons, according to Mitchell.

Councilman Gerard Rose said he knows someone who reported seeing a coyote this week that did not appear to be afraid.

Children in particular should be kept away from coyotes, which can appear friendly, Carmel Police Chief George Rawson pointed out.

"People should be careful not to fall into that sense of security that a coyote can be petted like a dog," he said, adding that in Southern California, people reported coyotes injured children.

Mitchell asked anyone who sees any wildlife acting aggressively or boldly to call the department at (831) 624-6403. She also recommended visiting www.keepmewild.org, a California Department of Fish and Game website containing useful information and advice.

suit. Miller also said Guillen embarked on a similar relationship with another employee and consequently increased her pay by 70 percent since hiring her four years ago.

Furthermore, Miller alleged, Guillen forced older employees out. He also repeatedly sought Miller's affection, making inappropriate comments, touching her, calling her, sending emails and text messages, and contacting her at home early in the morning and late at night. She said she was intimidated by him and reported he became hostile toward her.

In May 2008, attorney Michael Stamp wrote a letter to the mayor and council advising them of Guillen's alleged behavior. The following day, Miller left on medical leave after being "evaluated and treated for symptoms caused by the illegal actions of the city," according to the lawsuit. She said neither that letter, nor any that followed, generated a response from the council or the mayor.

Between June 30, 2008 — shortly after Miller began taking the steps to formalize her complaint — and Liebert Cassidy Whitmore's most recent April 30, 2009, invoice, the case has cost the city $33,476 in attorneys' fees and $455.25 in other expenses, according to the bills furnished by the law firm.

Details of the invoices, including hourly rates, amounts of time spent and for what purpose, were redacted by attorney Suzanne Solomon.

"You have requested records that are protected by the doctrines of attorney-client privilege and attorney work product," she wrote in a July 28 letter responding to The Pine Cone's query. "Accordingly, the information in this request is exempt from disclosure" under Government Code section 6254(k).

She said the city agreed to provide copies of bills relating to Miller's case "that reveal only the amounts billed and the dates of the invoices."

She also wouldn't disclose how much she planned to bill the city for providing the documents to The Pine Cone.

Miller's lawsuit, which seeks attorneys' fees and monetary damages for discrimination on the basis of gender and age, sexual harassment and retaliation, is next set to be discussed by Stamp and the city-hired attorney from Liebert Cassidy Whitmore, Richard Bolanos, in a Monterey courtroom in December.

Miller's husband, Scott, a former Pacific Grove police chief, sued that city in 2004 alleging wrongful termination. That suit resulted in a cash settlement for Scott Miller.

May Waldroup, former owner, The Barnyard and Thunderbird bookstore

This was not a difficult choice. I'm delighted with my life at Carmel Valley Manor. The location is superb; I've loved the Valley since the first time I saw it. My apartment and patio are just right. It felt wonderful to let go of excess furnishings and decorative objects. Community life offers many enjoyable options. I frequently visit friends in the Manor's wonderful care centers and it's good to know those are available should I ever need them.

Has the Herald learned its lesson?

IN ADDITION to all the other character flaws David Dilworth displayed in his attempt to blackmail Pacific Grove Mayor Dan Cort, the most prominent was arrogance.

It's no surprise, of course, that Dilworth has a high opinion of himself. Anybody who's sat through one of his performances at a public hearing already knows he thinks he's an expert on every subject.

But Dilworth's now-famous threatening email (which the mayor wisely released to the media and which you can read in full on page 30A) showed that Dilworth actually believes he has become some kind of local political colossus, instead of being merely a joke.

To understand this, consider the numerous presumptions that underlie the extortion attempt, including:

■ Dilworth's belief that threatening Cort with a recall might actually result in him being recalled (not a chance).

■ That Cort's reputation would be ruined by the recall effort (whereas, being attacked by Dilworth is actually something to be proud of).

■ And that, so serious were Dilworth's complaints against the mayor, and so powerful his recall threat, that Cort's immediate resignation could be demanded (which Dilworth got, but not in the way he intended).

This sorry episode is now over, with Dilworth's scheming and conceit fully exposed in front of the whole community. But it's worth asking: How did Dilworth come to believe he was such an important person? And the answer is because he's gotten years of fawning attention in the media — attention which invariably begins with guileless coverage of Dilworth's antics in the Herald, and then spreads around the world. It's something we explained two years ago in an editorial called "The Dilworth Phenomenon."

But another episode is worth recalling in the context of Dilworth's latest arrogant attempt to humiliate a local elected official.

Several years ago, the California Coastal Commission was meeting at a hotel in Monterey. Suddenly, just before the public comment period began, a well known reporter for the Monterey County Herald arrived and took a seat in the audience. A few minutes later, the chairman of the coastal commission, who was giving members of the public their turn to address the mighty assembly, called Dilworth's name, at which point Dilworth went to the lectern and shamelessly announced he was there to give Monterey County Supervisor and coastal commissioner Dave Potter the "Liar Liar Pants on Fire Award" because of something Potter had done which Dilworth didn't agree with.

While Dilworth spoke, the reporter from the Herald took notes. When he finished, the reporter left.

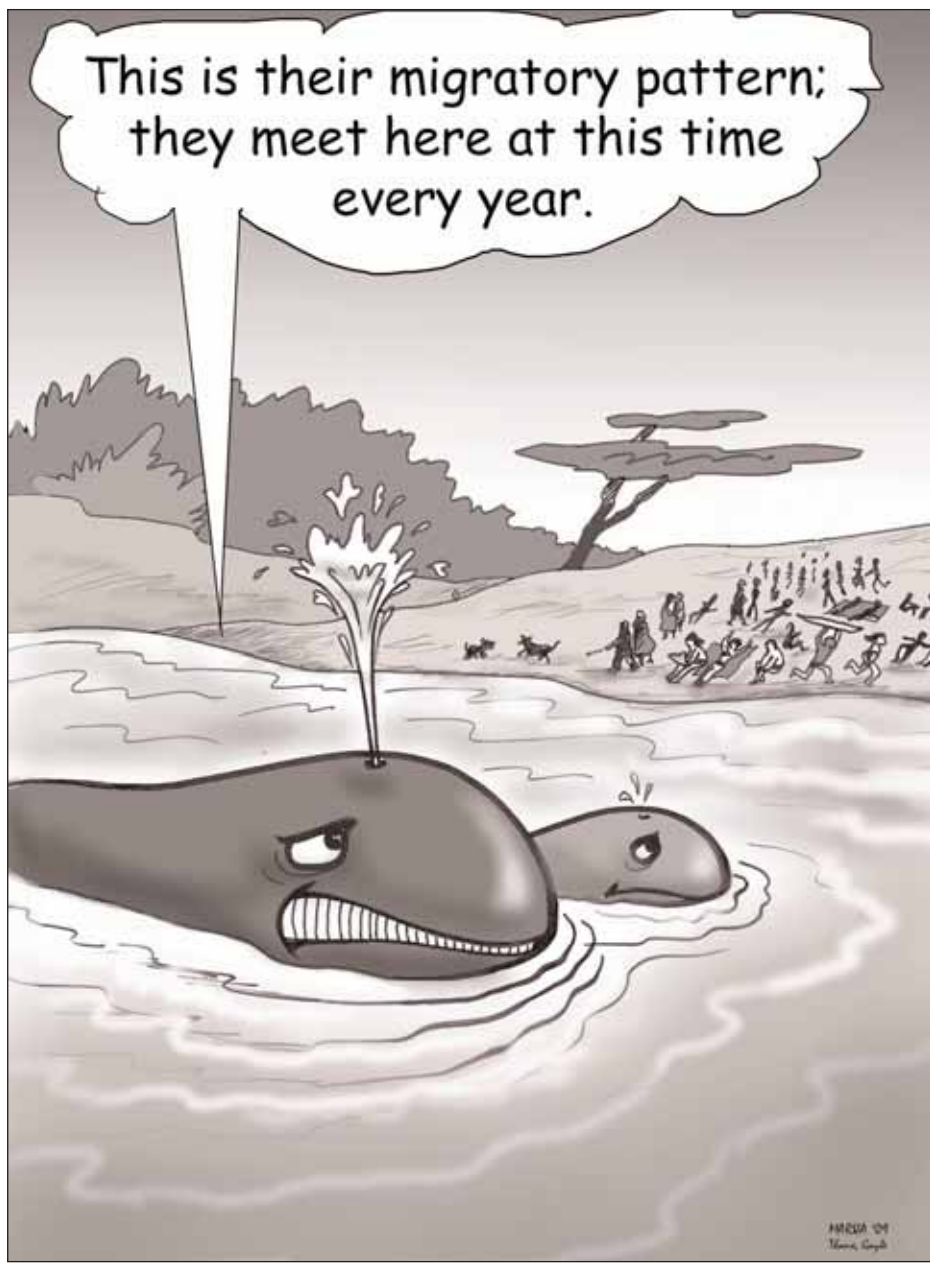

A few days later, the embarrassing episode was reported in the Herald without a hint of skepticism, thus elevating it from a brief farce played out in front of an audience of perhaps 100 people to something that was embellished with the Herald's credibility even as it was delivered into the hands of tens of thousand of local news consumers, and which now lives forever in the Herald's archives.

For Dilworth, the coverage once again validated his fantasy that he's a legitimate news figure — someone so important he could summon a Herald reporter at will and have even his most outrageous publicity stunts treated as though they actually mattered.

Now, even the Herald has apparently decided Dilworth has gone too far. Though its news coverage continues to refer to him as executive director of HOPE, in an editorial Monday the paper wrung its hands over Dilworth's attempted blackmail of Cort, and wished Dilworth would "leave the arena." But it was the Herald that put him there in the first place. And this is also the case with quite a few of the Monterey Peninsula's other crackpot activists.

If you want them to go away, all you have to do is stop paying attention to them.

In the wrong neighborhood?

Dear Editor,

As a Carmel homeowner north of Ocean, it seems all conveniences have been directed to the "Golden Rectangle."

Has there been any talk of building a stairway down from the bottom of Fourth Avenue to the beach? The trail as it is, ends in a fairly steep descent to the beach.

It would certainly not only be more convenient for many of us, but would prevent the erosion of the trail that leads down to the beach at that point.

J. Riedel, Carmel

Friendships and love

Dear Editor,

I recently heard the Carmel is considering banning fires on the beach and I would like to put in my two cents' worth. While beach fires, like anything else, can be a nuisance in the hands of irresponsible people, in my opinion, this downside is far outweighed by the friendships and love which can flourish beside a warm fire as the sun sinks into the mighty sea. I enjoyed many such fires during my Carmel childhood, and I hope that when I retire there my grandchildren will be able to have the same wonderful experience.

Jan Riddle, Reno, Nevada

Banning it all

Dear Editor,

No fireworks on the Fourth of July? No campfires on Carmel Beach? What's next? No hot dogs, apple pie or baseball? All of those things have impacts on the environment. And think of all the CO<sub>2</sub> your mother generates!

Peter Stinson, Carmel Valley

Rana also said parking along some side streets will be intermittently prohibited to allow drivers to make U-turns if necessary.

Friday, the Pacific Grove Concours Auto Rally rolls through town, closing the Del Mar parking lot near the beach at the foot of Ocean Avenue from 4 to 7 p.m. to allow the 200 cars to stage after arriving from Pebble Beach. The group will then head up Ocean Avenue to Highway 1 escorted by the California Highway Patrol.

Certain parking spots will also be saved for vehicles with special permits Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 14-16.

"Good ideas sometimes fall victim to reality," said Blum, a broadband consultant whose company, Tellus Venture Associates, is based in Seaside.

If broadband access throughout Monterey County does become a reality, Krebs said a small but growing group of volunteers who have been working on the issue for more than a year will deserve credit.

"The consortium has generated a lot of interest and enthusiasm," Krebs added. "Congressman [Sam] Farr is very supportive of what we're doing. People are hearing about this and they appreciate what we're doing. They're coming out of the woodwork and offering their services."

The Art of CARPETING & DECOR

with Dan Jones

UNDERLYING TEXTURE

When purchasing carpet, give careful consideration to its texture, which determines both surface appearance and resistance to wear. Velvet or plush pile carpets have all their fibers cut at the same height, making them more susceptible to showing footprints and soil. Saxony texture is similar to plush, but each yarn has a set twist that minimizes yarn flaring. The hearset twist improves thickness retention, thereby reducing crushing. Level loop pile carpet is composed of loops of the same height. It can take hard wear and hides footprints and furniture marks. Multi-level loop pile has a sculpted pattern that hides dirt. Cut and loop textures combine cut-pile and loop-pile yarns and are slightly less durable than multi-level loop carpets.

When it comes to choosing carpeting for your home or office, some people have a flair for making the right decisions and some don't. If your decorating solutions fall short of your expectations, perhaps it's time to put yourself in the hands of the professionals at CARPETS & FLOORS, INC. We have the experience, skill, knowledge, creativity, and products necessary to turn decorating dreams into living color. Ready for some changes? Then you're ready for us! one parent, who asked not to be identified. He said Hornberger benefitted from his relationship with Wandke, and vice versa. "Basically, the board is hand picked by Joe Wandke to allow him to do whatever he wants, which apparently means using the school as his personal piggy bank," the parent said.

Ken Hess, parent of a Stevenson alum, said allowing Hornberger's firm to benefit from the school raises questions.

"One of the more common conflicts of interest that afflict charities is self-dealing, such as when the charity buys products or services from its own board members," said Hess, president of the national charity, Science Buddies, that maintains a science website for students.

But Hornberger said it is appropriate for his firm to do multimillion-dollar business with the school, even though he is the chairman of the board of trustees.

He outlined several reasons.

Though Hornberger, who graduated from RLS in 1968, admitted he discusses with other board members the "appropriateness of the level" of Wandke's compensation, he said he recuses himself from voting on the specific amount Wandke earns. "I don't make the recommendations, I don't set it, I don't vote on it," he said. "My job is to make sure we are setting performance guidelines for Joe."

A separate subcommittee of trustees votes on Wandke's salary, a process Hornberger said he's not a part of.

Any architectural work Hornberger personally performs for the school is done pro bono, he added. Furthermore, fees senior architects at Hornberger + Worstell charge the school are "significantly discounted."

"The school is at a significant advantage by not having to pay for my time," he told The Pine Cone.

Stevenson School paid Hornberger + Worstell for its work on its 31,000-square-foot Rosen Student Center, 20,000-square-foot Atwood Residence Hall and 48,000-square-foot Keck Day Hall. Hornberger said the firm has also done work on the headmaster's new home, which replaces the one gutted by a fire in 2007.

Stevenson's CFO, Ed DiYanni, said Hornberger's position with the school has been raised as an issue before, but the school kept Hornberger on as chairman. "He has in the past offered to step down," DiYanni said.

Wandke was on vacation and unavailable for comment, DiYanni said.

According to the Association of Community College Trustees, many states have laws that define conflicts of interests, which "may prohibit trustees from making decisions that would benefit their income, personal investments and businesses owned by the trustee or family members."

"Public service as a trustee is intended to benefit the [school] and the community, not the individual trustee or his or her relatives or friends," according to the Washington, D.C.-based nonprofit organization.

But Hornberger insists he and other trustees follow strict rules and regulations that include requiring board members to recuse themselves when necessary.

"We follow those steps very carefully," he said.

reason for his resignation.

"If you publicly elect to resign 'for family' or any other reason before we begin gathering signatures at 11:45," Dilworth wrote to Cort, "the people who have already signed have agreed that the media and the general public never need know about you facing a recall effort."

"Do not construe this as a negotiation," Dilworth added, "nor is it up for discussion."

But after Cort's announcement he would resign, the mayor said he received more than 450 email messages, many of them pleading with him not to quit.

"They brought tears to my eyes," Cort told The Pine Cone. "They were the most loving messages."

Many of the emails he received chastised Dilworth (who claims to be executive director of an environmental group called Helping Our Peninsula's Environment) and activist partner Terrence Zito for making the recall threat and Dilworth's email.

"Most of the messages I got said Dilworth is just a mean-spirited person and that they never had any confidence in him or liked him," Cort said.

During Wednesday's council meeting, about 14 people addressed the council in support of Cort, but not one spoke in support of the recall effort. Dilworth and Zito have reportedly only collected a handful of the 1,000 signatures of registered voters required to place the recall on the ballot.

The Pine Cone sent questions via email to Dilworth. "Politics, like art, is about drawing the line somewhere," Dilworth said. "We all have to decide what is too much."

Though Dilworth's threatening email may not have broken any laws, Cort said he feels Dilworth's reputation has been permanently damaged by the email message.

"I think it's the end of whatever limited credibility that man had," Cort said.

Jennifer Haydu, who said she has previously defended Dilworth, sent him an email message this week, calling the recall effort a "ridiculous waste of time" and a result of a "personal vendetta."

Others said Dilworth "went too far," is in need of "psychiatric care," and called him a "nutjob."

Not a crime?

Cort said he doesn't believe a recall effort would have ever been successful and said his decision to resign was made based on family issues, and to spare the city and fellow council members the distraction while it grapples with its financial problems.

"I don't think we should be distracting this city from the work it's doing," Cort said.

Zito Tuesday also announced an effort to also recall council members Bill Kampe, Vicki Stilwell and Deborah Lindsay "for their votes to give raises to city employees while cutting back vital services for Pacific Grove citizens," and for a "pattern of mismanagement of city assets and finances."

"Four former P.G. city council members" have signed the recall petitions, Dilworth said Thursday.

In his now infamous email to Cort, Dilworth wrote, "There is one small light remaining for you, assuming you may wish to save your reputation from the recall footnote that would be in your Wikipedia entry for the rest of your life."

Though Cort, 58, told The Pine Cone he felt Dilworth's email message amounted to extortion, Monterey County Chief Assistant District Attorney Terry Spitz said it doesn't appear a crime was committed.

"Demanding that a public official resign or face a recall effort, without more, would not appear to fall within the prohibitions of [California Penal Code statutes]," Spitz said.

As of Thursday, Cort had not signed resignation papers with the city.

City attorney David Laredo said the city council has 30 days from the effective date of the Cort's vacancy to fill the position. Four council members must vote to appoint Cort's replacement. "The appointed officer would serve for the remainder of the unexpired term, or until the next regular city election after the appointment, whichever next occurs," Laredo said. "For the mayor, this would be November 2010."

■ Dilworth's Aug. 3 email to Cort

Hello Dan,

Sorry to bring you bad news. Tomorrow morning at 11:45 we will begin publicly gathering signatures to recall you from office. I have attached a copy of the Recall Notice petition.

There is a group of cross-partisan citizens who have committed to work diligently and persistently to allow Pacific Grove voters to remove you from office.

There is one small light remaining for you, assuming you may wish to save your reputation from the Recall footnote that would be in your Wikipedia entry for the rest of your life. Do not construe this as a negotiation, nor is it up for discussion.

I am authorized to let you know that if you publicly elect to resign "for family" or any other reason before we begin gathering signatures at 11:45 — the people who have already signed have agreed that the media and the general public never need know about you facing a recall effort.

I am authorized to let you know, because I am the only one left who wishes to give you the chance to save face.

With all due respect and haste,
David Dilworth

POLICE LOG

with the residents, and police responded to their home to discuss the matter further. Nothing criminal was noted, and this is just informational at this time.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person on San Carlos reported being harassed by an ex-friend. The person has not had direct contact, but the other party is using other people to do this. He asked the subject to leave him alone but she still talks to his friends. He relayed she has not made any threats toward him but it is annoying. Officer gave him information and advice pertaining to restraining orders, and he stated he would look into them. Information only at this time.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A Mission Street resident called to report some minor damage to her side-view mirror. She said she parked her vehicle across from her home for five or six hours, and when she came back, her side-view mirror glass was chipped. It is unknown what caused the damage, but she wished to inform police of the occurrence. There were no witnesses to the event. Person wished to remain anonymous.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Unattended purse found on Dolores Street in the business district and brought to CPD for safekeeping. Owner arrived at CPD at 2140 hours; property returned to owner.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A female in her 70s went to the fire station to report "not feeling well" and was experiencing weakness and low blood pressure. She had a dialysis session earlier in the day and was not feeling well and had poor appetite the day before. Provided patient assessment, diagnostics, oxygen administration, packaging and gathering information. Ambulance transported person to CHOMP.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched on a mutual aid for AMR to Mesa Drive for a female near syncope. Patient transported Code 2 to CHOMP.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ambulance dispatched on a mutual aid for AMR to a 17 Mile Drive address for a female near syncope. Patient transported Code 2 to CHOMP.

Carmel Valley: Person reported hearing an unknown suspect(s) opening the door to his vehicle parked on Buena Vista del Rio. No items were reported stolen from the vehicle.

Big Sur: Man reported his friend failed to return home after hiking in the Big Sur area.

Big Sur: Adult male body located in Big Sur. Cause of death determined to be suicide.

Carmel area: Unknown person(s) forced entry to the victim's home and stole property.

TUESDAY, JULY 21

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A citizen on Santa Lucia reported seeing a raccoon in the daylight morning hours and possibly under some decking. Officer responded and checked the decking and yard around the house, and no raccoons were found. Educational information discussed with homeowner.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A citizen reported seeing a male citizen with two dogs. She had concerns about the dogs' temperament on or near the beach. Person said there was a previous contact in the past week of aggressive behavior by one of the dogs. Both parties were contacted and their concerns discussed. No violation seen during contact. Definitions of CMC 6.08.070 and 6.08.050 discussed with the dog owner.

Carmel Valley: A fence post in Lambert Flats was cut down. Neighbor admitted cutting it down. The victims did not wish to prosecute the suspect. The incident was documented.

Carmel area: Suspicious persons reported at 14th Avenue and Carmelo Street. Victim thought that the residence was being burglarized. Upon further investigations, the two males at the residence were gardeners and had permission to be there.

Carmel Valley: A Carmel Valley resident reported someone entered her locked vehicle while it was parked on Garzas Road, setting off the alarm. Items inside the vehicle were moved but not taken.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A citizen's vehicle was reported parked in the same location on San Carlos Street for five days without moving. This vehicle was normally moved; therefore, a welfare check was made with the vehicle owner. Vehicle owner found to be OK, and the vehicle was moved.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Solicitors were contacted at Santa Rita and Second, and found to not possess any documents supporting their nonprofit status for requesting donations to support the Fund for the Public Interest/Environment California. Information was provided on how to forward the nonprofit status information to the Carmel Police Department. The solicitors agreed to delay any further solicitations until they obtained and forwarded the appropriate documentation to the Carmel Police Department.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine dispatched to Junipero and 11th for a water problem at a residence.

THURSDAY, JULY 23

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Citizen reported barking dogs in the backyard of the residence located at Torres south of Mountain View. Citizen stated the dogs had been barking since 0600 hours. Citizen has attempted to resolve the situation with the dog owner in the past with no success, as this has been an ongoing problem for two years. Citizen still wanted to try and resolve the situation without issuing a citation and requested that contact be made with the owner of the dogs. Attempted to contact owner with negative results. Located two small dogs inside residence and two dogs located in backyard. Further attempts will be made to contact the owner.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A citizen reported a dog loose in the residential area of Lobos. Officer responded and transported the dog to the Carmel Police Department for safekeeping until the owner could be found. The owner was located and came to the department to retrieve the dog. A warning was given, and kennel fees were paid.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire was reported in area of Mission Trail Park near Flanders Mansion. Fire engine dispatched to a fire seen from the area of Crespi and Flanders. Engine crew met with the reporting party, and the location was determined to be in an area on the east slope of the canyon. Fire Comm notified Cal Fire for response to the Hatton Road side. Carmel PD units located the fire approximately 300 feet north of the Flanders Mansion driveway, where engine crew deployed 150 feet of attack line to a spot fire of 20 feet by 20 feet in size but with a slow rate of spread. The fire was contained at 2200 hours, and with the assistance of a Cal Fire engine, mop up was completed and the fire declared controlled at 2240 hours.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a residence on Torres Street for an elderly male in cardiac arrest. Crew assisted with AutoPulse and advanced life support. Patient transported to CHOMP Code 3 by ambulance.

Carmel area: Someone took a camera after the owner mistakenly left it at a restaurant.

FRIDAY, JULY 24

Carmel-by-the-Sea: An employee of Professional Property Maintenance reported graffiti inside the restrooms at Forest Hill Park.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A loose dog was found on First Avenue and later returned to the owner at the Carmel Police Department. Kennel fees paid and a warning issued.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Citizen on Lopez reported a residential burglary that occurred sometime between July 10 and July 24.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A citizen on Torres responded to CPD to report receiving a letter from a neighbor complaining about barking dogs being kept at his residence. Citizen advised his spouse was caring for two golden retrievers for a friend traveling in Europe. Citizen advised his spouse was currently in Los Angeles and he would ask her to contact the animal control officer upon her return to try and resolve the barking-dog issue with the neighbors.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person called to report losing her husband's wedding band somewhere on Carmel Beach. Person wanted to report the incident in the event the ring was found and turned in to the police department. A brief description of the ring was provided. Nothing further.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Suspicious person seen in the driveway located at Sixth and Santa Rita. A neighbor called Carmel P.D. advising a male approximately 40 years old with black hair, wearing a dark brown suede jacket standing in a neighbor's driveaway. Subject appeared to be coming from the garage and made eye contact with neighbor. Subject waved, got on his cellular phone and walked "briskly" west on Sixth Avenue. Owner of residence contacted and noticed nothing disturbed and stated garage was empty due to being painted previous day. Owner requested periodic checks of residence during evening hours due to the large amount of construction equipment in yard.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Responded to a welfare check on a subject at Rio Road and Highway 1 in Safeway after MCSO located him. Subject said he had an argument with family members earlier in the evening and was depressed. Subject stated he did not want to hurt himself or others and did not want to seek mental health assistance. Subject was transported to his residence without further incident.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine dispatched to Scenic and 13th at the request of Carmel P.D. for a possible hazardous condition involving a reported large bonfire on the beach. Crew made contact with the parties involved and advised of the beach fire code and not to make the fire any larger. Followed up with CPD and advised of contact and code notification.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Walk-in medical emergency at the fire station on Sixth Avenue. Crews performed patient assessment for a male in his 40s with light headiness. Patient transported to CHOMP by ambulance.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a hotel on Mission Street for a female in her 80s who suffered a mechanical fall and sustained a laceration to the back of the head. Patient placed in full c-spine and transported to CHOMP by ambulance.

Carmel Valley: Person at Via Mallorca and Carmel Valley Road reported he was receiving threats through a second party. It was determined no threats were made.

Carmel Valley: Several people were involved in a bar fight.

SATURDAY, JULY 25

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A county resident reported seeing a coyote in his yard which is contiguous to Mission Trail park. The coyote was seen hanging around the yard and approximately 10 feet from the residence. No aggressive behavior seen. Information about coyotes was discussed with the person. The coyote has been seen in the yard on several other days. On one sighting, the coyote was seen chasing the resident's domestic cat. Officer contacted fish and game about the sighting.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Citizen reported being harassed by his ex-wife over tax matters from the past while conducting an open house in the area of Dolores and First. Citizen only wanted the incident documented in the event the harassment continues and he elects to obtain some type of protective order. Telephonic contact made with ex-wife, who admitted to contacting the reporting party at Dolores and First. Ex-wife agreed to utilize an attorney and the court system to resolve the tax situation between her and the reporting party over their finalized divorce.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Petty theft reported on Lincoln Street.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a residential complex on Junipero Street. Arrived on scene to find a male in his 80s experiencing general weakness due to a possible syncopal episode. Provided patient assessment, diagnostics, oxygen administration, packaging and gathering information, and ambulance transported the patient to CHOMP.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a business on Ocean between San Carlos and Dolores for heat from a short circuit (wiring), defective/worn; sparks on the roof. Arrived on scene with nothing showing, but a strong smell of electrical burn. San Carlos Command established with firefighters from the engine and ambulance entering the building and roof to search for a source. It was discovered a fan in an upstairs office may have shorted out. Fan unplugged and power source to this area of the building shut down. Conducted further searches for other problems using thermal imaging camera. Additional engines from Cypress and Carmel Valley were also dispatched.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Fire engine and ambulance dispatched to a residence on Carpenter Street for a male in his 50s complaining of chest pain. Patient refused transportation to CHOMP and signed a medical release with attending paramedic.

CONCOURS WEEK

Tantalizing options at every turn during Peninsula's car week

By MARY BROWNFIELD

CONCOURS WEEK on the Monterey Peninsula presents so many enticing offerings, and it's impossible to do them all. But, as one local car guy observed, it presents the perfect opportunity for a la carte ordering of whatever piques your interest. Throughout a multi-day period that long ago was confined to a weekend, events catering to auto enthusiasts run the gamut, from car parades and multi-million-dollar auctions of all sorts of vehicles and accouterments, to races representing decades of ingenuity and judged displays of the world's finest driving machines.

Festivities begin Aug. 11 with the Carmel-by-the-Sea Concours on the Avenue and Automobilia Monterey, and conclude Aug. 16 with the famed Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance. The intervening days feature indulgent celebrations of Italian and European genius; a fundraiser centered around food, wine, fashion, music and hot Italian automobiles; eclectic sales of old cars, new cars, rare cars, motorcycles, memorabilia and jewelry; rallies and tours all over the Peninsula, and a decadent day of wining and dining among notable racing and collector cars. Try not to overdo it!

■ Carmel-by-the-Sea Concours on the Avenue
Ocean Avenue and side streets
Tuesday, Aug. 11,
Morning until late afternoon

The inaugural Carmel-by-the-Sea Concours on the Avenue in 2007 filled a niche by showcasing cars not celebrated elsewhere, and doing it on a slow day of Concours week. Founded by devoted car buffs Doug and Genie Freedman of Atlanta, Ga., Concours on the Avenue — which is free to onlookers — came off without a hitch, drawing auto oglers to meander through beautifully presented specimens parked along park-like Ocean Avenue and its cross streets. Spectators chatted with the owners and appreciated placards at each entry explaining interesting bits of history. Last year, the event extended to two days, featuring Porsche and Ferrari on Monday, and a diverse collection of marques Tuesday, but this year, the Freedmans decided to combine the best of both and return to a one-day format.

This year's field will include multiple makes and models built between 1940 and 1973, and Porches and Ferraris through 1989. Spectators are invited to closely inspect and appreciate judged entries in a multitude of classes: American,

■ Automobilia Monterey, The International Expo Embassy Suites, Seaside

Tuesday, Aug. 11, noon to 6 p.m.
Wednesday, Aug. 12,
10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Founded by a Carmel Valley enthusiast who calls his event, “the serious collector’s Candy Store,” Automobilia Monterey is purportedly the largest sale in America of genuine car-related collectibles. Only original articles — no reproductions — will be offered by more than 45 sellers from Europe, the United States and South America. Founder Tony Singer says he sold out of booth space this year and is happy to welcome eight new vendors to his event, which raises money for the Monterey Rape Crisis Center. This year’s event will include the “largest photo archive; finest signs; top pre-war memorabilia; world’s most significant inventory of vintage auto posters; incredibly diverse collections of rallye plates, grille badges, badges and pins,” as well as hood ornaments, Heuer instruments, models, vintage books, documents, literature, paper collectibles and auto-themed scarves, ties and shirts, along with original art and photography.

“It is the mission of this event to enable each enthusiast to buy the best from the best,” Singer said. “Automobilia Monterey is unique in the auto world by being a focused event in a relaxed, indoor setting, and not an adjunct to a car show or race; it is devoted to only original vintage automobilia.”

Singer prides Automobilia Monterey on catering to serious buyers as well as curious browsers, and also has on-premises professional shippers who contribute “to the genuine ease of doing business for all involved.” Admission is $15 for one day, or two days for $20.

For more information, contact www.AutomobiliaMonterey.com, (831) 659-5335 or singer356@aol.com. Embassy Suites is located at Canyon del Rey and Del Monte in Seaside.

At the 2008 Concours on the Avenue in Carmel, one of the top award winners was a 1970 Lamborghini Miura S (below), owned by Jeffrey Meier of Woodland Hills. A particularly outstanding example exhibited at The Quail last year was a 1954 Jaguar OTS Roadster (top), which belongs to Gail Reingold of Los Angeles. The 2008 Concours d’Elegance Best of Show winner (above) was an exquisite 1938 Alfa Romeo 8C 2900B Touring Berlinetta owned by Jon and Mary Shirley of Medina, Wash. Also making a splash at last year’s Concours was a 1907 Itala 36/45 Peking to Paris Race Car (left), which is proudly cared for by David Ayre of the U.K.

drinking and bantering about old cars has morphed into an extravagant celebration of fascinating vehicles — from vintage racers and luxurious tourers, to brand-new innovations from major marques — and captivating private, military and vintage aircraft accompanied by food, wine and finery. After 15 years of hosting the private party a longtime friend nicknamed “The Toy Show,” demand prompted Carmel Valley residents Gordon and Molly McCall to open it to the public. The McCalls make tickets available for some of the 3,000 spots, with proceeds benefiting the Naval Postgraduate School Foundation and the California Highway Patrol’s 11-99 Foundation. This year, guests can expect to inspect the latest offerings from Porsche, Pilatus aircraft, Dornier Seaplane, Piaggio Aero, and even yacht builder Cantiere Navale di Pesaro, as well as captivating auction cars, racecars and other precious machines. Food and wine have become a major part of the event, where numerous local chefs will offer small bites complemented by Bernardus wines and Mendocino Brewing Co. suds, as well as other choice beverages. Admission is $200 per person, and the Jet Set-centered event is sure to be a big draw. The jet center is located at 100 Sky Park Way off Garden Road in Monterey. ## After six decades, two-wheelers arrive on the 18th Fairway

FOR THE first time in its 59-year history, the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance will include two-wheeled machines among its world-class exhibition of rare and storied machines on the 18th Fairway of the Pebble Beach Golf Links Sunday, Aug. 16.

"We've known for a long time that many of our car collectors and those who bring cars on a regular basis to Pebble also collect motorcycles," said Martin Button, husband of Concours chairman Sandra Button and the chief instigator in bringing bikes to Pebble Beach. "Some of them have said, 'Why don't you guys have a motorcycle class?'"

Automobile aficionados' attraction to the machines is no mystery to Button, who also rides.

"A motorcycle is like looking at the back of a watch with a glass plate," he said. "You can see the inner workings."

The possibility of exhibiting vintage and collector motorbikes in the Concours had been discussed for years, Button said, but organizers opted not to pursue it after the Legends of the Motorcycle concours was launched at the Half Moon Bay Ritz-Carlton a few years ago.

"It was great, and we felt it filled the void of having motorcycles shown and judged," in a concours-level competition, he said. Pebble Beach's chief judge, Ed Gilbertson, is also a longtime motorcyclist and presided over the Legends until it folded this year due to economic pressures.

Then Concours officials received a lengthy, impassioned letter from a British man detailing how he had painstakingly restored the 1947 Vincent known as Gunga Din that had been raced extensively in Europe and at the famed Isle of Man in its heyday. The letter writer had found the old race bike in pieces in a Chicago basement, where it had sat for many years after a man bought it with plans to restore it but passed away before he could.

Its new owner "had been planning to debut the bike at the Legends and was devastated," to learn of the Half Moon Bay event's demise, Button said, "after all his hard work."

The owner asked if there was any possibility the famous motorcycle could be shown at Pebble Beach.

"We sat down and scratched our heads and thought maybe it's time we did this," he recalled.

Because Gunga Din's maker, Vincent, is British, organizers decided to feature that nation's creations in its inaugural motorcycle class. Each year will feature a different country, and Button said American-made motorcycles will appear on the fairway in 2010.

On Aug. 16, the class will include British bikes built in 1959 or prior, and Button said eight will be judged entries, while another eight will be provided for display only by the extensive museum at Barber Raceway in Alabama.

"We'll have some early models, from the teens and '20s, right up through the mid-'50s," Button said of the entries slated for judging.

And conceivably, a motorcycle could be named Best of Show. The top winner in each of the two dozen Concours classes is entered in that contest to be named "the prettiest girl on the field."

Also a first, Concours attendees on motorcycles will be welcomed at the Pebble Beach gates, according to Button. Usually, only riders possessing passes are permitted.

"We're very grateful to the Pebble Beach Company for allowing motorcycles to come into the Forest for the Concours, so if you are a serious biker, you are welcome to come in," he said.

The 59th Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, which benefits several local charities and has raised millions of dollars over the years, will also feature Bentley and celebrate the centennials of Morgan, Bugatti and Audi, as well as highlight the designs of Zagato. A class of Packard Dietrich vee-windshield cars and a special classes of Ferraris will please spectators as well.

The show field opens to spectators at 10:30 a.m., with awards beginning at 1:30 p.m., and the event will wrap up at 4:30. Tickets are $150 in advance or $175 at the gate. For more information, visit www.pebble-beachconcours.net.

Motorcycles are new at the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance this year, and among the bikes to be displayed is the famous "Bathing Suit Bike," shown here with Roland Free driving in his September 1948 attempt to set a speed record.

'Racing in the Rain' author Stein to sign in Carmel, at track

By MARY BROWNFIELD

GARTH STEIN'S "The Art of Racing in the Rain" chronicles the life of a amateur racecar driver through the voice of his clever, witty and hopelessly canine companion, Enzo (named for the founder of Ferrari). With that combination, where better to sign books and offer a reading than in downtown Carmel-by-the-Sea, known as one of the most dog-friendly cities in the country? And when better to do it than during Concours Week, when car buffs from all over the world flock to the Monterey Peninsula for races, rallies, shows, parties and auctions?

The novelist, filmmaker and playwright said he spent several years driving a street Miata in Sports Car Club of America races before work and family obligations made time for the sport scarce. It also costs a lot of money to be an amateur racer.

As is often the pattern for those drawn to the track, Stein was introduced to the sport by his dad, who enjoyed taking classes at high-performance-driving schools.

"I got bitten by the speed bug and got my [racing] license," Stein said. He was particularly fascinated with racing cars that were not much different from what you'd see on the street. In motorhead talk, they are called "spec cars." Because the vehicles in these races are the same, the winner is usually the person who's best with a steering wheel and gas pedal.

"There are always ways to massage the cars," Stein said. "But for the most part, the races test the skills of the driver."

At 2 p.m. Friday, Aug. 14, at Pilgrim's Way bookstore on Dolores Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues in Carmel, Stein will talk about his inspiration for writing "The Art of Racing in the Rain," his third novel and a significant success since its hardcover release last year. The book reached No. 5 in paperback fiction on the New York Times bestseller list this year.

"I've been doing this long enough to know what parts of the book go over well," Stein said of his plans for the reading. And since "The Art of Racing in Rain" is already out in paperback, many who attend Stein's events already intimately know the story of Enzo and his human, Denny Swift.

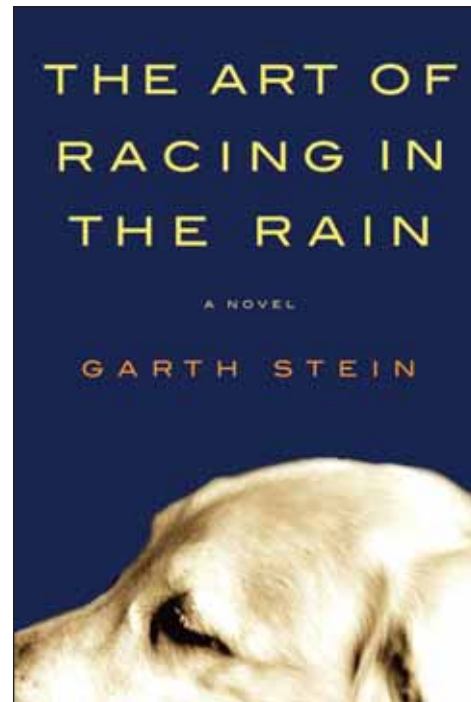

Like any crowd, people at book-signings also like the inside scoop, so he'll also talk about writing "The Art of Racing in the Rain," the idea for which took root a decade ago while he was consulting on a documentary film about Mongolia. (After graduating from Columbia in 1990, Stein spent years making documentaries.)

"There's a belief in Mongolia that reincarnation for a dog is into a person, and I thought, 'That's a great idea. I'm going to do something with that,'" he recalled.

And then he heard Billy Collins reading a poem he had written from the point of view of a dog that had been euthanized. "The Revenant" begins, "I am the dog you put to sleep, as you like to call the needle of oblivion, come back to tell you this simple thing: I never liked you — not one bit."

"That's what I realized: I had to tell the story from dog's point of view," he said.

Enzo, the canine protagonist in Stein's book, is not nearly so acerbic, but the tale begins as the dog is near the end of his life and reflects on the travails and triumphs of his owner. Enzo confides to the reader he has learned a lot, particularly about racing, from watching television and videos of Denny on the track, and he regrets his dog tongue is not conducive to speech and desperately wishes he had opposable thumbs — to which he looks forward in the belief he'll be reincarnated as a human.

A longtime dog lover, Stein said he has never owned a pet quite like his fictitious canine.

"There's no parallel for Enzo," he said. "I've had dogs in my life, but I don't think any could be reincarnated as a person."

Comet, his mixed breed Lab, "is a very sweet dog, but she has no interest in racecar driving," he added.

Stein, who will also meet fans and sign books in the Wine Country Motor Sports booth at Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca Saturday morning during the Rolex Monterey Historic Automobile Races, said he's looking forward to checking out Carmel and seeing some racing, even though he won't have much time.

"There's always a balance with these things, because I have three kids," he explained.

According to Stein's publicist, Brenda Ambrose, actor Patrick Dempsey will star in a film version of "The Art of Racing in the Rain," set to begin filming next year.

"Dog lovers are wild about this book," she said. "And I understand that Carmel considers itself the dog capital of the country."

Garth Stein's racing book is written in the voice of a clever dog.

along Aguajito and Monhollan roads through Jacks Peak, on Carmel Valley Road and down Highway 1, with decadent stops along the way. And, specifically for Morgan Motor cars, the 2009 route includes a special route along Scenic Road to the Carmel Mission. Car buffs gather at strategic gazing points along the route, and according to tour organizers, the event was “initiated to showcase the elegance of the automobile in motion.”

Waxing a bit sentimental, they also say, “The tour underscores the early history of the place that is Pebble Beach. Decades before golf links were laid out along the edge of the Pacific Ocean, this area was known for its scenic drive, winding for miles through pine and cypress forest, dancing alongside dramatic cliffs and leading, ultimately, to a beautiful crescent-shaped bay.” Toward the end of their drive, participants — many dressed in period clothing to match their autos — leave their precious treasures on Ocean Avenue in downtown Carmel-by-the-Sea while they picnic in Devendorf Park. The cars remain motionless for a couple of hours so spectators can engage in up-close ogling without paying a hefty admission price. Drivers will gather in Pebble Beach starting at 7 a.m. and depart around 8. It's anticipated they will begin arriving in Carmel between 11:30 a.m. and noon — one of the most exciting times to watch — and leave between 2 and 2:30 p.m. for the return to Del Monte Forest and a Champagne celebration at the finish. And it's not just for fun: Participation in the tour can break a tie when judges pick the best cars during the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance Aug. 16.

Concorso Italiano has new owners and a new venue this year, but the show, entering its 24th year, will not diverge from its mission of celebrating all things Italian. With founders Frank and Janet Mandarano working as advisers for a new ownership group headed by Tom McDowell, this year’s Concorso will feature a wide range of rare and special automobiles, as well as fashion, food and other indulgences. Spectators will explore the Ferrari 288 GTO 25th anniversary reunion and the 50th anniversary celebration of the founding of DeTomaso, and mingle with VIPs like Matteo and Luca Fioravanti, whose father, Leonardo, managed design for Ferrari and Alfa Romeo. Pantera designer Tom Tjaarda, Lamborghini test driver Valentino Balboni, and emcee Keith Martin, longtime publisher of Sports Car Market will also be there. “You have my pledge that Concorso will be the absolute best all-Italian car event on the Peninsula, just as it used to be,” said McDowell.

“When you make your plans for Friday, Aug. 14, I urge you to put Concorso Italiano at the top of your list. It will be the best Concorso ever.” General admission is $100, with children 12 years old and under admitted free with paying adults, and parking is on site and free. Laguna Seca Golf Ranch, Monterey Friday, Aug. 14, 2 p.m.

Held in conjunction with Concorso Italiano and open only to Concorso Italiano ticket-holders, the sixth annual Kruse Auction will offer a wide variety of highly polished gems and intriguing rides. Given the firm’s history of success — it’s the largest collector-car auction house and sells more than 13,000 vehicles each year — the sale should make for a rousing afternoon. According to the company, “the Kruse family has broken more than 250 world-record prices in the collector-car industry. Dean Kruse cried [called] his 5,000th auction at the annual Houston sale in August 1987 and became the youngest man ever to attain that goal. His auction total is now well over 6,000 auctions.” For more information and to view the inventory for sale, visit www.kruseinternational.com.

■ The Quail — A Motorsports Gathering, Quail Lodge and Resort, Carmel Valley, Friday, Aug. 14, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In its seventh year, “The Q” is enjoying great recognition and success as one of the week’s most exclusive and highly regarded automotive events melding more than 100 of the most important cars in history with fine food and great wine. Tickets for the 2009 Quail reportedly sold out in seven minutes, but if you can get your hands on one, it will be worth it to explore the tributes to the 50th anniversary of Daytona Speedway, the 30th anniversary of BMW’s “M” division (including the rare M1) and the career of world champion German racecar driver Hans-Joachim Stuck Jr. In addition, guests can test drive new automobiles, try on fine couture jewelry “and enjoy a culinary journey equally as impressive as the vehicles,” not to mention fine spirits and other decadent treats. Ticket holders will also have access to the highly anticipated Bonhams & Butterfields auction. Proceeds benefit local and national charities serving children and families. Call (877) 734-4628 or visit www.quailodge.com.

antiques, will host its 12th annual sale in conjunction with The Quail — A Motorsports Gathering. The auction house’s talented and dedicated staff — including a trio of movers and shakers from the defunct Christie’s motorcar division — has procured stellar cars for sale, including Hans Stuck’s legendary Auto Union D-Type grand prix racer, a rare 1957 Type 57SC Bugatti (No. 532), and 14 vehicles from the Sidney H. Craig Collection. Numerous other offerings will also make their way across the block, as will nostalgia-inducing automobile memorabilia, and stunning watches and jewels.

Last year, the B&B auction sold $21.7 million worth of inventory, including the 1960 Jaguar E2A Prototype E-type that fetched $5.06 million. Five cars broke the million-dollar mark.

Admission is free for Quail ticket holders, but Quail admission is not required to attend the auction. The sale is located at Quail Lodge, 8205 Valley Greens Drive in Carmel Valley. ## ■ La Dolce Vita — Automobili at Black Horse Golf Course Seaside

Fri., Aug. 14 — 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

New to the Concours Week lineup is an event on the fairways of Black Horse Golf Course in Seaside billed as “an exhibition of fine European cars at Monterey Bay.” According to its founders, La Dolce Vita will be “a car event reminiscent of earlier Friday celebrations held on the Monterey Peninsula each August,” which “felt like a big family gathering of Italian sports car and exotic car enthusiasts assembled on the grass for a huge family reunion.” The show will feature 50 years of DeTomaso automobiles, Porsche, Maserati, Alfa Romeo Spiders across the ages, and Alfa’s new 8C Competizione, which “signifies the return of Alfa to the North American marketplace after more than a decade.” The day will also showcase art, food and wine, with catering by Tarpy’s Roadhouse. Tickets are $70 per spectator (17 and under free with paid adult) and proceeds will benefit Shriners Hospitals for Children’s Northern California center. Black Horse Golf Course is located off of General Jim Moore Blvd. in Seaside on the former Fort Ord. www.montereybayconcours.com

■ Pacific Grove Concours Auto Rally Lighthouse Avenue and through the Monterey Peninsula

Friday, Aug. 14 — 1 p.m. staging,
6 p.m. tour, 7 p.m. BBQ

All who own and drive their own vintage vehicles and sports cars — especially Triumphs, since they are being featured this year — are invited to participate in the colorful 15th annual P.G. Concours Auto Rally, sponsored by the Pebble Beach Co. and the Skip Barber racing school (which will raffle a rally ride in a Skip Barber car). Thousands of spectators will line the tour route from Lighthouse Avenue through Pebble Beach, Carmel and Monterey as hundreds of beautiful cars cruise past. Staging and registration on Lighthouse Avenue begin at 1 p.m. and continue until 5:30, when the

■ The 36th Annual Rolex Monterey Historic Automobile Races Presented by Toyota Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca Aug. 14-16

The Historics prove that vintage vehicles, no matter how old and rare, are meant to be driven with gusto, and founder Steve Earle started this quintessential gentlemen's racing event more than three decades ago with five dozen cars and a handful of spectators. Over the years, it has grown to feature 450 cars that attract more than 30,000 fans for a week-end of racing. This year, Porsche is the featured marque. The Historics showcase vintage cars running in more than a dozen classes, with half the groups competing Saturday and the other half Sunday. (Both practice on Friday.) Classes this year include, on Saturday: 1904-1940 Sporting Cars, 1925-1949 Racing and Sporting Cars, 1948-1955 Sports Racing & GT Cars under 1,500cc, 1955-1961 GT Cars under 2,200cc, 1955-1961 Sports Racing Cars under 2,000cc, 1955-1961 Sports Racing Cars over 2,000cc, 1964-1971 FIA Mfg. Championship Cars, and 1981-1990 FIA Mfg. Championship & IMSA GTP Cars. And on Sunday:

1947-1955 Sport Racing & GT Cars over 1,500cc, 1971-1976 FIA Mfg. Championship Cars, 1961-1966 GT Cars under 2,500cc, 1959-1966 Sports Racing Cars, 1963-1967 GT Cars over 2,500cc, 1966-1974 Can-Am Cars and 1973-1980 Historic IMSA GT, GTX, AAGT Cars. With well matched vehicles piloted by enthusiastic drivers, the competition is always stiff but respectful, considering how valuable and special their automobiles are. Spectators are invited to wander through the paddock and check out the many displays, while vendors will happily provide your retail therapy. ### ■ Russo & Steele's Monterey Sports and Muscle at the Marriott

Monterey

Thursday - Saturday, Aug. 13 - 15

(Previews begin at 10 a.m. each day, auctions Friday and Saturday at 5 p.m., and a charity preview event will be held the evening of Aug. 13.)

Organized "for enthusiasts by enthusiasts," Russo & Steele expanded its uniquely casual and lively sale to two nights a few years ago and took in more than $1 million per hour during the course of the two evenings of "auctions in the round," wherein the buyers are on the floor with the automobiles, and everything happens on a sunken stage surrounded by 360-degree seating. The organizers, Drew and Josephine Alcazar of Scottsdale, Ariz., say, "We are 100 percent committed to offering the finest in European sports cars, American muscle cars, hot rods and customs in an intimate environment. Camaraderie amongst enthusiasts is why we do this, and it is our goal to produce this event with professionalism, discretion and most of all, for the love of the hobby that we are all a part of." The sale is limited to 150 lots, among them a 1969 Chevy Camaro Trans-Am racecar — complete with original Historic Motor Sports Association and Sports Car Club of America log books — a bright yellow 1967 Ferrari 275 GTB/4 coupe, a 1926 Ford "Black Widow" Roadster pickup and a 1951 Porsche 356/1200 Reutter split-window coupe. ### ■ Fifth Annual Pebble Beach RetroAuto

Adjacent to the main pedestrian entrance of the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance

Friday - Sunday, Aug. 14 - 16

Held in conjunction with the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, RetroAuto is an enthusiast shopper's must-visit in a pavilion that features rare collectibles and memorabilia from automotive history, "as well as the latest luxury goods and technological tools to enhance today's driving experience." Exhibitors represent a variety of retail and manufacturing categories, including historic automobiles, parts, original poster art, books and literature, fine art, photography and posters, and luxury items. The RetroAuto pavilion is also the site of select parties and special events throughout Concours Week.

■ Blackhawk Collection Exposition and Sale

Pebble Beach

Friday - Sunday, Aug. 14 - 16

Danville's Blackhawk Collection, which specializes in acquiring and selling American and European classics, coach-built specimens and one-of-a-kind automobiles and has spent the past two decades seeking out "automobiles of singular beauty and historic distinction," is scaling back its exhibition this year. Instead of setting up an extensive layout along the fairways of Peter Hay, Blackhawk will host a tent next to the Pebble Beach RetroAuto sale. The exposition sale debuted at Pebble Beach in 1990. blackhawkcollection.com.

■ Khaki's 11th Annual Ferrari Event The Barnyard Shopping Village parking lot

Carmel Rancho Boulevard, Carmel

Saturday, Aug. 15 — 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Featuring "great cars, great friends, great food and wine," the event — hosted by J. Lawrence Khaki's Men's Clothier owners Jim and Connie Ockert, and their team — benefits the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation and the Carmel Youth Center. "After last year's huge turnout and success, we are anticipating even a bigger and better crowd with all Lamborghini, Ferrari, Maserati and other exotic Italian car owners invited," they said. All Italian exotic cars are welcome, and live music, along with wine tasting offered by Monterey County vintners and food prepared by Barnyard restaurants accentuate the festive atmosphere. # The Carmel Pine Cone

YOUR SOURCE FOR NEWS, THE ARTS AND OPINION SINCE 1915

*'They love us ...
they really,
really love us!'*

Here's what our readers are saying —

- "I get The Pine Cone every week and enjoy it more than you can know. What a wonderful paper you have. I read every word!"
- "I just wanted to let you know how truly outstanding The Pine Cone is. The writing equals, if not exceeds, top-notch national papers. You and your staff should be proud. I know I've told you before how great I think The Pine Cone is, but it really is a terrific paper."
- "Thank you for providing balanced and researched reporting and upbeat articles. I hope we have The Pine Cone around for many years to come. If it gets down to it, I would pay for the subscription to keep the paper viable."
- "We poll our ticket-buyers as to where they hear about our concerts. You might be surprised to learn how many of them mention The Pine Cone. Thanks!"
- "Thanks for the consistently great job you do with your newspaper. I regularly read several newspapers from around the country and yours has the best editorial integrity — bar none. Keep up the good work!"
- "I look forward to The Pine Cone more than you will ever know."
- "The Pine Cone used to be my Friday morning habit, and now it's my Thursday night habit. I also love the fact I can get the entire paper online when I'm out of town."
- "I am a regular advertiser in your paper, and I have been meaning to tell you how much I enjoy your writing. It accomplishes exactly what I guess you want it to: I always want to read on. I appreciate and enjoy your talent."
- "I just wanted to tell you how much I appreciate The Pine Cone and the fact that it seems to be the only news medium that does not feel it must serve up a diet of perversion, doom, gloom and controversy in order to glean and keep readers."
- "I am writing to thank you for your excellent newspaper, especially since it is available online. God Bless you and your editorial and production staff."
- "I love your newspaper!"
- "I am so grateful to read all about the local news."
- "I just want to tell you how much I enjoy receiving The Pine Cone online ... it keeps me connected with Carmel. I love what you guys do."
- "I don't know where all the good reporters have gone, but I sure miss them when I read other local papers. Keep up the good work. Your community needs you."
- "I can't begin to tell you how much I look forward to The Pine Cone. It gives me more news in one week and one edition than the Herald does all week. You and your staff seem to have an ability to sniff out what is really important and of interest to Carmelites, weed out all the extras, and deliver it in a concise and timely manner. I can't thank you enough for it."
- "I love Carmel and your enticing commentary. You're creative."
- "Probably 50 people came to our event because of the article you printed. I kept asking people, 'How did you hear about this?' and pretty much to a person they said, 'the article in the paper,' which meant The Pine Cone. Thank you so much."
- "I have always been amazed at your editorials in The Pine Cone in that I do not believe I have ever disagreed with one of them. From taxes to the economy, to our current leaders, the crazy historical preservation efforts in Carmel, our court system, you have been a voice of sane reason in an increasingly insane world. I call you the 'anti-Chronicle,' and, believe me, that is a huge compliment."
- "Thank you for your excellent, easy-to-read, always-appreciated newspaper."
- "Your team is doing a great job! I have been a subscriber for a while now. The paper lets me know what's going with my Favorite Place On Earth."

■ Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance 18th Fairway of the Pebble Beach Golf Links

Sunday, Aug. 16 — 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

“Only the most beautiful and rare cars are invited to appear on the famed 18th Fairway of the Pebble Beach Golf Links, and connoisseurs of art and style flock to see these masterpieces,” according to organizers of the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance. “Tire meets turf and transformation occurs: The stage is set for one of the most competitive events in the automotive world.” As with many longtime Monterey Peninsula car events, the P.B. Concours d'Elegance wasn't always a premier gathering. Instead, it has grown from a casual show by car buffs for car buffs first staged in 1950, into what is arguably the world's best Concours in the most gorgeous setting. Stunning coastline, Champagne and cigars, parties, fine food, celebrities, period costumes and an invitation-only display and competition of rare, sometimes one-of-a-kind automobiles combine to make it the top event of its kind. Judges examine specimens polished to perfection and lovingly restored or meticulously maintained in a contest of historical accuracy, technical merit and style. The 2009 Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance will honor Bugatti and Bentley, as well as Morgan and Audi — celebrating their centennials — and the designs of Zagato. For the first time ever, motorcycles will have a spot on the show field, as the Concours recognizes vintage British bikes. A special preservation entry this year is Porsche No. 1., about which Dr. Ferry Porsche reportedly said, “I couldn't find the car I'd been dreaming of. So I decided to build it myself.” The result was the sports-car company born in 1948, and his first creation is appearing at Pebble Beach for its second appearance in the United States. The Pebble Beach Concours initially recognized preservation (as opposed to restoration) in 1999, when a trophy was awarded for Best Preserved Car, but since then, preservation classes for prewar and postwar vehicles have been established. During the event, eagle-eyed celebrity spotters might find Jerry Seinfeld, Nicholas Cage and Ben Stein, who have visited in recent years, and it's not hard to see Concours regular Jay Leno. In 2008, the Concours raised $1.3 million for charities, and it has distributed more than $12 million to local nonprofits since its inception. This year's Concours will benefit the United Way of Monterey County, the Pebble Beach Company Foundation and Boys & Girls Clubs of Monterey County. Special raffles will raise funds for the Kinship Center, Natividad Medical Foundation, Animal Friends Rescue Project, Court Appointed Special Advocates, Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula and the California Highway Patrol's 11-99 Foundation. The $150 advanced ticket ($175 the day of the show) includes a program and a shuttle ride from remote parking in the Forest to the event. For a truly indulgent experience, consider the Club d'Elegance, a $500 package that includes special parking, full breakfast, buffet lunch, wine, cash bar, signed Concours poster, event program, VIP shuttles, a special commemorative gift, “executive restrooms,” coat and package check, and an elegant tent at the Equestrian Center to serve as home base. Tickets purchased in advance will be available at will call Aug. 10-15, as there is no will-call pickup on Concours day. For more information about the Club, call (831) 622-1700. Call the United Way at (877) 693-0009 or visit www.concours-store.com/concours for tickets. For information, see www.pebblebeachconcours.net.

(Above) The Concorso Italiano has a new venue and new owners this year, but the glamour and the excitement are bound to be as good as ever. (Top) The 2000 Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance included an unprecedented display of numerous previous Best of Show winners.

During the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance

Held alongside the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance each year, the Automotive Fine Arts Society show features pieces by world-famous artists in many different mediums that are sought by collectors and car buffs alike. According to Concours organizers, "The automobile changed the whole of our culture almost immediately upon its introduction; it was more than transportation, it served as a status symbol, it was a matter of style. But it took some time for the art world to view the automobile as an appropriate subject of fine art." Established a quarter century ago with six artists dedicated to elevating the understanding and acknowledgment of automotive art, the AFAS seeks to exhibit members' works, promote and publicize them, raise the standards of automotive art to a level of acceptance as serious fine art from the point of view of collectors and critics, and provide "a practical means to form enduring friendships, exchange ideas and build fellowship among automotive fine artists and enthusiasts." The 24th annual display will include pieces by some of the society's 30-plus sculptors and painters, in watercolor, acrylic, oil, wood and various metals. The Lincoln division of Ford Motor Co. will sponsor the exhibit, as it has done since 1996. Admission to the show is free to Concours ticket holders.
