Bicyclist killed by car in Carmel Valley

Victim was husband of bishop

By MARY SCHLEY

A 54-YEAR-OLD Monterey man was fatally struck by a car while riding his bicycle on Saddle Road in Carmel Valley Saturday. William Reeves, husband of Episcopal Bishop Mary Gray-Reeves, was hit by 2013 Toyota Prius driven by an 83-year-old man, also from Monterey, according to California Highway Patrol public information officer Jaime Rios.

The collision occurred around 2:40 p.m. June 21 on Saddle Road south of Paseo del Sur, and Reeves was taken by ambulance to Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital, where he succumbed to his injuries and was pronounced dead. The driver, whose name was not released, claimed no injuries, and Rios said the cause of the wreck is under investigation, though officers do not believe alcohol or drugs were a factor.

The Episcopal Diocese of El Camino Real reported the death on its website and announced services would be held for Reeves Friday, June 27, at an Episcopal church in Saratoga.

Judge turns back attempt to undo sweet pension deal in P.G.

By KELLY NIX

PROponents of an initiative to rescind a generous pension plan awarded to Pacific Grove's police officers and firefighters 12 years ago had their hopes dashed Thursday morning, when a judge said the city should not place the issue on the November ballot.

The ballot initiative by P.G. residents Sally Aberg, Dan Davis and Frances Grate asked voters to take back the 2002 pension deal that substantially increased pensions for public safety workers. But after a roughly 30-minute hearing, Monterey County Superior Court Judge Thomas Wills found the measure to be invalid and said it should not go before voters. His ruling reversed a January decision in which he ordered the city to place the matter on the November ballot.

The ruling was good news to the City of Pacific Grove, which had argued that if the initiative passed, it would prompt lawsuits against the city by employees' unions.

Farmers market subject of workshop, council meeting

Right-of-way disputes on agenda, too

By MARY SCHLEY

ANYONE WHO wants to talk about the farmers market — how it operates, what's sold there and where it's held, among other issues — should attend a workshop set for 5:30 to 7 p.m. Monday, June 30, Carmel City Councilwoman Carrie Theis told The Pine Cone this week. Theis and councilman Steve Dallas formed a committee to specifically handle the farmers market

Commission: Beach fires need more limits

By MARY SCHLEY

THE STATE of California has "435 beaches," forest and beach commissioner Kathy Bang told her fellow commissioners during a special meeting Wednesday. Of those, only 38 allow fires, she claimed. And of those, only people who visit Carmel Beach can have an unlimited number of fires that don't have to be built in designated pits, according to Bang.

Forest and beach commissioners David Refuerzo and Karen Ferlito carried a fire basket on the beach Wednesday to demonstrate how it could be used to remove debris (left), and city forester Mike Branson spoke to commissioners about how fire pits might be installed.

But that unique situation may come to an end, as commissioners unanimously voted June 25 to recommend the city control the number of fires on the beach and forbid them from being built directly on the sand. The changes — which will take a long time to hammer out — would limit a longstanding and cherished Carmel tradition, but would also reduce the amount of charcoal and debris left on the beach, ensure fires are built where they should be, and result in less smoke drifting along the beach and into nearby neighborhoods.

Before gathering in council chambers at city hall for discussion, commissioners spent about an hour at the beach examining what the fire rings would look like if placed 50 or 100 feet apart. With 100-foot separations, only three fires could be burned in the popular 13th Avenue cove, city forester Mike Branson pointed out.

"You couldn't put too many others in there," he said.

They also examined the portable fire basket developed by former forest and beach commissioner Tom Leverone, though commissioners wondered if people would correctly use the wok-like contraption, which would make it easier to remove fire debris from the beach.

While public meetings on beach fires have drawn large, vocal crowds in the past, Wednesday's was sparsely attended, mostly

FACEBOOK EXEC'S $$$ MAY GO TO TRAIL PLANNING

By CHRIS COUNTS

A GROUP of residents wants to use the Internet to help figure out where Big Sur locals think the California Coastal Trail should be routed as it passes through their stretch of the coast. And to finance the project, the group is eyeing a small slice of the $2.5 million settlement entrepreneur Sean Parker agreed to pay after his 2013 wedding at the Ventana campground stirred up controversy and violated state law.

According to Butch Kronlund, president of the Big Sur Property Owners Association, the interactive website would "facilitate open communication" while providing basic mapping tools.

"Chief among this website's virtues is to be its use as a lightly filtered, totally transparent method for aligning the trail through Big Sur, with maximum input from all interested parties," explained Kronlund, who said the website would cost less than $50,000.

While sections of the trail already exist in other parts of California, the task of building the route through Big Sur poses many challenges, including navigating steep topography and strict environmental regulations, and acquiring easements from private property owners. State officials have agreed that no private property will be taken through eminent domain in the effort to make the trail a reality.

Kronlund said the California Coastal Commission, which is administering the settlement, recently contacted him to inform him that Coastwalk California, a nonprofit group dedicated to completing the trail, wants to create similar website. "The commission staff member encouraged me to see if there was a way for Coastwalk California and [the local group] working to align the trail through Big Sur could work together," he reported.

Kronlund said he's hoping to meet with Coastwalk California officials Friday, June 21, in Big Sur, to discuss such a collaboration.

Construction of Scenic restrooms under way

WORK IS "full-speed ahead," architect Rob Carver said this week, referring to the long awaited and much discussed permanent bathrooms being built on the Scenic Road bluffs near the intersection of Santa Lucia Avenue. Footings were poured for the restrooms, which will replace the porta-potties that have been there for the past 18 years and will satisfy a commitment the city made to the California Coastal Commission in its local coastal program, which was adopted in 2004. Construction of the restrooms will cost $712,602 — a figure which has caused some in town to say, "How can it be so much?"

Beautiful blend

WHEN SHE adopted Abby at 17 months from Animal Friends Rescue Project in Pacific Grove, she thought the dog looked like an Australian shepherd. But she also suspected something more, so she did a DNA test. Turns out Abby is 85 percent Aussie and 15 percent St. Bernard. Surely some mathematician could figure out how far back in the lineage a St. Bernard got into the mix.

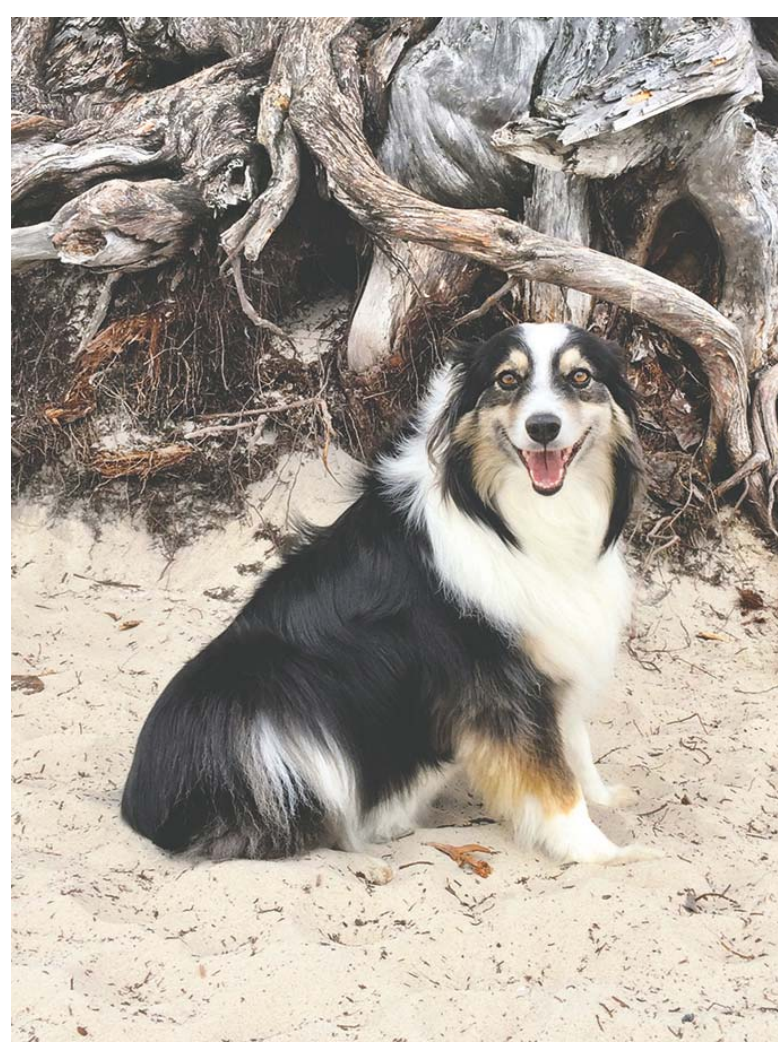

Abby seems to have had a good start in life. She was not abused so much as abandoned. And perhaps there was even some "love and logic" woven into her early days, as she is obedient, affectionate and sweet. But that could be the St. Bernard in her.

"Abby is absolutely adorable, beautiful," her person says. "She is so much smarter than I am, and she loves everyone. She is the perfect friend. She won't take anybody's toys, doesn't eat anyone else's food, and she'll chase a ball but lets me retrieve it. She runs after it, overtakes it, and then waits while I get it. I guess she has me trained."

Every afternoon at 4:15, Abby gets excited about her romp on the golf course. She loves the landscape and enjoys about eight canine companions who show up regularly with their people.

"We don't really know each other's names," says her person, "but we know the names of every dog - Piccolo, O'Malley, Gabby, Rumples. I think it's that way on Carmel Beach, as well."

Although her person imagines she would have a wonderful time, Abby doesn't often get to the beach. Just thinking about grooming all that gorgeous long fur is enough to keep her on the grass.

"But Abby loves going to the golf course," her person says. "She always knows when it's time to go and starts revving up with excitement. Frankly, so do I."

Downtown parking rules change

By MARY SCHLEY

WORKERS FROM the city's public works department spent the early morning hours Monday sticking the number 7 to hundreds of parking signs in downtown Carmel. The two-hour parking limit will now extend to 7 p.m. daily, after being 6 p.m. for many years. The added hour was identified by the city council as a way to free up more downtown parking by encouraging those who work in the commercial district in the evenings to leave their cars in un-timed spots on the perimeter, rather than using up prized spaces and making it difficult for customers and visitors to find places for their cars.

Other changes slated to take effect soon are the elimination of two-hours parking limits on parts of Junipero Street north of Sixth Avenue, and turning the north lot at Sunset Center into free parking, both with the idea of prompting workers to leave their cars in those two areas during their downtown shifts. Finally, paid parking will be tested along Ocean Avenue, but that won't happen until mid-September, after the busy summer season and Concours Week have passed.

Early Monday morning, public works crews slapped "7" stickers over the "6" on hundreds of parking signs in town.

Yellow Brick Road marks 25th birthday

MUCH MORE than just another thrift store, the Yellow Brick Road Benefit Shop celebrates its 25th anniversary Saturday, June 28, with a day of fun, food and fantastic deals.

Since it was founded in 1989 by the Carmel Presbyterian Church, Yellow Brick Road has raised nearly $5 million for more than 400 charities.

The benefit shop has also established itself as a bargain hunter's paradise and a hub of social activity for local seniors.

And for many of those who frequently volunteer or shop there, it provides a sense of community.

"We offer a lot more than just grants for the needy," said one of the shop's many volunteers, Duncan Lewis.

Just as it typically does six days a week, Yellow Brick Road will be open this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. But from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., box lunches, cookies and cake will be served.

The event also features live music by 14-year-old singer-songwriter Delaney Ann and flower arranging demonstrations by Susanna Gamble.

As an added bonus, the benefit shop is hosting an end-of-the-month sale — and plans to unveil a bounty of "new" merchandise.

"We've been saving up some nice things," Lewis announced. "My advice is to come early."

Yellow Brick Road is located at 26388 Carmel Rancho Lane. Call (831) 626-8480.

Police & Sheriff's Log

Surveyor left his machete behind

HERE'S A look at some of the significant calls logged by the Carmel-by-the-Sea Police Department and the Monterey County Sheriff's Office last week. This week's log was compiled by Mary Schley.

MONDAY, JUNE 9

Pacific Grove: Third Street home was burglarized while owner was at work. Jewelry taken from the bedroom area. Ongoing investigation.

TUESDAY, JUNE 10

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Dog loose on Ridgewood showing aggressive behavior by barking and charging toward a resident.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Woman reported losing her Texas driver's license along the beach.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Unfamiliar dog found in a yard at a Fourth Avenue residence. Dog transported and lodged at CPD kennel pending return to owner. Owner picked up dog at 2225 hours.

Carmel Valley: Male subject reported lying on the ground on Esquiline Road at Calle de los Ositos. The 21-year-old male suspect was located and contacted, and was heavily intoxicated. He was also in possession of marijuana. The suspect was taken into custody for those charges, as well as violation of probation.

Pacific Grove: Observed two subjects, a 20-year-old male and a 29-year-old male, in a parking lot on Hillcrest. Area checked; found a license plate removed from a vehicle. One subject had typical license plate screws on his person, as well as an illegal knife.

Pacific Grove: Subject contacted during a pedestrian check and found to be in possession of a tool for ingestion of narcotics. Subject, an 18-year-old male, was arrested, booked and released on a cite.

Carmel Valley: A Carmel Valley Road resident reported that her neighbor began yelling at her and held a broom in a threatening manner. Both parties were counseled and advised to stay away from one another.

Pacific Grove: Received a firearm from a subject on Jewell Avenue wishing to turn over the weapon for destruction. Weapon was logged and stored in weapons lockup pending further action. Property receipt issued to owner.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Foreign visitor became separated from her friend (traveling companion) after having dinner. A courtesy transport was provided to the woman to the Village Inn hotel. Minutes later, her friend was found — the two were reunited.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A male reported he lost his wallet somewhere in the residential area near Carpenter Street.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Found credit card on Ocean Avenue. Bank called and they requested it be destroyed.

Pebble Beach: Person received a threatening phone call from an unknown male from out of the country.

Carmel Valley: Loma del Rey resident had an unknown suspect place three rats and a boa python snake in their residence. Investigation continues.

Pacific Grove: Boy's black Mongoose single speed bike stolen from carport. Serial number not known.

Pacific Grove: Woman stated she has been receiving annoying phone calls from her mentally ill husband who is currently in Illinois for work. They divorced four years ago, but she shares custody of their son with him. He was fired from a job there and started calling her several times demanding she send him money so he can come back to California. His messages are not specifically threatening, but they are angry and hostile toward her. Due to documented prior aggressive behavior, she requested information about obtaining police reports.

Pacific Grove: Arkwright Court resident said that her neighbor accused her son of stealing beer and electrical cords about three weeks ago. Today, she and her son passed by the apartment

Dr. Marga Rose

1927 - 2014

Dr. Marga Rose, born May 20, 1927 in Breitenbach, Germany, passed peacefully away at her Monterey home on June 3, 2014. Marga immigrated to the USA in 1930 and grew up in Philadelphia. During WWII, she proudly served in the WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Services). She leaves behind her loving daughter, Dr. Joanne Perron, and her two loving grandsons, Andrew and Callum Gilchrist. Her husband, Judge William Turkish and her son, Charles Perron, both passed away in 1993.

Marga was a passionate lifelong painter and retired clinical psychologist, who specialized in step-family dynamics. She will be remembered for her resilience and grace in the face of many adverse personal situations. Her heart was always open and generous.

After moving to the Monterey Peninsula in 1994, she volunteered tirelessly for the local opera community, designed and maintained her beautiful and extensive garden, and doted on her sweet dogs, PG, a Dachshund and Liebe, a Bolognese.

The family wishes to thank the Malek family for their wonderful neighborly friendship and support given to Marga. Additionally, they are appreciative of the care given to Marga in her final days by Beverla Miles, Amalia Rico, Cathy Morgan, Dr. Susan Kubica and her staff, as well as the compassionate staff of Hospice of the Central Coast and Central Coast Senior Services. Special thanks to Vivian Sarubbi, RN, who played her harp during Marga's last moments.

A private celebration of Marga's life will be held in the future. Charitable donations may be made to her favorite local organizations, The Panetta Institute or The SPCA for Monterey County.

Proposals sought for Forest Theater rehab

By MARY SCHLEY

THE CITY on Tuesday issued a “request for qualifications” from architectural and engineering firms interested in rehabbing the Forest Theater.

City officials abruptly padlocked and chained the historic outdoor theater in April after building inspectors determined that electrical and structural issues made it unsafe, and the city is now looking for experts to take on the repairs needed to get it reopened. Applications are due by close of business July 8.

The April 23 closure forced its users — PacRep Theatre, the School of Dramatic Arts and the Forest Theater Guild — to find alternate venues for their productions and other activities, and a city council workshop in May revealed the majority of people wanted the basic necessities addressed so the theater could be used again as soon as possible, as opposed to a comprehensive renovation that could take years. And when it adopted the 2014/2015 budget earlier this month, the council allocated $396,500 for theater improvements — well more than the $90,000 originally proposed.

“There’s been discussion about who the right person or firm may be to get this done,” Carmel Mayor Jason Burnett said Wednesday. “The right way of handling it is to say, ‘OK, put forward a proposal, write out what your credentials would be,’ and we’ll have a competitive process.”

The architectural/engineering consultant would determine just what repairs the theater needs to address the problems that prompted building official John Kuehl to issue a “notice and order” to the city that the theater was an “unsafe structure.” In that letter, Kuehl notified public services director Sharon Friedrichsen that the theater suffers “structural hazards on stage and surrounding set walls, numerous hazardous electrical issues throughout the facility, inadequate exiting, inadequate lighting, and inadequate disabled access elements.”

Six weeks later, the council was presented a punch list of more than 50 items requiring some kind of correction at an estimated cost of $2 million to $4 million.

“I wanted to point out how quickly staff has worked to get this moving,” Burnett said Wednesday, recounting the process of holding the workshop, getting the punch list and, now issuing the request for architecture/engineering firms “with a pretty tight timeframe for soliciting firms or individuals who can take that problem set and turn it into a solution set.”

The architect/engineer would review the list and identify the appropriate solutions, all of which would comply with the California Building Code, California Fire Code and Americans with Disabilities Act — while incorporating applicable historical codes.

Specifically, Burnett said the proposal should address how building codes for historic buildings might provide the flexibility necessary to preserve the rustic theater, which doesn’t meet ADA requirements. “We would like anyone who applies to address that, as they turn the list of problems into a list of solutions, to be identifying where the historic codes can be used to facilitate reopening the theater as quickly as possible,” he said.

City officials want the design and drawings completed right away, and the project would then be put out to bid and built, possibly in phases. The consultant would assist the city’s project manager, Andy Vanderford, with bidding the project, obtain permits and provide support during construction.

Proposals are due by 4 p.m. July 8. By July 12, officials will have selected candidates for interviews, which will be completed by July 22. The final choice will be made by July 23.

CHS prom to be held in 'loft' at new S.F. 49ers stadium next year

By MARY SCHLEY

CONTINUING THE trend that has high-school kids attending upscale proms that involve field trips rather than assembling in the ballroom of a local hotel — and often partying afterward — the Carmel Unified School District board of directors on Wednesday approved a $38,008.13 agreement with the new Santa Clara home of the San Francisco 49ers for the April 25, 2015, prom to be held in its skybox space.

The tab will be paid by Carmel High School's associated student body, mostly covered by the sale of tickets to the prom, according to CUSD chief business official Rick Blanckmeister. This year's prom was the first to be held out of town, with charter buses taking teens from CHS to San Francisco for their prom aboard a Hornblower cruise, and then returning.

"They like the idea of having our students on our own transportation, at the venue and then taken home," he said.

That way, they're less likely to be out partying on their own after the prom. "You know where they are, and when you release them, they are back on the charter bus and headed home."

Furthermore, out-of-town proms allow students to experience something new. "The students were really appreciative of the Hornblower trip — a lot of these students haven't even been to San Francisco — so it opens up some opportunities to do some cultural things and provides a really safe, exciting experience for kids."

Blanckmeister said tickets are all inclusive, covering the costs of transportation, food and drink, the venue and insurance. According to the cost estimate from Levi's Stadium for next year's prom, a dinner buffet for 400 people will be $20,000, plus a service charge of $4,600, and using the Levi's 501 Loft Club will cost $10,000, which includes concierge and security for four hours, a set and logo space on TV screens.

Next year's Carmel High prom will be held in a space overlooking the brand-new Levi's Stadium field.

(According to the estimate, organizers are not opting for two Gold Rush cheerleaders, which would have cost $2,000, or for a $10,500 Gold Rush performance, nor are they having official mascot Sourdough Sam appear for $550 per hour.) The $350 one-day certificate of insurance and 8.75 percent sales tax of $3,058.13 bring the total to $38,008.13, with the nonrefundable deposit of $9,502.03 due May 27, and more payments due Sept. 17, Jan. 14, 2015, and April 10, 2015.

"They had 320 attendees for the Hornblower trip this year, and if they have at least that many, they know they don't have to charge more than $130 per ticket," to cover the cost of the prom, Blanckmeister said. "With transportation and the meal, it's not that much more than you would charge anyone if you did it at a local venue."

And, Blanckmeister said, anyone who wants to attend prom but can't afford a ticket can apply to CHS for assistance. The process is confidential and handled by principal Rick Lopez, and the same is true for excursions like senior class trips to Magic Mountain and Disneyland.

RUSSIAN DOG RESCUED BY P.G. GROUP IS ADOPTED BY RUSSIAN MAN

By KELLY NIX

A DOG rescued from a trap set by authorities in Sochi, Russia and brought to Pacific Grove has been adopted by a local couple — a Russian man and his American wife.

The 22-pound Cherry was rescued with help from Peace of Mind Dog Rescue, which raised the $1,500 it cost to transport the mixed-breed hound from Sochi. After two months in foster care, Cherry was adopted last week by an Oak Hills couple.

“Her new parents are Tera and Nick Golubev,” Peace of Mind executive director Carie Broecker told The Pine Cone. “Nick is from Saint Petersburg, Russia, and was excited to help out a dog from his home country.”

Peace of Mind usually focuses on taking in dogs from Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, although Broecker said that occasionally the nonprofit will help in “urgent or international situations.”

“When we learned about the plight of dogs in Sochi and heard Cherry’s story,” she said, “we knew we wanted to help give at least one Sochi dog a chance at a better life. Cherry had been trapped and was slated to be killed, but one of the shelter volunteers sprung her from the trap and took her to a shelter that had been set up in someone’s home.”

Though the Golubevs already have a cat, the 5-year-old Cherry apparently has no problem with the feline.

“Cherry is becoming very playful and gets along well with their kitty,” according to Broecker. “They said she is very well behaved and affectionate, and she is a perfect fit for their family.”

Peace of Mind found out about Cherry when one of its volunteers, Simona Prochazka, was in Sochi for the Olympics and saw the stray dog problem first hand. Broecker asked Prochazka to see if she could take in one of the dogs, and Prochazka worked with a Russian animal advocacy group to bring the dog to the United States.

Youth Center needs volunteers for Concours

THE CARMEL Youth Center relies on funds raised selling concessions at the Pebble Beach Concours d’Elegance for a substantial chunk of its budget, and the organization is looking for volunteers to help set up for the event Saturday, Aug. 16, and work in the food tents and drive shuttles during the P.B. Concours Sunday, Aug. 17.

Volunteer hours can count toward community service hours for high-school students who use the youth center. “For our CYC volunteers and supporters, it’s also a great way to get in to see one of the most prestigious car shows on the planet,” according to organizers. “Plus, it’s one of the most important fundraisers of the year for the CYC, and we can really use your help.”

Anyone interested in volunteering for setup between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday or for any of the many available shifts on Concours day should call (831) 624-3285 or register online at www.carmelyouth.com/cyc-volunteer-concours.php.

Negotiations over water rights for recycled water project come to a head

By KELLY NIX

WATER OFFICIALS from the Peninsula and Salinas Valley will meet Friday in what may be one of the last efforts to reach a deal that would allow the development of an important recycled water project for the Monterey Peninsula.

For more than a year, officials from the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, the county's Water Resources Agency, and farmers and other parties have failed to come to terms over the rights to water that will be reclaimed and used as a source for the project that could deliver about 3,500-acre-feet of water to the Peninsula, while also being available for farmers. Officials have said that if a deal isn't reached by the end of June, the project will not come to fruition.

rights to the source water, Peninsula officials have contested the claim.

Called the Pure Water Monterey Project, the proposal would divert wastewater and agricultural wash water to the pollution control agency's plant in Marina where it would undergo advanced treatment. It would then be injected into the Seaside Basin aquifer where it would be diluted and stored for later use.

The project has implications on the Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project, which includes the recycled component, water storage facilities and a desalination plant in North Marina. If the recycled component isn't built, officials have said the desal plant will have to be much larger — 9.6 million gallons per day compared to 6.4 million gallons per day — to make up for the loss of water.

Monterey Peninsula Water Management

District general manager Dave Stoldt said that while there are no other meetings planned after Friday's, one or two more meetings might be needed.

If a deal is reached, both the Salinas Valley and the Peninsula could benefit from the project. Stormwater that would otherwise go to the City of Salinas' treatment ponds would instead be diverted to the pollution control agency's facility, where it would be processed and conveyed back to the valley for agricultural uses, and the Peninsula would have the water for the recycled water project.

Desal financing bill takes another step forward

PINE CONE STAFF REPORT

A PUBLIC financing plan to lower the cost of California American Water's proposed desalination plant in Marina between $70 million to $90 million passed a state Assembly committee on a 7-0 vote Monday.

The Utilities and Commerce Committee approved public financing bill SB 936 that seeks to reduce Cal Am's profit in the water project and save Peninsula water customers on their monthly water bills. The bill was proposed by Sen. Bill Monning (D-Carmel).

The financing method would employ the use of tax-exempt water bonds. A customer surcharge would be diverted from Cal Am to help pay for the bonds.

"The basic savings occur because we are displacing relatively higher Cal Am financing with relatively lower cost public financing," Carmel Mayor Jason Burnett told The Pine Cone.

Burnett and Monterey Peninsula Water Management District general manager Dave Stoldt told committee members about the benefits of the public financing bill before they approved it. A state ratepayer advocacy group also supports the plan.

The bill still has to go through the full Assembly and Senate before being approved by Governor Jerry Brown.

"We are not expecting any problems" in getting the bill passed, Burnett said, "but you never want to take anything for granted."

All Saints' student captures National History Day prize

By CHRIS COUNTS

AN EIGHTH grade student next year at All Saints' Day School, Molly Mancina returned this week from College Park, Md., where she won a first place award in the annual National History Day contest.

The University of Maryland's College Park Campus, which is located just outside Washington D.C., hosted the competition from June 15-19.

Mancina won her award in the Junior Individual Documentary category. Her project examined "The Rights and Responsibilities of Photojournalists: And the Ethics of Photo-Manipulation."

To put her achievement in perspective, only 10 students nationwide — five in the "junior" category (grades 6-8) and five in the "senior" category (grades 9-12) — took home individual first place honors. More than 500,000 students entered local, regional and state competitions preceding the national contest.

"The topic of photojournalism is interesting, especially the ethics surrounding it, because photographers are held to the same standards of accurate reporting as journalists are," said Mancina of the subject she explored. "The most challenging aspect of my project was gathering all of the facts and determining which were legitimate, reliable sources."

Molly Mancina

All Saints' history department chair Forbes Keaton was proud of Mancina's accomplishment.

"Molly's first place award at the Nationals was a very exciting and justly deserved win," Keaton said. She developed a unique thesis that combined her interest in photo-shopped photography with the ethical dilemmas it is posing. After relentless researching, she created a technically sophisticated and visually compelling documentary. It was the ultimate cross-curricular process and illustrates project-based learning that is a hallmark of our school. Being able to mentor a scholar such as Molly through the process has been a very rewarding experience."

Mancina is the third All Saints' student in four years to advance to the National History Day finals.

Group gives $45K toward housing

INTERFAITH OUTREACH of Carmel awarded $45,000 in grant money to nine local agencies to help address housing needs, the board announced recently.

The money was distributed June 6 to agencies whose requests addressed housing services and homelessness prevention, resulting in $9,000 for the Franciscan Workers of Junipero Serra (Dorothy's Kitchen), $12,000 for the Housing Resource Center, $5,000 for Community Human Services, $5,000 for Shelter Outreach Plus, $2,000 for Rancho Cielo, $5,000 for the YWCA, $3,500 for The Salvation Army, $2,500 for Central Coast HIV/Aids Services, and $1,000 for Meals on Wheels.

The interfaith organization's mission is "to join faith communities together to address spiritual and practical needs in Monterey County, emphasizing grants to agencies that provide housing resources."

The grants came from proceeds from the group's Joining Hands Benefit Shop. All told, the IOC has donated $220,000 since the shop at 26358 Carmel Rancho Lane opened less than four years ago.

Hospice warns donors after burglary

THE CULPRIT who broke into the Monterey offices of the Hospice Foundation on May 26 and made off with private financial information about donors still hasn't been caught, according to Monterey P.D. Lt. Leslie Sonne, so the nonprofit is warning people who made contributions recently to keep an eye out for signs of fraud.

Specifically, those who donated funds by check or credit card between May 19 and May 23 should monitor their bank accounts for possible fraudulent activity or signs of identity theft. The foundation is contacting all donors who gave money during that time, so anyone who did so but hasn't heard from anyone yet should call the office at (831) 333-9023 as soon as possible.

Any fraud victims should also call Monterey P.D. officer Amy Carrizosa at (831) 646-3830.

PENSIONS

"This ruling benefits the city by avoiding a costly election, and litigation that could result to challenge impacts on past CalPERS contract payments, or vested retiree pensions," city manager Tom Frutchey said following the hearing.

Backers of the initiative argued that the 2002 ordinance passed by Pacific Grove City Council had not been legally enacted because council members were not told the true cost of the plan, which is said to have been more than $800,000 per year.

But Wills found Thursday that Pacific Grove in 2002 complied with disclosure rules and had not concealed data related to ordinance. The judge also said there was evidence that the city council based its decision on the actuary report figures.

The citizens sued Pacific Grove last year after the council refused to enact the initiative after collecting the required number of signatures. That prompted the city to file a countersuit, asking the court to decide the legality of the initiative and whether it was "fatally flawed." Thursday's hearing was on that issue. The city was represented by lawyer Michael G. Colantuono.

While Margaret Thum, the attorney representing the citizens, told The Pine Cone a decision to appeal has not been made, Aberg thanked the people who helped in the effort "to correct a grave injustice and reset the terms of an unsustainable pension benefits package that has Pacific Grove in a chokehold, contributing to an unfunded liability of $75 million and climbing, daily."

Pacific Grove Mayor Bill Kampe told The Pine Cone that the citizens' lawsuit was distracting to the city and that "it would ultimately be more productive" if its backers worked with the city on the city's pension CalPERS issues. Similarly, Frutchey said the city has already reached out to the citizens asking them to "return to the table to identify and implement prospective changes better able to meet the interests of our entire community."

Thum said that if they decide to appeal the case, there is a "slight chance" they could get an appellate decision before the November 4 election since it's an elections law matter. If appealed, justices from the Sixth District Court of Appeal in San Jose would weigh the case.

The "3 percent at 50" plan afforded in the 2002 ordinance allows employees at least 50 years old to retire with pay equal to 3 percent of their highest year's compensation for every year they worked, to a maximum of 90 percent of their highest pay level. The plan had been at 2 percent at 50. Pacific Grove was one of many municipalities in California in the 1990s that awarded cops and firefighters the same generous plan before the economy downturn and subsequent recession.

Sidewalk dining stirs debate in P.G.

By CHRIS COUNTS

AFTER RECEIVING complaints about an outdoor dining area created on a Lighthouse Avenue sidewalk by Cafe Ariana, the Pacific Grove Community Development Department will consider revising the policy that permitted it, interim CDD director Steve Matarazzo told The Pine Cone.

Located at 543 Lighthouse Ave., Cafe Ariana completed its sidewalk dining area two weeks ago. With a wrought iron fence enclosing it, it is more visible than other sidewalk dining areas located in the downtown Pacific Grove business district. But Matarazzo said city regulations require the dining area to be enclosed if the cafe wants to serve alcohol.

Anthony Favaloro, who received the city's permission to create the dining area, told The Pine Cone he spent just under $2,000 to complete it. The dimensions of the dining area are 8-feet-by-20-feet — slightly smaller than what the city allowed. It was installed on Father's Day.

Favaloro said he was surprised by the complaints. "I was just trying to make my customers more comfortable," he explained.

While the sidewalk dining area may be more noticeable than others in town, it leaves room for just as much pedestrian access — about four-and-a-half feet — as two other businesses that feature tables and chairs along the sidewalk, the Red House Cafe and Joe Rombi's La Piccola Casa.

Matarazzo said he's generally supportive of the idea of sidewalk dining areas like the one Favaloro created.

"Many downtowns do this sort of thing," he said. "It encourages outdoor dining and makes people more interested in what's going on downtown."

While Matarazzo said he hasn't received any complaints about the other sidewalk dining areas, he noted that he's been interim CDD director for only two months.

According to the city's code, outdoor dining areas must allow for "adequate pedestrian passage," be adequately maintained and covered by liability insurance.

The subject was set to be discussed at the city's June 26 planning commission meeting.

PLAN YOUR SUMMER!

John Lloyd
2014 Board Co-Chair

Welcome to summer in Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula!

This summer will be a busy one especially here in our own backyard. Whether you're planning a stay-cation or hosting out-of-town guests, plan early and make those reservations before it's too late.

Summer is going to bring live music, fine dining, car events, culture, wine tasting, and community outings as well as hiking, surfing, kayaking, whale watching and everything you can imagine in between.

The first thing on your to-do list is to wander down to the Visitor Center in the heart of Carmel and get the Guide to Carmel, maps, brochures, schedules and all manner of information both printed and spoken so that you and your guests can really delve into the Carmel experience. Then, armed with all of that, you will plan your itineraries with a sample taken right out of the pages of the Guide to Carmel and away you go. Then you will eat and drink to your heart's content and start the process over again day after day until you yourself need a vacation.

And speaking of planning, don't forget the Concours car events coming in August, complete with a shuttle from Carmel to Pebble Beach. Then later in the fall there will be a newly-expanded Taste of Carmel with food and wine events over the course of the weekend of October 2-5, 2014.

Yes, paradise has its perks.

Until next time...Stay busy

New book by Big Sur architect looks at his landscape-friendly creations

By CHRIS COUNTS

THE ARCHITECT of Post Ranch Inn, Hawthorne Gallery, the hot baths at Esalen Institute and some of Monterey County's most visually striking homes, Mickey Muenning will sign copies of his new book, "Dreams and Realizations for a Living Architecture," Saturday, June 28, from 2 to 5 p.m., at Carmel Bay Company.

A student of visionary architect Bruce Goff, Muenning moved in 1971 to Big Sur, where he began using its challenging topography as a canvas for his unconventional designs.

As a proponent of the philosophy of organic architecture, he sought to create buildings that complement their natural surroundings.

With some rooms that bend around redwoods and others that stand on stilts to protect the roots of trees, the Post Ranch Inn in Big Sur is Muenning's most celebrated project. The co-founder and managing partner of the inn, Mike Freed, said he "epitomizes what organic architecture, is all about."

"One of the main features of the ranch is its architecture and Mickey is responsible for that," Freed told The Pine Cone. "He's masterful at understanding how the landscape works. I've never met an architect who could create something that sits so softly on the land with such a dynamic sense of space. He's brilliant at capturing the views and creating privacy."

Located steps from the landmark Nepenthe restaurant along Highway 1 in Big Sur, the Hawthorne Gallery is Muenning's most publicly accessible work.

"One of the greatest things about Mickey's work is how he sites buildings," gallery owner Greg Hawthorne said. "He studies the sun, the location, the views — everything. He's a guy who really tries to blend into the environment. He's not a guy who sits a building up on a hillside and says, 'Look at me.'"

Carmel Bay Company is located at Ocean and Lincoln. Call (831) 624-3868.

Historian recalls Carmel's early days

Introducing a book that illuminates the decade that preceded the town's incorporation, Alissandra Dramov signs copies of "Carmel-by-the-Sea, The Early Years (1903-1913)" Saturday, June 28, from 1 to 3 p.m., at Pilgrim's Way bookstore.

Inspired by the Ken Starr's multi-volume series on the history of California, Dramov tells the story of how Frank Powers and Franklin Devendorf — with the help of San Francisco poet and playwright George Sterling — created a Bohemian paradise on Carmel Bay. "These are the people who made this community what it is," said Dramov, who has lived here for much of her life.

A one time television producer, news anchor and "everything in between," Dramov is now turning her attention to Carmel's rich history. In addition to writing what she hopes will be a trilogy of history books, she serves on the advisory board of the Carmel Heritage Society and is working with others to prepare for the town's 100th anniversary celebration in 2016.

Pilgrim's Way is located on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. Call (831) 624-4955.

Girl group legend turns back clock at Golden State

By CHRIS COUNTS

A FAMILIAR — although often uncredited — voice on the radio in the early 1960s and now a member of the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame, singer Darlene Love performs Sunday, June 29, at Golden State Theatre in Monterey.

Love played a key role in Phil Spector's "Wall of Sound," which produced a string of hits like the Crystals' "Da Doo Ron Ron," and the Ronettes' "Be My Baby" and "Baby, I Love You." She sang background vocals on all three songs, which exemplify the "girl group" sound made famous by Spector.

Under her own name, Love sang lead vocals on Spector-produced hits like "Today I Met The Boy I'm Gonna Marry" and "Merry Christmas Baby Please Come Home." And although the Crystals received credit for the song, it was Love who sang the lead on "He's a Rebel," which soared to No. 1 after it was released in 1962.

"Those songs never grow old," Love told The Pine Cone. "Everybody remembers the first guy they wanted to marry. They remember what they were doing when they first heard that song. Those songs really mean something to people."

After taking a break from the entertainment industry to raise a family, Love made a successful comeback in the 1980s, launching stage and film careers. Highlights include portraying herself in the Tony Award-nominated musical "Leader of the Pack," performing in Broadway hits like "Grease" and "Hairspray," and playing the role of Trish Murtaugh in four "Lethal Weapon" films.

And every year since 1986 — on the last episode before Christmas — Love has sung "Christmas (Baby Please Come Home)" on "Late Night with David Letterman."

Showtime is 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $42 to $67. The theater is located at 417 Alvarado St. Call (831) 649-1070.

Photographers offer new perspectives on books

By CHRIS COUNTS

AT A time when digital books are replacing those made of paper and bindings, two photographers, Cara Barer and Mary Ellen Bartley, offer unusual perspectives of a fading but cherished medium of communication, learning and entertainment.

An exhibit of images by Barer and Bartley, "Book Ends," opens Saturday, June 28, at the Center for Photographic Art.

After bending or folding the pages of a book so they resemble familiar shapes, Barer photographs her creations. "I transform books into art by sculpting them, dyeing them, and then through the medium of photography, presenting them anew as objects of beauty," explained Barer, who lives in Houston, Texas.

"I really love her work," gallery director Nicole Garzino told The Pine Cone. "She's a two-artist — she creates three dimensional artwork out of books and photographs it. Some of the shapes look like flowers or butterflies. It's almost like Japanese papercraft."

By capturing the motion of pages flipping or focusing on the geometric patterns pages are able to make, Bartley produces fascinating abstract images that show her passion for books.

"What drives the work for me is the emotional connection

Poppy Hills updates, adieu to P&P, the Dinner Belle, and lunch on Alvarado

JOHNNY DE Vivo is a funny guy. And immensely talented. His creativity showed in glimmers within the confines of corporate cooking at the Hyatt Regency Monterey sev-oped a distinctive style — even if his dishes are always changing with the seasons, and with his present fascinations, whatever they may be.

“We don’t really have a genre,” he said Tuesday. “Right now I’m kind of into Korean meets Carolina.”

So, he makes kimchi from scratch to serve on his Korean Philly Cheesesteak sandwich, and the pulled-pork lettuce wraps feature house-made pickles, kholrabi slaw, pickled mustard seeds and chili paste.

The man really likes his condiments — most of which are made in house, including the smoky ketchup and sweet tomato jam, chili sauce and mustard seeds, to name a few. He joked that his servers hate him, because three patrons ordering a different entrée each could end up with 11 different condiments on the table. And, of course, if you really want commercial ketchup or mayo, you can get those, too.

De Vivo does everything he can in house, in fact, from the pulled pork and bacon that he prepares in a smoker on the deck outside the bar, to the corned beef he brines for a week and then smokes for the hash he serves with two eggs and shredded red potatoes fried crisp, all brought to the table in a cast iron skillet.

He can do all that because, at Poppy Hills, he’s given the latitude and encouragement it takes to revamp a restaurant that previously had a reputation for mediocrity — if it had a reputation at all.

“We want to build a strong local follow-

But it truly shines at Poppy Hills, where he’s been running the show at Porter’s since the public golf course reopened in mid-April after an extensive renovation that included revamping the dining room, not to mention the culinary mindset.

Classically trained, and with 20 years’ experience, De Vivo has definitely develing,” he said. “We want it to be worthy of being in Pebble Beach.”

And so, management gives him free rein, pretty much, along with a generous budget and the equipment he needs. He’s built a small kitchen staff of just over a half-dozen people whom he trusts to execute his vision. And he uses local purveyors and farmers as much as possible — a philosophy that is near and dear to his heart.

The menu turns these principles into a promise: “All bacons and meats are crafted in house. We source regionally whenever possible. Our meat, game and poultry are part of the Never Ever Program and can be traced back to its original origin.” (Animals in the USDA-verified Never Ever Program have never been exposed to antibiotics, growth hormones or animal byproducts.)

Even his pancakes are impressive. De Vivo created a ricotta and fresh blueberry pancake that incorporates egg whites to make it light and fluffy, and it’s topped with bright lemon creme and more blueberries, and served with Vermont maple syrup. The result is surprisingly addictive.

“Out of all of the things I’ve cooked in my life, this is one of my favorites,” he said. “Twenty years of cooking, and my signature dish is going to be a pancake.”

In addition to breakfast and lunch, Porter’s has a twilight menu with smaller dishes and three main courses that rotate weekly. It’s served until 7 p.m. on weeknights and 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Happy Hour, 3 to 6 p.m. daily, offers all draft beers for $5. Oh, and the “well” vodka is Ketel One, available for just $8. Wednesdays, live music is offered from 6 to 8 p.m. And he’s been doing one-off dinners — like those starring Scotch or Ketel One — and the Kobe beef and Cabernet dinner set for July 17.

His summer menu is launching next week, with a few new dishes like Hearts of Palm in a Jar (apricot, avocado, cashews, fried quinoa and house-made ricotta), Tagliatelle Carbonara (peas, house-made bacon, herbs, Glaum organic eggs and parmesan cheese over house-made pasta), watermelon and heirloom tomato salad with feta, oregano and lemon emulsion, and blistered padron peppers with summer corn, tomato and garlic chips.

Porter’s opens every day at 6 a.m. and is located in the clubhouse at Poppy Hills Golf Course, 3200 Lopez Road in Pebble Beach. It’s open to the public, though Pebble Beach Co. charges a gate fee to get into Del Monte Forest. But it’s worth it to experience De Vivo’s cooking, now that he’s truly in his element at a venue that’s allowing him to express his creativity and sense of humor, along with his talent. Oh, and the prices are alluring, too: The most expensive items are the steak and the pan-roasted Monterey Bay salmon on the twilight menu, at $25.

“I call it ‘fun dining,’” he said.

■ The Dinner Belle

Carmel Belle in the Doud Arcade, recently remodeled and expanded, is now serving early dinner a few nights a week,

Sunday through Thursday, from 4 to 7 p.m. The Dinner Belle was officially inaugurated a couple of weeks ago and features a few different dishes each night.

This week, for instance, Sunday had the kitchen offering roasted leg of lamb or eggplant parmesan, with sides of field greens salad, heirloom tomato salad and Israeli cous cous, while Monday was Belle’s meatloaf or chicken in Romesco sauce, and Tuesday was beer-braised beef cheeks or Berkshire pork roast. With the exception of the green salad, sides change nightly, too.

Thursdays are farmers market days in Carmel, so that evening’s entrées are based on what the chef finds at the market to inspire him.

Dinners are available to eat in or take home. For more information or to order, call (831) 624-1600. Also, check out www.carmelbelle.com for the week’s menu and other details. Carmel Belle is located in the Doud Arcade on San Carlos Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues.

■ Lunch at Alvarado Street

Alvarado Street Brewery & Grill has started serving lunch, opening the airy new restaurant — which debuted last month — and its sidewalk patio to daytime diners who might want something substantial to munch while sipping one of the many beers available on draft, including the six made right there in the brewery.

On Monday this week, the pints of unfiltered Alvarado Street Resin Red, a West Coast-style red ale that was strikingly hoppy but still rich with caramel, malt and fruit notes, complemented a lunch of French onion beer soup ($7) made with the very same red ale, caramelized onions and plenty of Gruyere cheese on a sourdough crouton, followed by the Ribbon Salad ($9) of shaved zucchini, cucumber, carrots and summer squash dressed in a light chive and thyme vinaigrette. The triumph, though, was the Butcher’s Bacon & Egg flatbread ($14), which came abundantly covered in small chunks of chewy, smoky bacon, Gruyere and mozzarella cheeses and Flanders Red Ale tomato sauce, topped at the center with a fried egg.

The lunch menu created by chef Aaron Haas and head brewer/owner J.C. Hill features a couple dozen options and a few desserts, all with suggested beer pairings, while the beer list boasts all the in-house creations, as well as “guest draft beers” from Altamont, Anchor, Coronado, Firestone, Speakeasy and others, and plenty of bottled beers, many of them foreign.

Lunch is served daily between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., and dinner is offered between 5 and 10 p.m. The bar opens at 11:30 a.m. and closes at 11 p.m. The brewery and grill is located at 426 Alvarado St. To learn more, visit www.alvaradostreetbrewery.com or call (831) 655-BEER.

Petals would be closing its Mission Street bakery and café in mid-June proved to be true, with a sign greeting would-be patrons at the front door June 9 explaining the “Girls from P and P” — Jennifer Joy Hatton and Sarah Phulps — were shutting down after four years and moving on to new endeavors. “As time goes by, lives change, as do priorities. Since we opened for business, we have dedicated 361 days per year, 12 hours per day to our passion and our craft,” reads the sign they posted. “And although we will miss all of our friends and our clients ... we are enthusiastically looking forward to the next chapter in our lives.”

They hint at their “next project,” saying it will be “a slightly different business model that parallels with our lives four years later.”

Finally, they promise they’ll be heard from again.

Fans poured out their sadness at the loss of pumpkin doughnuts and cinnamon pull-aparts, along their wishes for future success, on the bakery’s Facebook page.

Frances E. Kirkland wrote that Hatton and Phulps “are two of the most creative and talented women around! You are both beautiful inside and out.” She said whatever their next task, they would do it well.

Jeanne Johnston posted, “As a mother, there is no one that could be more proud of not only the impression the GIRLS made on the very small hamlet of Carmel-by-the-Sea, but on every visitor that crossed the threshold of their little bakery on Mission.

“Their work ethic and pride for their bakery was apparent to everyone. The sweet confections will clearly be missed, but not nearly as much as their brilliant smiles and loving demeanor. Great things are just around the corner for them ... just watch!!!”

“It was a much enjoyed pleasure and honor to work with such dedicated ladies. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of the P & P team,” added Robyn Guzik.

Ricketts Lab IPA debuts

Craft Artisan Ales, based in Pacific Grove, released its second craft beer, Ricketts Lab IPA, this week. Its first, Andromeda IPA, debuted in the spring, and owner David Olsen described his newest creation as being “a hop-forward, lighter malt brew with 65 IBUs and 6.5 percent ABV.” He said it was inspired by coastal Monterey and the light summer brews he prefers.

The official release of Ricketts Lab was set for Cannery Row Brewing Co. Thursday night, but anyone who wants to know where to find it can visit www.craftartisanales.com.

Red, white and pink

In celebration of Independence Day, Dawn’s Dream will hold a Red, White & Rosé Celebration Friday, July 4, from 2 to 5 p.m., with wine discounts, flights to taste, and small bites.

Stop in at the tasting room, located on San Carlos Street at Seventh Avenue, anytime during the celebration to partake. To learn more about Dawn Galante and her wines, call (831) 659-2649.

And at 1833 and CRBC

Also on the Fourth of July, Restaurant 1833 on Hartnell Street in Monterey in the historic Stokes adobe will host a $40-per-person “strolling buffet” from noon to 4 p.m., with executive chef Abby Burk preparing summer dishes like charred sweet corn on the cob with basil butter, espelette and sea salt; herb-marinated heirloom tomatoes with peaches and burrata; smoked and pulled pork shoulder; and signature items like fried chicken, and bacon and cheddar biscuits. An outdoor bar on the patio will feature drink specials, and a live band will perform on the deck. www.restaurant1833.com

Meanwhile, sister restaurant Cannery Row Brewing Company will host a “sausagefest” on the outdoor patio, with chef Daniel Furey grilling up spicy Andouille, Pat Lafreida Sweet Italian and Hebrew National dogs. They’ll be accompanied by grilled onions, peppers, sauerkraut, raw onions, relish, pepperoncini, ketchup, mustard and Sriracha. Red, white and blue Funfetti Cupcakes will be served for dessert. Moving sale

In preparation for moving its tasting room from the Hyatt Regency Monterey to the Crossroads shopping center, McIntyre is holding a moving sale, offering all of its wine and merchandise for 40 percent off through June 30.

“Bring a friend or two and enjoy wine while you shop! We offer merchandise and gifts such as wine bags, sweatshirts, wine T-shirts, candies, wine accessories, children’s stuffed animals, books, scarves, magnets, coasters, jewelry, and much more!” manager Kristen McIntyre wrote.

McIntyre’s last day open in Monterey is June 30, and the Crossroads tasting room is set to open in early August.

Very Interesting Book by Local Authors

Grace Sartwell Mason and John Northern Hilliard, our neighbors on the eighty-acre tract, have collaborated in writing "The Golden Hope" — a novel of California life — which catches enough of the atmosphere of "The Far West" to be thoroughly enjoyable to lovers of this part of the world.

Although the time of the story is nowhere definitely stated, it sounds like California of twenty-five years ago.

Its people are pocket hunters in the mountains bordering Death Valley, politicians, land grabbers, and irrigation promoters who have their own various designs on the vast areas of reclaimable land that hold greater fortune than the problematic ones of the hills.

Ocean Phosphorescence, Mussel Poisoning Pals

The waters of Carmel Bay glowed with each succeeding breaker all night long this week; these same waters, through the poison concentrated in rock-clinging mussels, brought death to several persons and acute illness to others. Beauty and death walked hand in hand!

Rarely seen is such brilliant phosphorescence. From anywhere on the beach, the mile-long breakers can be made out by the light of the billions of tiny living organisms throughout their length. The scientists say that the light is from a minute creature known as the dinoflagellate, which happens to be present in the ocean water in Carmel and Monterey at this time of year. When this reddish water appears on the coast, it is taken as a sign that the mussels, which draw upon the water for feed in the form of small biological particles, contain a deadly poison.

How deadly this poison is was demonstrated to me by Dr. John D. Fuller. It really doesn't take very long for mussel poison to bring painful, paralyzing death.

This seems like a far cry from the beauty of the rolling breakers as they cream toward shore these nights. It is not, because it is the same mysterious presence in the ocean of these tiny living creatures that makes phosphorescent the surf and deadly the shellfish that feed in ocean water.

Still Doggy

If there isn't, there should be tailwagging in Hatton Fields. On Monday the Monterey County Board of Supervisors continued consideration of a leash law for the area until August 3. In consequence, all the dogs are free to roam for another six weeks. However, they will, in a way, be on probation. If their behavior is admirable during this period, perhaps their owners will have a better chance to convince the supervisors that confinement would truly create "a dog's life" for their pets.

Runaways Reported to Carmel Police

Carmel police were concerned with the whereabouts of four reported runaways yesterday. Involved were 14-year-olds from Carmel, Carmel Knolls, Carmel Valley and Turlock.

Hole-in-one

A hole-in-one scored by Ray Weatherford of Carmel may earn him a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000. By getting an ace at the Pacific Grove municipal course, Mr. Weatherford was entered in the Old Smuggler Hole-in-One sweepstakes, an annual competition for aces.

Carmel man a witness to history during Beijing visit

Personal safety nudged out journalistic curiosity sometime during the night of June 6, for Rod Holmgren as the Carmel resident sat in his room at the Friendship Hotel in Beijing. The deciding factor, he says, was when a visiting journalist asked if the hotel had a bomb shelter — it did. Speculation was rife that government troops were prepared to fire missiles at the 38th Division, which was sympathetic with demonstrating students. Those troops were located in a direct line with the Friendship Hotel from Tiananmen Square, where government forces had killed students only two days before.

By the time [Holmgren] arrived in China, massive peaceful student demonstrations were under way . . . Despite the student demonstrations, Holmgren remembers the streets being crowded with buses, pedestrians, and bicyclists, exactly as before. "You couldn't see anything different," he says.

By the second day, however, demonstrations had intensified . . . Holmgren says one of the major incidents that sparked student unrest occurred on June 2, when a policeman swerved his jeep and killed four people on bikes. People rioted into the night, burning buses, making speeches and gathering support. [On Saturday at] about 11 p.m., however, government troops marched on the square from both sides of the city and took it by force.

The official government account of the number of killed stands at about 400, [but] Holmgren disagrees.

"I am convinced, after talking to many, many people, that the number killed is between 2,500 and 3,000 (students)," says Holmgren. "It was really brutal."

Even though his friend, Qian, telephoned him to say the street outside her home looked like a battleground, Holmgren said the open-air markets outside his hotel still sold fruits and vegetables and operated as if things were normal.

Delaplaine McDaniel III

October 5, 1925 – June 17, 2014

Monterey - Laine McDaniel, born in Abington, Pennsylvania, was the first child of Charlotte and Delaplaine (Delly) McDaniel. Two forces in his early years were Quakerism and figure skating. He was a lifelong member of Chestnut Hill Friends Meeting and the US Figure Skating Association. He attended local Quaker schools and graduated from his father's and uncle's alma mater, Westtown School, in 1943. Delly and Laine were awarded the first two (and probably only!) figure skating letters from Westtown.

In 1945, Laine graduated from the University of Louisville in the Navy V-12 program with a degree in mechanical engineering and later completed graduate courses at the University of Pennsylvania. He served on the diesel submarine, USS Medregal, as chief engineer and was taught to drink martinis and eat artichokes in Havana by his skipper, Raul Perez. Next he volunteered for the new nuclear submarine program, first the USS Nautilus prototype for three months as Adm. Rickover's representative at Arco, Idaho. He then worked at the Knolls Atomic Power Lab in Schenectady as startup engineer on the second nuclear submarine prototype, USS Seawolf.

In 1955 Laine left the Navy and came to San Jose when GE opened its Nuclear Energy Division. He held one of the first five Atomic Energy Commission licenses to operate the Vallecitos Boiling Water nuclear reactor, the world's first commercial nuclear power plant. He was startup operations manager for Dresden I, the first nuclear power plant in the US, owned by Commonwealth Edison. His career with GE placed him in charge of the first nuclear power plants in Spain, Germany and Japan as well as sites throughout the US. Throughout Laine's GE career, he served in the Naval Reserve on submarines and retired from the Reserve as a captain in 1967. He held a US Coast Guard Licensed Master 100 Ton. After a 29-year career with GE, he retired in 1982.

Throughout his life, Laine judged figure skating with USFSA (as did his father and brother), became a high test judge and was designated Judge Emeritus by USFSA in 2003. He was a past member of the Philadelphia Skating Club, the Silver Edge Skating Club and (serving as President) in Sunnyvale and the Peninsula Skating Club in San Jose.

Laine and Janet Carol Blackman were married October 5, 1980 in Saratoga, California. Implicit in their wedding vows was the unspoken understanding that they would go cruising on the new sailboat Capella when Laine retired from General Electric. At a farewell party in the summer of 1984 when Janet was fussing and fretting about going offshore, Laine's dearest friend, Harry Pfeifer, looked her in the eye and said "You know, don't you, that no one will ever be better prepared than Laine." Harry was right and Janet never forgot it!

Laine sailed all his life on Pennsylvania's lakes and the Pacific from the San Juan Islands to Newport and, of course, San Francisco Bay. Boats that he owned were Too Young To (sloop), Galatea, Capella (ketch), Capella (cutter) and Aileen, a Shields design. In 1984, he and Janet sailed the "South Pacific Milk Run" to Mexico, the Marquesas, the Tuamotus, Society Islands and Hawaiian Islands, returning to the mainland in 1986. In 1988, they sailed Capella south to Zihuatanejo, Mexico and then completed the hard windward passage to San Diego. In 1989 they brought California Condor, a power boat in Holland and spent three long idyllic summers on the rivers and canals through Holland, Belgium, France and Down the Rhone to the Med. Let us be clear that Laine was not a gunkholer! Navigating, keeping the boat moving and correcting problems were his forte!

At various points in his life, Laine was a member of the Carmel Ski Club, Haasis Hikers, the Mayflower Society, Mission Ranch Tennis Club, Golden Gate Yacht Club, Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club, Monterey Peninsula County Club and the Stillwater Club. Other passions included aviation (commercial pilot and flight instructor), SCUBA, ham radio (N6JLW), model ship building, horseback riding, fast cars and motorcycles, fly fishing and summers at Pocono Lake Preserve.

Laine is survived by his wife, Janet; his daughter, Cynthia (Sig) Johansen; grandson, Laine Johansen; his brother, Chase (Sue) McDaniel; his sister, Nancy McDaniel Miller and six nieces and nephews. As he wished, Laine will be buried at sea by the United States Navy. Memorials to Laine may be made to Westtown School, 975 Westtown Road, West Chester, PA 19382-5700, Attn: Director of Advancement.

PG&E OFFICIALS will present an update on the utility company's projects in Carmel and around the Peninsula, including what its next steps are, and will provide practical safety measures to be used at home during a talk at The Carmel Foundation Wednesday, July 2, at 2:30 p.m. In addition, the representative from the American Red Cross will tell attendees how to "Be Red Cross Ready," by making a plan, building a kit and staying informed, in order to stay safe during a disaster.

The program, which will take place in Diment Hall at the foundation on the southeast corner of Lincoln and Eighth, will be followed by special holiday treats. For more information, contact Anne Albano at (831) 620-8705 or aalbano@carmelfoundation.org. A nonprofit, the foundation serves members age 55 and older by providing low-cost meals and housing, classes, activities, medical equipment loans, transportation, excursions and other services. www.carmelfoundation.org

■ Norwegian trio performs

Bringing well deserved attention to the traditional folk music of Norway, Feleboga returns Thursday, July 3, to the Carl Cherry Center for the Arts.

The trio includes Hans-Hinrich Thedens, Elizabeth Gaver and Mattias Thedens. Thedens and Gaver play the hardingfele, a Norwegian stringed instrument. All three play the fiddle and dance.

"They've played here before a couple of times, and they're quite amazing," said Robert Reese, the executive director of the Cherry Center. "The music they play sounds a bit like the early Irish music that came to the United States in the late 1700s. They do polkas and a whole range of dance music. It's really fascinating.

The concert starts at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $15. The Cherry Center is located at Guadalupe and Fourth. Call (831) 624-7491.

ART

I have [with them]," said Bartley, who lives in Wainscott, N.Y. "I'm trying to convey the sensuality and intimacy of reading and looking through books, as well as the fleeting inspiration and little jolts of connection that readers find in books they love."

The two photographers present a talk at 3 p.m. in Carpenter Hall, and a reception follows at 4 p.m. in the center.

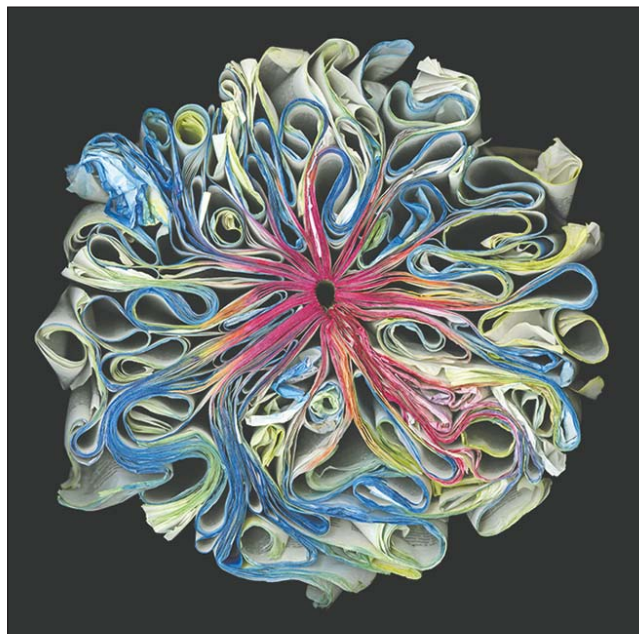

Curated by Monterey photographer Jerry Takigawa, the show will be on display through Aug. 9. The center is located in Sunset Center at San Carlos and Ninth. Carpenter Hall is located on Mission Street south of Eighth. Call (831) 625-5181.

■ Losing sleep for a good cause

To raise money to support its mentoring of young artists, the Youth Arts Collective stages its 13th annual Artathon from Saturday, June 28, at 10 a.m. to Sunday, June 29, at 10 a.m.

"We literally stay awake and produce art for 24 hours," say its organizers, who call the event "a rite of passage for YACsters" and "a ridiculous way to raise operating funds."

The nonprofit studio is located at 472 Calle Principal. Call (831) 375-9922.

Cara Barer creates unusual images by photographing the bended or folded pages of books. Her work is featured in an exhibit opening June 28.

Becoming acquainted with Bach — a man more celebrated today than in his own time

BY LISA CRAWFORD WATSON

FINAL PREPARATIONS are being made and musicians are getting ready to travel from around the world for the upcoming 77th season of the Carmel Bach Festival, during which some 12,000 people will attend concerts to celebrate and enjoy the music of a man who lived and wrote his master works more than 250 years ago.

A painting of J.S. Bach when he was at the top of his fame — which was nothing compared to what came in the centuries following his death, and continues today.

Listening to baroque music in a contemporary context is a fascination in itself. As it continues to waft its way through generations of other styles, the music of Johann Sebastian Bach continues to inspire. Still, many of us know more about the music than the man who wrote it.

Born in 1685 in Eisenach, Germany, Bach is often described as a strong and resilient man, both emotionally and intellectually. He had to be.

Although he had a relatively healthy life in his 65 years, it wasn't easy. A teacher and church musician, he worked by day and composed at night by candlelight. Cooking was done over an open flame, and a leading cause of death was fire. Houses smelled horrible, and often, so did people. Yet out of this came the kind of majestic music that can save one's soul.

Bach had two wives, Maria Barbara, who died early, and Anna Magdalena, whom he married some 17 months later. An accomplished soprano, Anna Magdalena, the daughter of a trumpet player and granddaughter of an organist, likely met Bach when he was director of music at the court of Köthen, where she sang. Married in 1721, the couple raised the four children from Bach's first marriage and had 13 of their own, seven of whom died young.

Although he was considered in his time to be the finest organist in Germany, Bach wasn't rich, he wasn't famous, and he didn't live in a mansion. Music director for the city of Leipzig, he was a middle-class man who worked overtime to support his wife and many children, 10 of whom lived into adulthood. He gave music lessons and played weddings, funerals and parties in exchange for cash, plus bushels of oat or wheat, cords of firewood, and gallons of beer. In his off hours, he turned to his own music.

Funerals in that era were frequent and lucrative for Bach. Yet during a time when a "healthy breeze was blowing in from the south," fewer people fell ill, enabling him to focus on and finish "St. Matthew Passion," his longest and most elaborate work. Bach's home, his life and his aspirations were modest, except when it came to music.

"J.S. Bach was a principled man who believed in himself, who truly believed he was doing something important," says

Bach Festival dramaturge David Gordon. "Even though almost none of his vocal music was published in his lifetime, he wrote out much of it in longhand. He had no reason to do that, because it was only going to be performed by him in his church. But he did it for future generations."

Nearly all of Bach's music was sitting in his desk drawers in manuscript form at the time of his death. Likely no one had heard it except his congregation. His music survived a century before people started rediscovering it.

"Bach wrote his music, not for fame or riches," says Gordon, "but because he saw music as a powerful force. He kept doing this in the face of a city council that didn't like what he was doing, in a community that thought his work was too operatic. Here was one of the greatest composers in the world, sitting in this little German city of Leipzig, composing and writing out his music, which served to preserve it until people could get their hands on it in the 19th century and appreciate it."

Toward the end of his life, Bach, suffering from glaucoma and cataracts, underwent eye surgery by an English ophthalmologist, which blinded him but did not sacrifice his musical vision. Ironically, a couple of years later, the same doctor reportedly performed the same surgery on composer George Frideric Handel, leaving him blind, as well.

"I admire the depth of Bach's commitment to writing his music," says Gordon. "He believed any well crafted music is an expression of God's love, a holy piece of music that comes from the human spirit. We actually know relatively little about this man's life, compared to others, because he wasn't known then. And yet he wrote some of the greatest masterpieces ever."

"Bach has been very good to me over the years, keeping my heart light and full. I love his music and the enthusiasm people have for it. Certainly it is formal, classical music, but if you are open to the classical sounds, Bach's music will reach out and grab you in some way."

The 77th Carmel Bach Festival runs from July 19 to Aug. 2, with pre-fest activities July 9-18, and will include dozens of concerts and other events. For complete details and tickets, go to www.bachfestival.org.

Quail Lodge celebrates a half-century

THE FIRST golf course built in Carmel Valley, Quail Lodge Golf Club, is celebrating its 50th anniversary with a host of activities, including the unveiling of an historic photo and memorabilia display in August and a December celebration of the christening of the original golf clubhouse.

Also, "The Golf Legend of Quail Lodge," written by Carmel author Gary Koepfel, is being released this summer.

Koepfel, a long-time friend of the Habers, said he "interviewed 100 local friends, family members, employees, business associates and law enforcement officers" for the book, which contains 200 photographs and "300 anecdotes portraying the Habers and the evolution of Quail Lodge."

Founder Ed Haber "wanted a course that played along the sun-drenched valley floor out of range of the lingering marine layer," and which had a sand base for quick drainage. Its 240 acres, previously a dairy farm, were also home to thousands of native quail, and Robert Muir Graves designed the course. The lodge was added in 1967. It received a Mobile Five-Star Award for "an unprecedented 25 years," the Lodge said.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea will conduct a public hearing in the City Hall Council Chambers, located on the east side of Monte Verde between Ocean and Seventh Avenues, on Wednesday, July 9, 2014. The public hearings will be opened at 4:00 p.m. or as soon thereafter as possible. For the items on the agenda, staff will present the project, then the applicant and all interested members of the public will be allowed to speak or offer written testimony before the Commission takes action. Decisions to approve or deny the project may be appealed to the City Council by filing a written notice of appeal with the office of the City Clerk within ten (10) working days following the date of action by the Planning Commission and paying the requisite appeal fee (currently $295.00).

If you challenge the nature of the proposed action in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the Planning Commission or the City Council at, or prior to, the public hearing.

Dwight Yoakam brings star power to Americana festival at Fairgrounds

By CHRIS COUNTS

WITH COUNTRY singer-songwriter Dwight Yoakam headlining the event, the Monterey Americana Music Festival returns to the Monterey Fairgrounds for a second year.

For those who are curious, "Americana music" is defined as "contemporary music that incorporates elements of various American roots music styles, including country, roots-rock, folk, bluegrass, R&B and blues."

In addition to Yoakam, the lineup features Antsy McClain and the Trailer Park Troubadours, Hollow Wood, and a pair of singer-songwriters, Jim Lauderdale and Casey Frazier.

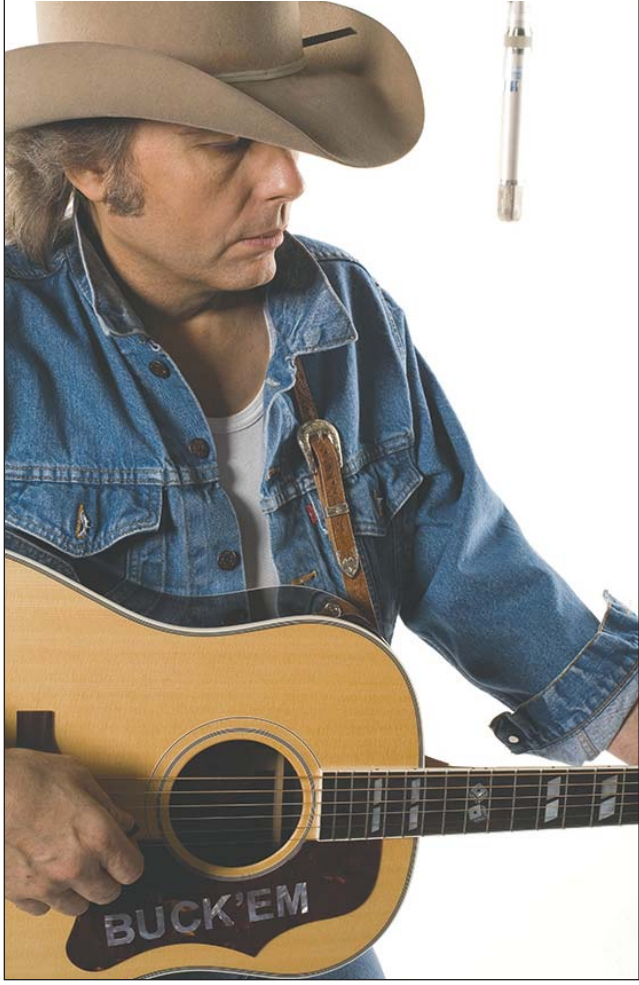

When Yoakam appeared on the music scene in the early 1980s, his honky tonk "hillbilly" sound was a world apart from the slick pop-style country records Nashville was producing at that time. But his roots-oriented style was soon embraced by fans of both country and rock music.

Over the past four decades, Yoakam has sold more than 25 million records. No less an authority on the subject than Johnny Cash called him his favorite country singer.

A Carmel Valley resident, Frazier plays nearly every Friday and Saturday night at Jack London's Bar and Grill in Carmel. He serves up a mix of "eclectic Americana with roots in country and '70s rock."

Another Carmel Valley resident, 14-year-old country singer-songwriter Delaney Ann, kicks off the festival with a brief set at 10 a.m.; Frazier follows 10:30 a.m.; Hollow Wood plays at 11:45 a.m.; Lauderdale performs at 1:15 p.m.; Antsy McClain and the Trailer Park Troubadours plays at 3 p.m. And Lovett takes the stage at 5 p.m.

The gates open at 9 a.m. Tickets range from $30 to $75. Children under five get in for free. The Monterey Fairgrounds are located at 2004 Fairground Road. Visit www.montereyamericanafestival.com.

The lineup of the second annual Monterey Americana Music Festival features Dwight Yoakam, whose honky-tonk style brings together country, rock, pop and soul.

Group fills totes to help homeless women

By MARY SCHLEY

THE LOCAL chapter of Soroptomist International, a global organization that strives "to improve the lives of women and girls through programs leading to social and economic empowerment," has launched an effort to fill toiletry totes for homeless women.

"Our mission focuses on a number of programs, from the basic of women helping women, to educational components, to human trafficking, to local service projects like one that we are currently working on this week, Toiletry Totes for Homeless Women," said Terri Brazinsky, president of the organization's Carmel Bay chapter. "Basically, Soroptimist is an organization for and by women who use their collective power to help other women transform their live and the lives of the families — locally and throughout the world."

For its service project this year, chapter members — "mainly fortunate women, who aim to give back to those in our community who are less fortunate," she said — are filling tote bags with various supplies to distribute to homeless women in the Monterey Peninsula.

"So many are elderly, having lived fairly prosperous lives," Brazinsky said. "As women, we are trying to support these women who struggle day to day to survive in our rather affluent area of California." Among them, she noted, was Susan Beach, the homeless woman who died in Carmel last year.

According to Brazinsky, an estimated 350 homeless women live on the Monterey Peninsula between Marina and Carmel, yet only one 16-bed women's shelter is available, and that's reserved for victims of domestic abuse with children. Many live in their cars, until they lose them.

"The average age of the women that are being served is 51, and most of them simply cannot afford their rent any longer," she said. "The oldest are 72 to 82."

She also said many homeless services cater to men, who tend to cause more problems than women.

"Really, I am hoping to increase public awareness regarding the plight of homeless women on the Peninsula, and the lack of services specifically for women," she said. "We just learned of an 82-year-old woman who was treated at CHOMP for two broken legs because a homeless man jumped up and down on her because he wanted her 'better sleeping spot.' She is now on a walker and homeless. The facts are appalling!"

Brazinsky said she's been particularly shocked by the age of the women. "So many are in their upper years and live in doorways, under bridges and in culverts," she said. "I think we, as part of such an affluent region, have truly been in the dark about the extent of the issue for women."

To help, at least a little, local Soroptimists began collecting toiletries for the totes.

Items needed include sunblock, Chapstick, hand sanitizer, folding Toothbrushes in cases, small first-aid kits, Neosporin, Band-aids, alcohol wipes, travel-size shampoos and soaps, quart-sized Ziploc freezer bags, plastic packaging from sheet sets/bedding, reading glasses, socks, gloves, ski hats and bandanas (not red or blue), women's panties, camping mats, blankets, duffels and packs, mylar blankets, Target and McDonalds gift cards and laundry cards for Otter Laundry on Soledad.

To find out how to help local Soroptimists ease the lives of homeless women on the Monterey Peninsula, send an email from <http://sicarmelbay.org/contact-us/>.

PGHSAA scholarships, grants

By MARY SCHLEY

THE PACIFIC Grove High School Alumni Association awarded $16,000 in scholarships to 15 students at the high school's Scholarship and Awards Evening last month.

Kimberly Hunyh received the $1,000 Ada Eleanor Smith scholarship for a student who plans to become a teacher or other professional, and Kendra Bell received the $1,000 Maude Marian Smith scholarship, which has the same mission. (The Smiths were sisters.)

Luke Lowell got the $1,000 Bob Hoag '45 Athletic Scholarship, having played basketball throughout his senior year, and Savannah Mitchem received the $500 Class of 1952 Remembers scholarship award. Joshua Lewis was awarded the $1,000 Don Harlan '42 vocational scholarship. Bobby Chen was the second recipient of the Richard Reynolds '57 Science and Technology Award, which pays $1,000 in the first year and $2,000 in the second year of a four-year college.

Liam Posson was awarded the $500 Olive

Dean Hyler '40 Culinary Scholarship, and Haley Walker got the $1,000 PGHSAA Musical Scholarship award given to a student who plans a career in music.

PGHSAA also awards scholarships to students who have excelled at P.G. High School, with Reeve Grobecke, Nicole Hage, Bailey Kato-Dutton, Jacob Loh, Carol Nader, and Ava Vucina each receiving $1,000.

And the PGHSAA authorized more than $3,750 in grants for sports, academics and other activities at the high school, including $300 for the softball team for new artificial turf, and $1,000 to the lacrosse team for helmets and other equipment.

Not to mention $1,000 to the award-winning mock trial team for an upcoming competition, $1,000 for Sober Grad Night, and $450 to the choir for registration for a competition in Anaheim.

The Pacific Grove High School Alumni Association was founded in 1899 and reactivated in 1962, and supports the high school, its students and its projects with money from donations made by its members.

College of Law offers full-tuition grants

THE MONTEREY College of Law is establishing a scholarship program for alums of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Monterey County.

The law school will provide an annual full-tuition law school scholarship to alumni of the Monterey County Boys & Girls Clubs for each of the next 10 years, starting this fall, according to the school.

"As a community law school founded in 1972, we share an important mission with the Boys & Girls Clubs by providing quality educational opportunities for local students," Mitchel Winick, dean and president of the law school said.

The scholarships, which of course won't be available to the MCB&GC alumni until after they grow up and complete their college educations, will amount to more than $750,000.

Parks nobody can use

EVERYBODY KNOWS that the government spends money with very little regard for the true necessity of the things it's spent on, or of the burden felt by taxpayers who are compelled to provide it.

You may say, "Ouch!" every time you look at all the deductions from your paycheck, but when the collective "ouches" of millions of taxpayers are added up in Washington and Sacramento, the reaction among the politicians who get to spend the taxpayers' money is a little different. More like, "Yippee!"

No further need we look for outstanding examples of this wasteful phenomenon than our own local parklands — where tens of millions of dollars have been spent to acquire vast new acreages, with very little to show for all the expenditure.

In 2002, you may recall, the U.S. government spent $23 million to buy Bixby Ranch so that nine or 10 homes would not be built on its 1,200 acres. And what was the result? Sure, the homes aren't there (most of them would have been on the back side of the mountain range, anyway, out of the public view). But there is almost no public access to the land, and there's no proposal to provide any in the foreseeable future. So there Bixby Ranch sits, a tremendously expensive acquisition that has turned out to be of very little value.

We forget to mention that the government renamed it Brazil Ranch. That had to be worth at least $20 million, right there.

Meanwhile, a bit closer to Carmel, in 2002 the government also spent $37 million to acquire Palo Corona, AKA Fish Ranch. And what does the public have to show for it? Again, very little — especially not public access.

If the property had been developed, the development would surely have affected just a tiny portion of the land, and been unobtrusive. And all that money would have been saved.

But now the money is gone, and if you want to visit the property you paid for, you have to make a reservation, there's no place to park. Etc., etc., etc.

And will this situation change any time soon? As we reported last week, the answer is, "No."

In local city halls, money is still wasted, but nowhere near to the degree it's done in our state and national capitals.

Maybe that's because the politicians at city halls are subject to so much scrutiny by the people they represent. When a city council meets, the public is there, listening to every word, and commenting on everything under consideration.

And that could be the answer: Public hearings with true public participation in the halls of Sacramento and Washington.

We can see it now —

"The U.S. House of Representatives is hereby called into session. We will begin with public comment. You may address the House on any subject you believe is important, but please limit your comments to three minutes. This morning, 3.4 million citizens have signed up to speak ...."

Letters to the Editor

How quickly we forget!

Dear Editor,

In the June 15 Monterey County Herald, two items on the opinion page caught my eye: A Herald editorial, which said that Cal Am "has taken it on the chin for not developing significant new sources of water," and a letter to the editor from George Riley, which ended with, "Is the future up to Cal Am? The mayors? The voters? We shall see."

The Monterey Peninsula's first "Municipal Water District" was created in late 1958. How quickly we forget that, during the intervening 56 years, the voting public bears some of the responsibility for the waterless fix we are in today:

■ In 1965 a $17.5 million bond issue failed which would have resulted in the public acquisition of two private Monterey Peninsula water companies.

■ In 1967, voters decided the water district should be dissolved (a vote that was never implemented).

■ In 1977, a vote to approve a study of water supply alternatives failed.

■ In 1978 the water district was authorized, by public vote, to develop new water supplies.

■ In 1987 the public said, by yet another vote, that development of a new San Clemente dam should be pursued.

■ And then, in 1993, a vote authorizing a desal plant in Sand City failed.

■ Followed by voters also saying, in 1995, that they did not want a new Los Padres Dam.

■ A 1997 initiative would have strictly limited new water allocations, while encouraging the development of Los Padres Dam. It failed.

■ In 2002, an advisory measure calling for the dissolution of the MPWMD passed. (It was not implemented.)

■ In 2005, a measure calling for the public acquisition of Cal Am failed. Another measure to achieve the same thing was voted down in June 2014.

The foregoing does not include efforts in Sacramento with the State Assembly, Senate, Governor, the Public Utilities Commission and the State Water Resources Control Board, among others.

Please reflect on where we might have been today if all sides had sat down together to understand the complexities of the water issue and how we might work together for a solution which would preserve our Monterey Peninsula way of life not only for residents, but also for our businesses and the people employed here. Clearly there is no perfect solution that will satisfy every group and every person.

With Measure O behind us, hopefully all energies and resources will be applied to securing a new water source. There are no winners in this equation, as we have already changed our way of living, working and conserving our limited water supplies. Without a new source of water, those who live and work here will all be losers, but we have within our collective power the means of limiting those losses if only we can sit down together and work through the issues.

Remember, we do not yet have an

Memo from city hall: the public's business is none of your business

CARMEL CITY administrators have selflessly erected a great rampart against the tyranny of local citizens who would like to know what the hell is going on in city hall these days.

At the helm of the defensive barrier is city administrator Jason Stilwell, who recognizes that the internal operation of municipal government is nobody's business, least of all the nosy taxpayers and city residents within.

Stilwell is the stalwart defender of the

beyond the realm

By JOE LIVERNOIS

notion that the efficient management of city functions should never be compromised by anyone who might want to know about those efficiencies.

Adding even more stone walls to his rampart, Stilwell has hired a law firm from Santa Barbara specifically to stave off the avalanche of pesky requests for so-called "public" documents by agitators who are bent on destroying his empire.

The law firm has apparently been busier than a one-armed paperhanger with a case of the crabs. The City of Carmel paid the firm more than $30,000 in February alone, which is of course a small price to pay in the defense of secrecy.

The requests are allowed by laws designed to molly-coddle citizens into thinking that they might actually learn something about government operations.

From the perspective of public administrators in California, the Public Records Act provides them an opportunity to practice the art of manipulative avoidance.

Stilwell's use of special attorneys places him at the forefront of those who practice his craft.

"I don't recall ever encountering a city that has a special counsel for PRA requests," said Thomas Peele, one of those intrusive investigative reporters who devote their lives in pursuit of foiling efficient government operations by trying to find out if government is actually operating.

Peele, who works for the Bay Area News Group, has been making a nuisance of himself by asking cities, counties, school districts and special district for spreadsheets that list the salaries earned by their employees.

Most public administrators have whined and complained bitterly about the request, but eventually comply with the state law.

The law might be wrong, but the law is also clear, so the brain trust in Carmel had no choice. Fortunately, it did find some wiggle room, so city administrators responded ingeniously to the request by sending Peele a useless pdf copy of the information he sought, rather than the sort-able database that the law suggests.

Its compliance to Peele was significantly more clever than its response to previous requests, many of them from The Pine Cone.

In those cases, the city simply turned over bunches of documents with white spaces striking out the juicy parts — or, in the case of a request for a contract with a law firm doing work for the police department, simply denying the request outright.

Public Records Act requests have long been the bane of public administrators who adhere to the bedrock principle that the execution of public business is none of the public's business.

In fairness to other cities and government agencies, it should be noted that Carmel is not alone in holding the line.

In Salinas, for example, the city has rejected formal requests by the media to divulge the names of police officers involved in several recent fatal shootings.

And the hands-down champions of creative avoidance, the Monterey County

County Counsel's Office, somehow managed to convince a judge to uphold its position that the public shouldn't know about who said what to whom and why during a series of "private" conversations between the board of supervisors and the county Water Resources Agency director.

Unfortunately for public servants in California who quietly and heroically struggle in their battle against transparency, the naïve voters in the state last month overwhelmingly passed Proposition 42, which codifies municipal transparency in the state Constitution, forcing cities to comply with the same open-government laws required of the state.

In yet another blow to the non-transparency campaign, the proposition forces cities to pay for its compliance, meaning that cities can no longer use the excuse that they can't afford to provide the information sought by the nosy public.

If nothing else, Proposition 42 will offer formidable challenges to city administrators to find new and clever loopholes to deny Public Records Act requests.

Hiring more attorneys might help.

Make it a point to check the schedules and attend meetings of MPWMD and the three bodies of the Peninsula Mayors' Water Resources Authority [the technical advisory committee Monday mornings at Monterey City Hall, the governance committee at the offices of the MPWMD, and the board of directors (including all the mayors) Thursdays at 7 p.m. at Monterey City Hall]. ### Waiting for Stilwell's ouster

Dear Editor,

I am a retired city clerk in the Bay Area and was employed as interim city clerk for Carmel in the early 2000s. I was on the oral board that hired former city clerk Heidi Burch.

As a city clerk and consultant for more than 40 years, I am more than familiar with the Public Records Act. I am totally appalled that the current city manager has not been ousted by now — which doesn't say much for the current city council.

I am ashamed and disappointed that this type of activity has taken over a city/town that has been so well run in the past. I stand by my comment to former Mayor Sue McCloud that I'm heading for The Pine Cone headline one day to read, "Carmel declares bankruptcy — Stilwell forced to resign."

I am not even a resident, and I'm still worked up about this.

Carol Ann Butler, former Interim City Clerk, Carmel

Has United Way lost its way?

Dear Editor,

Some of you have heard that United Way Monterey

County has cut its grants for 2014-15 to local nonprofits by about 57 percent, from $1,000,000 to $425,000. The reason given is a significant reduction in contributions, and that UWMC has been funding from reserves for several years.

I did a review of the financial statements on their website for the years ending June 30, 2010, to 2013 (I do not have access to 2014 which has not yet ended and I believe is not public.) What I see is that net donations have decreased about $200,000 per year from about $2.1 million to $1.9 million. They have seen increases in other revenue; however, most of this is in in-kind media donations. In addition to the $1.9 million to $2.1 million of annual net campaign contributions, UW receives a fairly consistent $1 million of directed donations — funds donated with specific instructions about how they're to be used.

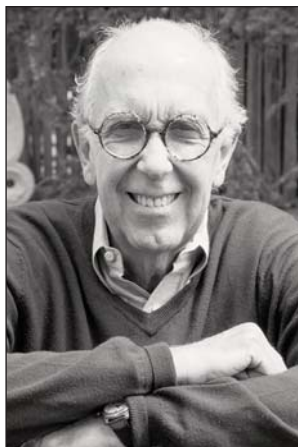

Note that the group's historical grant level of $1 million to local nonprofits was only about 50 percent of its net campaign revenue. The balance of campaign revenue is combined with other sources such as county grants to UWMC and is used for UWMC to perform its own services. While they were

Gene Bath — a mane attraction downtown for 45 years

AT CHARADE Salon on Lincoln, Gene Bath has become a local treasure over the last five decades, and he's done it with scissors and blow dryers.

Judy Lopez, owner of Charade, nominated Bath for this column — or, as he put it, “turned me in” — because after 45 years, he's retiring. Reached by phone at his home in Pacific Grove, he explained that his roots in California go back even longer.

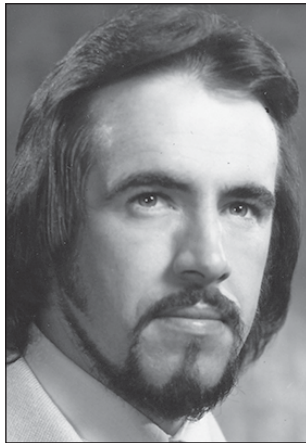

“I was born in Nebraska and moved to California when I was 4-and-a-half,” he said with his characteristic precision. “I think of Morro Bay as my hometown. I had some of the best times of my life there.”

After graduating from high school in Fresno, Bath enlisted in the U.S. Navy, where he served “two years, 11 months and 27 days.” Not that he counted.

He's also been a farmer and a commercial fisherman, but ruled out long-term careers in either industry because of bad weather and long, unpredictable hours. After a stint as a prison guard, he decided government work was also out — “too much bureaucracy.” So he wound up in Reno, Nev., as a dealer for Harrah's. While that was, as Bath said, “a great job for a single guy of 24,” he wanted something more stable for the long term.

He graduated from barber school in 1967 and found his first job in Salinas — mostly cutting men's hair. After seven months,

Bath, who is 71 now, does know his clients. He's seen many for 30 years or more, and a handful have been with him more than 40 years. He also has some who come from as far away as Gilroy and Santa Cruz. While he's ready to retire, he's also sentimental.

Gene Bath in the 1970s.

He said his job never seemed like work, a sentiment often expressed by folks featured in Great Lives.

Bath reminisced about the changes in his profession over the years. The lines between cosmetology and barbering began blurring in the late 1960s, as men wore their hair longer. And that's also when Bath started doing hair styling for women — which, during the era of longer men's hair, wasn't all that different.

Barbers and cosmetologists can prep, style, cut and color hair. Cosmetologists' licenses permit them to provide many other services, but only a barber can give men a shave with a haircut.

“I taught the other people in my shop how to cut hair, and they taught me how to style and color,” he said.

He also talked about two events that revolutionized his business. First, Vidal Sassoon developed “precision haircutting,” the short, architectural hairstyles that became popular during the 1960s.

Then, hairdresser-chemist Jherri Redding debuted a line of scientifically developed products under the brand Redken. Bath was so impressed with them that he began working for Redken on the side, giving seminars and workshops on their products well into the 1980s.

And, speaking of the 1980s: Oh, that big hair! Why did women do it? Bath had the answer: shoulder pads. If you're a woman who survived the Leg Warmer Decade, you'll remember that jackets and dresses were designed to minimize waistlines by making shoulders look like they belonged on the Raiders' defensive line. And so you need big hair to avoid looking like a pinhead.

So, now that he'll no longer be making his clients look more beautiful, what's on Bath's horizon?

He's a volunteer docent at the Point Sur lighthouse, and he wants to take more courses through Gentrain and similar programs. And he's looking forward to some long vacations.

“It's hard to take more than two weeks off in this profession,” he said, mentioning possible destinations, from Portugal, to New Zealand. He's kicking off his retirement with a big party Sunday. He's expecting about 100 friends and family members from all over, including his daughter and grandson from Denver, Colo.

He said Carmel's biggest change during his years there has been the loss of full-time residents, and the arrival of people from Silicon Valley. But he summed up his nearly half-century in Carmel by quoting Jerry Garcia.

“What a long, strange trip it's been,” he said, with a smile.

WORKSHOP

and will be offering suggestions to the full council at its regular meeting Tuesday, July 1.

“We're looking for people's input, and from the workshop, and we're going to make recommendations to the council on Tuesday,” she said. “It's been a year since the inception of the market, so I think it's a good time to take a look at what's been great about it, what people liked about it, and maybe we need to take a look at the guidelines that were set up, to see if we want to change them.”

The market — its location in particular — has been the topic of vocal debate at past meetings, with defenders advocating for holding it downtown to draw more visitors and locals to the commercial district, to support local farmers, and to provide a valuable service to residents, while opponents say it interferes with their Ocean Avenue businesses.

“This will be a good time to review what we've been doing, how it's been set up and where it should go,” Theis said.

One group, calling itself the Carmel Business Alliance, is ready to weigh in. Founded by gallery owner Jim Miller, Jim and Connie Ockert of Khaki's, Todd Tice of The Club and gallery owner Robert Knight, the group circulated a petition in June stating its united opposition to holding the market on Sixth Avenue and at Devendorf Park, to which the market moved from the north lot at Sunset Center last month.

“The retail businesses of Carmel-by-the-Sea are majority contributors to the budget of Carmel-by-the-Sea, generated from sales tax and fees,” the petition reads. But “inviting outside markets and exhibitors to town, waiving rents, exhibitor fees, licensing fees and taxes, unfairly encourages and subsidizes competition with existing businesses.”

Furthermore, they said, in addition to fruits and veggies, market vendors on May 22 were selling jewelry, clothing, flowers, woodcarvings, pottery, baskets, souvenirs, and ready-to-eat meals and drinks. “These businesses are in competition with the existing businesses in town,” the petitioners said.

If the council approves a permanent location in Devendorf Park, they said, “we would like to propose to the city administrators that it does not negatively affect downtown business or residents with challenging traffic and parking issues.” Therefore, vendors should only sell produce, and any prepared foods should be sold by Carmel restaurants. “No other products should be allowed to be sold so as to compete with the businesses in town that are paying high rents, taxes, salaries, etc.,” the petition reads.

And vendors should have to pay for the closure of Sixth Avenue and use of the park, cleanup and maintenance. They should come from no farther than 60 miles away, and the market should be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with an hour before and after allowed for setup and breakdown.

Theis said the market's director, Jerry Lami, has been collecting data via a survey since the market's temporary move to Devendorf, and the Carmel Chamber of Commerce conducted one when it was being held in the north lot at Sunset Center.

“We're going to ask them to do a survey about what people think of the Devendorf location from a business perspective,” Theis said. And Janet Bombard, who is in charge of community services, has collected information, too.

Mayor Jason Burnett said he and the rest of the council will place a lot of importance on the committee's recommendations.

“I certainly encourage people interested in the farmers market to attend Monday,” he said. “And most of us on the council will put serious weight on whatever the ad hoc committee comes up with.”

Also on the council's agenda Tuesday are three different hearings regarding right-of-way encroachments. Burnett didn't have the details of each case at hand, but encroachments usually involve a property owner installing boulders, pavers, gravel, steps or landscaping in the public space in front of a home to make it more attractive or protect parking spaces. Often, the work is done without permission from the city. The council discussed the issue of encroachments last year.

“Hopefully these appeals will provide staff good guidance as to how the council is thinking through the right-of-way questions,” Burnett said. “It'll provide staff a better understanding of what the council is looking for.”

The particular cases, he said, “were selected intentionally for some open discussion of what the council wants.”

The Monday workshop and the Tuesday council meeting will be held in chambers at city hall on Monte Verde Street south of Ocean Avenue. The workshop will run 5:30 to 7 p.m., while the council meeting will begin at 4:30 p.m. For more information, visit www.ci.carmel.ca.us.

Purdy's Men's Hair Salon on Dolores hired him. Within a few years, he bought the business, changed the name to Carmel Crimper, and the rest is history.

At first, he mostly cut men's hair, and said he chose barbering as a profession after concluding that he could work indoors, keep regular hours, and “just BS a little bit about baseball and fishing while I whacked away (at customers' hair).”

He added wryly that, 45 years later, he still doesn't know anything about baseball or fishing.

Independence Day to be celebrated the old fashioned way

THE CITY'S traditional free, old-fashioned, family-style Independence Day celebration will be held from noon to 4 p.m. Friday, July 4, in Devendorf Park at Ocean and Junipero in downtown Carmel.

The festivities will begin with a welcome from Carmel Mayor Jason Burnett, followed by live music from Velvet Plum and games for kids.

Attendees should bring blankets and chairs and can pack their own picnics to enjoy on the grass at Devendorf. But a number of service clubs will be serving food, too, including Carmel Heritage Society, Carmel Host Lions, Carmel Kiwanis, Carmel Mission Trails Lions, Carmel Residents Association, Carmel Woman's Club, YES for Carmel and others. Donations will be accepted.

For more information, call the city's community services department at (831) 620-2020.

FIRES

by people who want fires strictly controlled.

Linda Anderson commented that the city's trademark beautiful beach "is being trashed by the number of fires," and she commended the commission for "trying to figure this out and put a limit on it." She also said people need to know they can't drop firewood and supplies over the beach bluffs, rather than carrying them down the stairs.

"It's going to take some backbones of steel to make this happen, and I think you have them," she said.

Another resident said allowing beach fires is akin to permitting people to litter on the beach, even as they can't leave their garbage on the streets downtown, and resident Hugo Ferlito said people are "loving the beach to death."

"The amount of charcoal on the beach is just not sustainable — it's getting worse and worse and worse," he said. But more enforcement and cleanup efforts will allow the fires to continue, to some extent. "I think we can have it both ways."

Skip Lloyd wondered if the beach fires constitute a blight that negatively affects the value of nearby properties. "People want a quiet, lovely place with a white sand beach," he said.

And Maggie Eaton of Sustainable Carmel said smoke from beach fires June 13 drove her inside after walking her dogs around 10 p.m., and it permeated her home, even with her windows and doors closed.

"It occurs to me that, by allowing this situation to persist, the city favors those who pollute and create environmental damage, consigning to indoors those who live close to the beach and who do not want to get exposed to the smoke and smell," she said in a June 14 email. "There was a beautiful full moon last night, and I longed to stay out longer in my neighborhood along the beach."

But resident and former forest and beach commissioner Kevan Urquhart, who said he was representing "the silent working majority who usually can't attend these meetings," commented that "it would be terrible if the majority of us are penalized because of the minority abusing the rules." He also wondered how many nearby homes contain fireplaces that release smoke into the air. "I encourage you to continue to have fires on the beach," he said.

And Sandra Pepe, who owns and runs a restaurant, wine bar and bakery with her husband, Rich Pepe, said the fires are part of the history of Carmel. They are often spontaneous, as people realize the weather is nice and decide to head to the beach, and they don't cost anything. "People can't afford to use other venues," she said. "I really want to see our beach be a family beach."

Resident Diane Singer said she thought the whole issue was much ado about nothing. "I think it's being overthought," she said. "It's the beach."

Bang, who compiled information on policies at other beaches throughout the state, suggested the commission ask the council to approve the concept of controlling the number of beach fires and how they're built.

"We have a lot on our plate but can get started with agreeing on principle that we want to limit the number of fires and that we do not want fires built on the sand," she said, and her fellow commissioners agreed.

Commissioner Karen Ferlito, wife of Hugo Ferlito, said that if left unchecked, fires are dangerous on multiple levels.

distributing about $1 million to local nonprofits, they were spending about $1.4 million on personnel costs, mostly for UWMC staff. Now when they realize they have been spending too rapidly, they are cutting local nonprofit funding 50 percent. It appears to me to be poor management over several years and now a sudden retrenching at the expense of local nonprofits.

When I was VP finance and administration for several Silicon Valley companies, we pushed the United Way employee paycheck withholding contribution program, because we understood that it would take the funds and distribute them to local nonprofits (the original concept of a predecessor organization — Community Chest). UW was presented as a central donation collector and efficient distributor. This does not seem to be the case today. UW seems to have its own agenda and to fund this significantly greater than the funds they provide to nonprofits.

In my opinion, UW has lost its way. It now prevents partner nonprofits by contract from soliciting employers for employee donations while skimming 50 percent to 75 percent of donations for its own use. I have heard that it may cease funding local nonprofits altogether and move from being a foundation to being a nonprofit provider competing with other nonprofits for funds.

It is my belief that this issue is not exclusive to Monterey County but is occurring across the country. It appears to me that the national United Way feels it knows better than the local community nonprofits where to spend money and is usurping the contributions to simply be another nonprofit rather than a funding organization.

Perhaps it is time for local nonprofits to form a new organization along the lines of the old Community Chest that collects funds efficiently from employees, employers, and others (such as Pebble Beach Concours and the AT&T) and distributes them to local nonprofit agencies.

Denny Paul, Chartered Financial Analyst, Carmel

"It's extremely dangerous for kids to breath campfire smoke," she said. "And litter is a huge problem. It creates an unsightly and unnecessary condition at the beach — and a dangerous one."

Allowing people to drink on the beach exacerbates the problem, she added. "Sometimes that makes people behave badly," leaving broken booze bottles and dozens of empty cans behind.

Chairman David Refuerzo remarked that permanent fire rings "do not look great and have the possibility of becoming garbage pits," but some sort of solution needs to be found.

"We clearly need to come up with something, and I think the two principles Commissioner Bang listed are a move in the right direction," he said.

As a result, the commission unanimously voted to recommend the council approve the concept of controlling the number of fires on the beach and requiring they not be built directly on the sand — and then send the issue back to the forest and beach commission to figure out exactly how to accomplish that.

On her Facebook page, Gray-Reeves thanked her friends and family for their "outpouring of love, affection, prayer and blessing as our family moves through the painful and shocking loss of our beloved Michael."

"He was a unique, powerful, intelligent, dynamic, funny, strong and dedicated light in the world. Our hearts are broken, and yet we know and rejoice that as we grieve, we do so in the grace and peace of Jesus Christ, who makes all things new," she wrote. "We are so thankful for our faith and for the community which now holds and bears this tragedy with us."

William Reeves celebrated his 30th wedding anniversary with his wife, Bishop Mary Gray-Reeves, at Marinus at Bernardus in December 2012. He was hit and killed while riding his bicycle in Carmel Valley Saturday.

"CARMEL LEGENDS"

Chances are you don't know where FRASER WAY is. So pay attention and amaze your friends with your knowledge of Carmel trivia. It's a short, one-block street that runs from Casanova to Camino Real below 13th and just north of Santa Lucia. It's the only deviation from the otherwise geometrically perfect gridwork of streets laid out in 1902 by square-rigged developers Devendorf and Powers. And it's a monument to the great Fraser Feud of 1906-14. The Fraser brothers, Hector and Wilbur, owned the whole block, a gift from their father, Hector, Sr. Wilbur had an ambition to create a public inn which he would call Fraser Ranch. "You're nuts," said Hector. "This is a quiet, residential community." The argument raged for 8 years and was settled only when Hector cut off the lower tip of the block and deeded it to Wilbur "in fee simple." Today there are 4 houses on Fraser Way the dividing line, none an inn. And, if you believe this story, we have some stock in the new bridge that will cross Carmel Bay that we'd like to discuss with you.

Health care delivered with a enthusiasm, unconditional love, and a cold nose

THERE ARE patients at the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula who receive treatment not covered by most insurance plans. Not to worry, though. If your doctor jumps up on your bed and licks your face, it's free. Such an unusual bedside manner has nothing to do with malpractice, but everything to do with pal-practice, or treatment from a patient's best friend, a therapy dog.

CHOMP has more than 30 volunteers in its Therapy Dog Program. The dogs are vaccinated, clean, on leash, and certified by Therapy Dog International. They navigate inpatient units at the hospital and are available upon request.

Debi Cassan has been in the program for about a dozen years.

"Nothing reaches people more than a dog that provides unconditional love and is eager to please," she said.

She and her two Golden Retrievers, Hastings and Holly, are among the 30 volunteers with f44 dogs that visit patients at CHOMP, local hospices, and nursing homes.

"I think Golden Retrievers are the most social dogs and they have the sweetest dispositions. But the group includes dogs of all sizes from Toy Poodles, to Mastiffs, to Great Danes. My dogs love the program. As soon as their identification vests go on, they sense they're going to work and get very excited."

Dogs in the program must complete a rigorous training program and be certified through Therapy Dogs International.

"The dogs have to pass thirty different tests. Obedience commands are very important, of course. They must negotiate an obstacle course so they can maneuver around wheel chairs and walkers," Debi said.

The trainers do everything to startle the dogs such as dropping metal objects that make loud noises. It is important that the dogs remain calm throughout. Food is put down on the floor and the dogs have to stay away from it with the command, "leave it."

The dogs must also become comfortable working with persons who are not their owners, and they have to be good with children and other dogs.

Hastings is 7 years old and weighs in at 85 pounds, Holly is 3 years old and weighs about 70 pounds. They are taken to all the floors except maternity, nurseries, or any surgical areas. Debi and her two dogs concentrate their visits in the Cancer Center.

"Naturally, not all patients want canine visitors. Some are allergic, others are simply afraid. So we always ask first," Debi said. "Ninety percent of patients gladly welcome the dogs."

Debi was a volunteer in a group that visited patients in convalescent homes. Once she had a patient who had no family and no visitors. She was unresponsive for more than six months. One day Debi saw a huge cat sitting on a washing machine in the facility's laundry room. She scooped up the cat in her arms and brought it into the patient's room.

"That's one damn big cat," the patient exclaimed. From then on she was quite responsive.

"That made me realize what a positive impact animals could have on people who are ill," Debi said.

That story is not the only reason Debi Cassan understands the impact animals can have on patients. You see, she is one of those patients, herself.

"I receive therapy here at CHOMP and then I get it at home from my dogs, too."

Debi was diagnosed with breast cancer eleven years ago. She underwent surgery and radiation therapy, and was given a "cancer free card" after the treatment.

Then, in January of this year, she was diagnosed with cancer on the other side.

"It did not metastasize," she said. "It was a completely different cancer."

More surgery was followed by three months of chemotherapy. She's been receiving radiation therapy for almost four weeks.

"The three of us, Hastings, Holly, and myself, meet cancer patients of all ages. Let's face it. It can be a terrifying time for people," she said. "Patients recognize that I understand what they are going through. We can share experiences in a unique way."

How are you doing, Debi?

"Hey, I'm fine. I'm back to running on a regular basis. My goal is to run in the New York City Marathon in 2015. I've run three marathons: two Big Surs, and the Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C. And I have the best support group anyone can have. I brag about my two wonderful dogs, Debi Cassan with her two dogs, Hastings and Holly, who specialize in comforting hospital patients and helping them heal.

but my husband, Stanley, is the best support. He's been there for me for 37 years."

You can tell by the way Hastings and Holly greet Debi when they see her that they think she is a very special person. I can only add my personal arf-firmation.

complex where he resides, and he called her son a thief and a "little bitch," and told him to keep walking. The resident is concerned for her son's safety and wanted the incident documented. The woman and her son deny any wrongdoing. Officers contacted the father of the involved party. He refused to let officers speak with his son and stated his son was asleep. Subject admitted that he and his son had cussed at the resident's son and claimed the subject had stolen some of their property, and the police "did nothing about it." The subject was told to leave his neighbors alone. The woman was advised how to obtain a restraining order.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Rental vehicle keys found on Lincoln Street were turned in to CPD, and the owner was located.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Junipero Street resident reported unknown land surveyors left a large machete near his property line. CPD collected the machete for safekeeping.

Carmel Valley: Sheriff's office located drug paraphernalia and marijuana in the 27300 block of Schulte Road.

Carmel Valley: Chainsaw was taken from an unlocked shed in the backyard of a residence in the area of Nason Road and Cachagua Road during a two-week period of time.

Pacific Grove: Subjects on Lighthouse having a loud party at 0240 hours were disturbing the neighbor, who wished to sign a citation. Nothing further.

Big Sur: Female said she wanted to end her life with a knife. She was transported to CHOMP.

POLICE

Carmel area: Man reported unknown person submitted fraudulent tax returns to the IRS and multiple states in his name to collect refunds.

Pacific Grove: A purse was found on the ground near an occupied vehicle. None of the subjects in the vehicle claimed the purse. The owner was not on scene and was not located. A business card was given to her boyfriend, who was located in a nearby house, so she could later claim the purse. Tinfoils were found inside a cigarette box and booked for destruction. No narcotics or usable residue were found. The purse contained cosmetics, a hat, nail materials, ID and cash. The owner was found to have an outstanding warrant from San Benito County. The owner came to the station and picked up the property. San Benito unable to find the warrant.

Pacific Grove: Dead animal found on David Avenue was determined to be due to vehicle collision/scavenged by animals.

Pacific Grove: Dispatched to reported theft from a hotel room on Asilomar Boulevard. Woman stated she and her husband were visiting and staying at a local hotel. She stated their camera was taken from their room. Woman and her husband looked everywhere for the camera before notifying the police.

Pacific Grove: An unknown suspect ran into a building on Forest Avenue with his vehicle and fled the scene.

Pacific Grove: Dispatched to reported theft of wallet on Forest Avenue. Female stated she believes her wallet was taken at work. Unknown who took the wallet, due to no witnesses or cameras.

FRIDAY, JUNE 13

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Vehicle towed from Eighth Avenue for blocking a driveway.

Pacific Grove: Dispatched to Forest Park Court for a report of fraud. Resident stated he received a check in the mail because he had placed an ad in Craigslist for a boat he was selling. He went and deposited the check, but a few days later the check came back as a fictitious check. He did not release the boat to the buyer. He lost money because the check was fake.

Pacific Grove: Woman stated she was involved in a verbal confrontation with an employee where she used to store her property on Sunset. The involved party did not want to refund her deposit and the remaining portion of her monthly payment which was not used for the storage space. She stated the involved party told her she knew she should not have rented her the space because she could tell she would not pay her bills. Woman stated she had rented the space for three years from the business, and this last year, she lost her job and was slow paying the monthly rent. She stated she gave written notice she was vacating the space on May 27, and the business had not refunded her money. She wanted this incident documented. Amount owed to her is allegedly $82.50.

Pacific Grove: Dispatched to reported theft of a PlayStation 4 and two controls. Person was reporting on behalf of some guests from out of town. He believes he knows who took the PS4 due to other recent thefts. This case is still under investigation.

Big Sur: Unknown suspects burglarized a vehicle while owner he was at Pfeiffer Beach.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person reported a Jeep with four men drove onto the beach and then exited eastbound on Ocean. Officers detained the Jeep and interviewed the driver, and found they had wanted to build a fire and didn't want to haul the wood, so they drove. He said someone told him fires weren't allowed at Del Mar, so he was headed south toward 10th. No one told him he couldn't have a vehicle on the beach. Tracks were found, but no damage was noted, so a warning was issued and the driver admonished.

Carmel Valley: Resident at Nason and Cachagua roads reported two rocks were thrown at him by a citizen. Suspect could not be located.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person on Lincoln Street reported an ongoing issue with a customer who had been given a verbal stay-away order from the business. The customer was on scene and given a second verbal stay-away order, and advised the next time the business was going to press charges.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person reported a civil dispute regarding a landscaping employee using a blower and blowing beach sand granules onto the hood of a parked vehicle. Resident wanted the incident documented.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: CPD units responded to a municipal code issue, questioning the proper delivery/placement of a storage container and construction materials on Santa Fe. The landlord and delivery service involved were contacted, and the construction materials were repositioned safely onto the property.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: A 37-year-old female was arrested on Rio Road for public intoxication and child endangerment. Subject was lodged at Monterey County Jail.

Carmel area: Customer refused to leave bank after service was refused.

Big Sur: A purse was turned in to Carmel P.D. Owner was located, and the purse was returned to them. No items were missing. Case closed.

Carmel area: Traffic stop on a driver on Carmel Rancho Boulevard matching a possible DUI report. Driver was contacted and evaluated for DUI. Driver was arrested by CHP.

Pacific Grove: Person accidentally drove away from the gas pump, causing nozzle and hose to disconnect from pump. Attendant requested driver's information because the reconnection had to be done by pump service tech, and it was unknown if the hose was permanently damaged by driver. Hose is scheduled to be checked/repaired/reconnected on June 16. Driver's information was provided to the station attendant.

Pacific Grove: Vehicle was traveling over the speed limit on Lighthouse. Driver was contacted and was determined to be under the influence. Driver had a high level of alcohol. The 31-year-old driver was arrested, booked and released with a citation.

SUNDAY, JUNE 15

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ocean Avenue business reported a found wallet and brought it to the police station for safekeeping pending owner notification.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Mission Street resident requested a welfare check on his mother after he received a text message from her. The mother was contacted and was fine.

Pacific Grove: Person stated two male juveniles drove by in a newer, white Cadillac and egged his house on two separate occasions over a 15-minute period. He cleaned the eggs off of his house and requested that officers attempt to locate the suspect vehicle. An area check was conducted, but the suspects were not located. Officer asked if he knew why the suspects targeted his home. He stated, given the suspects' ages, he believed the juveniles may have been trying to impress his daughter who recently graduated from high school.

Pacific Grove: While conducting a traffic stop on 17 Mile Drive, officer determined a 20-year-old driver was driving under the influence. Subject was arrested, booked and released with a promise to appear.

Pacific Grove: Officer was dispatched to Fountain Avenue on report of a suspicious vehicle. Upon arrival, the vehicle was unoccupied and locked. Officer ran the plate with dispatch, and they advised the registration was expired as of December 2013. However, the vehicle had a current registration sticker of 2014. Removed the plate from the vehicle and submitted it into evidence and issued the vehicle a parking citation.

MONDAY, JUNE 16

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Ocean Avenue resident reported an ongoing civil issue with her neighbor over the removal of mutual property: fence boards. Both parties were contacted and admonished.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Person on Ocean reported a verbal dispute over a parking. Both parties were admonished.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Vehicle towed from Mission Street for registration expired more than six months.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Vehicle towed from Mission Street for expired registration. An inventory search of the vehicle revealed less than 1 ounce of marijuana. The owner was issued a citation.

Carmel-by-the-Sea: Dolores Street resident found two unknown type bones buried in his backyard.

Pacific Grove: Search warrant from an outside agency served at a Lincoln residence. Stolen property was recovered in the residence, along with controlled substances and controlled cannabis. One subject, age 25, was arrested. One outstanding.

Pacific Grove: Male juvenile exposed himself in front of a grocery store at Country Club Gate. Officers arrived to find a male juvenile in a seated position with very baggy pants on, but the reporting party did not want contact. Juvenile had smoking implements on his person. He was issued a citation for the tobacco products and his father was notified.

Pacific Grove: Seaview resident reported that sometime overnight, unknown person(s) entered his unlocked vehicle and ransacked the interior. Nothing was taken or damaged.

Pacific Grove: A citizen called in reporting an elderly male seemed lost. A few minutes later, a woman called in stating she could not locate her husband, who had dementia. Officers located man in the area of Sinex and Asilomar. Man was provided courtesy transport home. Grateful wife stated she would look back into the Monterey County Project Life Saver.

Pacific Grove: While conducting a traffic stop on Ocean View, officer determined the 23-year-old female driver was unlicensed. Driver was arrested, transported and booked.

The Carmel Pine Cone

TRUSTED BY LOCALS AND LOVED BY VISITORS SINCE 1915

Here's what our readers are saying —

- "I would like to express my appreciation for the consistently scrupulous and noteworthy editorial standards I have been privileged to enjoy while reading The Pine Cone for the past several years. Succinct, ethical, and straightforward journalism at the local level is a thing to be celebrated in an age wherein a responsible and effective editorial hand seems to have been dismissed as an encumbrance in countless newspapers (online and otherwise) across the multimedia spectrum. One often gets the sense that editors no longer care about the quality of their copy, and are almost cavalier about offering us articles rife with poor spelling, grammar, and outright unethical reportage. It is indeed a sad and condescending state of affairs. Therefore, how refreshing it is to see the reliable excellence of The Pine Cone stand as a superior, small-town counterpoint to such disturbing decline as evidenced by the blatant ineptitude of so many subpar contributors in our national news outlets. Again, I would like to thank you and the entire Pine Cone staff for such perennially diligent work and attention to detail. It is a pleasure to behold, a most valuable contribution to our community, and I am only too happy to actively seek-out and support your advertisers with my business whenever possible. Keep up the fine work!"
- "I want to thank you for providing our community with a real local newspaper. While I may not always agree with all of the content, I do always enjoy reading The Pine Cone. Thanks again for keeping our 'news' small town."
- "I have nothing to offer as far as advice except to tell you I can't wait until Friday to read The Pine Cone, and I can't wait to read your editorials! The Pine Cone is 'must read.' I especially enjoy the food/wine section, but virtually every thing you report is greatly valued by me, a life long Carmel/Carmel Valley resident! Great work! Please keep doing what you are doing."
- "As a former editor of many years, with a few as a publisher/editor, I always like to let a colleague know how much I enjoy their publication, if it is worthy of such enjoyment. Yours is."
- "I appreciate your paper and the online format you have that let's me browse Carmel from Sonoma where I live. I always enjoy reading The Pine Cone with my morning coffee when I'm in Carmel, and you've done such a great job with the online format that I can smell the ocean from the Sonoma town square on Friday mornings when I open my email from The Pine Cone."
- "Just a note to tell you how much I enjoy The Pine Cone. Carmel is fortunate to have such a fine paper serving the community. We spend a couple of months in Carmel each year. Of course, we always pick up a copy of the paper. But we read it cover to cover throughout the year. It is so wonderful to be able to keep up with the community we love so much. Please keep up the good work."

'They love us ... they really, really love us!'

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this summons and legal papers are served on you to file a written response at this court and have a copy served on the cross-complainant. A letter or phone call will not protect you. Your written response must be in proper legal form if you want the court to hear your case. There may be a court form that you can use for your response. You can find these court forms and more information at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), your county law library, or the courthouse nearest you. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the court clerk for a fee waiver form. If you do not file your response on time, you may lose the case by default, and your wages, money and property may be taken without further warning from the court.

There are other legal requirements. You may want to call an attorney right away. If you do not know an attorney, you may call an attorney referral service. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal services from a nonprofit legal services program. You can locate these nonprofit groups at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), or by contacting your local court or county bar association.

NOTE: The court has a statutory lien for waived fees and costs on any settlement or arbitration award of $10,000 or more in a civil case. The court's lien must be paid before the court will dismiss the case.

Tiene 30 DIAS DE CALENDARIO después de que le entreguen esta citación y papeles legales para presentar una respuesta por escrito en esta corte y hacer que se entregue una copia al contrademandante. Una carta o una llamada telefónica no lo protegen. Su respuesta por escrito tiene que estar en formato legal correcto si desea que procesen su caso en la corte. Es posible que haya un formulario que usted pueda usar para su respuesta. Puede encontrar estos formularios de la corte y más información en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov), en la biblioteca de leyes de su condado o en la corte que le quede más cerca. Si no puede pagar la cuota de presentación, pida al secretario de la corte que le dé un formulario de exención de pago de cuotas. Si no presenta su respuesta a tiempo, puede perder el caso por incumplimiento y la corte le podrá quitar su sueldo, dinero y bienes sin más advertencia.

Hay otros requisitos legales. Es recomendable que llame a un abogado inmediatamente. Si no conoce a un abogado, pueda llamar a un servicio de remisión a abogados. Si no puede pagar a un abogado, es posible que cumpla con los requisitos para obtener servicios legales gratuitos de un programa de servicios legales sin fines de lucro. Puede encontrar estos sin fines de lucro en el sitio web de California Legal Services (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov) o onándose en contacto con la corte o el colegio de abogados locales. AVISO: Por ley, la corte tiene derecho a reclamar las cuotas y los costos exentos por imponer un gravamen sobre cualquier recuperación de $10,000 o más de valor recibida mediante un acuerdo o una concesión de arbitraje en un caso de derecho civil. Tiene que pagar el gravamen de la corte antes de que la corte pueda desechar el caso.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DON ALVARADO LASSITER, aka DON A. LASSITER, aka DON LASSITER, deceased Case Number MP 21553

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DON ALVARADO LASSITER, aka DON A. LASSITER, aka DON LASSITER, deceased.
 A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ALBERT EINSTEIN LASSITER in the Superior Court of California, County of MONTEREY.
 The Petition for Probate requests that ALBERT EINSTEIN LASSITER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
 THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
 THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held on this court as follows:
 Date: Aug. 20, 2014
 Time: 9:00 a.m.
 Dept.: 16
 Address: Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, CA 93940.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
 If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
 You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE No. 14-211 YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 12/14/2011. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. On 07/03/2014 at 10:00AM of said day, At the main entrance to the County Administration Building at 168 W. Alisal Street, Salinas, CA. SALINAS MORTGAGE COMPANY, a Calif. Corp. as Trustee will sell at a public auction to the highest bidder for cash (payable at the time of sale in lawful money of the United States) the following described property situated in the County of MONTEREY, State of California, described more fully within said Deed of Trust. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 37833 NASON ROAD, CARMEL VALLEY, CA 93924 APN No.: 418-261-010. The undersigned disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown here. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee's Sale (auction). You will be bidding on a lien. Although you will receive title to the property, placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction DOES NOT automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you will be, or may be, responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and amount of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the County Recorder's Office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times, pursuant to California Civil Code Section 2924g. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you would like to know whether your sale date has been postponed, and/or the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (408) 374-7204 or visit [www foreclosure.com](http://www foreclosure.com) and reference Trustee's Sale # 14-211. Information about postponements that are short in duration or that occur close to the scheduled sale time may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or online. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the Power of Sale conferred in a certain Deed of Trust executed by JAMES S. BETTENCOURT, JR. as Trustors, Recorded 12/21/2011 as Instrument No. 2011072575 in the office of the County Recorder of MONTEREY County. At the time of the initial publication of this Notice, the total amount of unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the above described Deed of Trust and estimated costs, expenses, fees, and advances is $147,446.03. To determine the opening bid, you should call (408) 374-7204, before the sale date. The Foreclosure Company, Inc., as Agent 3001 So. Winchester Blvd., Suite A, Campbell, California 95008, Dated: 06/05/2014, By SHAROL LANG, FORECLOSURE OFFICER. This office is attempting to collect a debt and any information obtained will be used for that purpose; whether that information is obtained verbally or in writing. You are being sued.
PETITIONER'S NAME IS:
NAVID GHAZI
 You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this Summons and Petition are served on you to file a Response (form FL-120 or FL-123) at the court and have a copy served on the petitioner. A letter or phone call will not protect you.
 If you do not file your Response on time, the court may make orders affecting your marriage or domestic partnership, your property, and custody of your children. You may be ordered to pay support and attorney fees and costs. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the clerk for a fee waiver form.
 If you want legal advice, contact a lawyer immediately. You can get information about finding lawyers at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), or by contacting your local county bar association.
 NOTICE: The restraining orders on page 2 are effective against both spouses or domestic partners until the petition is dismissed, a judgement is entered, or the court makes further orders. These orders are enforceable anywhere in California by any law enforcement officer who has received or seen a copy of them.
 NOTE: If a judgment or support order is entered, the court may order you to pay all or part of the fees and costs that the court waived for yourself or for the other party. If this happens, the party ordered to pay fees shall be given notice and an opportunity to request a hearing to set aside the order to pay waived court fees.

T.S. 10CA01531 NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 08-01-2007. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. On 07-18-2014 at 10:00 AM, MERIDIAN FORECLOSURE SERVICE f/k/a MTDs, INC. A CALIFORNIA CORPORATION DBA MERIDIAN TRUST DEED SERVICE as the duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust Recorded 08-08-2007, Book, Page, Instrument 2007062172 of official records in the Office of the Recorder of Monterey County, California, executed by: Pamela King-Peres And Tony Peres Wife And Husband As Joint Tenants as Trustor, Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc., As Nominee For Indymac Bank, F.S.B., A Federally Chartered Savings Bank, as Beneficiary, will sell at public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn by a state or national bank, a cashier's check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a cashier's check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Sale will be held by the duly appointed trustee as shown below, of all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to the Deed of Trust. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the notes (s) secured by the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, estimated fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. Place of Sale: at the main entrance to the County Administration Building, 168 W. Alisal Street, Salinas, CA 93901 Legal Description: As More Fully Described In Said Deed Of Trust The street address and other common designation of the real property purported as: 25995 JUNIPER STREET, CARMEL, CA 93923 APN Number: 009-352-013000 Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $1,763,316.95 NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not the property itself. Placing the highest bid at trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. In addition, the borrower on the loan shall be sent a written notice if the sale has been postponed for at least ten (10) business days. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The property heretofore described is being sold "as is". NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ARTHUR PAUL IRELAND JR. Case Number MP 21568
 To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ARTHUR PAUL IRELAND JR. or (aka PAUL IRELAND).
 A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by LIS E. TUGWELL in the Superior Court of California, County of MONTEREY.
 The Petition for Probate requests that LIS E. TUGWELL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
 THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
 THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held on this court as follows:
 Date: Aug. 27, 2014
 Time: 9:00 a.m.
 Dept.: 16
 Address: Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, CA 93940.
 If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
 If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
 You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
