Daughter of Our First Citizen Married

Miss Lillian Devendorf, daughter of "our" Mr. Devendorf, and Edward Hohfeldt, a San Francisco attorney, were married at the Carmel residence of the bride's parents last Thursday at noon.

Rev. Mr. Stuchell, of Piedmont was the officiating clergyman.

The wedding, which was attended by relatives and friends of the bride and groom from various parts of the State, was followed by an elaborate luncheon, after which the couple departed for the north.

Mrs. Hohfeldt is an accomplished violinist, having been a pupil of Ysaye.

Mr. Hohfeldt is a member of the law firm of Morrison, Brobeck & Dunne.

Program of the Pardee Farewell Concert

The audience which attended the farewell Pardee concert given last Tuesday evening, at Arts and Crafts Hall, were given a real musical treat. Mr. Francis Dixon, the well known New York artist, sang the following songs:—

1. The Slighted Swain
2. The Parting Hour
3. Spring Again
4. T'Amo Ancora
5. Ideale
6. Killarney
7. Come Back to Erin
8. Irish Names
9. The Royal Rose
10. Lord Reoch's Daughter
11. Willie's Gane to Melville Castle
12. Drink to Me Only

After refreshments had been served:

Monterey Artist Honored.

Francis McComas, Monterey artist, has been appointed by President C. C. Moore a member of the international jury of awards of the Panama Pacific International Exposition.

May 24 is the date set for the first meeting of the committee.

Protection From Fire Seems to be Assured

The Citizens Fire Protection committee is putting in some hard work in an endeavor to secure the necessary funds to purchase equipment. Already about $200 has been subscribed by permanent residents. A printed circular letter and extracts from the Pine Cone have been sent to non-residents who have improved property here, and it is expected that the returns from this source will be sufficient to make up the required amount.

The committee recently met with the Fire Commission to discuss matters of common interest.

Local subscribers will kindly pay their contributions to Mrs. L. B. Hansen at Development company office.

This Sounds Natural

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Carmel, Cal.

My dear Bill:

Find enclosed check for one Dollar, my subscription to the Carmel "Pine Cone." One must have the news. Kindly see that I am assured of receiving every copy as issued, as the family can hardly wait from one issue to the next.

I have heard base rumors that you were compelled to accept from the citizens of Carmel subscriptions in the form of abalone shells, polished pebbles and clam necks, and if this is true, a dollar of "real money" ought to look good to you.

Wishing you all the success in the world, I remain,

Very truly yours,

[Signed] Lowell Hardy

Mr. Chas. Norton, head of the Columbia Park Boys Club, was in town last Friday, to select a camp site. The boys will be here about June 1.

Raising Wild Birds For Market

Not long ago two thousand English pheasants, to be distributed for breeding purposes in Pennsylvania and Kentucky, were delivered at Philadelphia.

Quite recently a large consignment of Hungarian partridges or quail, which are said to be larger and more vigorous than any of our native breeds, were distributed for stocking purposes in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Unless a method is provided whereby it may be made of direct and certain advantage to farmers to rear game birds in complete or semi-domesticity, the time is not far distant when quail, pheasant and grouse will be as rare as wild turkeys now are. English pheasant are reared as carefully as guinea chicks or domesticated turkeys. They are reared in Great Britain for market purposes, just as other fowls.

And that quail can be domesticated is indicated by the reports current during the past winter of flocks being fed by farmers along with the barn yard poultry.

The quail, it is said, have been coming to the barn yard daily and soon lost all fear.

There is no particular reason why the Carmel Valley residents should not experiment along these lines. A profitable industry might be built up. The market is unlimited, and the conditions ideal.

Can Such Things Be

The following item, heading and all, is from the reliable (?) Oakland Enquirer:

MOUNTED OUTLAW GANG
RAIDS CARMEL

ARTIST COLONY STIRRED BY CHARGE
OF MOUNTED BANDITS

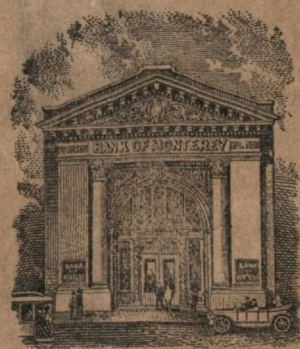

CARMEL, CAL., Apr 13.—Mounted bandits swooped down on the post office here early today, dynamited the safe, took $200 and galloped away while a dozen authors, poets and artists who make this hamlet their headquarters, looked on.

The robbery was a whirlwind affair, horses rearing and bucking, outlaws waving guns and yelling, and then vanishing in a cloud of dust, while the sheriff gathered a posse and went in pursuit. The bandits are believed to be heading for San Francisco.

Secret of the Yankees' Success

You all have read of the great statesman---orator---one of the most brilliant intellects the southern states ever produced---Henry Clay. Loving the people of the south as a father his children, he nevertheless recognized their weakness. He sensed the terrible struggle which was soon to convulse the most wonderful republic the world has ever seen. Seeing clearly the outcome of it if his people continued in their error, he sought to stem the tide and avert the awful calamity. In a few words he revealed the weakness of the south and the secret of the Yankees' success:--- "Men of the South---Save. You must learn this lesson or that economy which so stiffens the North and inspires and stimulates its industry, will overwhelm you." It sounds simple---save---save, but thrift is the bone and sinew of character. Without it no nation can long endure. What applies to a nation, applies to you as an individual.

Alphabetical Toast to the P. P. I. E.

By W. W. Cooley

- A. Architects and Artists, today we honor ye,
For what has been conceived; Its great immensity.
- B. Builders we applaud you, for each palace and each dome,
Has won true admiration that reaches every home.
- C. Commissioners, we thank you, for all thy labor here,
For your united efforts, help make this famous year.
- D. Directors, though we differ in opinion on some things,
On the whole, our conversation in thy praise most often rings.
- E. Exhibitors. Thy presence will give the "Fair" world fame,
Our congratulations: You have the right to claim.
- F. Florists, thy creations, aid the glorious view,
Our gratitude we tender in sincerity to you.
- G. Governments and nations you helped this "realm of peace,"
So may this peaceful lesson bring returns without surcease.
- H. Hail! to Hale; who never failed the cause
Of this wondrous exposition that has earned the world's applause
- I. Inspiration here is constant. 'Tis "an everlasting dream."
For what has been accomplished is shown and is supreme.
- J. Jewel Tower—henceforth, in memory you retain
A place of admiration; you have not lived in vain.
- K. Knowledge giveth power. Go out and get your share
That is waiting in every palace where all is great and rare.
- L. Liberal Arts, Director, tho' you seldom see.
We miss you in your absence; success to you Hardee.
- M. Moore has more than shown us that he could do the work
And at no time or moment was the task too great to shirk.
- N. Newspapers gave us ever their aid in many ways,
In friendship and devotion we offer them our praise.
- O. Overwhelming wonder, each visitor now shows,
At the grand illumination that defies both rhyme or prose.
- P. Peace and real perfection express the true condition,
Of the Panama Pacific International Exposition.
- Q. Queer, quaint and ornamental that are beyond compare,
Are found in every quarter of this—the world's great fair.
- R. Rich and poor united as socialists forsooth,
Erected this grand monument a lesson to our youth.
- S. San Francisco ever the brightest spot on earth,
We toast thee with all honor for thy bravery and worth.
- T. The State of California, the grandest realm e'er seen,
Where the sun is ever brightest, we bow to thee "our queen."
- U. United States, "Our Country," may peace be ever thine,
And you, a home of refuge for all of human kine.
- V. Vain would be this meeting, if friends that are sincere,
Were not to be our portion that will last for many a year.
- W. Women, ye have aided to make this grand success,
With love and pure affection, we trust that God will bless.
- X. Xcelling predecessors, the æme of perfection,
The Exposition stands, defying all inspection.
- Y. Yielding ever pleasure and profit to us all,
To prove a lasting treasure, that memory will recall.
- Z. Zone, with great attractions, please the young and old,
That will seem as fairy stories when in later days are told.

What Dr. Wheeler Did Say

President Wheeler of the State University, states that he was not correctly quoted in the newspaper reports of his address on "vocational training."

His claim is borne out by a copy of his manuscript. The main offense is that he was only partly quoted. Several of the remarks he was alleged to have made have a different meaning when taken with the context. The talk was not, it appears, a condemnation of vocational training, but an admonition that it should not be overdone.

The sentiment of the speech was expressed in the opening sentences, as follows:

We claim to be getting more democratic these days and talk much about it. I have my doubts. We are priding ourselves on various new mechanisms for the realization of democracy. Still I doubt whether we are in spirit growing more democratic. I think, on the contrary, that I have noted in recent years and increasing of the spirit of caste.

Dr. Wheeler pays this fine epigrammatic tribute to the public school:

The real democracy of equal opportunity, fair give and take, and a scratch start, ancestors barred, is involved in the assemblage from many door yards upon the benches of the common school, and the indiscriminate tumbling of future citizens of variegated fates during recess in the schoolhouse yard. The democracy is there waiting for you.

The reference to vocational training was as follows:

I am wondering, too, if this most recent zeal of vocational training with all its possibilities of good may not respond to the spirit of caste, and minister to it. As such it surely bears within it the seeds of sin and destruction. Does it propose that the life occupation of a child shall be determined for it in early life? That means that children shall follow mainly the crafts of their parents. It is the old device of monarchical-aristocratic Europe for committing the young to manual and industrial pursuits. It is the old derailing switch which can be relied upon to shunt the children of the laboring classes out into the labor field at the age of 15 and shut them off from the open road to highest attainment, even though they have the talent and the will for it. That is not democracy. It is just the opposite. Democracy is a matter of free opportunity, a fair field and an equal chance.

In closing, the President said:

The public school must be made and kept the school for all, without recognition of classes or conditions, and it must shape its work and plan so as to close no door, but rather open the freest opportunity for the best achievement and the highest advance.

With the original remarks at hand, it is quite evident that an injustice has been done to President Wheeler, and the Pine Cone is glad to give this resume of his views, and thus set the matter right before its readers.

We Should Have Closer Business Relations With the Valley.

There should be an end of a state of affairs which has long prevailed in regard to the lack of business intercourse between the farmers and fruit-growers of Carmel Valley and the business concerns and residents of Carmel and vicinity.

The business thread which holds the affairs of these sections together is very slender indeed. Carmel needs these Valley people and the business they could bring, and they need us and the business we could give them.

Reciprocity is as essential in domestic relations as in international relations.

It is true that the Valley farmer and fruit-grower finds a larger market for the disposal of his products in Monterey than in Carmel with its limited consuming capacity, but at the same time there is no good reason why more Valley products should not be purchased here.

It must be obvious that if the Valley man sells more here, he will buy more. That is a law of commerce. And it is such a state of affairs we wish to establish.

And now the question presents itself, how can we of Carmel put the wheels in motion for the consumption of this much-to-be-desired object?
