GEORGE S. WALKER "Pine Cone's" Critic Expresses Himself Freely

Who asks your support of his candidacy for Congress. Election, August 29, 1916

The seventh annual play of the Forest Theatre Society was presented Saturday and Monday evenings in the Forest Theatre, and whatever one may say as to the selection of the drama, everyone is strong in the praise of the high standard of ability which was exhibited by the actors.

Their work was excellent—even to be compared with many professional performances of repute.

But the play! Why must we have tragedies, deep, heavy plots that rend and tear the emotions, so that instead of the audience being a happy and uproarious one, we have a subdued and sad one, one that gives no encouragement to the actor, for the very reason that there is no place for it; and the poor actor must work twice as hard to raise a sigh from his audience.

But why sigh? "Yolanda of Cyprus" is beautiful poetry—and handled by professionals would be a joy to witness, but it is too much for amateurs.

And until the Forest Theatre Society discards its seeming hankering for such tragedies, the Forest Theatre will be robbed of its foundation principles.

Shades of the "Sons of Spain!" We hoped it would be the last.

And then came "The Piper."

What a joy to see this play, one of the most beautiful ever written. Josephine Preston Peabody has given us something bordering on the divine, and handled by the clever people on the Forest Theatre stage, it was a relief from the depressing play that preceded it.

And the children. They were wonderful. Their spontaneous enthusiasm made us young again.

Ludovic Bremner, as "The Piper," gave a finished performance. The "Jan" of Phyllis Overstreet sustains her dramatic reputation. Alice MacDougal was an ideal distraught mother. The "Old Ursula" of Miss McLean left nothing to be desired.

Glenn Hughes has taken over the producing business this year and his work is to be commended. It is not an easy matter to produce a play in Carmel, and Mr. Hughes has won his place.

In "The Piper" we see more of our old friends than in "Yolanda." And it is fitting.

Are we losing the old-timers—the casts of "David" and "The Toad;" we hope not, for they made the Forest Theatre and it is right that they should be there.

Never before has there been better music rendered. Mr. Search has brought that feature of our productions to a high standard.

Busy Week at "Camp Columbia"

Preparing Now For The Show Friday Night

Last week was probably the busiest the State of Columbia boys have had since their arrival in camp here on June 12.

In addition to the daily camp routine, baseball games, swimming parties, etc., a number of special events have been crowded in.

On Wednesday evening the first formal, charge-admission entertainment was given at Manzanita Theatre before a crowd which taxed the seating and standing capacity of the house to the utmost—and it was a swell show, too.

The boys heard an address on Belgium, by Prof. S. S. Seward, on Thursday evening, and were thereby much enlightened and entertained.

The Optimus and Maximus parties held one exciting track meet on Ocean Avenue on Friday afternoon, with the following results:

60-Pound Class

50-yard dash—First, DeMatei; second, Huntley; third, Kermend.

75-yard dash—First, DeMatei; second, Huntley; third, Kermend.

75-Pound Class

440-yard dash—Morrison.

60-Pound, 90 Pound, 110-Pound Relay, Maximus.

75-Pound Relay, Optimus.

Unlimited Relay, Optimus.

Preparations are well under way for Friday night's farce and vaudeville show at the Forest Theatre. Those who have attended this show in past years know just what to expect—a laugh from beginning to end. This, too, is the show that helps the boys to get their car-fare home. Better help them along.

The following parents and friends of the boys have visited the camp: Mr. and Mrs. O. Rosinski, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nyland, Mr. and Mrs. Cohen, Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Drevor, Mrs. Minderman, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Clark, Mr. and

Baseball News

By Dad Hamilton

Owing to a rush of business, we were unable to report last week's baseball game.

But we were glad to have witnessed the fine San Jose-Monterey struggle on Sunday last, and take it from us, it was some game. It closed with a 4 to 3 score in Monterey's favor, but up to the last ball it was anybody's game.

Kid Noack was absent from the first sack by reason of a fractured collar-bone sustained in the game of the week before, but he was on the bench to put the necessary "zip" in the boys.

Some new faces were in the Monterey line-up, and their playing made a good impression on the spectators.

Bernie McMenamin, ex-Barracuda second sacker handled the indicator in big-league style.

For the Assembly

An effort is on foot to get Robert H. Hudson, a Watsonville attorney, to accept the nomination for the assembly in this district.

It is many years since an assemblyman from this county came from the Pajaro valley. Mr. Hudson was born in the valley named. His father once represented Monterey county in such legislative body, and for two terms he was a member of the Monterey county board of supervisors.
