"The Piper" Closes a Party of Distinguished Successful Season Men Visits Carmel

The wishes of those who requested a repetition of "The Piper" were more than satisfied on Saturday evening.

With a new and improved stage setting and under the direction of Perry Newberry, the Peabody drama was, if anything, a more impressive and picturesque spectacle than on the occasion of its former presentation.

Notwithstanding there have been a number of plays in between and that many of "The Piper" cast took part in all of them, there was the same spontaneity of act and speech as in the July presentation.

This time Jan (Phyllis Overstreet) had a new mother in the person of Katharine Cooke who played Veronika, the foreign woman. Marion Boke was a somewhat youthful wife of Hans the Butcher, and, though not as husky as Tom Reardon, Phil Whiting made a splendid smith.

The summer has been remarkably successful both artistically and financially, and the Forest Theatre Society will be well able to stand on its own feet in a business way hereafter. At the meeting of the members held this evening the report presented by President and Treasurer Kibbler will establish the high-water mark in the society's affairs. Officers and an entire council are to be elected, and there will be other matters of interest discussed and action taken.

To all who have helped to make this our banner theatrical year, the Society wishes to express its thanks.

The Forest Theatre is one of Carmel's greatest advertising features and brings not only a high class of summer people here to occupy our cottages and fill our hotels, but makes business for every commercial house in town and gives employment to those who work. It is a duty of our people to help it in every way possible. Some can paint scenery, some can act, some can supply "props," some can haul greens to beautify the stage; but all can show their interest by belonging to one or the other of the dramatic organizations of the town. In either the Forest Theatre Society or the Western Drama So-

A remarkable coterie of distinguished educators motored down from San Francisco to spend Sunday with Prof. Preston W. Search. Of the party were William M. Davidson, Supt. of Schools, Pittsburg, Pa., Arthur W. Dunn, U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., Will Carhart, Director of Music and President of Fine Arts Society, Pittsburg, August Hiller, Expert Accountant and Statistician, University of Pittsburgh, Alfred Roncovieri, Supt. and A. J. Cloud, Deputy Supt. San Francisco Schools. The first four named are members of the Commission appointed by the National Commissioner of Education to make a survey of the San Francisco schools. On the way the party spent Saturday night at Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton, and arrived at the Search Cottage soon after noon, remaining until late at night, for several hours of story telling, music and refreshments. All expressed themselves charmed by the surpassing beauty of Carmel. The visit closed most appropriately with Dr. Roncovieri at the trombone, Frederick Preston Search at the violoncello, Mrs. Search at the piano, and all the party singing Carrie Jacob Bond's "When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day;" although, late as the hour was, the visitors could not depart until they had motored to the Mission, where, schoolboy like, Dr. Davidson mounted the tower and awakened the denizens of the valley and spirits of the past, at midnight by ringing the Mission bell.

The FOREST THEATRE Society desires the membership of every one interested in its objects and aims. There is no initiation fee and annual dues are the nominal sum of $1.00. Membership cards may be obtained at Leidig Bros. grocery or of the President and Treasurer, William T. Kibbler.

ciety, the dues are so low that no one need remain outside this town interest because of the cost. Belong to both, if possible; at least to one. Show that you appreciate what the Forest Theatre means to Carmel.

Corsi's Suit Case Has Not Been Found

The suit case, containing a costume, the property of the well-known model, Signor Antonio Corsi, which turned up missing on the evening upon which "Tusitala" was produced at the Forest Theatre, has not yet been recovered.

At first it was thought the case might have been taken by mistake, but as the days—and now weeks—went by, it is quite certain the article was stolen. For information leading to the arrest and conviction of the thief a reward will be paid.

Signor Corsi has carried this American-made suit-case to all parts of the world and he estimates that it has traveled over 40,000 miles. It was literally covered with labels of railroad and steamship concerns, and printed in several languages.

The loss of the costume, however, Mr. Corsi feels most keenly. During his thirty-four years' career as a model he has collected a large number of costumes, and the stolen pirate costume was made up of two of these.

La Playa Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Heath expect to be in Carmel three months. Mr. Heath, who has just returned from Catalina Island, much enjoys the fishing here.

October will see La Playa's celebrated fishermen, Mr. Witherbee and Mr. Calvin Luther, who, when joined by Mr. G. F. Beardsley, form a trio hard to beat. Fish, take warning.

The sociable given by the Ladies Aid of the local Methodist Church, on Thursday, was an enjoyable affair. A humorous address by Perry Newberry began the evening. Mrs. Sidney Yard gave an interesting reading, and songs by Miss Smith and Mrs. H. W. Pudan were splendidly rendered. La Playa hopes to entertain the Society again.

Twenty La Playa guests made a trip in C. O. Gould's large auto to Palo Colorado. This is one of the most beautiful spots in California and just the place for large picnic parties.

CARMEL LIBRARY

REPORT OF RECORDING SECRETARY FOR YEAR ENDING
AUGUST 7, 1916

To the Board of Trustees and Members of the Carmel Library Association:

Twelve regular meetings have been held during the year. A change of Librarians took place on October 1, 1915, Mrs. Sydney Yard succeeding Miss Stella L. Vincent. The services of an assistant became necessary during the summer, and Miss Janet Prentiss began work June 1, 1916. 383 books have been added and 294 cardholders.

Articles III and VII of the Constitution were amended and supplementary rules for the guidance of the Librarian were passed.

Circulation is 8875, the largest in the history of Carmel Library.

The method of registry has been brought up to date. New shelves for librarian's use, and new table and chairs for children have been secured. Electric lights have been installed.

The publication of a quarterly list of accessions has been undertaken.

The Library has been cleaned and rearranged, thus securing considerable extra shelf room.

The Board secured the services of a collector and has found the result satisfying.

During the rainy season the Library was open on Sunday afternoons for readers.

The work has gone on with the utmost smoothness, and the affairs of the Library have never been in more prosperous condition, nor has its usefulness to the community ever been greater than now.

Respectfully submitted,
Emeline Harrington,
Rec. Sec.
