Let Us Call A Halt

"Charity begins at home."

In presenting this article the editor of the Pine Cone is not in any way desirous of antagonizing or under-estimating the good work heretofore accomplished by organizations in Carmel and elsewhere.

We do think, however, that certain facts and conditions are being lost sight of to which the attention of charity workers and charity givers should be directed.

Not since the Civil War have the prices of food and wearing apparel reached the heights now prevailing. Our people are in the midst of conditions which demand the strictest economy to make both ends meet. Many now are denying themselves and their families objects sorely needed.

Winter is upon us. What are the poor and distressed of the United States, of California, of San Francisco, going to do?

Wages do not begin to keep pace with soaring prices of food and clothing.

Stop sending money and food and clothing to Europe. Let England and Germany and France take care of their own needy and those peoples they have made dependent.

We are not discouraging giving. If you have money to give, give it with the distinct condition that it is to be used to alleviate the distress of our own people.

Let us ask Congress to place an embargo on foodstuffs and munitions. Without either the war cannot go on.

Carmel Fire Fighters Save Much Property

Shortly before six o'clock on Saturday evening the community was startled by a vigorous and prolonged fire alarm.

The new Basham cottage on Carmelo avenue was in flames. Every member of the Fire Department and a number of willing assistants responded promptly.

The burning building was situated in the midst of a veritable jungle of dry brush and weeds, and was entirely destroyed.

The fact that a number of other buildings were not laid in ruins may be attributed to the effective work and foresight of the fire department.

The cause of the fire is not known, but is thought to have resulted from an exploding can of shellac.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Basham were in the house several times during the day. It had been their intention to move into the place on Sunday.

The loss is partly covered by insurance. Walter Basham, while playing a stream on the embers, remarked, "Well boys, it's all in a life-time; look at the fine concrete foundation I have left."

New School House Nearly Completed

In Iowa it used to be said that wherever a new school house was erected and maintained, it meant more votes for the Republican party.

However that may be, last Saturday afternoon there was a house warming and inspection of the new Carmelo district school in Carmel Valley.

There were speeches and music. Carmel Martin and Supt. Schultzberg were the guests of honor.

The new building takes the place of one of the oldest school houses in the state. The citizens of the district recently voted bonds for a new building. The bonds were quickly disposed of.

"The Man From California"

On election night two weeks ago, when the entire East was awaiting the result of the election in California, Doctor Preston W. Search was scheduled to address an assemblage at Erie, Pa. The chairman of the evening, knowing what was in the minds of the audience, introduced Dr. Search as "The man from Californi." [Prolonged applause].

"Carmel Night" at Pebble Beach Lodge

Tonight the residents of Carmel will gather at Pebble Beach Lodge for a general good time.

R. J. McCabe, manager of the Lodge, rejoicing that Carmel is now an incorporated city, thinks this civic event should be properly celebrated. It is Mr. McCabe's desire that Carmel and Pebble Beach become more intimately united both socially and commercially.

To this end this affair has been arranged. Invitations have been mailed to a large number of local residents, who are requested to bring their visiting relatives and friends.

There will be interesting games with prizes, good music and special dances.

Everone should go. A 25c. round-trip fare has been arranged for and there will be no toll-gate charge.

Busses will leave from the Pine Cone office.

Mr. Norman C Whittlemore is an Episcopal missionary in Korea, returning in 1917, having been granted fourteen months leave on account of his wife's health. Their son, nine years old, was born in Korea, and this is his first visit to America.

Mr. E. A. Hamlin, head of the Overland Motor Co., is on a business trip, rounding up salesmen who are to be guests of the concern on a twelve-day trip to Toledo. Private cars carry the parties from every city in the West. The entire expense will be borne by the motor company.

Miss Marian Wilkins was one of the first to notice the extent of the Basham fire, and phoned from La Playa for assistance. It is to be hoped that for the city's safety owners of unoccupied houses will see the need of keeping the water available at all times.

"We Are Elected"

Candidates for the presidency of the United States would be more than human if they did not feel unusual concern in those hours of uncertainty intervening between the closing of the polls and the announcement of the result. This, of course, is equally true of the families of the candidates.

Many interesting stories are told of the manner in which news of defeat or of victory was received in the homes of men who have been standard bearers of their parties. In the earlier years of the republic, of course, it required days, and sometimes weeks, to get all the returns; but the telegraph changed all this, and it has often happened that the result was definitely known to the victor or the vanquished before his ordinary bedtime.

Perhaps one of the most characteristic of the Lincoln anecdotes may be revived with timeliness. On the night of his first election the little "frame" home of the Lincolns in Springfield, Ill., was thronged with eager neighbors and friends. Reports for awhile came in early and favorably. Then they were less promising. Mrs. Lincoln had been by her husband's side all day. He now insisted that she retire. The crowd dwindled. Then came the news that New York was safe. Then the news that Lincoln had carried the country. The rest of the story will be better told by the great man himself.

"When there was no longer any doubt, or reason for doubt, I went up to my bedroom and found my wife asleep. I gently touched her shoulder and said, 'Mary!' She made no answer. I spoke again a little louder, saying, 'Mary! Mary! we are elected!'"—The Christian Science Monitor.

WEEKLY GREETING

Culture is not measured by the greatness of the field which is covered by our knowledge, but by the nicety with which we can perceive relations in that field, whether great or small.—R. L. Stevenson.

A Thrift Campaign

A recent meeting of bankers in Omaha laid great stress on the matter of thrift. The wasteful habits of the people of the United State amazes Europeans. It prevails in all walks of life—among the poor as well as the rich. There is enough good food thrown away in all the large cities sufficient to supply several distressed families a comfortable living. Not only that, but waste is everywhere present in business houses and offices. There is wasted enough paper daily to print many newspapers.

If what is wasted were saved week by week, the increase of wealth would be enormous.

On His Way to the White House

The publisher of the Los Angeles Times, aided and abetted by a scared and vindictive element of the defunct Old Guard, is playing a "safety first" game in its efforts to fasten upon Governor Johnson the blame for Hughes' failure to carry California.

The "Get-Johnson" crowd knows better than ever before that its influence is almost nil. It knows, too, that California, before being a Democratic or a Republican state, is a progressive state. It also knows that Hiram W. Johnson is on his way to the White House.

They cannot obstruct his path as far as California and the West are concerned, so they are attempting to array Eastern Republican and Progressives against him with the ridiculous charge that he is responsible for California going Democratic.

The state is not so much Democratic as it is anti-Old Guard, anti-reactionary, and anti-standpat; and in this

Johnson has nothing to fear from the East. The very fact that the West has this time elected a President, makes Johnson the logical candidate in 1920.

A Large Loan

The Commercial Bank of San Luis Obispo has made a loan of $120,000 to ranchers believed to be residing in the Carmel Valley, to finance, according to information received here, large and extensive development.

No mention was made of the exact location of the property, but from the size of the loan it is believed to be one of the biggest ranches in this district. The loan was negotiated by more than one person, and is to be applied to the improvement and exploitation of large property holdings, the report states.—Cypress.
