

SEPT. 20, 1917

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CAL.

A Grand Total

All funds raised by public enertains for the benefit of the Red Cross are now in. In addition to be amount previously reported, he following sums have been re-

Mrs. Yonug Musicale	s $ 17.25
Mrs. Foster Tea -	- 21.00
Moving Pictures -	- 50.00
Forest Theatre -	- 200.00
Total	$288.25
Previously reported	662.36
Quanditi	0010 01

With Age - Comes Knowledge

This bank is 11 years old, during each successive year it has learned the needs of the people of this city and vicinity, and catered to them, thus becoming more useful to Firms, Merchants, and Farmers yearly. Your Account Invited

First National Bank MONTEREY, CAL.

Under U. S. Government Supervision

Property Transactions

Deed: Hazel W. Hopkine et vir to same. South half Lot 20, north half Lot 18, Blk EE, Ad. No. 3, Carmel-by-tne-Sea.

Pine Needles

ton, he is in charge of the department of fine arts.

The Bokes left last Saturday for Los Angeles, where they will remain several months.

Carmel's representative at a meeting of school trustees, to be held at Asilomar on Octo-golf links were: Mrs. Jean Graeber, Miss Lucia McKinley, Harry Lindsay, Wesley Mc-Kee, and Robert McKinley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dummage are home from a rambling five days' motor trip. They went south, and got as far down as San Luis Obispo.

Everybody had a glorious time, and somebody winged a buck.

Otto Lachmund has joined the aviation corps at Prince-ton, N. J., having been trans-ferred from the hospital camp at Allentown, Pa.

week-end journey to San Jose and return last week.

Change in Highlands stage time schedule: Leaves High-lands at 10:30 a.m. and 4:30 p. m., instead of at 11 and 5.

The children who gave the Rose Tree play, on September 8, have donated to the Red Cross the proceeds—$5.60.

Ben Leidig is now local dis-tributor for Pioneer Flaxine Roofing. The U. S. Govern-ment recently purchased 12,-000 squares (rolls) for canton-ments, and the State of Cali-fornia 10,000 for piers at San Francisco.

Katharine Cooke left for Los Angeles on Friday morning, there to join her mother and aunt.

Deed: Carmel-by-the-Sea. Deed: Carmel Dev. Co. to E. Virginia Esterly. Lot 20, Block 109, Carmel-by-Sea. If you read it in the Pine Cone you may safely repeat it. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-urday. Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-cone you may safely repeat it. Math. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-urday. Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-cone you may safely repeat it. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-eral, which will take place in Cone you may safely repeat it. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-urday. Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-eral, which will take place in San Francisco. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-urday. Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-eral, which will take place in San Francisco. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-ist in this eight-page number of the Pine Cone. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed away at Dallas, Tex., last Sat-urday. Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-eral, which will take place in San Francisco. Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed Mrs. Clark and her aughter will attend the fun-eral, which will take place in Mrs. M. M. Ayers, aunt of Mrs. Charles Clark, passed Mrs. Clark and her Aughter will attend the fun-Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Mrs. Charles Clark and her Aughter will attend the fun-Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Aughter will attend the fun-Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Aughter will attend the fun-Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Barles Cone. Mrs. Clark and her Barles

Jose, San Francisco, and Atescadero, motoring home from the last-named place.

The Duvenecks have rented the lower Clampett cottage, in-Miss A. C. Edmonds will be armel's representative at a eeting of school trustees, to be held at Asilomar on Octo-ber 4. Recent week-end occupants of the Wilson cottage at the golf links were: Mrs. Jean

Dr. D. T. MacDougal of the Carnegie Institution, plans to leave next week for a brief stay at Tucson headquarters.

L. S. Slevin is back from the State Fair at Sacramento, graphs of unusual events.

The Stewart-Payne camping party is home from the ten days' vacation in the hills. Mrs. J. A. Heselwood, who with here daughter, has occu-pied for some weeks one of Dummage cottages, left last Saturday for Oakland with Miss Mabel, who will shortly visit her sister at Stockton.

Bobby Norton is getting on erred from the hospital camp Allentown, Pa. Senor Luis Tarango took a again.

Judge J. A. Bardin has re-appointed Ney Otis to a two-year term as County Probation Officer.

Warren D. Allen, who con-ducted the successful summer school of music here, has returned to San Jose, to resume his work at the University of the Pacific.

A letter has been received from Madame Viseur by Mrs. Josselyn, thanking her for the $25 raised in Carmel at the jam and jelly sale. The money will be invested in dried fruit, to be forwarded to a hospital near Champigny - sur - Marne, France.

"All present and accounted for" at leaving time. Nine Wermuths got away on Tues-

VOL. 111, NO. 34

Our Town Library

More and more the Carmel Library is proving itself one of the town's most valuable assets. Fre-J. Hamilton Wolf departed on Saturday for Seattle, where at the University of Washing-ton he is in charge of the de-ton. She will visit in San existence of a public library. It is a fact that visitors often go to the library before unpacking their suit-cases.

During the past summer such comments as these have been often heard:

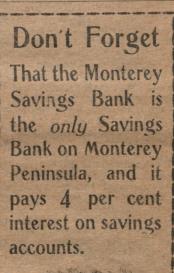

"It has the real library atmosphere and influence."

"Your books are so well selected -little or no trash.'

"I shall come to Carmel again, if only for its library."

"I have found books unobtainable elsewhere."

Why shouldn't we be proud of our library?

Bank of Monterey Monterey Sav. Bank

Echoes From the Firing Line

Portions of a letter from Madame M.rie de Hemptinne of the American Be gian Relief (Belgian War Baby Fund Section).

Calais, June 17, 1917 My dear Mrs. Marsily:

It is such a joy for me to read your long letter; many thanks for taking the time to write it. It was most interested with the details you gave about the work in Caliyou gave about the work in Can-forma, and I am happy to feel that women like you and dear Mrs. Snook are willing to help us. I must first tell you our joy. Four boxes have arrived at Liver-pool and three trunks have got here in Calais a few days ago. We are so pleased and also proud, be-cause we have defeated the German submarine; they are watching to get our bones, the Pirates! But God is with us, notwithstanding what the Kaiser says. If you are busy, I can assure you that I am too. Every morn-ing I begin at 8 o'clock. The Coring I begin at 8 o'clock. The Cor-poral of the military station comes to me with his report of the night. When he is gone I rush to the hospital to see the women who are expecting babies, and who have been terrified by the bombard-ments; several are very ill and have their babies too soon. Then I go to the "Home" where I see if all is well. If I have to ask any-thing of the military authorities thing of the military authorities, either Belgian or French or British, I go there about 11 o clock

In the war zone all is very diffi-cult; I have, of course, a special permit to circulate, but hundreds of little items must be asked for

We help many soldiers, French, as well as Belgian. The men al-ways need something to improve their situation or their families. I am very useful to all those boys. Don't think me conceited. We do all that business so easily it is seldom one refuses us something reasonable we ask. When I have finished that, I go to our clothing depot to see the ladies in charge there When those matters are settled, I go to another depot where we give civilian gar ments to wounded soldiers who cannot go to the trenches because of the seriousness of their wounds, but for these men we find places in shops and other light work, and have to give them civilian clothes, for then they are allowed to go. This, with our mothers and babics, is one of our most useful works. The wounded, as long as they stay in camp without doing anything, In camp without doing anything, are so miserable; they have too much time on their hands to think of their sorrows. This is very bad for their spirits, so we take them out and help them to earn their livelihood. You can imagine how happy they are when we give them civilian clothes. (They cannot go out of the camp town if they wear military clothes.) Once the obtain out of the camp town if they wear military clothes.) Once the obtain a place to work, they have twenty-four hours to procure clothes and go. Until now we have been able to help all these of this region, but, alas, our depot is getting emptied. Do try your best to in-terest men; those who will be sol diers on your side will not require civilian clothes; we are begging to get some. to get some. Very often I have to receive my

To the Road of Perfume

In a STETSON made suit watch yourself gleaming, In a ship from afar, to the land drawing nigh; Laden with STETSON dress men, brave to meet danger, Stalwart of form, fair of skin, and blue of eye.

Shimmering waters. aweary of tossing, Hopeful of rest, ripple on to the shore; Dimpling with light as they waver and quiver, Echoing faintly the ocean's wild roar.

Locked in the arms of the tremulous waters, Dress in a STETSON suit of beauty abloom; STETSON can dress you for winter or summer, And make you feel as in a world of perfume.

STETSON TAILORING COMPANY 425 Alvarado St., Monterey

friends while I am eating. At two o'clock I start with a lady, a chauf feur and a soldier in a motor; we go to the villages to see the child ren, women, and fishermen. In some hospitals we give supplies and dressings. Whatever we get we always find urgent use for

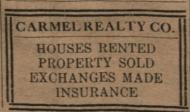

We need one hundred more beds; they are so sad-those that we are obliged to send away. You must know they come to Calais for one night: cext morning they go on teave. It is the first time in months that they have seen —a bed 1 You come investigation to the set You can imagine their joy. Is it not a pity that we have not those hundred more beds.

We give these brave fellows food and coffee and beer. We have a canteen, but, unfortunately, all is so expensive and scarce that we have very little in it

It is a very good work and nec-essary. You can feel how grateful the poor boys are to have t is "Home." They call me and the "Home." They call me and the lady in special charge "mama." You see that my day is a busy one; bu I like it. It means that I am useful to my dear country. We also aid "Les pauvres hou-teux"—the formerly wealthy, foo proud to beg; their case is often most sad. So if your fadies give you pretty things, send them for these unfortunate people; they suffer, no doubt, toost of all I am afraid this long letter is not

1 am afraid this long letter is not very interesting; do forgive me. It is late; the lights are out again; it means alerte; Taubes or Zeps are over the town, and surely will drop bombs in a few minutes. It's awful for the women and children ; the murderers invariably kill a tew

CARMEL By-the-Sea ATTRACTIONS Glass-bottom Boats.

Library and Readingroom

Fishing and Swimming in the Carmel River.

Good Moving Picture show every Saturday evening.

Picnic at Pebble Beach, Point Lebos, Carmel Highlands.

Visit the Forest Theatre

Bowling Alley

Beautiful Walks, Drives

Henry Cowell, well-known young musician, was here for a few days last week. He regrets not having been here during Carmel': season of music. Lecturing and composing have kept him very busy

ORDINANCE NO. 17

AN ORDINANCE LEVYING MUNICIPAL TAXES FOR THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA FOR THE FISCAL YEAR BE-GINNING JANUARY 1, 1917

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That the rate of taxa-tion for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1917. for general municipal purposes for the City of Carmelby-the-Sea, upon real and personal property in the said City of Carmelby-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, shall be, and the same is hereby, fixed as follows: For general municipal expenses, ONE HUNDRED (100) cents on each One Hundred ($100) Dollars of assessed valuation of taxable prorerty in said city.

Section 2. That the above rate of taxation apportioned and segregated as above set forth is hereby levied for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1917; that the above rate is required and will be sufficient to raise the amounts estimated to be required for the present fiscal year less the amounts estimated to be received from fines, licenses, and other sources of revenue.

Section 3. This ordinance is here by declared urgent and necessary to carry on the government of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and is therefore necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and shall take effect on its final passage and approval.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Trustees of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea this 4th day of Settember A. D. 1917, by the following vote:

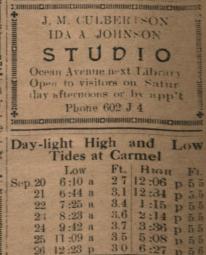

Ayes, Trustees Fraser, Beardsley, Taylor, Johnson, de Sabla. Noes, None.

Absent, None.

APPROVED: A. P. FRASER, President of the Board of Trustes.

ATTEST: J. E. NICHOLS.

City Clerk.

For Rent REMINGTON WRITER; in good condition: reasonable; will deliver. Pipe Cons office.

Public Tennis Court Visit the historic Mission

Guard Against Fire in the Forest

Matches

Be sure your match is out before throwing it on the ground. Break it in two.

Tobacco

Throw pipe ashes and cigarette and cigar stumps in the dust of the road, and stamp out the fire. Do not throw them into needles, leaves or brush.

Making Camp Make a small camp fire. Build it in the open - not against a tree or log or near brush. Scrape away anything burnable near it.

Leaving Camp Never leave a camp fire alone, even for a brief time, without pouring water upon it and then cover-ing it with earth. See 1914 hunting license.

Bonfires

Do not make boufires when it is windy, or when or where there is the least danger of getting beyond control. Avoid making a larger fire than necessary.

Fighting Fire

If you discover a fire, endeavor to put it out. If you cannot, get word of it to the nearest federal or state fire warden quickly.

Information

Keep in touch with the rangers. Ascertain the number of the dis-trict in which you are camping from United States forest rargers, county clerks or newspaper offices. Make a note of it on a card or memorandum book.

New Volume of Verse

In the present period of universal upheaval and unrest, with its volumes of whys and wherefors for and against war-and all that armed conflict involves-it is refreshing to find a volume which restores one's sanity and repose.

"Sandhya"' a book of verse by the young Hindu poet, Dhan Gopal Mukerji, has just been is-sued by Paul Elder.

The spirit of the entire work may be judged by the following selection :

SANATAN. Our hopes that fail Are but truths that set To illumine other spirits on their pathway; As our joys that come true Are their far-off d eams, That through the cadence of our life Ring out their pent-up tunes. Whatever dies-needs but live, Whatever breathes doth die too; But above death and life Shines that High Light Where all find rest, Yet endlessly move.

The Boys' Club has had a departure from their usual program the past two weeks. Stunts of various kinds, musi-cal selections and singing have made an interesting change. The time for refreshments has not been tampered with, however, and the appetites never fail doughnut. A thing of the past is the crooked breakfast snake "made in Carmel." if you want a Parker yourself or travel four miles for it.

It Is To Weep

Schweninger has quit making these delightful delicacies. Carmel is without a bakery, cakery, and pie factory. The Schweningers will give all their attention to their growing grocery business. Wonder if we'll have any more

Lost At Pt. Lobos, Sep-tember 13. Lady's brown mink fur cape. Reward if returned to Pine Cone office.

For Sale BABY outfit. Buggy, Crib, Bath-tub, Go-cart, two chairs -high and low. Apply at Jen-

Quality Roofing. - Ask for Pioneer Flaxing Roofing. U

S. Gov't and State of Cal. us-

Miss Florence Brown has re-

Ben

ing large quantities. B Leidig, Carmel distributor.

nie Powers cottage.

small boy encampments here?

Reason? Reason enough! Fritz

No more the famous Carmel

11:30 This Morning

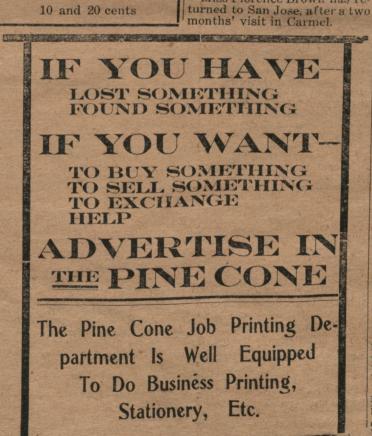

Get up town at 11:30 this morning. Two Carmel young men are to leave at that time on their journey to Camp Lewis, Washington. Babcock and Machado start on their way to France. You owe it to these young men to give them a handshake and a cheer. Bring a flag with you.

The local Red Cross chapter will see that our first representatives of the draft are provided with necessities and comforts. The boys will be taken to Selinas in the Josselyn auto.

These men are doing their "bit" for you. Show your good will and appreciation. Remember, 11:30 this morning.

MANZANITA THEATRE OVING PICTURES Saturday, Sept. 22 MARGUERITE CLARKE Molly Make-Believe Tuesday, Sept. 25 Intensely Interesting Drama

The Love Mask 10 and 20 cents

MEDIMANNAULT WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM.

In order that a more thorough understanding of county receipts may be had, the Taxpayers' Association of California has analyzed the receipts of fifty-seven counties as reported to the Controller for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, and has shown just how much of every dollar (in cents and decimal parts thereof) received by all these counties came from each of the segregated sources.

The findings, as applying to the counties as a whole are shown in the following table, to which is attached, also, a House roll, you'll have to bake it column showing what proportion of the total receipts of Monterey county came from these various sources. A comparison of Monterey county with the general average will prove quite interesting.

Sources of All Counties	Mont'y
County Receipts per each $	Co.
General taxes44.45	42.17
Licenses and permits 0.33	0.05
Fines and penalties 0.42	0.10
Privileges 0.09
Rents 0.14	0.02
Interest receipts 0.81	0.69
Subventions and grants11.36	6.09
Gifts, donations, etc 0.35	1.39
Fees 1.94	1.06
Special services rendered 0.19	0.01
Sale real property 0.06
Miscellaneous 1.20	40.29
Trust funds and accounts_ 1.84	0.20
To correct errors 0.29	0.03
Cancelled warrants 0.01
Agency Transactions-
For state 4.31	0.67
For districts29.64	7.15
For municipalities 2.58

Monterey county, in the ratio of its general tax receipts to its total receipts, is two points below the state average. Receipts from subventions and grants are also five points be-low the line, but under the heading "miscellaneous" it accounts for receipts enormously above the average.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A candy sale for the benefit of the Carmel Church will be held at Miss J. M. Culbertson's studio, beginning at 9:30 next Saturday morning.

You'll find some attractive bargains by reading the ad. of Leidig Bros.' on page eight of this issue.

Mrs. Josie Burt of San Francisco is a guest of Mrs. Lena Brake for a few days.

Next Saturday is the first day of Fall. An ideal season for your friends to vacation in Carmel.

Miss Adaline Gray returns to Los Altos this week, having finished the packing of articles to be sent to her sister, Miss Eunice Gray, at Duluth, Minn.

F. S. Schweninger is getting ready for a vacation—the first in thirteen years. When he comes home, the Mrs. will beat it.

This article is reprinted from the Boston Transcript, and payment for its publication in the Pine Cone is made by a patriolic resident of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"As It Looks to a Home-Comer"

An Impassioned Indictment of food problem, and you American Apathy by an American Writer and Fighter for the French, Lately Home for a College Reunion

By Alva S. Sanborn

Paris, July 30, 1917

My dear-: "You will be sur-prised" you wrote prised" you wrote me, when you learned of my intention to return for a few days in the States, "at the war spirit among us. You may imagine the moral elevation that has hoist the whole nation.'

> ELL, I have "come and gone," I have passed a fortnight in your midst, and-frankly-I am disappointed. The "war spirit' was not sufficiently potent and perva-sive to be thrilling, and, as to the "moral elevation," I was obliged to "imagine" it, for it was not the sort of thing which "he that runs" (and I ad-mit I was very much on the run) "may read" read.

You are in the war at last, and I am so thankful you have ended by doing the manly thing that I cannot find it in the manly thing that I cannot find it in my heart to reproach you for not doing it sooner. Nor will I indulge in empty regrets that, during your two years and a half of backing and filling, your two years (counting from the Lusitania massacre) of national humiliation, you did practically nothing to get ready for the inexitable inevitable

Some Splendid Work

You are displaying a highly commendable determination to profit by certain of the lessons your learned at so fearful a cost. allies have

I landed in time to witness some of the outward manifestations, some of the clever or curious appeals to the eve and the imagination (the banners, the buttons, the posters, the clocks, the thermometers, the window exhibits) of your prodigious effort for the placing of the colossal Liberty Loan and to savor with you the joy of its triumph. You did that splendidly. You deployed initiative, energy, ingenuity, insistence and persistence and you de-ployed them to good purpose. The prestige of your finance, already great, has been appreciably enhanced by the operation.

I was with you during your gigantic Red Cross campaign. You handled that splendidly, too. I was privileged to see you at work in small as well as in large communities and everywhere I was con-strained to admire your push and your sagacity.

You understand the new role of heavy artillery, and you will soon be turning out big guns in a way to stagger belief, for you are the first manufacturing for you are the reople in the world. You appreciate (y haps) the possibilit

You appreciate (you exaggerate, per-haps) the possibilities of the airplane, and you have made for that arm of the service and appropriation that is prob-ably unprecedented.

You are fully aware of the necessity of hounding the submarines and of augmenting enormously the tonnage of your merchant marine, and you can be counted on to do both expeditiously— despite the present regrettable hitch in your shipbuilding projects and per-formance. formance.

have begun (both officially and unofficially) a food conservation crusade that reflects much redit upon your insight and your foresight.

Warned alike by the impotence of the volunteer system in your Civil War and y the recent disillusioning experience of ingland, you have voted conscription-selective draft," I believe you call it -with a minimum of preliminary fuss and flurry and this move, though by no means the revolution it was in England, is a genuine historical tour force

I am not blind, you see, to your many excellences. I might go on and on al-most indefinitely exalting your efforts and glorifying your achievements in your role of belligerent. But I should thus be putting my recent impressions in a totally false light, for, as I said just now, your general attitude to the war disapponited me. Furthermore, I should be recreant to duty. So, instead of giving myself the pleasure of tickling your vanity. I am going to hit straight excellences. I might go on and on al your vanity, I am going to hit straight from the shoulder. I am going to talk very plainly, as I would desire to talk if I had their ear, to the whole American people.

Dismal Recruiting

Take the recruiting, for instance Could anything be more dreary, more depressing, more humiliating? It is worse than a revival meeting with no converts to hit the sawdust trail. Pull-ing teeth is child's play by the side of

As I threaded my way, the night of my landing, among the Broadway trenches beneath the shifty luminous signs that recall vaguely the varying lights above the frime line. I chearvad lights above the firing line, I observed in the side streets (I had almost said the boyaux of communication) all sorts of agitators holding forth. There was a white cravatted evengelist of the good old-fashioned fire-and-brimstone type. There was an over-powdered suffragette in a vivid green silk shirt waist: an apologist of Tom Paine, with a three days' growth of beard and owlish spectacles; and a recruiter, spick and span in a natty uniform of white duck. The recruiter aroused no more enthusiasm than the other spouters; and that means little enough. His auditors were conlittle enough. His auditors were con-stantly changing; bent solely on amuse-ment, they moved on as soon as their curiosity was satisfied. For them, he was evidently just one of the free side shows of the big sity. And the recruit shows of the big city. And the recruit-ing stations I visited later in other quarters of the metropolis, though in some cases more attractive or more pre-tentious, seemed to be equally barren results.

The recruiting meets on Boston Common (which may fairly be taken to symbolize Massachusetts' effort to raise er quota for the regular army) were not more inspiriting. Listeners were plentiful—thanks to the bait of divers forms of entertainment—but I never removed their hats during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, they laughed at the hits and the studiedly crude language of the speakers every man who addresses a crowd this year seems to feel obliged to imitate Billy Sunday—and that was all; they were as unresponisve as the flagstones of the walks to the exhortations. Not a single person while I was present stepped up to sign.

"It was to weep."

You employed in this recruiting cam-Summerchant marine, and you can be sunted on to do both expeditiously— paign ingenious appeals to the eye the ear and the imagination—there was no dearth of bands and parades, of Indian chiefs and of Uncle Sam's—analogous to those that proved so effective in the Red Cross and Liberty bond campaigns. You did not obtain analogous results. Why?

How about the million men who were to spring to arms over night? Everything But Blood

It certainly looks as if you drew the line at consecrating to the great cause the one thing that would prove you desperately in earnest, the only thing fact that really counts-your life n blood. While you mobilize your mater-ial resoraces with zest and alacrity, you mobilize your human resources slowly and with somewhat too vissible reluctand with somewhat too vissible reluct-ance. You begrudge neither your time, your labor nor your money, but you are appallingly sparing of yourselves, and without yourselves, all the rest (as Scripture puts it) is "as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal." In war, as in charity work "the gift without he giver is here." he giver is bare."

he giver is oure: You are waiting for miracles to ter-ninate the war before you shall be called upon to make the supreme sac-rifice. You prate glibly of mysterious contrivances for detecting and even destroying submarines from a distance of non-fuel-consuming motors and of divers other inventions, all (naturally) "the greatest the world has ever seen."

You look to your natural wizard. Edison, to save you from the dull and rack-ing routine of exhausting, plodding trench warfare. So the French, in the fall of 1914, looked to their Turpin to hurl the armies of the enemy into eternity with a fabulous explosive. You propose to build 30,000 or 50, You propose to build 30,000 or 50,-000—or is it 100,000?—airplanes. And that is admirable. But you seem to be counting on these winged legions ("still in the air" figuratively, not yet in the air literally) to demolish Ger-many in a single fell swoop. And that 's nonsense. So, in the fall of 1914, did 's nonsense. So, in the fall of 1914, did the Germans count on their Zeppelins to demolish England. Furthermore, the to demolish England. Furthermore. the wide publicity you are giving the pro-ject is—to put it mildy—a trifle indis-reet. If forewarned is forearmed, Ger-many will have taken a precaution or two before you fly to Berlin.

This lofty and romantic airplane proposition has actually warmed you up You would all enlist, I verily believe if you could all be aviators. Unfortuntized you. Your thoughts are all in the empyrean; you can not bring them down again to earth and to its prosy necessities. It has disgusted you with humble infantry service and more es-pecially with the trenches, which in-spire you with terror that is almost comical. "Faugh!" you exclaim. "no nasty trenches for us! We'll leave all We have no use for these mossy, Old World ways. We'll show them the New World methods."

You do not know yet that "mud also is an honor.

Digging ditches and living and fighting in holes in the ground are quite as distasteful to the French temperament as they can be to yours. But the French soldiers had to come to them. They have submitted to them with glorious grace; and you, your (as yet unbuilt) airy fleets to the contrary notwithstanding, may as well make up your minds first as last to follow their example. There is no pleasant less, bloodless road to victory. There is no pleasant ditch-Seeking Substitutes

Too many of you are racking your orains in an effort, that would be humorous were it not nauseating, to disover conscience-saving substitutes for plain, everyday fighting. You seem to have a notion that co-operating in movements for the devlopment of patriotism ments for the deviopment of patriotism through education; or helping provide the home training camps with reading natter, soft drinks and amusements; or preparing surgical dressings; or in-culcating federal prohibition from automobiles; or teaching the poor how to sconomize; or carrying on "preserve or mobiles; or cearning the pool how to conomize; or carrying on "preserve or berish" campaigns from "canning spe-ials"; or running kitchen garden (nor-mal features of the existence of the 'athers when the lawn was not a tyran respectability); ôf criterion nical or signing pledges to one wheatless meal and reduced consumption of fats; or even hanging a flag over the veranda or attaching it to an auto (I saw man times more flags in America within twenty-four hours of landing than I had there years had seen in France during three years of hard fighting) are altogether adeof hard fighting) are and quate expressions of war spirit. Far be it from me to speak depre-tion of these activities. All of them catingly of those activities. All of then --save the unscrupulous attempt of the Prohibitionists (happily checkmated by the President) to prosecute a publicatastrophe to the triumph of their hobby—are intrinsically excellent. Your mistake lies in thinking they constitute a sufficient multiplication of the second seco substitute for a sufficient substitute for your lives or the lives of your dear ones, lives contact in the case may be. You remind me lives or the lives of you remind me the case may be. You remind me the children who are puffed up wit pride because they have given away their broken toys and of the house their broken toys and of the house wives who pique themselves upon "the charities" because they have cleaned out their attics in the interest of "rum mage splece"

You must pay the tribute of bloc A profound eternal truth was sym bolized by the dogma of the old theology that even God could not redeem the sin ful world without the courilies of his mage sales." ful world without the sacrifice

There is no substitute for human li Should you strip yourselves of a your billions (and I do not perceiv that you are in any immediate dange of doing that) and devote all your time to war philanthropies, you would still be doing nothing in comparison with what the French, the Belgians, the Ser-bians and (latterly) the English have done. only begotten Son.

Throughout my sojourn. I was as sailed with the question, "What can we do to help?" When I replied, as I did invariably. "Send your men to France right away.

When I replied, as I did invariance "Send your men to France right away" you should have seen the eager que tioners wilt and hear them gasp. They were not populussed, the They were not merely nonplusat were a trifle offended. Almos ably they protested: "Oh, but been told that it would be be each one of us to do the thing application best fitted to do."

to funct e "consci This pseudo-scientific This pseudo-scientific april to f the theory of adaptability to f serves you, along with the tious obejections" formula, as text for "slacking." With a security the left which may se send escaping the draft, which may sen one day to the dreaded trenches, of the most of the work of the of the most robust among you ar-ing up early to the various org-tions for war relief, insinuating selves into more or less profitable where you have to render yours where you hope to render your indispensable. I even met one didly-knit indispensable. I even met one sp didly-knit young fellow who had ceeded in getting himself attached i society for the reorganization and construction of the devastated disting The conscription law exempts of isters of religion and students of vinity" (a class which has a noble of record in France), and this fagrant of special minimized of special privilege does not appendent shock you. Furthermore. some of are earnestly urging the exemption danger of practically all the brain ers (neintern danger of practically all the brain ers (painters, sculptors, architects) sicians, writers, scholars, educator the plea that their social value perior to the the plea that their social value perior to their military value. Nee to say that the adoption of su-blow to the very democracy for v you want to make the world safe Note whither this agreeable system

Note whither this agreeable system time

Note whither this agreeable symplectic assigning every man in war diated work he can do best tendation of the work he can do best to render logical outcome would be to render assuch as pretty nearly early early in assuch as pretty nearly soldier is who is not a professional soldier is viously better fitted for something than for soldiering appropriate the soldiering app than for soldiering . A prominent and influential metrop tan clergyman, with whom I chanced fall is to be a sold to be a s tall into conversation on all of train, advocates depriving all of and university students of the inte-enlist, in the interests of the ual future of the nation. The college boys themselves, I am glad to say, do not share the opinion of this dominie, who-significant coincider significant coincidence-has a son in college. Among them, I found a mar tial spirit that was positively thrilling. In fact, if the atmosphere of the coun-try at large were as highly charged with Foral electricity as the college atmosdifferent letter.

came across a mother whose three had all enlisted and who regretted that she didn't have a dozen to con-tribute to the cause. And I make no doult that there are many such mothers. But, unluckily, most of the moth-ers I met were of the "didn't-raise-my bey to-be-a-soldier" variety. They er" variety. They of the fact that they ade no secret deemed paying $12 for coal and dismiss their servants a martyrdom which titled them to keep their precious off ring at home. And they were in a ate of hen-like flutter through fear their sons, if they didn't lose their or their limbs in the war, would hat their lose their morals.

It is true that an army, whether on pcace or a war footing, does not bear very close resemblance to a Sunday chool, and the sooner the idea, preval ct in certain quarters, that it can be transformed into one is exploded, the 'ctter for all concerned. It was Kip-ling, wasn't it, who averred that "single men in barricks ain't cut out for plas-ter saints" and most of our Civil War "terans, if you can catch them in a terans, if you can catch them in a municative mood, will regale you with reminiscences scarcely suited to the ears of polite society. It's the business of an army to fight, and it's not al ays the soldiers whose habits measure) to Puritanical standards that do the rdest fighting by any manner of eans. Witness the recent attribution the fourragere to the Foreign Legion, whose ethical shortcomings u'd tell a thing or two, were this the and place.

debases some elements of char ter as much as it exalts others; but the whole it conduces to manliness is a sort of purgatory which burns t everything that isn't sheer man. e boys in this war, as in other wars sure to acquire manly virtues, and they acquire, by the same token, cerin vices as well, you may count on being vices of the manly rather an of the effeminate sort, which is re than can be predicated of normal ilian life. But American mothers ivilian life. be distracted by these petty Tries if they were heart and soul in war and were thinking first, last d all the time of the necessity of winit. In that case they would be ing, rather, that it be given their to possess the valor and the ads of Gideon.

liot Really Aware You're at War

Your letters and the letters of other ends had led me to expect, not, permore downright accomplishment ou have really accomplished a good l-but more ginger, more apostolic tvor, more "war spirit" and more loal elevation" (to borrow your own rvor, more); an atmosphere, in short, in keeping with the gravity of the nd the sublimity of the conflict. actually found-less enthusiasm ur and characterizes an average presiden-election. To a man fresh from a election. "ntry whose people are fighting under "erpotual tense strain, as the French fighting, you don't appear to real-as a people-dare I say it?-that are at war.

Your press does not bespeak concen-ated thought and emotion. In your In your pular newspapers, more voluminous, possible, than ever—what a national using if paper could become as scarce you as it now is here.--the real s of these heroic times are swampy the same old truck. Billy Sun-has not been crowded out, nor have sensational crimes. In the lurid Vark in the lurid the common conversation is a mere re-Aection of the sensations of these spraw-'ing, sloppy sheets. You do not give the impression of a country engaged in in epochal struggle and stirred to its profoundest depths thereby, of a comnunity in the grip of a great emotion nduced by a great tragedy.

There are few signs that you feel yourselves outraged. The righteous indignation which should consume every man and woman able to reason. In the face of over-half conscious of the enormity of the whelming proof, you refuse to believe rimes of the Germans against humanity and civilization is conspicuous by its absence.

And you even make this equanimity which is utterly incompatible with a state of war, and for which you are indebted in the last analysis to the 'poilus" and the Tommies who are uffering and dying by the hundreds thousands out there in Flanders and Champagne) a subject for pride. Unler the circumstances a little honorable heat would be a much more edifying spectacle.

No wonder your recruiting lags!

Isn't it passing strange that your President, who has been disposed all long to emphasize the altruistic phase of the situation and to put to the for your duty to humanity at large, should have felt obliged in his latest public tterance to review for you the long ugubrious and humiliating list of af-ronts and injuries inflicted upon you y Germany during the last two and a y Germany during the last two and a alf years, and to evoke the "savagery ented on you so plainly that there was no longer any excuse for non-resist-ance"-lest, forsooth, you forget that ance"his is, after all, your war.

Do you know that while I was with you not a single person evoked wrath fully in my presence the Lusitania or the Laconia or the Sussex? Are these lastardly outrages already ancient his Mere matter of temperament, you think? Alas, no! I have seen the American people at white heat more than once on far slighter provocation. You have not always been so stolid so reticent.

Whence this extraordinary lack of proper rancour?

Has it become had form to display honest feeling? nen didn't deem it beneath his dignity o stigmatize the Scribes and the Pharisees (who were no worse than the Boches and of the same hypocritical breed) as a "generation of vipers" and to menace them with the "damnation hell"?

Semi-Neutral Mentality A

The fact is you are a bit neutral still.

Officially, you are no longer neutral -thank heaven for that, I could have reathed in a neutral country!-but, breathed as individuals, you haven't entirely sloughed off yet-and it isn't surprising. as after three years of deliberate and os tentatious balance and blank—the neu-tral habit of mind. You were neutral to long, that what, for most of you was, at the outset, a strained and artificial attitude ended by becoming a sort of second nature. The phenomenal of second nature. The phenomena "long jump" from peace without victory to peace by victory, which your Presi lent made so easily, proved too much for vou. "I can scarcely believe my own enses," a facetious Californian wrote enses." he shortly after the casting of the die, and I have the greatest difficulty in the aking up my mind to stop being neutral! It was such a convenient attitude and it obviated so much friction. We over talked of war, we didn't even think about it any more, and lo, and ehold, it has become our war! For any people, especially in these parts, the new order is a rude shock and a ordeal"

You're still wondering (your ques-tions and heaven knows if you plied me with questions—prove it!) why w York dailies, the mysterious Cru-r murder, and in the corresponding oston dailies, the suggestive Caton rl episode had the right of way roughout my stay. And, as of yore, querying whether the atrocities really lieses.

occurred. I'm not even sure that you're not still pondering whether it may not, after all, have been Belgium that athave been Belgium that tacked Germany. You're still splitting hairs, performing intellectual balancing feats and drawing fine-spun moral dis-tinctions. You still cling to the con-viction, which the level-minded among the Allies lost long ago, that you're dealing with honorable adversaries who are susceptible to kindness and amendthat the Germans have a mentality and a morality quite their own, which put them outside the pale of civilization. You're still fancying that it's possible to have a gentlemen's agreement with double-dealing brutes. You're still co-quetting with the spineless ideas of Bertrand Russell and Emily Balch and custing with spinoreal that seed quoting with approval that arch-megal-omaniac Romain Rolland. You're touch-ingly tender to traitorious tongues in respectable mouths. You condone pcace meetings and peace parades—it's so short a time since they were in good order!—and you submit meekly (but hurrah for the news from Arizona and Massachusetts from Bisbee and and Boston!) to the delivery of seditious speeches and to the flaunting of banners with seditious inscriptions. Fraternizing with the Ennemy

You do not seem to be aware that the German espionage system is as formidable and efficient an organization in its way, as the German militray sys-tem, of which, for the matter of that, it is a part.

You balk at press censorship; at the suppression of cable codes and a thordespite the flood of significant informa-tion that pours over the cables to Ger-many through the neutral countries; at ban on mail to the foe ("out of consideration for persons in the States who have relatives in the United States who in Germany"); and you resent restrictions on trading with the enemy. You allow itizens of the hostile Powers to remain practically unguarded in your midst— as well place matches in proximity to remain rather than "hurt the facilizes powder-rather than "hurt the feelings of sensitive stranger souls by engen-dering suspicion against them," plumdering suspicion against them," plum-ing yourselves mightily (qui vent faire I' ange, fait la bete") on what you style tolerance, but which is, in reality, a species of moral dilletantism sadly out of place in strenuous times place in strenuous times.

More than this, you would impose perforce unseasonable precocity upon the perspicacious who show signs of be-ing recalcitrant thereto. You hold up your hands in holy horror at the slight est trace of social ostracism of alier enemies. You expect everybody to alien to curred, quite as if nothing had oc-curred, quite as if they could have no possible interest in the destinies of their atherland. because they chance to be living several thousand miles away. I'm not likely soon to forget the look of total incomprehension, withering disapproval and patronizing pity all in one which greeted a refusal on my part to meet at luncheon in New York a certain simon-pure Prussian, of the persistence of whose Prussianism I had abundant proof. Sit at the table and break bread with a man who had approved, who had even exulted over the sinking of the Lusitania! Why, the table would have been surrounded with the spectres of the victims and I should have seen blood a every dish! "Oh, but he has changed," remonstra ted my inviter, "since America came into the war, and he contributes most generously to our society." Sancta simplicitas!

Margulies, the Austro-Boche mu't' millionaire. recently denounced by Clem enceau in the French Senate, not only contributed munificently to war char-ities but managed to get himself elected Honorary President of a society of in-valided French soldiers, and it took nearly three years to bring him to bay, so cleverly and brazenly did he cover his tracks his tracks.

And America has hundreds of Margu-

No, war and indiscriminate affability won't mix. The Marglieses shouldn't have access to your clubs and drawing rooms.

And yet you seem to be totally im-pervious to the indelicacy—they employ a stronger word in the Old World—of giving your hands and opening your hearts to parties who stand a fair chance of being emissaries of the enemy. "Innocent until proved guilty" is not a maxim for wartime. You've got to "cut out" all this twaddle about trusting the treacherous. Aren't you aware that it's mighty risky business warming a serpent in one's bosom?

Yes, yes, I know, you opine, it's suf-ficient to punish detected espionage. But when did the ounce of prevention cease to be worth the pound of cure? erilous Propaganda

Besides, downright spying-though no even the greatest peril involved in the unrestrained presence of subjects of the Central Powers in an Allied community. There are a hundred and one indirect ways (quite independent of espionage) of giving aid and comfort to the enemy There is collusion with the anarchists and the other discontented elements of society in incitement to rioting and desertion-of which Russia furnishes a horrible example. There is corruption of the press, a case of which has just been revealed to Paris. There is the block-ing of legislation through deals with unscrupulous politicians or with misguided pacifists; the sabotage of mines and of crops; the fomenting of strikes in munition plants. And, most subtile and, probably, most disastrous of all, there is the Berlin-inspired, mouth- t)mouth propaganda, impossible to con-trol, which disseminates systematically, but stealthily and often through the of unconscious tools, lying reagency ports designed to create currents of opinion hostile to an energetic prosecution of the war and correspondingly barrassing to the Government. Along these insidious lines, there seems to be no limit to the nefarious influence versaries wearing the mask of friends can exert upon public opinion, if they are given a free rein. Putting them on their good behavior may work to the extent of rendering them cautious of acting in an openly offensive manner, but it can only stimulate their subterranean activities, the abuse of hospital-ty being one of their favorite pastimes is well as most effective weapons. fact, I can account for three or four rassly false and calumnious rumors reor four arding the European situation (shrewd. ly calculated to discourage en'isting), which I encountered among all classes wherever I went, only by the hypothe-sis that they originated with the agents of La Bochie. They certainly did not originate with the representatives of the Allies the Allies.

You've Got to Hurry

Please don't mistake my attitude. Um not smarling I'm not even carping. I'm just shouting, "Wake up! Quick!" as I would shout it in the ear of a friend found dozing under an impending catastrophe.

You're in this war, and you're in it, 'for keeps." You're no quitters. I now your temperament too well to ear for an instant that you will turn ack now you have put your hand to the lough. You'll fight with all your wight once you shall be thoroughly uroused.

But. for God's sake, wake up! Get gloriously "hot under the collar." Get divinely "mad" through and through Hate holily sublimely, as those sons of martyred Belgium, Maeterlinck and erlaeren, hate! Make up your minds hat there's only one thing in this wide vor'd of any present importance-the rushing of German militarism! top looking for miracles.

You can't win this fight by burling spectacular thunderbolts from Olympus You've got la Jupiter! to come our perch and burrow in the bowels of the earth. It's not pretty, it's not ro-untic, but your moral integrity de-pends on it! You've got to do it-"pour qu'il y ait toujours de la gentillesse dans le monde!"

As It Looks to a Home-Comer

Get a move on! Get down to the real dirty, bloody business! Get down to it at once! "If 'twere well when 'twere done, 'twere well 'twere done quickly." Neu have a lot of lost time to make up for. For over two years you helped revitual Germany via the other neutral nations. You've got to atone for that! You wasted the same length of time in protesting without arming. And you've ot to atone for that! It's six months since you broke off diplomatic relations. It's four months since yeu declared war. And your "se-lective draft" is still in the future and our army exists only on paper. Would you do no better than this if the adversary were within your borders? "Spell" the Heroes The whole world admits that France has been incomparable in this struggle. Even her antagonists admire her. She has endured as no other nation ever en-dured. She has been sublimely prodi-ral in sacrifice. She has spent the blood of her poets, her artists, her priests, her business men, her scholars, as well as of her peasants and her work-men, with a generosity, a heroism, a con-stancy, well nigh superhuman. Prac-tically every French family is in mourn-ing.

ing. France has a right to be "spelled." And it's "up to you" to spell her and to "spell" her promptly. Not because she is ready to give up (as insidious Boone propaganda insin-uates). She will never give up. Buy because she has already shed far more than her fair share of blood. She withstood almost alone the first shock and hurled the foe back magni-ficently. Almost alone, for two years, she held against the German myriads. Splendidly aided the past year by Eng-

she held against the German myriads. Splendidly aided the past year by Eng-land, she still continued to occupy the greater part of the line. No other mem-ber of the allied group has had any-thing like the same proportion of its citizens in posts of danger for anything like the same length of time. No other member of the allied group, in conse-quence, has paid anything like the same tribute of blood. If you should send her every one of the 10,000,000 men you have registered, you would still be do-ing only a fraction of what she has done; for her soldiers (not to mention the volunteers) range, not from twentythe volunteers) range, not from twenty-one to thirty-one, but from nineteen to England took two years to wake up and get ready. Are you willing to let France hold (and shed her blood) two years more while you are waking up and getting ready? Is this your con-ception of honor, of chivalry? Do you want to admit that Americans are as "slow" as Britons? Sond the Peasants Back to Their Families and Farms

Their Families and Farms Their Families and Farms General Pershing, before leaving America, is reported to have declared that there should be an American sol-dier ready to replace every French sol-dier who falls. This is good, but it is not good enough, since in an indefinitely protracted conflict, a time would come, of the afternoon.

with the relentlessness of mathematics, when there would be no French soldiers to replace.

You've got to do better than this. You've got to send enough men now to make possible the honorable disto make possible the honorable dis-charge, not in two years, nor in one year, but in the immediate future of year, but in the immediate future of a considerable portion of the French troops; say, for a beginning, all those over forty—"les peperes," as they are affectionately called. This would lib-trate a large number of peasants. And it is particularly desirable that the peasants get back to their holdings, which have run down during their three years 'absence and are no longer pro-lucing what they should notwithstand lucing what they should, notwithstanding the fact that the wives and children ing the fact that the wives and children and the grandparents have toiled with exemplary persistence and courage. This will not only restore to their families, which need them sorely, men who are much too old for the strenuous and dangerous trench existences but it dangerous trench existence, but it vill do more toward solving the serious will do more toward solving the serious French food problem than any amount of food restriction in America, proper and useful as that may be. While, if you do better still, if you send men enough to make possible the release of all the French soldiers over your own up-per age limit of thirty-one—and this, ob-viously, would be only a square deal— you will facilitate enormously the solu-tion of the country's more serious economical, financial and social war-prob-ions as well. You will be helping this iong-suffering and over-burdened people to help themselves-always the finest form of benevolence. tion of the country's more serious eco-

Once again, and for the last time, implore you:

Send on men, hosts of men, at least five hundred thousand before snow flies. Equip them as well as you can, but ion't bother your brains about their training. They will learn more about real fighting in three months within the real fighting in three months within the French army zone, where methods change so rapidly as to defy exporta-tion, than they would learn by drilling in America (three thousand miles from the scene of conflict) in three years. Within sound and even danger of the cannonading and within sight of mud-besmeared "poilus" fresh from the fir-ing line, they will feel themselves, from the outset, a part of the war; and this the outset, a part of the war; and this consciousness of being "in it" will do wonders for the mental hardening which is no less important than the physical hardening.

Until you do this you will only be playing at war—and down deep in your hearts you know it.

Insuperable obstacles? Nonsense.

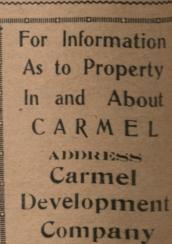

For you, there are no insuperable ob-stacles. The word "insuperable" has no place in the true American's vocabulno place in the true American's vocabul-ary. I must have wearied you abnomiably with all this preaching and pleading; but, like the obsessing tale of the An-cient Mariner, it simply had to be poured into somebody's ears and you hance to be the victim. With a rouse for Victory, faithfully yours, ALVAN F. SANBORN, 3 Boulevard des Marronniers, Draveil. Seine-et-Oise, France. Note: I learned afterwards that

IF YOU HAVE LOST SOMETHING FOUND SOMETHING IF YOU WANT-TO BUY SOMETHING TO SELL SOMETHING TO EXCHANGE HELP ADVERTISE IN THE PINE CONE The Pine Cone Job Printing Department Is Well Equipped To Do Business Printing. Stationery, Etc.

La Playa News Notes

The Brothers Haves

E. A. Hayes will run for election as Congressman from th district, and J. O. Haves will make the run for Governor.

Congressman Hayes is still rather bad health, but he figu on being in good shape to run the time the campaign comes of San Jose News

F. Adams, Dr. and Mrs. L.
Adams.
Englewood, N. JMrs. Har
A. Watros.
Palo Alto-Mr. and Mrs. To and daughter, R. L. Duffen.
Berkeley - Mr. and Mrs.
Weber, R. Ganger and family.
Atlanta-Mrs. Hunter Coof
Hunter Cooper.
San Francisco-Miss A. Hant
Los Angeles - Mr. and Mrs.
O Miller.
Boston-Miss A. F. Jones.
Freeman.
If you read it in the P
Cone you may safely repeat

Rev. and Mrs. Goodman were the hosts of a very novel party, given on the beach on the evening of September 13. The Ghosts ar-rived promptly at La Playa, pro-ceeding from there to the beach, where refreshments were served. Werd solos from strange instru-ments and wonderful ghost tales were in order. The Goodmans were untiring in their efforts tow-ard making the evening a success.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Parshall, Douglass and Carol, Miss Dana, and Mary Hart have left for Santa and Mary that have left for Saha Barbara, where quarters have been secured for the winter. Douglas will enter Thatcher, and Carol a private school The entire family will be much missed by all who had the good fortune to meet them. We all look forward to next year.

Mr. Chris Jorgensen, who has made himself famous and mainmade himself famous and main-tained for twenty years a studio in the Yosemite, is to abandon his work and go East on a visit, after the marriage of his daughter, Aime-, to Ralph H. Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jorgensen of Boston will attend the wedding, which is to be the social event of September 22 in the Yosemite.

Mrs. Jennie Coleman will take a well-earned vacation, beginning September 17.

Mrs. E. M. Mumford with her daughter returned to Pasadena on l'uesday, hoping to return here next year.

Mrs. F. M. Elmendorf and Mrs. G. L. Lancing will return about the middle of next month.

A fine little daughter arrived ou September 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett M. Goldberg. The young lady is booked at La Playa for next July.

Recent arrivals:

Oakland-E. P. Adams, Mrs. F.

Carmel Pine Cone PUBLISHED WEEKLY

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY, 1915 Entered as seaond-class matter February 10, 1915, at the post office at Carmel, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

W. L. OVERSTREET, Editor and Publisher CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA. CAL.

SEPTEMBER 20, 1917 Official Paper of the City

WEEKLY GREETING

Conscious integrity gives both insight and directness to mental operations, and elevation above the plane of selfish motives affords a more comprehensive and, therefore, a more reliable v.ew of affairs, than the keenest exa mination based exclusively on personal ability. - Henry T. Tuckerman.

Worth Fighting For

Pittsburgh Post—When we read what the patriots of '76 endured to establish liberty in the sparsely settled and wild country of their time, the thought that ought to dominate the 100,000,000 people, called upon today to defend the greatest republic the world has ever seen, requires no discription. It greets the aliens with free schools for their children and free schools for adults seeking to learn the language of the country and train for the duties of self-government. It has held great man's engagement to Miss celebrations Americanization for them-and all these in addition to providing them steady employment at the best wages in the world. This is wages in the world. This is the spirit throughout the United States. Not only is such a country worth fighting for, but it is a high honor to fight for the protection and spreading of its principles.

Carmel' Dawn

By Albert Van Houten Immersed in silence lies thy lonely vale;

The mighty throb of traffic's heart is still:

The perfumes of the new-mown hay

- An odoriferous balm throughout the dale,
- While slowly glows o'er mountain ridge, the pale
- Light of Aurora: on its sheen, the hill
- The peaceful clime, melting the
- misty veil. Aurora brightens, majestic in her light.
- The crimson curtains ope the royal way
- An lo! the kingly Phoebus comes; the day
- Begins to blush; through heav'hly canopy
- Fretted with clouds of hued variety Peals matin bell from old monastic site.

Our Weekly Recipe

MAPLE DELIGHT

One cupiul maple sugar, one cup-ful light brown sugar, one-fourth cupful corn syrup, one teaspoonful vanilla, one-half cupful water, one-half cupful walnuts meats, two eggs, ne-fourth teaspoonful cream of tar-

ar. Maple sugar furnishes the "different" note. Place the sugars, water, syrup and cream of tartar in a sauce-pan and boil for a few minutes. Add the raisins chopped fine, and the chopped nut meats. Boil until it will ball in water, flavor with vanilla, and pour over the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Beat until light and foamy, then drop from a spoon on to wax paper and place a raisin on the top of each. They are also nice dipped in melted chocolate when cool. syrup and cream of tartar in a sauce cool.

Schweninger's BAKERY and GROCERY Best Goods Fresh Goods Right Prices Free Auto Delivery

Heselwood-Barnes

With the departure of Burton D. Barnes, who summered here, to go into training at man's engagement to Miss Mable K. Heselwood, former secretary to Dr. D. T. Mac-Dougal.

Animal Crackers

Would'nt it jar you ! If you and your family went off on a camping trip, and picked out a nice place, and got comfortably settled, and Is silhonetted, and the soft rays fill the water was boiling for the coffee, and the eats were laid out. We repeat, would'ut it jar you, if a gruff voice shouted, "Better get out o' there; there's an outlaw steer on the rampage, an' he's headin' your way.'

Well, that's just what happened to G. Washington Reamer and family a few days ago. George says something is always taking the joy out of life.

Yes, the steer came through on schedule.

CHURCH NOTICES

Christian Science Services Sunday, 11 A.M. Sunday School, 9:45 A. M. Wednesday Eve. Service, 8 o'clock ARTS AND CRAFTS HALL

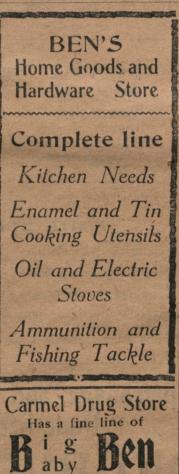

All Saints Episcopal SERVICES AT 8 A.M. AND 4 P.M. EVERY SUNDAY, EXCEPT SECOND SUNDAY IN MONTH, WHEN ONE SERVICE IS HELD, AT 11 A.M. Sunday School 10 A.M.

WALTER G. MOFFAT, Reclor

School Board Meets

At a meeting of Sunset School Trustee last Thursday morning, following a discussion as to the means to be employed to overcome the crowded condition of the local and to relieve the two teachers of some of their work, it was decided to, for this term at least, to make use of the little-used outside playroom for a class-room ; and a third teacher will be employed.

Bids on the work of alteration will be advertised for as soon as specifications are made out, so that the new room may be ready for occupancy the second week in October.

CLOCKS

Also Stationery, Toilet Articles, and Rubber

Sundries

Columbia Graphophone and

Records for Sale

PICTURE SHOWS IN CAR-MEL THIS MONTH.

Sept. 22-Marguerite Clarke, in "Molly Make-Believe." Sept. 25—"The Love Mask." Sept. 29—Pauline Frederick, in "Audrey."

New Auto Bus Auto Service 17-Mile Drive and all points ofinterest

Regular	Time Table
To Monterey	Leave Monterey
7 :30 a.m.	8:15 a.m.
8:30 a.m.	12:06 p.m.
9:30 a.m.	3:15 p.m.
2:30 p.m.	5:53 p.m.
5:00 p.m.
Lanua	Ordore at

CANDY STORE or at Goold's Garage

A GREAT PAINTER

Charles Harold Davis of Mystic, Conn., who has won the $1000 Altman prize, awarded annually by judges chosen by the National Academy of Design, is one of the renowned landscape painters of the United States, whose work is found in the leading museums of that country. As a winner of important awards in the leading competitions of the country he has few if any peers. He was elected a member of the He was elected a memory of the visit tional Academy in 1906, Amesbury, Mass., is his native place and he got his first training at the school of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Ten Boston Museum of Fine Arts. years of study and residence in Paris, with frequent exhibits in the Salon, enabled him to return to the United States with a traditional states with a traditional states with a traditional states with a traditional states and the states with a traditional states with a traditional states and the states are states are states and the states are states are states and the states are s States with a technical achievement and professional reputation that at once counted. Later the intrinsic merit of his work helped even more, and today he is on the crest of t wave of popularity and prosperity. the -Christian Science Monitor.

Fare: Carmel io Highlands, 25c. Highlands to Monterey, 50c. Packages called for and delivered,

Special Day and Night Trips by Arrangement. Carmel Booking Office at Devel-opment Co. Office

E. BECK, M. D. Office at Carmel-by-the-Sea Pharmacy, Carmel, Cal.

FROCERES AT CUT PRICES

A Direct Charge for Delivery is Fair to Everyone

Here's a saving of 10 per cent or more

5 Gals Pearl Oil	-	-	-	65c.
10 Lbs Best Burbank Potatoes	-	-	-	25c.
$1.00 tins M. J. B. Coffee -	-	-	-	90c.
10 Lbs Yellow Corn Meal -		-		80c.
Large, Carnation Wheat Flakes	1	-	-	30c.
1-Lb tin Royal Baking Powder	-	-	-	46c.

Soaps, 5c. bar

"King White" "White Bleaching" "Clean Easy" Striker "Kitch. Sweetheart"

Cookies, 7c. Pkg

"Zu-Zu Snaps" "Lemon Snaps" "Uneeda Biscuits" "Graham Crackers" "Oysterettes" Matches, 6c. box Toilet Paper, 8c. roll Dutch Clenser, 8c. can Hunt's Tomatces, 16c. tin "Sun Maid Raisins, 13c. pkg 3-gal tin Pure Olive Oil, 16c.

California Rice, 8c. lb. Ghir. Chocolate, 27c. lb cake Knox Gelatine, 17c. pkg. G. W. Coffee, 27c. tin Lb pkg Soda, 8c. Rolled Oats, 8c. lb.

Extra Special Values

"Better Blend" Coffee	30 cents pound
New Crop Japan Tea	50 cents pound
Imported, large. Queen Olives -	20 cents pint
· Coast While Sage Honey	20 cents square
New Pack, Libby's large Asparagus -	32 cents tin

We want your patronage, and will make it worth your while to trade here regularly LEIDIG BROTHERS, Inc.

"Old Homestead" Bread CARMEL

"Gold Medal" Butter