

An Apology

The charges brought against Michael Williams, author and newspaper man, by Hill Tolerton, San Francisco publisher, have been dismissed.

Tolerton stated to Judge Fitzpatrick that matters had been amicably adjusted, and that he had no desire whatever to prosecute.

The publisher also issued a public statement withdrawing remarks given to the press, and apologized to Williams.

Pine Needles

Mr. and Mrs. George Kammerer, old friends of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Williams, after a pleasant visit here, have returned to the city.

Professor and Mrs. John M. Stillman came down from Stanford last week for a brief stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. Delos Curtis have been entertaining the former's father, who arrived from Oakland recently.

To look after her business interests in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Newcome departed from her Pebble Beach home last week.

Henry L. Hitchcock of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and Ernest Meadows of Carmel Valley, drafted men, are ordered to entrain at Salinas tomorrow, for American Lake, Wash.

The Stanford English department is without the services of Prof. S. S. Seward this semester. He has joined the ambulance corps at Allentown, Pa.

Attorney Charles Clark and his son left on Saturday for Texas. Mr. Clark will be away about six weeks, attending to legal business.

Miss Betty Waud took a hurried week-end trip to San Jose, returning in time for Institute opening at Asilomar.

Mrs. R. B. Hughes is home again after several weeks' absence in Los Angeles.

Parents are again urged to instruct their children to keep to the sidewalk on their way to and from school. Bad accidents are narrowly averted daily. Don't wait for a child to be injured before taking action.

The Kochs and Miss McLean gave their friends a good time at the "down-and-out" party at El Nido tearoom last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chappell are here from San Jose to spend a few days.

Quality Roofing.—Ask for Pioneer Flaxine Roofing. U. S. Gov't and State of Cal. using large quantities. Ben Leidig, Carmel distributor.

Annual Meeting of Red Cross

The local chapter of the Red Cross held its annual meeting on Monday. More than 30 members were in attendance.

As it was necessary to adopt a constitution and by-laws before an executive committee could be elected, and as there were several matters requiring extended consideration, it was decided to meet again next Monday afternoon.

The Treasurer, Mrs. A. P. Fraser, reported that a total of $1535.79 had been raised during the year, of which over $500 remains in the treasury.

Mrs. Josselyn stated that Ernest Meadows and Henry Hitchcock were our next boys to go to camp, and urging all to give them a hearty God-speed.

Early Incidents in the Career of Jenny Lind

An early American essayist, Henry F. Tuckerman, gives this account of life of an artist:

"From an unpretending edifice in the entrance of Jenny Lind upon the one of the by-streets of the city of Stockholm, in Sweden, a troop of children might have been seen to emerge, at noon, and break the silence that at other hours invested the place, with the lively chat and quick laughter natural to just emancipated scholars. In a few moments they dispersed to their several homes, and early the next day were again visible, disappearing with a more subdued bearing within the door of the humble domicile."

"Some time previous, a good lady, in passing the seminary to which we have alluded, had been struck with the beauty of a child's voice that rose blithely from the dwelling. She was induced to alight and enter; and her astonishment was increased upon discovering that this cheerful song came from a diminutive girl busied in arranging the schoolroom during a recess. She learned that the maiden was the daughter of the schoolmistress; and the somewhat restricted air of homely comfort visible in the establishment, and the tinge of severity in the manner of the mother, contrasted forcibly in the lady's imagination with the apparently instinctive soaring of the child, in the atmosphere of song, from her dim and formal surroundings, as the skylark lifts itself from a lowly nest among heavens. It was a sweet illustration the dark weeds up to the crystal of the law of compensation.

"The air the child was singing as she busied herself about the room, was a simple native strain, quite familiar and by no means difficult of execution; it was the quality of the voice, the natural flow of the notes, the ease, grace, and earnest sweetness of the songstress, that gained the visitor's ear and heart; and now she had come to urge upon the parent the duty of affording every encouragement to develop a gift so rare and beautiful; she expressed the conviction that the child was born for a musical artist, and destined not only to redeem her parents from want, but to do honor to her country. This impression was deepened when she learned that this musical tendency had manifested itself as early as the age of three, and that the little girl had long awakened the wonder of the family by repeating accurately even intricate airs after having heard them but once; that she had thus sung habitually, spontaneously, and seemed to find of her own volition a peculiar consolation in the act for the dry routine of her life, though from without not a single circumstance gave any impulse or direction to this vocal endowment."

"Her mother, and even her kind adviser, doubted if she possessed sufficient energy of character for so trying a profession as that of an artist; and this, added to the prejudice of the parents against a public, and especially a theatrical career, for a time chilled the hopes of the enthusiastic patroness. At length, however, consent was obtained that the experiment should be made, and the diffident little girl, only accustomed to domestic life, but with a new and strange hope fluttering in her bosom, was taken to Croelius—a veteran music-master of Stockholm; who was so delighted with her rare promise that one day he led her to the house of Count Pucke then director of the court theater. Her reception, however, did not correspond with the old man's desires; for the nobleman coldly inquired what he was expected to do with the child. . . . Croelius was quite undismayed; he entreated the director to hear her sing, and declared his purpose to teach her gratuitously, if he could in no other way secure the cultivation of her voice and talents. This earnestness induced the count to listen with attention and candor; and when she had finished he exclaimed, 'She shall have all the advantage of the Stockholm Academy.' Such was Jenny Lind's initiation into the life of an artist."

Mrs. H. V. Reese and her sister, Miss V. Moore, who have spent two months here, returned to Oakland on Monday. Incidentally, during Mr. Reese's occasional visits here, he has completed arrangements for the reorganization of the local camp of the Modern Woodman of America, of which he is State Deputy. The camp will comprise about twenty of Carmel's leading citizens, and will be organized October 20.

For the thoughtfulness and kindness of the Carmel Red Cross chapter, in providing him with a number of necessary articles, prior to his departure for American Lake, Henry Hitchcock desires to express his thanks.

Wandesford's beautiful painting of the Carmel Mission, executed in 1874 (before the buildings were restored to their present condition), will shortly find a place in Golden Gate Park Memorial Museum. It is the gift of citizens whose desire is to preserve the work for its historical value.

The picture shows Father Serra's house, and there are also many details depicted which do not exist today.

Monthly Meeting of City Trustees

Only routine matters and discussion occupied the time of the city trustees last Tuesday night.

In the absence of Trustee A. P. Fraser, the chair was taken by G. F. Beardsley.

The matter of requiring the property-owners on Ocean avenue to repair sidewalks was discussed, and referred to the City Attorney.

A number of bills were approved and warrants drawn.

The board adjourned to meet again next Monday night, at which time the garbage ordinance will probably be passed, and there will be a thorough discussion of proposed street improvements.

The Fowlers have returned from Mendocino county. They motored into Carmel a few days ago.

WEEKLY GREETING

Wealth is honorable, and may be used most blessedly when men regard themselves as being what indeed they are—stewards of it, and not the owners; when they know how to acquire without avarice, and how to spend without grudging.—Archdeacon Farrar.

The Way of Least Resistance

A novelty in the way of what might be termed friendly advertising appeared recently in a newspaper. One business firm took occasion to congratulate another firm, "across the way," on the latter's completion of fifty years of continuous service to the community. The congratulations were printed in bold type in a prominent place. Telling the people in such a manner of a competitor's virtues in a pleasant contrast to the policy more often followed by those seeking public patronage and approval. And besides it brings results that in themselves should commend it to more frequent adoption.

And San Jose Folks Know It

The Monterey Peninsula, with all its charms of sea and pines, is by no means the only place which offers rest and pleasure to the wanderers from the East and to the sun-blistered dwellers in the vast San Joaquin and other valleys to the south and north. But Monterey and Pacific Grove and Del Monte and Carmel have had a taste of this factor of prosperity, their hotels and lodging houses and restaurants and bathing places are expanding with their fill of it, and the people are a unit in leaving nothing undone to cultivate it, for thus the peninsula grows in popularity and in all the material agencies which contribute to the upbuilding of an alert, thriving community.—Mercury.

C. O. Goold Sells Out— To Farm at Fresno

"My game is farming," said C. O. Goold a few days ago, "and I shall play the game at Fresno."

About ten years ago, upon his arrival in Carmel, Mr. Goold entered the livery stable business, buying out Coffey Brothers. Since that time he has built up a large and profitable business, adding various enterprises from time to time. With the coming of the automobile, a small garage was built and machines purchased, and so successful was this venture that the present garage was erected.

For some time Mr. Goold has been hankering to get back to the farm, and a favorable chance to dispose of his interests here gives him the opportunity to gratify his desire.

Frankly, we do not like to see Mr. Goold leave here. He has always been a forward-looking, enterprising citizen. However, he is going to do what he wants to do; so we wish him abundant success.

The family will probably depart for Fresno about the 15th of this month.

In addition to acquiring the Goold interests, C. W. Bowen of Pasadena and E. E. Little of Visalia have also purchased from H. S. Bunting the Pacific Grove Garage.

Awful Cruelty of Germans Described

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Henry Ward Beecher's church at Brooklyn, who spent July and August on the European battleground, telling of what he saw and heard, says.

"For the first time in history, Germans have reduced savagery to a science; therefore, the great war for peace must go on until the German cancer is cut clean out of the body.

"The cold catalogue of German atrocities makes the most sickening pages of history. These atrocities were not committed in a mood of drunkenness, nor in an hour of anger, but were organized by a so-called German 'efficiency.' It is not only that they looted factories, carried away machinery, robbed houses, bombed every farmhouse and granary, left no plow or reaper, chopped down every fruit tree and poisoned all wells!

"The Germans slaughtered old men and matrons, mutilated captives in ways that can only be spoken of by men in whispers, violated little girls until they were dead. Finding a calfskin nailed to a barn door to dry, they nailed a baby beside it and wrote beneath the word 'swie' (two); bombed and looted hospitals, Red Cross buildings, violated the white flag—while the worst atrocities cannot even be named.

"Why do the German people say they feel so terribly because the authors of the world call them 'Hun' and 'barbarian'? Who named them 'Hun'? Their Kaiser! Who christened them 'barbarians'? Their Kaiser! Who likened the German soldiers to bloodhounds held upon the leash of the Kaiser's thong, as they strained with bloody jaws to tear their French and Belgian prey? The Kaiser, this ruler who lifts a diseased and withered arm, and with bloody fingers, says:

"I baptize thee Hun and barbarian.' Let the Kaiser's words stand! 'For a thousand years no man shall speak the word 'Hun' without shuddering.'"

At least a million persons visited the eighteen California National Forests on recreation trips this season. The playground commissions of three large cities in the State have acquired lands for this purpose. Much of the success of the plan to make these federal reserves popular may be attributed to the Forest Service.

To the Road of Perfume

In a STETSON made suit watch yourself gleaming,
In a ship from afar, to the land drawing nigh;
Laden with STETSON dress men, brave to meet danger,

Stalwart of form, fair of skin, and blue of eye.

Shimmering waters, aweary of tossing,
Hopeful of rest, ripple on to the shore;
Dimpling with light as they waver and quiver,
Echoing faintly the ocean's wild roar.

Locked in the arms of the tremulous waters,
Dress in a STETSON suit of beauty abloom;
STETSON can dress you for winter or summer,
And make you feel as in a world of perfume.

Pumpkin Pies

Canned pumpkin is very satisfactory for this pie. To one cupful of pumpkin add one tablespoonful of melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt and ginger each, four tablespoonfuls sugar, one large tablespoonful of New Orleans molasses and yolk of two eggs. In a separate dish heat one and one-half cupfuls of milk to which add a sprinkle of nutmeg and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Add this to the pumpkin mixture. Then add the beaten whites of the eggs. Fill your pie plate, which has been lined with crust, and bake about 20 minutes.

La Playa News Notes

Ricardo Martin, the celebrated tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, left New York on July 19 in his powerful Italian car. After spending some time in Chicago and other cities, he arrived at La Playa on September 24.

Judge and Mrs. Ralph C. Harrison, who returned to the city Saturday, enjoyed the various motor trips hereabouts, each day taking a different trip. On Thursday, with Mrs. Goodman, they spent the day in the Big Sur country. Mrs. Harrison's main object in coming to Carmel at this time was to offer suggestions concerning the children's room of the local library, of which she is the donor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Duncan of McGill, Nevada, have acquired a large tract at Carmel Highlands. Plans for a stone bungalow and observatory on one of the large rocks will occupy Mr. Duncan's attention for some time.

Ten of the Medical Corps from the Monterey Presidio lunched at La Playa last Sunday.

Mrs. Signor leaves for a short trip South on Tuesday, and later may go to New York; pleasure trips both. Neither Mr. Newberry of Pine Inn nor Mrs. Signor have any intention whatever of closing their host-tries because of lack of patronage. We may have "Meal-less Tuesdays," according to a ruling made by our Hotel Association, but doors of both hotels cannot close. Our keys, according to the same ruling, having been thrown away the day we took possession.
