No Attorney Necessary

It has come to the attention of the Red Cross that certain unscrupulous attorneys are watching the reports of death and injury of American soldiers and sailors, and are sending to the next of kin pa-papers to be signed that authorize them to act as claim agents in recovering insurance, compensation, back pay, and other benefits, due under the War Risk insurance Law. Some of these letters, being the first notice of death or injury received, have often caused distress

There is absolutely no need of such agents, as the Bureau of War Risk Insurance will safeguard the rights of relatives without any cost whatever. However, in numerous cases, the preparation of claims can be facilitated and hastened by local assistance from the volunteer attorneys of the Home Service Sections.

VOL. IV, NUM. 8

Plans are under way for a great Third Liberty Loan Rally and Thrift Stamp Drive in Carmel, on the evening of Friday, April 12. This is in accordance with the request of Secretary of the Treasury William G McAdoo.

In a letter to W. L. Overstreet, as chairman of the local school board, the secretary states that patriotic meeting are to be held in 100,000 school districts throughout the United States, and he urges that Sunset School fall into line.

There will be several well known speakers on hand, the school children in a body will lead in the singing of patriotic songs, instrumental music will be provided, and interesting literature will be distributed. It will be a good old fashioned patriotic town meeting, giving opportunity to the people to show their loyalty in these trying times.

the widespread movement for a change in the city trustees at the coming election are clearly shown in the following contrasting items :

Before Incorporation

(From an unsigned article in the Pine Cone of October 4, 1916)

"About $1800 a year of taxes two salaried officers-a marshal, who may also be street superintendent, and a town clerk, who may also be assessor and tax col-lector. These salaries should not be over $1000 a year. The entire expense of city government should not exceed $1200, leaving a good balance for improvement.

"Between the lines of its streets, "Between the bases of its streets, fifty feet wide, there is opportunity for roadways of sufficient width, which will curve about trees and brush, which will wind in lines of beauty, which will give pleasing prospects and vistas, and be a pleasure to artists and every lover of beauty. With artists of merit of beauty. With artists of merit actively interested and assisting in the planning of our roadways, there should be wonderful re-sults."

"Another reason for opposing incorporation is the fear of in-creased taxation, special assess-ments, more to pay out. There will be no increase of taxes for the expense of government. As has been shown, the present tax rate will take care of that. For the building of streets, yes now or later. Streets must be built and property owners must pay for them. It will cost less now than later, because now we can be sat-It will cost less now than instict with more economical build-ing. The assessed valuation is light and it would be unwise to go too deeply into debt for roads. We can build roads that will last us for more for the the total sector. for many years for less than ten dollars a lot."

Eighteen Months Afterward

(From the financial statement of the corpor ation, for the year ending December 31, 1917, publishod in the Pine Cone, March 7, 1918):

Total Disbursements $3319.74

Of this amount, spent for street repairs $59.35.

The trustees say that under their interpretation of the law they have no authority to repair streets, and that neither the present nor future board could put down anything but permanant streets; and fur-

Cone office.

To the Cilizens and Property-own-ers of Carmel: ther that any attempt to do so could be successfully enjoined. On the other hand, it is believed

The reasons prompting the by a large number of people that the law may be so interpreted as to enable fhe trustees to put down simple gravel walks for sidewalks, and good gravel roadways, at a cost not to exceed $10 or $12 a lot. (The roadway on Lincoln street cost $6.50 per lot, and has lasted in fair condition, with almost no repair, for eight years.) With the possible exception of Ocean avenue, we do not believe that a roadway of "asphalt maeadam, with proper curbs and cul-verts" would be desirable for Carmel at any price. (We have no exact figures, but from the best information we can obtain it seems that the cost of such a street would approximate $100, probably more.) Besides, repairs would be difficult and expensive for this type of street, which is by no means permanent.

The charm of Carmel is its village paths and roads. To improve them as outlined in the Pine Cone article of October 4, 1916 would enhance this charm. Straighten them out, grade, level and pave them, put in curbs, culverts, and other "city fixin's" would not only be out of place in Carmel, but would soon put us in the class of would soon put us in the class of Pacific Grove, where, even now, the great tourist hotel is being taken down and much material from it moved to the country, at Pebble Beach, to be rebuilt.

Everyone appreciates the unsel-fish and faithful work of the mem-bers of the present board of trustees, and we all have perfect confi dence in their sterling integrity Indeed, we, who differ from them, are inclined to think that they have been so conscientious and thorough in their work that they are seeing things a little out of perspective-a city of thousands, instead of a village of hundreds. We understand that three of the four candidates for trustee favor the policy advocated in this article.

Let the issues be clearly defined. GOOD ROADS at modest cost, with moderate expenses for city government, on the one hand, and PERMANENT STREETS with increasing cost of city government, on the other

The present board has stated its views fairly and squarely to an artic's signed by Mr. A. P. Fraser, (It appeared in the Pine Cone of March 14, and everyone should read it carefully.)

If any of the four candidates hold different views, it is due the voters that they make clear statements over their own signatures.

Then we will be able to vote for to the the measures we favor.

Yours very truly. WILLIAM P. SILVA

Mike Williams' Book To Be Out Soon

An announcement of special in. terest to book-lovers of Carmel and vicinity comes from the Mac. millan Company, which promises among it's Easter publications Michael Williams' "Book of the High Romance "

In effect the work is a novel, though described as "a spiritual autobiography." The author has done much as Hamlin Garland did in "A Son of the Middle Border-cast the incidents of his own der—cast the incidents of his own life in fiction form, made a sort of personal-historic volume. Many well known persons figure in the story, and much of the action takes place in Carmel, Monterey, and San Francisco.

Sections of the work which have to do with the author's life in and about Carmel are very intimate and interesting. It is here that much of the book was written

The passages descriptive of Mr. Williams' spiritual awakening and conversion to the Catholic faith are among the more beautiful in the volume.

The manuscript of the book was begun twenty years ago, and twice has been destroyed by fire-first in San Francisco, in the 1906 earth. quake, and again in the disaster which destroyed Upton Sinclair's Helicon Hall.

A Dignified Calling

This war has done one good one of the most dignified and successful callings that men can engage in. Time was when many looked upon the cultivator of the soil as a mere "hayseed" and of little value in the economics of the nation. but that idea has passed.

Nowadays everybody looks to the farmer to come to the rescue of the nation by producing something to eat. so that we can win the war. The day is not far distant when the man who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before will be looked up to as a real captain of industry. Then watch our boys take agricultural courses in the colleges. and universities.

Otto Lachmund Does Stunts in the Air

Mrs. Mabel G. Young is in receipt of the following inter-esting letter from her son, who is stationed at Ellington Field, Texas.

Took my first passenger up day before yesterday-a mechanic who I had to take over to a field about two miles from our regular flying field. He did not enjoy the ride very much, as I was having motor trouble, and besides, it was a very bumpy day.

We would suddenly shoot up or drop down anywhere from 50 to 100 feet, and every now and then a puff of air would catch one wing and career. us quite a way over on one side before I could straighten her out.

Finally went up for acrobatics yesterday afternoon. I was not scared, but became rather sea sick and dizzy. Luckily, my instructor decided to cease performing just before I had to "use the rail.

Did three "tail spins," which are quite confusing and very dangerous it near the ground. He taught me to come out of one and let me do so. Then he tried some "stalls." In these, the machine is headed staright up toward the sky, loose all speed, stand still a minute, slip backward toward earth a few feet, and then the weight of the engine brings down the front part of the ship with terriffic speed and one drives absolutely straight toward the earth, coming out very gently into a glide. Next I asked him to do a "loop," and he proceeded to do it. It seemed to me as if I hung up there, looking down upon the earth a mile below, for ages, and finally she came around into a dive.

Talk about sensation ! There was I, upside down, with nothing supporting me but my life belt, and a nice long mile to drop in ca-e the blame thing didn't hold. Of course, the belt holds, but neverless, there is plenty of sensation. I sure felt relieved when the nose started to drop and we assumed a more normal gliding position. I think our "loop" was a very slow one, and that accounts for hanging upside down for what seemed such a long time

I certainly am glad to have gone through these things, as now I will have more of an idea of what is going on and how to remedy same in case I get into any of the above positions.

You will have the pleasure and the Red Cross will get the money. The Manzanita Club masquerade ball occur a week from next Saturday-April 6.
