Liberty Loan Slogans

Idle dollars are pro-german.
Let all get on the bond wagon
If you can't fight, your money can.
Put the "pay" into patriot-ism.
"Come across" or the kaiser will.
The soldier gives; you must lend.
Dig up the coin and bury the Hun.
Liberty Bonds or german taxes.
Buy bonds before it's verboten.
Buy over here to win over there.
For Foch and freedom, buy bonds.
Bonds speak louder than words.
A bond slacker is the kaiser's backer.
Liberty Bonds or german bondage.
Freemen buy bonds; slaves wear them.
Wear old clothes and buy Liberty Bonds.

Important! If you are a citizen of the United States and have or will have resided in this State one year, in this county 90 days, and in this precinct 30 days on November 5 next, you must register, if you have not already done so, before October 6, if you desire to vote at the general election.

Mrs. M. L. Huntington has been visiting relatives and friends in Santa Clara county.

Who stole the lock? The sacred precincts of the Manzanita Club were invaded the other night and the lock taken from the front door. The Marshal has an excellent description of two suspects.

Herbert Hand left for the East last Friday. On arrival at Key West, Florida, he will receive orders where to proceed to join his ship.

The Literary Digest of recent date states that the Stanford Unit of the Amulance Corps has been several times cited for bravery under fire by the French government. This is the organization of which Arthur Cyril is a member.

Mrs. B. C. Bunting is now occupying the Watts home. She will not be alone, however, as she will have guests from time to time from San Francisco and other bay cities.

The reading at the Book Shop this evening will be Phillip's "Herod." This is fourth of a series of Thursday evening readings which are to continue until November 21.

William S. Cooper, who is well known here, at one time a local resident with his mother, is now associated with the 16th Regiment, Y.M.C.A. at Great Lakes, Ill.

Miss Eleanor Donlan of San Jose is this week's guest of Mrs. J. D. Gray. Miss Donlan is an accomplished elocutionist.

The Pepper family have returned to their home. The Bath House is closed for the season.

In the recent primary election the total vote in the entire district for Hayes for Congress was 17,314; Hersman's Republican and Democratic vote was 18,576; Roberts got 4717, and Johnson 1540. The total anti Hayes vote was 33,833.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Casey of Los Angeles were recent guests here of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ball. They are on the way home from the recent G.A.R. Encampment at Portland, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Warren expect to leave shortly for San Joaquin county. They have a ranch upon which they are anxious to get settled.

Herbert Heron's recent trip to San Francisco had for its main purpose the purchase of books for the holiday trade.

John N. Hilliard has made application to enlist in the Y.M.C.A. force which will shortly leave for Russia.

George J. Seideneck returned from the city Saturday evening. While away he made application to enlist in the Camouflage Corps of the Army.

Dr. C. A. McCollom has been appointed a member of the staff of physicians who will act in conjunction with the Monterey County Exemption Board.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hutchinson, recently from India, who were here for a few days last month, are here again, this time for a month.

Mrs. B. O. Warren and Tommy returned from their trip to Berkeley on Saturday. They were in Berkeley during the recent terrific thunder and lightning storm.

W. J. Elliott, State Manager of the Yoemen of America, was a guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Nichols.

Mrs. Barton and daughter of Oakland will occupy the Lee Gray (Von Needa) cottage for a fortnight.

Street Work—Maybe

A conference of property owners and members of the city board of trustees to discuss street improvements was held at the City Hall last Thursday evening.

It developed that Monte Verde street property owners had sent in a larger number of acceptances of the clay street plan than the owners on any other street, and it is probable an effort will be made to put that street through first.

BUY A BOND

By ELEANOR HICKS

The government has issued bonds For all of us to buy,
And if you do not buy one,
It's yours to reason why.

If you cannot buy a Bond,
There's Thrift Stamps to buy;
If you haven't any money,
There's no use to sit and sigh.

Get up and earn some money—
There's lots of work to do—
And save and buy a Liberty Bond;
That's all they ask of you.

Help your government to feed the boys

Who are going over the top;
Help you country sell its Bonds—
If you sell two or three, don't stop.

Just go ahead and sell some more,
Keep the ball a-rolling
Until we all go over the top
And the old bell gets through tolling

Makes Bond Buying Easy

A new plan of partial payments has been adopted by the Treasury Department, which gives a better distribution than hertofore of the installments.

The initial payment will be 10 per cent; the second, Nov. 21, twenty per cent; the third, December 19, twenty per cent; the fourth, Jan. 16, twenty per cent, and the fifth and last, Jan. 30, thirty per cent.

Thus for a $50 bond you pay $5, $10, $10, $10, $15.

Ruin In Its Wake

"Five Million Men in France!"

If the Americans at Cantigny, at Chateau Thierry, along the Marne and around Soissons, has proved a whirlwind which von Hindenburg could not withstand this year, what will be the German terror when "Forward to Victory" rings out next year to armies that hide the plains.

The rich blood of sacrifice already strengthens the soil of American resolution from which will spring the flower of triumph.

The sacrifice abroad must be met by sacrifice at home. No effort we at home can make will approach the price paid willingly by those who do not return from the battle for Democracy.

Register the measure of your support by your oversubscription of your quota of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A French pantomime, "Pierrot the Prodigal," and "The Power of Love," a one-act Chinese play, are to be produced in New York in November. Both are the work of Madam Ann Dare, now sojourning in Carmel.

At the urgent request of church members and many townspeople Rev. Stephen C. Thomas has been re-appointed pastor of the Methodist Church here by the conference recently in session at Stockton.

Miss Anne Haddon of Salinas, County Librarian, is spending a week here, occupying the McKibben bungalow.

Dr. H. H. Bawden's class will meet as usual at the Genthe cottage, corner Eleventh Avenue and Camino Real, at 7:30. The topic this year will be "The Psychology of Art." All who are interested in taking the course are invited to attend the first meeting on Oct. 4.

The Misses Helen and Nancy Freeland, who have been vacationing here, will return to the city on Monday. They visit here often.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Taylor and their daughter, Jean, after ten days in the city, where they had a pleasant visit, are nevertheless glad to be home again.

Red Cross Notes

The American Red Cross sent out 21,000 articles of clothing, including 500 blankets and 2000 sheets, during two days when thousands of refugees were pouring through Paris.

At Malbury the American Red Cross has established a model village for families having tubercular members. The demountable houses are so built that patients can receive outdoor treatment and live under the same roof with their families without endangering the well members of the household.

At a Red Cross hospital bathhouse in France recently 350 men were accommodated who had received first aid in the field. Each soldier was presented with a comfort bag as he left the bathhouse, and the hospital corps provided soup and coffee.

"Old Tire Day" brought Berks County, (Pa.) Chapter $1739.36, thereby demonstrating the theory that wealth comes from saving. This segregation of valuable waste from rubbish not only brought the chapter funds for relief work, but conserved the rubber for manufacturing purposes.

We can afford to do without wool when we know it is being used for the comfort of the allies and the soldiers. The Red Cross will need 75,000 blankets for relief work in Italy alone the coming winter; they have been ordered. Save your old suits—conserve on wool. They need it over there.

DRAWS SHELLFIRE

British Remove Their Guns, but Old "Scenery" Is Left Behind.

Major General O'Callaghan is responsible for a camouflage story that puts the reverse English, as it were, on the camouflage.

"Somewhere out there," he says, "I was looking over some artillery emplacements, and among others found a big 12-inch howitzer planted hard by a little farmhouse in a small orchard. It had apparently been there only a few days, and I asked the lieutenant in immediate charge to tell me about it.

"You see," explained the lieutenant, "we were over yonder half a mile in an excellent position, but the Boche got our range, and strafed us something fierce the other afternoon. So I asked the major if we might move her down here. We got the engine up at midnight, the sappers laid down the rails in a little while, and we brought her here before daylight."

"You've got a good position here," I remarked, "but you don't seem to have done much by way of concealment."

"No," replied the subaltern, "we carefully left the camouflage in the old place; you will notice the Huns are still giving it a—"

"Oh," I said, getting the idea, "that's a new one; has it been tried before?"

"Yes, sir," replied the youngster, grinning blandly; "last week we took a 60-pounder out like that and the Boche has been wasting several tons of good shells on camouflage every day since."

WIFE TO PRODUCE NOISE

Explosive Boss Doesn't Think New Job Is Sinecure.

When Constable F. Ruel Andrews of East Haven, Conn., who is also the town dog warden, fire warden and unofficially known as town "chief of police," received a commission from the government, appointing him director of explosives for the town, he stood in the village post office and displayed the voluminous document. Some of the curious bystanders allowed that "Ru" wouldn't have much to do in this town, as there weren't any explosives to direct.

"Huh, there ain't!" said the constable. "Well, you just wait till my wife hears they've saddled a new office onto me."

PIGS HELP GET BEAR

Held the Animal While Lad Let Go
Both Barrels of Gun.

Willie Hackenschmidt, fifteen years old, of Salmon Creek came to Warren, Pa., the other day with a 250-pound black bear in his farm wagon.

"I couldn't have got him if it hadn't been for father's pigs," he explained. "I was out in the woods after rabbits when I heard one of the pigs squeal. I ran toward the sound and when I got there a big black bear had one of the little squealers in his paws. The others were crazy. They were pawing the bear all over. He dropped the pig and started to run when he saw me, but the pigs held him until I could get close enough to give him both barrels."

We Must Stand Firm

Just a word of warning! Beware of german propaganda that will whine "Kamerad!" as soon as the Teuton is thoroughly licked. We can easily observe that the pro-german pacifists, who have lain very cautiously dormant since we entered the war, will arouse themselves at the approach of peace, and will insidiously pass the word, the suggestion, the hint, the whisper, that we should be magnanimous and forgiving.

It does not matter that our boys have given their lives. Oh no! Forgiving, indeed.

When it comes time for peace, our enemies will be accorded exact justice—nothing

Endure to the End.

Our problem is to see whether we can grasp the facts, feel the suffering, understand the anxious hearts on the other side. We have got to make up our mind to win this war if Paris is lost, if London is lost. We have got to know what this war means and resolve with all our hearts to see it through. As one of the soldiers who came back said to me, "How dare the Americans talk of peace? What have they done to talk peace? When the soldiers who have fought at the front, watched their comrades die, the soldiers who have been wounded and gone back to fight again, when they talk peace, then it is time to talk it. We know what we are fighting. We have got to see this thing through."

Think of our boys over there, fighting for us today. Think if tomorrow morning they should go to their quartermaster and he should say, "I am sorry that there is little bread this morning; the American people had to have wheat for their bread. There wasn't enough left to send you." What kind of an explanation can you give your boy when he comes back?

And yet, side by side with our American boys stand the men of France, of Britain, of Belgium, of Italy. They stand there comrades in arms, looking across the same No-Man's Land, facing the same enemy. They are our boys just as much as those we sent over. They are fighting for us, dying for us. What if they go tomorrow and their quartermaster says, "There is no bread, no bacon." What if a French soldier should get a letter from his home saying that the food ration of the family had been cut again because the Americans did not make good?

America the Hope of All.

There is only one answer. It is imperative that we save and send the wheat and other foods absolutely required in Europe. We can not do it unless we stop using them here. We must realize that food is the weapon by which America is to be able to maintain a position in the war long enough to win it.

We have the problem of maintaining the men in that line and back of that line. We must not run any risk. There must be no narrow margins. We must build up reserves here against the lean years. We must see that there is plenty over there so that no matter what happens to the shipping in any month, they are safe.

As our Army increases, more and more men will be drawn from the farms; perhaps we have now passed the peak of production. Harvests are bound to vary with seasonal changes. Our only safe course is to provide enormous reserve stores of staple foods both here and in Europe to meet any emergency. In a later period of the war, in some critical phase, to have to stop in order to devote our energies to farming might be fatal to our final success. There must be no let down in the program of conservation with the new harvest.

Heartened by our success, we must go ahead realizing more than ever our responsibility to those who fight with us and to those who look to us as the only source of food supply to save them from destruction.

We must see that the morale of our men and those who fight with them is kept at high tide. We can do so if they feel our support all the time. By the food-saving program the American people are to keep them all in health and comfort and courage until the final victory.

(The End.)

JOKE ON SCHOOL VISITOR

Fortunately Hamilton Mable Was Well Able to Appreciate Unconscious Humor of the Children.

The late Hamilton W. Mable, the well-known American essayist, was one of those genial men who enjoyed a joke on themselves. Illustrating this phase of Mr. Mable's character, it is told that when he was a student Mr. Mable made an address in which he told this story:

He had visited a school in Philadelphia in which there was a daily fire-drill. The teacher regularly asked the students, "Children, what would you do if fire were to break out in this building?" The children all repeated in chorus, "We would rise in our places, step into the aisle, and march quietly out of the building." On the morning when Mr. Mable visited the school, while he was sitting quietly on the platform, the teacher stepped before the pupils and said, "Children, what would you say if I were to tell you that Mr. Mable is to speak to you this morning?" The children promptly replied in chorus, "We would rise in our places, step into the aisle, and march quietly out of the building."
