Carmel Hall of Fame

Since its appointment by the Board of Trustees some months ago, the Committee on Honor Roll and Standard Committee has been working steadily to prepare in suitable form a lasting evidence of the part that the men, women and children of Carmel Precinct have taken in the Great War.

The task of the committee has not been and is not now a light one, and though the work is well under way, there remains much to do. In gathering data concerning the men who were drafted, enlisted, went to the front, went overseas, the engagements they were in, their period of service, etc., there is considerable work ahead.

Then, too, the project has been considerably expanded. It was at first intended that the honor roll include only those in the Army and Navy. Now it is proposed to include those engaged in overseas Red Cross and similar work, war correspondents, etc.

In addition to the Honor Roll and Standard, which is to be installed at our City Hall, the committee has under advisement a plan to publish a booklet detailing the activities of the patriots at home, to which they gave their time and means.

Exact figures will be given of amounts subscribed to the Red Cross drives, War Work Campaign, Belgian and Armenian relief, and the various Liberty Bond issues.

A resume of public meetings held in Carmel will be prepared, and details of the organization and accomplishments of the local chapter of the American Red Cross will be presented.

The committee is as follows: Dr. C. A. McCollom, chairman; Mrs. E. K. de Sabla, Mrs. M. E. Hand, D. W. Call, Rev. S. C. Thomas.

Pine Needles

Rev. D. Charles Gardner, Chaplain at Stanford University, spent a few restful days here last week.

Unofficial announcement has been made that the Fifth Liberty Loan will take place in April. Begin now to save for it.

The early rains have caused the beautiful yellow poppies, for which Carmel is famous, to bloom very abundantly recently, and many are the parcel post boxes of the golden flower that have been dispatched.

Mrs. J. D. Gray is spending a month in San Francisco, having left last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gibbs of India, with Miss Freeland, were week-end guests at the popular La Playa.

Miss M. E. Mowers and her niece, Miss Lucy Mower, are away until New Year's, spending a season with relatives in Berkeley.

Distribution of sugar under the card system has been discontinued. Consumers are requested by the Food Administration to observe the voluntary ration of four pounds per month per person. The next change will be a drop in price.

Week-end guests at La Playa included Miss E. W. Morgan, head of the Bureau of Information, and Miss F. C. Low, Supervisor Auxiliary, San Francisco.

Mrs. H. M. Bremner and her sailor son, Ludovic, are expected home from their Los Angeles trip this week. Ludovic then departs for New London, Conn.

Following the splendid Thanksgiving evening dinner at La Playa a very enjoyable dance was participated in by a number of the house and dinner guests. Mrs. Signor certainly knows how. The next dinner dance will be on Christmas night.

Martel Stoney, looking every inch a soldier, is here on furlough from Camp Lewis, to visit his folks.

The presentation of the comedy, "The Private Secretary," is not "indefinitely postponed." Upon Garnet Holmes' return here, just after Christmas, rehearsals will be resumed, and the show will be given about January 15.

Among the soldier and sailor boys in Carmel over Thanksgiving were Albert Van Houtte, Robert Norton, and Eugene Gillett.

Miss E. A. McLean left yesterday for Oakland, to be with friends for about a month.

If Edward J. Sullivan, who is sojourning at Carmel Highlands, has his way, the entire southern California membership of the next Legislature will visit here this month. The first man to be Mr. Sullivan's guest is Assemblyman Edwin Baker of Los Angeles, who is now at the Highlands.

The Larouettes forded up to Oakland last Wednesday, and arrived in time for a merry Thanksgiving dinner with relatives from the surrounding bay cities. "We mend anything."

Mrs. Jennie Coleman and Mrs. Ella Rigley are spending a fortnight with friends in San Jose and San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Devendorf and Miss Edwina spent Thanksgiving in San Francisco with the Hofeld family.

The Hands had as out-of-town Thanksgiving guests Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hand and Miss Phyllis Cooper, who motored from San Francisco.

A party of Stockton and San Francisco people who spent last week here included Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weston, Mrs. Weston, Miss Virginia Weston, Mrs. B. O'Hara, Mrs. J. D. McDougald, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Barnett, Miss Frances Barnett, Miss M. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Zitlau.

A Larger Firehouse

Under authority of the Board of Trustees, C. J. Arne, Commissioner of Fire and Police, has had the fire house on Dolores street enlarged by contractor Murphy.

With the acquirement of new apparatus, such as extra hose, a hose-carrying trailer, pikes, ladders, etc., the little house became so overcrowded that the men were retarded some minutes in responding to an alarm. And to get the best, if any, use of a chemical engine, it must reach the fire in its early stages.

To such good effect has our fire department served since its organization that the taxpayers will not for a moment begrudge the expense incurred for new equipment and an adequate place to house it.

The Place of the Nativity

IN a place built, like Bethlehem, in many cases against the soft limestone rock it often happens that the existence of a cave where the house was to be was a great attraction since it offered a ready-made, dry, above ground cellar as well as a specially suitable spot for the household animals and for a storeroom. It would seem that Joseph was at last able to get room in some such back portion of a house, and there, we are told, Mary bore her divine Son.

A cave below the high altar of the Church of the Nativity is now shown as the very place where this august event transpired; a little recess, shaped like a clam shell, its floor of marble wrought into a star in the center, bearing in Latin the words, "Here Jesus Christ Was Born of the Virgin Mary." A row of lamps hangs round the outer edge, the right to attend to them being a jealously watched matter, each of the ancient churches, the Greek, the Latin, the Armenian and the Coptic, having one or more of these under its care.

The evidence for this site is so strong that most persons accept it as sufficient, reaching up, as it does, to within living memory of the days of the apostles. But even if this be an illusion the fact remains that in this petty village the Saviour of the world was made man for our redemption. No wonder that we read of the anthem of the angels, for surely nothing could draw forth the interest of the heavenly population like the exceeding grace God was showing to sinful man.

The scene of the visit of the shepherds is pointed out as on a rough slope, facing the village, at some distance to the east. Both hem lying far above on its mountain seat. One can follow the shepherds in their journey to see the unspeakable wonder. They would go along the rich valley of Boaz and then up the terraced hill by a path still in use. nor is it uninteresting to reflect that, while simple shepherds were led by angels to the manger, the high priests and the great of Jerusalem, so near, slept through that most illustrious night of all history, quite unconscious of what had happened. But we know of it, and may God grant that if we cannot go with the shepherds to Bethlehem we may one day go to the right hand of God and worship him there, who that night lay a little child in Mary's arms. — Dr. Cunningham Geikie

First Irish Coaching Company.

In 1815, an Italian, named Bianconi started the first coaching company in Ireland, running long cars over various regular routes. Long cars soon became the safest and most reliable means of travelling over Ireland, and Bianconi turned rich and prosperous. Writing in or about 1842, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, who have written much of Ireland, tell us that "persons of the highest respectability" used the long car for travelling. At this time, although these cars passed through 128 towns, they had not made their way into the north of Ireland. The cars varied considerably in size, requiring from one to four horses. The fare, even over the rockiest roads in the West, was two-pence farthing a mile. The Halls carefully explain that passengers were provided with "dry and comfortable horse-hair cushions and aprons" and that, in wet weather, the long cars never journeyed more than two stages without changing the cushions.

Red Cross Notes

The call is urgent for additional helpers in the local Red Cross work room. One hundred pinholes are cut and must be finished by January 1. They are needed by the children "Over There."

The Xmas Roll Call for Universal Red Cross membership is set for the week of December 16-20. Only about a third of the people of California, Nevada and Arizona are members of the Red Cross. If you do not belong, join! The opportunity for unselfish humanitarian service is now greater than ever. Even the enemy will realize that in peace as in war we stand "All for Humanity." Join the family of the "Greatest Mother in the World."

One of Santa Claus' first stops on Christmas Eve will be at the American hospitals in France. In every ward there will be a team and Red Cross workers to help him fill the sick soldiers' and sailors' socks. Wouldn't you love to help?

Dear old Santa Claus will not confine his activities to soldiers and sailors at the holiday season, but through the Red Cross Commissions in allied countries will visit nurses and workers as well. Real cheer, candies, nuts, gifts and a fine spread will bring to those who serve us "Over There" just a "Little Bit 'o Heaven."

By a unanimous vote of the city Board of Trustees, at the monthly meeting, there was adopted on motion of Trustee Taylor, seconded by Trustee de Sabla, Resolutions No. 21 and 22, calling upon Surveyor Howard Cozzens to furnish surveys, plans and specifications for macadam roadways on Ocean and San Antonio avenues.

A rough plan submitted provides for a parkway on the middle of Ocean Avenue, with a curbed and guttered roadway on each side, to Monte Verde Street, and a single roadway from thence on to San Antonio Avenue, and continuing along the latter to Fourth Avenue.

The cost will probably be between $100 and $125 per twenty-five foot lot.

Perry Newberry Writes Interesting Account of His Work and Observations

FOURTH LETTER

October 22, 1918

I feel sure that the censor will let me say that I am no longer at the front, the organization to which I am attached having been relieved because it has attended properly to its little affairs at the front and fought just as long as endurance permitted. We are now at a de-lousing station, where the cooties are being removed and new uniforms and winter underwear are being issued.

As we moved out of range of the German guns on the morning of the 17th, your prophecy that the war would be over on my birthday is probably true. The last shell to wheeze overhead was that night. And, although I have asked for transfer back to the front, they will not listen to it. And the war will probably be over before we go back to assist it along.

I am writing in a dug-out in the side of a French hill, formerly occupied, and not so long ago, as a German barracks, or stable. We have stolen a piano and the men are playing and singing. A cornet solo is on as I write this. The place is full of men and cigarette smoke, for I have just rationed about 120,000 cigarettes to the regiment and our next door neighbors; also we have a bonfire in the corner, which adds to the smoke.

We received a really good imitation of war last Sunday morning. We had moved in echelon into an advanced position the evening before, and I was asleep in my tent just before reveille, when a shell broke overhead and to my left. The next time was to my right, although practically in the same place, because I had rolled over on my tummy and placed a German tin hat over the brain part of my head. My tent-mate, Brown, gave a yell of "Run, Newberry, run!" and I beat it for the mess tent.

That run deserves the Victoria Cross, the D. S. O., the Croix de Guerre, and all the other war medals for dangers faced. I watched it laughing heartily. The mess tent was about 400 yards away, and shell were breaking over every step of it. Brown's feet became mixed up in some loose wire. It impeded his progress, and every shell that broke lifted him up in the air, wire and all. A cottonwood tree, with a trunk two feet thick, was struck just as he passed it. The exploding shell brought it down and shattered four feet of its length into kindling. If that tree had not stopped the shell, Brown would have been a mixture of Brown and wire. Another shell made a hole in front of him five feet across; he leaped it. When he did finally reach the mess tent, a shell landed behind it and blew it so full of mud that the coffee is still muddy.

Not a man hurt in the company, because most of them hugged the ground, letting the shell splinters pass over them. We got about thirty shells just then, but about a third or them were "duds."

I also had an experience next day when I made my round of the batteries. From one place I could see the German batteries and the smoke of the battle of the infantry. At Battery F they had just been thru a shelling, with several casualties and a particularly heavy loss of horses, and they did not especially relish my riding into their position on horseback, and perhaps exposing it to the enemy. They were a courteous outfit and spoke kindly to me about it, but they smiled grimly when they informed me that they were about due for a second barrage, and I might either stay until it was over or pass out on the exposed road for home. One was about as good a chance as the other, they said.

I had to hurry home for supper. I led the horse under cover to the road, cut a good switch, and, then mounting, made that horse run two miles—something he was not used to—nor I. I am lame yet.

Just as I passed from the open road into a wood, the Bosch battery opened fire, sending one shot to register, then one over me—then I was in the woods and in shelter. I arrived home early for mess.

But the fun is, I fear, over for me. I will have to start prayer-meetings and outdoor sports way back from the firing line. At present I am acting-chaplain of the regiment, he being on furlough, and must attend to the church services, burials, etc.

Love to all the dear friends.

Shall We Feed Germany?

According to reliable estimates, Germany has now food enough to last two-thirds of the time until the next harvest. A reading of other journals does not disclose any great amount of sympathy for the German wail of famine.

If Germany does need food, we should send it to them only after the starving in the German-despoiled lands have been fed, and when the American poor, facing unemployment this winter, are supplied.

It is quite possible that the German appeal for food, coming from the very people who gloated over the sinking of the Lusitania, and who held high carnival when the children of Paris and London were mur-

And it will be a long time before we shall forget the physical conditions in which prisoners of war were released by Germany.

Let us temper justice with mercy—if we must—but let us first feed our own and our allies.

SAVE 16,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT THAT FORMERLY WAS LOST IN THRESHING

Farmers, Urged by Food Administration, Provide Seven Extra Loaves of Bread for Every American.

By adopting cleaner threshing methods and by literally combing harvest fields to gather grain formerly wasted, the shermen and farmers of the United States this year saved fully 16,000,000 bushels of wheat, estimated as equivalent to about seven one-pound loaves of bread for every person in the country. This result, accompanied by corresponding savings of barley, oats, rye and other grains, is shown by reports from 33 grain states to the U. S. Food Administration. Other states, although not prepared to furnish definite figures of conservation in the grain fields, report greatly reduced harvest losses.

This rural food saving achievement, accomplished in scarcely six months' time, was in direct response to requests by the Food Administration, which asked farmers and threshermen to reduce harvest losses from about 3 1/4 per cent. the estimated average in normal times—to the lowest possible minimum. Country grain threshing committees carried into every grain growing community the official recommendations for accomplishing the results desired.

In numerous instances drivers of racks with leaky bottoms were sent from the fields to repair their equipment and frequently had order threshing machines were stopped until the cause of waste was removed. But in proportion to the number of persons engaged in gathering the nation's grain crop, cases of compulsion were comparatively rare. The Food Administration freely attributes the success of the grain threshing campaign to patriotic service by farmers, threshermen and their crews. Incidentally grain growers of the United States are many millions of dollars "in pocket" as a result of the grain saved.

NO ONE SUFFERED HERE.

The marvel of our voluntary food saving, now that we are "getting results," is that no one ever actually suffered any hardship from it; that we all are better in health and spirit and better satisfied with ourselves because of our friendly self-denial.

Food control in America held the price of breadstuffs steady, prevented vicious speculation and extortion and preserved tranquillity at home.

In no other nation is there so willing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—that was shown in the abstinence from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came; more pork, it came; save sugar, it was done—30 Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

Food control made sufficiency from shortage, kept the rein on food prices, gave the nation's full strength exercise.

Starvation by Germany challenged all the world; food conservation in America answered the challenge.
