They Must Not Be Left to Starve

For a week, beginning next Monday, a committee will be out to collect Carmel's quota—$450—toward the nation-wide fund being raised to save the Armenians and Syrians from extermination by starvation.

Our United War Fund quota was $1500; we over-subscribed that. The Fourth Liberty Loan quota was $20,000, which we more than doubled. We have more than "come through" on every thing.

Four hundred and fifty dollars is the smallest amount yet asked of us. Let us, who are well fed and comfortable, get the money together in a jiffy. You may pay the following: Miss Helen Parkes, chairman; W. L. Overstreet, at the Pine Cone office; Miss Margaret Clark, at the Library; Mrs. W. P. Silva, Miss M. E. Mower, Miss E. Adams, Mrs. L. S. Slevin.

And another thing. During the next few days a little boy or girl is going to ask you to buy a ticket for the movie show at the Manzanita Theatre next Tuesday evening. Buy one or more. The entire net receipts go toward the Armenian and Syrian relief fund.

Pine Needles

Prof. A. B. Show of Leland Stanford University is here for a three months' stay. His son has returned to college.

After his discharge from the service in a couple of months, Ernest Hemmings, the Canadian soldier, who has been sojourning here, plans to return to Carmel.

The Pacific Grove Community Council has adopted strong resolutions condemning the plan whereby boards of supervisors were to be authorized to levy taxes for monument purposes. Copies of the resolution were sent to Senator E. S. Rigdon and Assemblyman W. J. Martin, our representatives in the Legislature.

"Big Bill" Machado, who has been in Texas in the Army aviation service, arrived home last week. His only regret is that he did not "go across."

One of the branches of the Monterey County Library is at the Gorda School. From Salinas the books are sent first to King City, thence by stage to Jolon, and thence thirty miles by pack animal over the mountains to Gorda.

The Philadelphia Saturday Post of January 4 contains stories by Grace Sartwell Mason, Elizabeth Frazer, and Harry Leon Wilson. Quite a Carmel number.

Goldie E. Pepper, formerly a resident here, and following the building business, died on January 1. He had been ill for many months, and there was no chance of recovery.

Roy Newberry, one time manager of Pine Inn, who left here to take charge of the new Montgomery Hotel at San Jose, has, it is said, gone into the fruit canning business.

The editor of the Pine Cone has been invited to appear before several committees of the Legislature at Sacramento, concerning matters affecting the people of this section of Monterey county.

City taxes are now delinquent. However, if paid before January 21, with an added penalty of ten per cent, publication in the delinquent tax list will be avoided, and seventy-cents costs on each lot separately assessed will be saved.

School Superintendent George Schultzberg has returned from a six months' stay at Lawton, Okla., where he was engaged in war work along educational lines. With the resumption of his official duties, Miss Louise Mignon again becomes Deputy Superintendent.

On with the Legislature. Joe O'Connell, son of our Mr. and Mrs. Samuel O'Connell, who has been connected with a hotel in Stockton for some months, is back at The Travelers in Sacramento.

James Hopper has returned. He is the first real Carmelite to reach home from the field of hostilities in France. During his absence, many interesting articles from the war zone have appeared from time to time in Collier's.

Prof. H. W. Stuart and family, who have spent the last seven months here, returned to their home at Stanford University last Monday. While here they occupied the Tilton and Hanson cottages.

The Fowler family are here again for a stay of several months. They have been in Mendocino county for some time, and Theo has been very ill. Carmel is the place to recuperate.

Having concluded the first series of play readings at the Book Shop last Thursday evening, Mr. Heron has in preparation a new series for the spring, announcement of which will soon be made.

El Monte Verde Hotel, which has been closed for the past two months, is again open to the public.

The Pine Cone has a well equipped job printing plant. Prices are fair.

One With Authority

John C. Lathrop, C. S. B., who is to lecture on "Christian Science" at Manzanita Hall on Sunday afternoon next, is one the most able members of the Board of Lectureship. For some time he was the first reader at the Mother Church in Boston, where he addressed very large congregations. The Carmel society is fortunate to have secured the services of so eminent a speaker.

The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge and no collection.

Prof. G. C. Carlisle of the Monterey High School will give a talk on "West Coast Birds," with lantern slides, in Arts and Crafts, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, under auspices of the Carmel Audubon Society. The general public, including the school children, cordially invited.

Victims of Automobile Accident Issue Signed Public Statement

The following communication was read at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Board of City Trustees, and a copy of the same was also handed to the editor of the Pine Cone, with request that it be published.

The Carmel stage accident of December 21st is not a closed incident. Suffering from broken bones, wrenched tendons, torn muscles, lacerated nerves and general bruises of present intensest pain, which injuries may perpetuate themselves in effects into months and years, the undersigned badly injured persons, for themselves and others, protest against the erroneous and misleading reports given out by the proprietor of the stage line, the inadequate statement of damage done, and the self-excusing verdict rendered in protection of his liability.

The facts in the case are: The accident was not caused by any passenger, but by the gross recklessness and criminal carelessness of the driver, who was none other than the reported proprietor of the stage line, Fred Wermuth himself. The stage, returning from Monterey, with thirteen or fourteen persons thereon, had reached, within a few feet, the bridge crossing the ravine on what is known as "Hairpin Loop," probably the most dangerous spot on the road, when the driver reversed his motor and backed up the stage nearly a hundred yards to recover a package of papers which, unsecured, had dropped from the front of the stage, and thus precipitated the stage over the steep embankment, down which it plunged, rolling over one and a half times, and landing, with crushed top and piled-up passengers, on its side. The accident was not caused, as claimed, by a stranger passenger on the front seat placing his foot on the accelerator, but by the surly and gross recklessness of the driver. One of the passengers, during the backing, exclaimed as the driver must have heard, "What a fool place to back the stage, on a curve like this!" A gentleman replied, "I think as much."

Furthermore, the stage was backing criminally on the wrong side of the road, the right one; the driver was not watching this dangerous side, but had his head out on the left, looking for the dropped package. The accident was not caused by the edge of the embankment giving way, for the wheels were irrecoverably over the embankment when the the ground some feet below the top did give way. For some reason the driver did not realize his danger until two (or more) of the passengers, one on the back seat, and the other on the danger side of the second, cried out, "Oh! Oh!" and "Fred, you're going over!" Startled at that, Mr Wermuth jumped at his lever and tried to save the situation; but it was too late. Attempting to recover the back wheel's lost position he threw the front wheel also over the bank. The stage careened, rolled completely over one and a half times, and landed a wreck at the bottom of the declivity, some fifteen or twenty feet below the road's level. The miracle is that the passengers were not all killed, which, more or less, would have been the result had the stage turned once more from its side a second time bottom up; or if the gasoline had caught fire. As it was the accident was terrible enough. Mrs Search suffered a dislocated right shoulder, a badly wrenched arm, torn ligaments and muscles and a bruised side; Mrs. Roderiquez, a broken arm (two places), dislocated elbow and bruised shoulder; Mrs. Comstock had a rib cracked and chest painfully injured; Mrs Cochran was injured in her eye, was greatly bruised and had her coat ruined; a lady, coming for her first visit to Carmel, returned to Monterey with her head cut by glass; Mr Wermuth himself had his wrist broken; others were more or less injured. It was perfectly evident that the driver was recklessly and solely responsible for the accident. He was criminal in backing up at such a place and in not watching the danger side. He was on the wrong side of the road, making himself liable anyway to highway penalty and forfeiture. He paid no attention to the expressed protests of passengers. We are exasperated by the carelessness with which he has regarded this accident, and by his self-protecting excuses, and by his indifference to our sufferings. As far as inquiry is concerned, he has expressed no more interest than if he had dumped over the embankment a lot of cattle.

We are not in this statement simply for self, but also in protection of the traveling public. This offense cannot pass without just settlement. The stage line is protected by property insurance. Mr. Wermuth, as proprietor and driver, recovers also for his own injuries, costs and loss of time. The stage line, in like manner, must make good to its injured passengers, covering personal indemnities, all doctor bills, hospital service, losses in time, interrupted business, added costs in our homes, attorney fees and legal expenses, damaged belongings, etc., up to time of settlement, and all future weaknesses and liabilities that may later develop from this accident. Not only Mr. Wermuth, but the Monterey silent partner financially supporting him, and his bondsmen, will be held.

Furthermore, we are determined the stage line must be made safe for all subsequent passengers, including its transport of school children. We ask the California Railroad Commission, under the authority of which the stage line is now operating, to thoroughly investigate this accident and affix penalty. We petition the City Council to establish ordinance, making it a penalized offense to overload the stage, particularly the driver's seat (which on the trip preceding carried four persons); and to make other adequate provision for the protection of the citizens of Carmel. We will wait only a reasonable time for the stage line to make good our losses; but, beyond that, we demand that the stage line shall be made safe for the traveling public. Mr. Wermuth, excepting as he may have silent backing, is undertaking to do an enormous and monopolized business in Carmel on very little money. If he is responsible, he must make good; if he is not responsible, the stage line must pass into other adequate ownership that can protect its patronage. More than this, the stage line of the future should carry insurance protecting its passengers, as well as its proprietors and drivers.

WEEKLY GREETING

Confidence begets confidence, and fair play invites a personal interest which is an asset, the value of which cannot be over-estimated. — William Dana Orcutt.

A Great American Passes.

Theodore Roosevelt is dead!
Long live Theodore Roosevelt!
No public man since Lincoln, either in the United States or abroad, has had in so great a measure a place in the hearts of the people as that occupied by Theodore Roosevelt. It is true, he had his enemies, and many of them. What man of positive character has not? But no normal person could hate this wonderful man of diversified accomplishments.

Theodore Roosevelt made mistakes, and grievous ones,
but even his most outspoken critics will agree that nothing —not position, not money, not social standing, not personal friendship—could swerve him
one iota from what he conceived to be his duty.

The outstanding characteristics of Roosevelt's public life were his rugged honesty, his fidelity to principle, his courage under fire.

The perspective of history will assign to "Teddy" a place amongst our half dozen great Presidents.

Roosevelt Remembered

Adjourning out of respect to the memory of the late Theodore Roosevelt, the Board of Trustees of Carmel-by-the-Sea adopted the following resolution of respect:

"Whereas, Our former President, Theodore Roosevelt, has answered the last call and places our country in sorrow over the loss of such an eminent statesman and world-renowned American, and

"Whereas, The free discussion of important issues by worthy statesmen is the essence of our American Government, in which activity our former President has played an active and necessary part both as President of the United States and as a private citizen,

"Whereas, His death deprives the country of one of its greatest recognized statesmen whose energetic participation in world affairs has gained prominence for our country and undying praise to his own memory:

"Therefore, be it resolved, That this Board of Trustees express to the family of Theodore Roosevelt our sympathy in this bereavement which is not alone theirs, but is one in which the whole country shares;

"And be it further resolved, That the Board of Trustees of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea hereby adjourns in honor of the memory of our former President and worthy citizen, Theodore Roosevelt."

Board of Trustees

In the absence of Trustee A. P. Fraser, the chair was occupied by Trustee Peter Taylor at Tuesday night's meeting of the City Board of Trustees.

A long communication from several of those who were injured in the automobile accident of December 21, was read. (The communication is printed in full on another page.) While much in the communication is the concern of the State Railroad Commission, the Board will take up with City Attorney H. G. Jorgensen the matter of requiring bonds from stage lines.

A letter from Mrs. A. D. Signor was read suggesting Eighth avenue as a desirable through cross street to the beach.

There was informal discussion, participated in by Trustees and citizens, concerning influenza precautions, the erection of barns in undesirable locations, and street improvements.

The board adjourned out of respect to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt.
