An Evening of Music

A splendid program has been arranged for Carmel's first 1919 musical event, to be given tomor-row evening at the Manzanita Theatre.

The artists come to us with es tablished reputations as finished musicians.

Mr. George Kruger ranks among the foremost pianists of this gener-ation, and his concert tours have taken him all over the world.

Of Signor Guiseppe, Redfern Mason wrote that "he not only posssesses the intellectual faculty, but good technique as well, though he uses it as a means to an end, not as an end in itself. He is the aristocrat of the violin."

Mlle. Grace Gardner, favorably known for her concert work in many cities, has a lyric soprano voice of much charm.

Book Reviews

"Jacquo the Rebel," by Eugene Le Roy, translated by Eleanor Stimson Brooks, is an interesting story of French peasant life during the first half of the last century. The book traces the life of the boy; Jaqou, against a background of frightiud poverty and oppression, in the period beginnig with Napoleon's defeat in 1815. The love romance of the story is handled with delicate sympathy, and the struggles against oppression with pathos and vigor. The sturdy personality of the youth stands up against the injustice and intrigue to which he is exposed, and his final happiness is well earned.
